Under key in Waterford,
Those soft fingered palms of thine
Locked in mine, oh, maid adored!

SHAKING HANDS IN MEXICO.

A Prominent Feature of the Etiquette of Our Sister Republic.

Handshaking in Mexico is much more commonly indulged in than in Anglo-Saxon countries. Foreigners resident here for any length of time inevitably fall into the habit unconsciously of shaking hands upon all occasions, and it becomes so natural that upon their return to countries where a more distant formality is observed they are at a loss to know what to do with their hands and must frequently reflect upon their surroundings in order not to feel almost an affront at the nod of a passing friend or the unceremonious entrance and departure of guests.

In Mexico friends would not think of entering or leaving a house without shaking hands not only with the host and hostess, but all other guests who might be present, and the ladies would kiss each other, both coming and going, on both cheeks. They even observe this formality upon the occasion of a chance meeting on the street or in the car. Gentlemen acquaintances passing each other on the street either tip their hats as they would to a lady or at least salute each other with the hand by touching the hat, or in more of a military fashion. Gentlemen who are old friends stop and shake hands and pass the compliments of the day, and if they have not met for some time they will undoubtedly go through what is termed the "bear hug," put their arms around each other and pat each other on the back, one passing one arm over the shoulder of his friend, the other under his arm, while the second party occupies a reverse position. When this embrace is concluded, they shake hands and tip their hats, at the same time murmuring the conventional words of greeting. Then they are ready to inquire as to the respective health of members of the two families. Gentlemen shake hands with many of their friends both upon entering and leaving a street car. The inspector of the tickets on the cars will shake hands with a number of his regular passengers every morning, clerks behind the counter of dry goods stores will shake hands with the customers that they know, and when the employees of a store or mercantile establishment assemble in the morning the formal greeting is never omitted.

There are some points in Mexican etiquette that to many foreigners accustomed to more brusque and businesslike ways seem often affected and unnecessary, such, for instance, as the ofttimes protracted discussions as to which of two gentlemen shall enter a street car or doorway first or which shall be allowed to walk on the outside of the sidewalk. As a rule, however, most foreigners who live for any length of time in a Latin country come to enjoy the more cordial forms of greeting, although frequently they do not realize how thoroughly they have adopted them in their own conduct until they return for a visit among their countrymen.

It Saved His Leg.

P. A. Danforth, of LaGrange, Ga., suffered for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg; but writes that Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in five days. For Ulcers, Wounds, Piles it's the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Only 25 cents. Sold by Jas. Lynch.

A Curious Chinese Custom.

When you call on a Chinaman who is able to have a servant, the first thing that the servant does is to bring in two cups of tea. He puts one in front of the master and one in front of the visitor. Then the master indicates that you shall drink from the cup before you. If you want to incur his everlasting enmity, go ahead and drink. He merely asks you to drink it for politeness' sake.

Letting the tea stand in front of you, you proceed with your interview, and you are at liberty to continue it, and you may feel that you are welcome until the host picks up his cup and takes a sip. That is the polite way he has of telling you that the interview is ended. The polite thing for you to do then is to take one sip of your tea and depart.

The right to drink the first sip of tea, however, goes with rank. If the visitor outranks the host, no matter how much the host may wish to be rid of him, he must sit until the visitor chooses to take a sip of his tea.

The Very Unusual Way.

"I understand you whipped my boy this morning," the angry father said, striding into the schoolroom after the children had been dismissed.

"Yes, sir, I did," the terrified teacher answered. "But I did not whip him severely."

"That's what I'm kicking about," he rejoined. "You didn't hurt him at all. Now, look here, sir, I'm one of the largest taxpayers in this school district, and my boy is entitled to as good a whipping as you give any other boy. Understand that. If you slight him again, you'll hear from me in a way you won't like. Good afternoon, sir."

A SMALL INVESTMENT BRINGS BIG RESULTS.

If you are troubled with Backache, Sideache, or any trouble arising from a weak condition of the Urinary Organs, invest 50 cents in a box of Doan's Pills and they will bring astonishing results.

Read what the following people have to say about them:

MR. GEORGE BLACK, Expressman, Montreal, Que., writes: "I was suffering with terrible pains in my back and could not do my work. I saw Doan's Pills recommended for the kidneys, and got a box. From the first dose I felt benefited, and by the time I had taken the whole box I was completely cured, and am now able to do my work as well as ever, and cannot recommend them too highly to all backache sufferers."

MRS. R. KERR, Cote St. Paul, Que., writes: "I was suffering from a very painful backache and always felt tired. It seemed as if a weight was tied to my back and dragging me down. I tried many different remedies, but none of them seemed to help me. I procured two boxes of Doan's Pills, and after taking them I can safely recommend them to all sufferers from backache or kidney troubles, as they did me a world of good."

INDIAN MAPLE SUGAR

THE RED MAN TAUGHT THE WHITE MAN TO MAKE THE DAINTY.

Its Manufacture Was Practiced by All Northern Indians and Was Known to Those Living as Far South as Florida and Texas.

Very few of the people to whom maple sugar is an entirely familiar and commonplace thing are aware of the fact that the method of making sugar was taught to the white people by the Indians and that they made sugar long before the discovery of America. This is only one of the many things that the white people learned from the Indians. Others were the weaving of cotton, the cultivation of Indian corn and the use of tobacco.

Some of the early writers tell us that the French were the first to make this sugar and that they learned how to make it from the Indian women. The sap was collected in a rude way, a gash being cut in the tree, and into this a stick was thrust, down which the freely flowing sap dripped into a vessel of birch bark or a gourd or into wooden troughs hollowed out by fire or the ax. Then into larger wooden troughs full of the sap redhot stones were thrown, just as in old times they used to be thrown into the water in which food was boiled, and by constantly throwing in hot stones and taking out those that had become cool the sap was boiled and evaporated, and at length sirup was made, which later became sugar.

This manufacture of the sugar was not confined to any one tribe, but was practiced by all northern Indians and was known to those living as far south as Florida and Texas. Among the sugar making tribes a special festival was held, which was called the maple dance, which was undoubtedly a religious festival in the nature of a prayer or propitiatory ceremony, asking for an abundant flow of sap and for good fortune in collecting it.

Among many if not all the Indians inhabiting the northern United States maple sugar was not merely a luxury, something eaten because it was toothsome, but was actually an important part of their support. Mixed with pounded, parched corn, it was put up in small quantities and was a concentrated form of nutriment not much less valuable in respect to its quality of support than the pemmican which was used almost down to our own times.

Among all the older writers who had much familiarity with the customs of the Indians accounts are given of the manufacture of sugar, and this custom was so general that among many tribes the month in which the sap ran best was called the sugar month. By the Iroquois the name Ratirontaks, meaning tree eaters, was applied to the Algonquin tribes, and an eminent authority, Dr. Brinton, has suggested that they were probably "so called from their love of the product of the sugar maple." On the other hand, A. F. Chamberlain has very plausibly said "that it is hardly likely that the Iroquois distinguished other tribes by this term, if its origin be as suggested, since they themselves were sugar makers and eaters."

A more probable origin of the word is that given by Schoolcraft, in substance as follows: "Ratirontaks, whence Adirondacks, was applied chiefly to the Montagnais tribes, north of the St. Lawrence, and was a derisive term indicating a well known habit of these tribes of eating the inner bark of trees in winter when food was scarce or when on war excursions."

This habit of eating the inner bark of trees was, as is well known, common to many tribes of Indians, both those who inhabit the country where the sugar maple grows and also those in other parts of the country where the maple is unknown.

On the western prairies sugar was made also from the box elder, which trees were tapped by the Indians and the sap boiled down for sugar, and today the Cheyenne Indians tell us that it was from this tree that they derived all the sugar that they had until the arrival of the white man on the plains something more than 50 years ago.

It is interesting to observe that in many tribes today the word for sugar is precisely the word which they applied to the product of the maple tree before they knew the white man's sugar. It is interesting also to see that among many tribes the general term for sugar means wood or tree water—that is to say, tree sap. This is true of the Omahas and Poncas, according to J. O. Dorsey, and also of the Kansas, Osage and Iowa, Winnebago, Tuscarora and Pawnee. The Cheyennes, on the other hand, call it box elder water. A. F. Chamberlain, who has gone with great care into the question of the meaning of the words which designate the maple tree and its product, is disposed to believe that the name of the maple means the tree—in other words, the real or actual tree or the tree which stands above all others.—Forest and Stream.

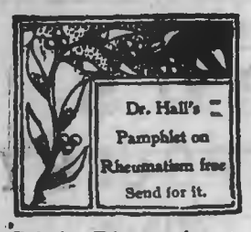
ANOTHER VICTIM REJOICES.



IT is not an uncommon thing by any means for a sufferer from Sciatic Rheumatism to become completely helpless from the disease, in fact more helpless than a child. And what havoc such pain creates in the entire system! The effects of a long siege of rheumatism is apt to be very severe on the constitution, so that the patient should be prompt in obtaining relief the moment the opportunity presents itself. The restoration to health of a rheumatic sufferer is like unto the freedom from a prison cell of an innocent man. In either case the bondage is unnatural and uncalled for. Mr. John Hunter, 321 Brock Street, Kingston, Ont., was laid up for six weeks with rheumatism. He was so helpless he could not leave his room or dress himself. A friend advised him to try Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. After taking the contents of the first bottle he was able to move around the house. The second bottle cured him completely, and he was able to return to his work. Mr. Hunter says he would strongly recommend Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure to all who suffer with rheumatism.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

Fooling the Spirits.

The custom of boys wearing earrings in China is thus popularly explained by the Chinese: The boy is the greatest blessing that heaven can send. The spirits like boy babies. It is natural that they should; everybody likes them. Very often, if the boy babies are not watched closely, the spirits who are constantly around, grab up the unwatched boy babe and carry him off to their home. Girl babies are not such blessings, and the spirits care nothing for them. The earring is a feminine ornament, and the spirits know that; so the Chinese mothers have the ears of their boy babies pierced and put in huge earrings. When the spirits are around looking for boys, they will see the earrings and be fooled into thinking the boys are girls and will pass on and not trouble them.

Freckles.

Is a freckled face indicative of consumption? It has been suspected, remarks a medical journal, that a remarkable proneness to freckle is often coincident with tendency to scrofula or tuberculosis. It is most certain that such proneness is associated with the temperament of the individual as shown by color of eyes and hair. Freckles are, as a rule, conspicuous only in the clear skins of children and young persons. In adults they either are not often present or are comparatively inconspicuous. An observation of some interest has, however, recently been made that they are liable to return in senile periods and to assume infective characters.

SYBARITES IN THE COLD.

Luxury as It Is Indulged In by the Arctic Traders.

So much has been written of the Eskimo ("husky") dogs and dog sleds of the north that they may well be mentioned here if only to show the idea of luxury which many of the factors and traders of the Hudson Bay company entertain. Seated or rather reclining in his cariole, swathed in furs, he is driven by an engage on foot who dashes along at a great pace. The cariole is painted gaudily. There are Russian bells on the collars of each of the long span of dogs, while the harness is a mass of beadwork and tassels.

No longer when he lodges at night at a post does he partake solely of the simpler fare it can furnish, nor even when he camps out in the wilderness must he be content with what his gun can bring down in addition to the pemmican he carries. For now, either under the cariole seat or in an additional sled behind, there is found a good supply of canned meats and vegetables, products of Chicago and Ontario, and, moreover, his driver is his cook. In the open a fire will be deftly kindled, tea will be made, bacon and even eggs will be fried, and hot "flapjacks," that delectable fritter of the bush, half an inch thick and swimming in grease and molasses will tickle the factor's palate.

At night, enveloped in his furs and maybe reposing on a hastily constructed bed of balsam boughs, the last vision before his eyes close upon the scenes of dreamland will be the scintillating splendors of the aurora borealis, whose purpling waves alternate with bars of vivid light so rapidly and in such volume as to make the beholder almost believe that nature speaks, manger the silence, all penetrating, all pervading.

The "Picket."

The picket was generally inflicted on cavalry and artillerymen and was a singularly brutal bit of torture. A long post, near which stood a stool, was driven into the ground. The delinquent was ordered to mount the stool, and his right hand was fastened to a hook in the post by a noose, drawn up as high as it could be stretched, round his wrist. A stump the height of the stool, with its end cut to a round and blunt point, was also driven into the earth close to the post. Then the stool was taken away, and the sufferer had nothing to rest his bare feet upon but the stump, "which, though it did not usually break the skin," says Captain Grose, "put him in great torture, his only means of relief being by resting his weight on his wrist, the pain of which soon became intolerable." One can very well believe him, especially when he makes the addition that a man was not infrequently left to stand in this position for half an hour, although the orthodox period of endurance was 15 minutes.—London Graphic.

RIDING ON AN AVALANCHE.

Down a Steep Canyon Without a Bruise or a Scar.

Few mountaineers go far enough into the avalanche regions to see much of them, and fewer still know the thrilling exhilaration of riding on them, says John Muir in The Atlantic. In all my wild mountaineering I have enjoyed only one avalanche ride, and the start was so sudden and the end came so soon I thought but little of the danger that goes with this sort of travel, though one thinks fast at such times.

One calm, bright morning in Yosemite, after a hearty storm had given three or four feet of fresh snow to the mountains, being eager to see as many avalanches as possible and gain wide views of the peaks and forests arrayed in their new robes before the sunshine had time to change or rearrange them, I set out early to climb by a side canyon to the top of a commanding ridge a little over 3,000 feet above the valley. But I was not to get top views of any sort that day, but instead of these something quite different, for deep trampling near the canyon head where the snow was strained started an avalanche, and I was swished back down to the foot of the canyon as if by enchantment. The plodding, wallowing ascent of about a mile had taken all day, the undoing descent perhaps about a minute.

When the snow suddenly gave way, I instinctively threw myself on my back and spread my arms to try to keep from sinking. Fortunately, though the grade of the canyon was steep, it was not interrupted by step levels or precipices big enough to cause outbounding or free plunging. On no part of the rush was I buried. I was only moderately imbedded on the surface or a little below it and covered with a hissing back streaming veil, and as the whole mass beneath or about me joined in the flight I felt no friction, though tossed here and there and lurched from side to side, and when the torrent wedged and came to rest I found myself on the top of the crumpled pile, without a single bruise or scar.

Hawthorne says that steam has spiritualized travel, notwithstanding the smoke, friction, smells and clatter of boat and rail riding. This flight in a milky way of snow flowers was the most spiritual of all my travels, and after many years the mere thought of it is still an exhilaration.

LIBERTY AND ADAM.

In December, 1883, Mark Twain, with other famous men, was asked to contribute an autograph letter to an album that was to be raffled for at the Bartholdi Pedestal Fund Art Loan exhibition. Here is Twain's letter:

"You know my weakness for Adam, and you know how I have struggled to get him a monument and failed. Now, it seems to me, here is my chance. What do we care for a statue of Liberty when we've got the thing itself in its wildest sublimity? What you want of a monument is to keep you in mind of something you haven't got—something you've lost. Very well. We haven't lost Liberty; we've lost Adam.

"Another thing, what has Liberty done for us? Nothing in particular that I know of. What have we done for her? Everything. We've given her a home and a good home too. And if she knows anything she knows it's the first time she ever struck that novelty. She knows that when we took her in she had been a mere tramp for 6,000 years, Biblical measure. Yes, and we not only ended her troubles and made things soft for her permanently, but we made her respectable, and that she hadn't ever been before. And now, after we've poured out these Atlantics of benefits upon this aged outcast, lo and behold you, we are asked to come forward and set up a monument to her! Go to! Let her set up a monument to us if she wants to do the clean thing.

"But suppose your statue represented her old, bent, clothed in rags, downcast, shamefaced, with the insults and humiliation of 6,000 years, imploring a crust and an hour's rest for God's sake, at our back door? Come, now you're shouting! That's the aspect of her which we need to be reminded of, lest we forget it, not this proposed one, where she's hearty and well fed and holds up her head and flourishes her hospitable schooner of flame and appears to be inviting all the rest of the tramps to come over. Oh, go to—this is the very insolence of prosperity.

"But, on the other hand, look at Adam. What have we done for Adam? Nothing. What has Adam done for us? Everything. He gave us life, he gave us death, he gave us heaven, he gave us hell. These are inestimable privileges, and, remember, not one of them should we have had without Adam. Well, then, he ought to have a monument, for evolution is steadily and surely abolishing him, and we must get up a monument, and be quick about it, or our children's children will grow up ignorant that there ever was an Adam.

"With trifling alterations, this present statue will answer very well for Adam. You can turn that blanket into an ulster without any trouble; part the hair on one side or conceal the sex of his head with a fire helmet, and at once he's a man. Put a harp and a halo and a palm branch in the left hand to symbolize a part of what Adam did for us, and leave the fire basket just where it is to symbolize the rest. My friend, the father of life and death and taxes has been neglected long enough. Shall this infamy be allowed to go on or shall it stop right here?

"It is but a question of finance? Behold the inclosed (paid bank) checks. Use them as freely as they are freely contributed. Heaven knows I would there were a ton of them. I would send them all to you, for my heart is in this sublime work!—S. L. C."—William S. Walsh

The Rehearsed Wedding.

The wedding was, upon the whole, an artistic success. The bride particularly evinced unmistakable talent. She trembled with all the technical accuracy of an aspen leaf and the emotional intensity of a startled fawn. Her trembling indeed was irreproachable. If she cast down her eyes with something of amateurish gawkiness, the fact is easily attributable to her inexperience, this being her first wedding, rather than to an essentially defective method. She was fairly well supported.

The bridegroom rose from his knees too soon and had to be knocked down by the prompter, but otherwise the minor parts were carried out creditably.

Felt Familiar.

Bennet Burleigh related a pleasant story in the London Telegraph. The incident, which happened in his sight and hearing, was as follows: Two officers, total strangers, new arrivals from up country, rather lonely and bored, were awaiting luncheon. The elder having proposed that they should sit together, a mutual friendliness developed so rapidly that at last one said to the other: "Do you know, I rather like you, and there's something about you that seems familiar, as if we had met before? I'm Major S. of the Blanks." "Indeed! Are you? I thought so. And I'm Lieutenant S. of ——'s staff, just joined—your youngest brother!"

A Great Error.

"My hero dies in the middle of my latest novel," said the young author.

"That's a grave mistake," replied the editor. "He should not die before the reader does."

DEATH OF EX-GOVERNOR HOWLAN.

Eminent Prince Edward Islander Passed Away at Charlottetown.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., May 13.—Ex-Lieutenant-Governor George William Howlan, one of the foremost citizens of the island, died at Hotel Davies at 10 o'clock on Saturday night. He had been in poor health for some time. The remains will be sent to Tignish for interment.

Sketch of His Life.

The deceased statesman was born at Waterford, Ireland, May 19, 1835, and came to P.E.Island with his parents when 4 years old. He was educated at the Central Academy in Charlottetown, after which he entered into business, which he continued for many years, with success. He was a member of the Local Legislature from 1862 to 1873, and was appointed collector of customs for Charlottetown in the latter year. He ran for the Commons in the first election after the island joined the Confederation, but was defeated. He was called to the Senate in 1873 and remained in that body until Feb. 21, 1894, when he was appointed Lieut.-Governor. He was a member of the island Government from 1866 to 1873, was a delegate to Washington on trade matters in 1869, and was one of the delegates to Ottawa in 1873 to negotiate terms of union with the Dominion. He was also engaged in other public missions and held many positions of trust. His first wife was Miss Olson of St. John, N.B., who died in 1876; and his second marriage was to Miss Doran of Kingston, Ont. He was a Conservative in politics and a Roman Catholic in religion.

Italian Contest For $12,000,000.

London, May 13.—An interesting will case is about to be tried by a Milan tribunal. The sum involved is $12,000,000, being the entire estate of the late Count Aldo Annoni, President of Milan's chief banking establishment. He bequeathed his fortune to the poor of Milan and other places, but the relatives of his father, Count Francis Annoni, now contest the will on the ground that, being illegitimate, he was incapable under the Italian law, of making a will. They, therefore, claim the estate, as though he died intestate.

Alternately the court is asked to set aside the will on the ground that the money was not the testator's, as an illegitimate son cannot inherit from his father. The relatives will undertake to prove that Count Aldo Annoni was not the son of his father's wife, but of the wife of a certain marquis.

A Pacific Steamer Wrecked.

Vancouver, B. C., May 13.—A special from Nanaimo, B. C., yesterday afternoon says that the steamer Princess Louise from Vancouver for Northern British Columbia ports is ashore at Thornmanby Island, just south of Texada. The wreck occurred about midnight Saturday night and the news of the disaster was brought here yesterday by Capt. John Irving and four seaman who had rowed 25 miles in a small boat. The wind had blown them out of their course and the members of this little party who had come for assistance, were nearly dead from cold and exposure when they arrived. They were followed to Nanaimo in the afternoon by the passengers, 35 in number, brought down by the tug Falcon, which had been hailed as she was passing the wreck.

Esterhazy's Admission.

Brussels, May 13.—The Independence Belge published affidavits signed by Count Ferdinand Walsin Esterhazy before the French Consul in London, admitting the authorship of the Dreyfus bordereau, and declaring that the bordereau was written with the connivance of Col. TRIAL OF MRS. WHITE

Dr. Marquis Testifies As to the Cause of Death.

FOUND DECEASED BEYOND HELP

Death Due to Strychnine Poison—What Mrs. White Told the Doctor Was the Matter—Other Witnesses Give Evidence of the Relations Between Husband and Wife—Divorce Talked of.

Brantford, May 14.—The preliminary hearing of Mrs. White, charged with poisoning her husband, was held here yesterday. A. J. Wilkes, K. C., is acting for the Crown, and L. F. Heyd, K. C., for the defence. The prisoner was accompanied to the court room by her son, George White of Hamilton.

The first witness called was Dr. Marquis. He said he had been called to see the deceased, Mr. White, between 10 and 11 o'clock on the morning of his death. He had seen him some six weeks before, when he had been called to the house. Mr White was apparently suffering from la grippe. On the Sunday morning of the death, when the witness arrived at the house, the deceased was lying on the bed upstairs. He was lying very quietly. "I spoke to him," said the witness, "and told him that he was not lying very comfortably. He replied that he was very sick and was going to die. Then he went into a convulsion. Afterwards I lifted him on his back, and he went into another convulsion. His heart had almost stopped beating, and I sent out for whiskey. I took a glass of water and tried to see if he could drink anything, but the contact of the glass with his lips caused a spasm. As soon as I saw the first convulsion I made up my mind that he had strychnine poisoning."

The witness described the symptoms of strychnine poisoning, saying that these indications were present. "I remained with him about 20 minutes," continued the witness, "and it was evidently useless to remain longwas evidently useless for me to remain longer. I thought that he was dead after the first convulsion, and I saw that it would be impossible to counteract the action of the poison. Half a grain of strychnine is sufficient to cause death, and in some cases less. The length of time in which the poison will act depends upon the manner in which it is administered and the condition of the stomach. If administered in liquid in the morning, the sensation would be felt shortly, and the convulsions would come on afterwards in from 10 minutes to half an hour. When I first saw him he was perfectly conscious, except for the characteristic fear. I had to hurry away to another case and was there when he died.

"I also performed the post-mortem with Dr. Bier, making a complete examination. The organs were in a healthy condition, and there was no organic disease sufficient to cause death. The viscera were sealed in a jar and delivered to P. C. Chapman. When I was going into the house Mrs. White met me at the door and told me to hurry, that Mr. White was very sick.

"Mrs. White called on me the day before (Saturday) and said that Mr. White had been ill that morning. She said that she was very much afriad as regards his condition. Asked as to his trouble, Mrs. White said that he was suffering from piles."

In cross-examination, Dr. Marquis said he had consulted a hand-book with reference to strychnine before giving evidence at the inquest to verify his opinions. Mrs. White was very much excited when she asked witness by telephone to come to the house on Sunday morning. She met witness at the door and was excited, agitated and anxious. The patient was conscious and witness was going to question him when he went into a convulsion. He did not prescribe any antidote for strychnine poisoning, believing it would be useless. After the second spasm witness gave deceased whiskey hyperdermically. When he left the house he saw Mrs. White and deceived her as to the cause of Mr. White's illness, so as not to alarm her.

Dr. Bier, who assisted Dr. Marquis in performing the post-mortem, agreed to the previous witness as to the presence of the strychnine.

Mr. Dulmage, a boarder at Mrs. White's, testified that the prisoner and Mr. White had been separated, and that Mr. White had returned to the house shortly before his death. The separation was due partly, he understood, to Mr. White's drinking habits. Witness saw nothing to indicate that their relations were not pleasant. Witness saw deceased on Saturday night before his death, and he was all right then. On Sunday morning he saw White shortly after breakfast, and on returning to the house about half past 10, was told by Mrs. White that White had been taken suddenly ill. Prisoner said her husband was dying, and she had given him a glass of water and soda, afterwards giving him soda and tea. After White died, prisoner talked with witness considerably, and said something about the liquor White had taken the night before. On Saturday night he noticed that White had been drinking, and that he had a bad cold.

Andrew Simpson, another boarder, said that on Saturday night deceased was in his room and had complained of shortness of breath. On Sunday morning White told witness he was very ill. When he first saw Mrs. White she said to him: "Oh, Mr. Simpson, my poor man's dead," showing grief.

Leo Scherer said Mrs. White told him that her husband was jealous of her, and that at one time he had come rapping at the window. She opened the window, discharging a revolver in the air. Mrs. White had showed witness some arsenic, and said she had been in the habit of using it. She told witness there was no love between her and her husband on her side, and asked his opinion about securing a divorce from him in order that she might marry some one else.

The case was then further adjourned.

STONE NON-UNION MEN

A Scene That Is Seldom Witnessed in Any City.

THE ALBANY TROLLEY STRIKE.

Company Brought in 300 Non-Union Workers to Operate the Cars and Then There Was Trouble—Possible Strike of 100,000 Machinists—7,000 Bricklayers May Quit—Strike at Bertram's in Toronto.

Albany, May 14.—Under the escort of a platoon of mounted police, and surrounded by a mob of 2,000 Albanians, 300 non-union men were taken at midnight to the Quail street car barns of the United Traction Company, which is the main station of the Albany City Line of the United Traction Company.

Stones were thrown at the non-union men, and oaths and derisive epithets were hurled at them from the West Shore Railroad Stations to the barns, a distance of three miles.

This is the first step taken by the company to operate its lines with non-union men. The officials of the company announce that traffic will be resumed this morning.

The non-union men arrived on the West Shore Railroad, it is said, from Philadelphia, and were met at the station by a platoon of mounted officers and two patral wagons full of policemen.

The men were loaded on trucks, and, amid a scene seldom witnessed in any city, were taken to the car barns and housed for the night.

A crowd of several thousand people are in the vicinity of the car barns, where the non-union men are housed, but the barns are protected by large forces of police.

Washington, May 14.—Conferences were in progress in this city between President O'Connell of the International Association of Machinists and President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, and officials of several of the metal working trades other than the machinists, considering the moral and financial support to be given the proposed strike of machinists. At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon President O'Connell said the outlook was very encouraging for a successful strike in many localities throughout the country. A number of firms not now complying with the arrangement entered into between the machinists and the Association of Employers as to a nine-hour day, was signed yesterday, and Mr. O'Connell predicts that a large number of these will have signed by May 20. He says the strike will affect at least 100,000 men directly, and over that number of allied machinists indirectly.

New York, May 14.—The World says: If the Mason Builders' Association carry out the threat of a lockout, 7,000 bricklayers will be thrown out of employment within a few days. With the men in other trades who would be affected, at least 20,000 workingmen, it is estimated, would quit. The Mason Builders at a recent meeting, it is said, decided on the lockout proposition if the bricklayers should fail to enter into their annual agreement before Thursday next.

Binghamton, N. Y., May 14.—The factory of the American Cigar Company in this city, which was formerly known as Barlow, Rogers & Co., is closed, and over 500 employes are locked out. This action was taken as the sequel to a strike of nearly 100 girls last week. The American Cigar Company controls two other factories here, the three employing 1,200 hands. The employes in the other two factories are contemplating a sympathy strike.

Boston, May 14.—After many attempts, a basis of settlement of the differences that have kept apart the conflicting organizations was reached yesterday, and 300,000 organized textile workers will soon be amalgamated under one head.

Toronto, May 14.—About 100 boilermakers, employed in Bertram's ship yards, laid down their tools yesterday and ceased work because the firm did not accede to their demands for $1.50 per day and recognition of their union. The management of the firm state that the men are now paid piecework, and many make over $1.50 per day.

Mrs. Nation Bites Her Jailer.

Wichita, Kas., May 11.—In District Court yesterday afternoon, Judge Dale set the trial of Mrs. Carrie Nation for next Tuesday. Mrs. Nation was brought into court, and when Judge Dale asked her if she had anything to say, she started in to abuse him. He finally ordered her back to solitary confinement. In going back, she attacked Jailer Dodd, and bit his ear, bringing blood. She says she will try her own case.

Marquis Ito, according to a despatch to The Daily Mail from Yokohama, is suffering from brain trouble, and is not likely to resume office. The correspondent says the Ministerial deadlock continues.

MANITOBA RAILWAYS

The Leaders Unite to Put Down Obstruction in the House.

BILL WAS FINALLY REPORTED.

Hon. Mr. Sifton, Minister of the Interior, Supports the Bill—The Rights of Manitoba—The Prairie Province Has Full Power to Make the Bargain—Details of the Proceedings.

Ottawa, May 14.—The House of Commons commenced morning sessions yesterday. When the Speaker took the chair at 11 o'clock there were but few members present, owing to the late hour at which they returned to the city from Quebec. The House went into committee upon the bill confirming the Manitoba Government's railway agreement. Mr. Charlton at once took the floor to conclude his arguments against the bill, which he commenced on Wednesday and continued on Friday. The debate upon the first clause proceeded all day, and at 1.30 a. m. Mr. Puttee was addressing the committee in opposition to the bill. Until yesterday the opponents of the bill have monopolized the debate, but during the afternoon Mr. Sifton and several other members from Manitoba gave reasons for supporting the bill.

Mr. Bourassa resumed at the opening of the afternoon sitting against the bill.

Mr. Sifton.

Mr. Sifton said that after a careful consideration he had decided to support the bill, and therefore would give his reasons for doing so. He admitted that the question was one which had given him a great deal of thought, as it was a question which determined the relations between the Dominion and Provincial authorities, a question which had been fruitful of more difficulty and trouble than any other class of questions which come before Parliament, a question in which members experienced great difficulties in determining between their private views and public policy.

Mr. Sifton sketched briefly the history of the construction of the several lines embraced in the deal, and said he was not concerned for the success of the Manitoba Government; but he could not help pointing out that no petition against this bill had been presented from the minority in the Manitoba Legislature, requesting that this Parliament should refuse the legislation asked for. The fact was they all took the stand in favor of Provincial rights, and if any other policy than recognition of these rights was adopted, with regard to the great Western provinces, the Dominion Government would find itself in constant difficulty. He himself was taking the same stand in this matter, as regards the Government of Manitoba, which he would take if he were at one with the Government, and not politically opposed to it. Manitoba was not a large Province; but one rule could not be applied to one Province and another to another Province. And, if the Province of Quebec or Ontario were in a similar position to Manitoba, and this Federal Parliament should refuse its assent on the ground that it was not wise, from the standpoint of Provincial finances, the people of either Province would certainly take the position that that was a matter wholly within the Provincial control. There had been nothing to indicate that the Legislature of Manitoba did not fairly represent the views of the people of Manitoba. Representations from prominent people of Winnipeg against the bargain, and resolutions against it were passed at some meetings in the country, but no sound politician would think of accepting such denunciations as against the expressed will of the Legislature of the Province.

Mr. Haggart followed, agreeing with Mr. Sifton on some points, and differing with him on others.

Other speakers were Messrs. Heyd, Osdale, Wallace, Boyd, Christie, La Riviere, Roche (Marquette) and Richardson.

Towards 2 a. m. the opposition to the bill collapsed, and, the preamble being adopted, the several clauses were considered and the amendments thereto, postponing operation of the bill until ratified by the Legislature, or until pronounced upon, being voted down, the bill was reported from committee without amendment.

On motion for the third reading, Mr. Bourassa moved a final amendment to prevent the Government of Manitoba from discriminating in rates against other parts of the country.

The mover was the only speaker on the motion, and when he had concluded the bill was read a third time and passed.

The motion for the six months' hoist had only five supporters, Messrs. Charlton, Bourassa, Clarke Wallace, Richardson and Puttee.

The House adjourned at 2.45 a. m.

THE SENATE.

Ottawa, May 14.—In the Senate yesterday, Hon. Mr. Macdonald (British Columbia), gave notice that he will call attention to the conflicting claims of the provinces in the matter of the fisheries, and moved for the putting in force of the judgment of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. After third readings, the bill to amend the act respecting the Judges of Provincial Courts was read a second time.

The report of the Committee on the Cook charges was set down for Wednesday.

The Problem Solved.

MALT BREAKFAST FOOD

Requires No Digestive Effort.

Prof. W. M. Williams, of London, England, the greatest living scientist in the chemistry of foods, says:

"By using MALT with a cereal (grain food) in proper proportions, an excellent and easily digested food is obtained, and such a food I strongly recommend as most valuable for invalids as well as for strong people."

Malt Breakfast Food is the first and only breakfast food in the world that contains in the proper proportions the health giving properties of pure MALT with the strength-yielding virtues of the choicest WHEAT.

Speaking with all honesty and from a most extended experience we say, "the value of Malt is much greater when eaten than when drunk." Therefore when you are a user of Malt Breakfast Food you benefit to the fullest extent by the building up virtues of Malt.

Our grocers declare that Malt Breakfast Food is the greatest success of the age; it is their best selling breakfast food. Try a package.

Sailor Breaks His Skull.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 13.—William Lawler, a sailor on the steamer J. W. Moore, who fell through the hatchway of the steamer Friday afternoon and sustained a fractured skull, died at the Sisters' Hospital Saturday afternoon. Lawler was 28 years of age. His home was in Hammondsburg, Ont.

Dyspepsia

Is difficult digestion, due to a weakened condition of the stomach and its inability to properly churn the food; or to unhealthy condition of the gastric juice, too much or too little acid, too much or too little pepsin.

Hood's Sarsaparilla relieves all the distressing symptoms of dyspepsia because it promotes the muscular action of the stomach and intestines, aids nature in the manufacture of her own digestive secretions, which are far better than any artificial pepsin, unlocks the bowels, stimulates the kidneys and tones up their mucous membranes.

So prompt is its effect in many cases that it seems to have almost a magic touch.

Begin to take it NOW.

Suffered Everything—"I was troubled with dyspepsia, suffered everything but death, could not eat without terrible distress. Since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I eat heartily and I am well." Mrs. Eugene Murphy, Danbury, Conn.

IN THE BEAR'S GRASP

MANCHURIA EAGERLY DESIRED BY THE RUSSIANS.

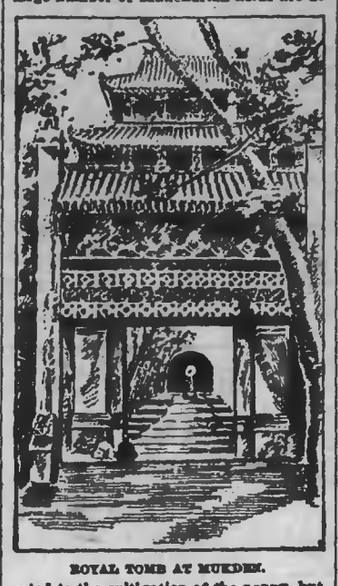
Not a Petty Province, but a Rich, Well Populated, Though Undeveloped, Country—Its Cities, Resources and People.

When the Russian bear gathers within his embrace any territory, he never lets it go. Such has been the world's experience in the past, with the almost unique relinquishment of Alaska excluded. There is, therefore, every reason to believe that if the czar's government succeeds in obtaining a grant of Manchuria "for temporary occupation," the complete Russianization of that province may be expected, and it will take its place as an integral part of the Muscovite empire.

Although most nations have at most only a commercial interest in the Russian occupation of Manchuria, its acquisition by the czar may have a great effect on the future history of the world, for Manchuria is not a petty province to be swallowed and digested at will by Russia; it is a great, rich, well populated country, a kingdom in itself. Manchuria's wealth is varied, consisting of agricultural and mineral products. Neither of these sources of revenue has ever been fully developed. Manchuria contains about 300,000 square miles, and its population is variously estimated at from 7,000,000 to 18,000,000.

Manchuria is that part of the Chinese empire that lies between Siberia and Korea. It is bounded on the northwest and north by the Amur river, dividing it from Siberia; on the east the Usuri river and a land boundary separate it from another part of Siberia. On the south are Korea and the Yellow sea, while on the west lie Mongolia and the Chinese province of Chi-li.

It will be seen that Manchuria forms the northeastern corner of the Chinese empire. Its shape is irregular, the two longest axes being from northwest to southeast and from northeast to southwest. In surface Manchuria is diversified, the mountains being in the northwest and in the east. A range of mountains divides it from Korea. Its soil is for the most part very fertile. In the hands of proper cultivators Manchuria should become one of the world's granaries. At present a large number of Manchurian fields are devoted to the cultivation of the poppy, but, besides this narcotic, a great many other products are grown.



ROYAL TOMB AT MUKDEN.

The climate of Manchuria is similar to that of New England, ranging from about 50 above to 10 below in winter and from 70 to 90 above in summer.

Manchuria's mineral products, like its agricultural resources, are many and varied. Gold is known to exist in many parts of the country and has been known for ages. Owing, however, principally to the jealousy of an unprogressive government it has not been mined extensively. Predictions have freely been made that when Manchuria's goldfields are opened up Australia and California will be eclipsed. Besides gold there are extensive deposits of silver, lead, copper and iron. Coal of an excellent quality is found all over Manchuria, and a great deal of it is being mined.

The people of Manchuria, although once a distinct race, have lost their nationality by being merged with the Chinese. As is well known, the ruling dynasty of the Chinese empire is Mantchoo. This is owing to the fact that about four centuries ago the Mantchoos conquered China and became masters of the country. The Manchurians as a race have lost their identity in the swarm of Chinese who entered the country after the Manchurian conquest of their own.

The only remaining Mantchoos of pure descent are a few nomadic tribes. The ancient language of Manchuria is practically dead, being retained only in court circles, and has been replaced by Chinese. In customs, manners, etc., the Manchurians are like the rest of the Chinese, with the reservation that as the Chinese empire is so greatly diversified nothing can be definitely predicated about the inhabitants of one section of the country that will hold true in all sections.

The commingling of races in Manchuria has had a curious effect on the people. They were formerly distinguished for their courtesy, generosity, love of justice and respect for women. This latter trait is especially rare in the Chinese empire. Now that the Mantchoos no longer exist as a pure race they have adopted, along with most of the customs and religions of their southern neighbors, the vices of the latter. The inhabitants of Manchuria are nominally Buddhists, but Confucianism, Taoism and the old Shamanism, or worship of nature, still abound. Traces of Mohammedanism and Judaism may also be found among some classes of the population.

Although Manchuria contains a number of towns with sufficient inhabitants to be styled "cities," they are not so in reality, being for the most part vast collections of huts. Mukden, the principal town and present capital of the country is however, an exception, for it is a clean and well built city. Mukden is considered a holy city, because it was the ancient residence of the reigning family. It contains a magnificent Buddhist temple and historical buildings. Near the city is situated the sacred park, which contains the tombs of the ancient royalties of Manchuria.

Blood Disorders

are simply kidney disorders. The kidneys filter the blood of all that shouldn't be there. The blood passes through the kidneys every three minutes. If the kidneys do their work no impurity or cause of disorder can remain in the circulation longer than that time. Therefore if your blood is out of order your kidneys have failed in their work. They are in need of stimulation, strengthening or doctoring. One medicine will do all three, the finest and most imitated blood medicine there is

When the Baby Cries at Night.

There is a cause for it. Perhaps it is gas on the stomach, or may be cramps or diarrhœa. Don't lose sleep—anticipate such contigences by always keeping handy a bottle of Polson's Nerviline. Just a few drops in water taken inwardly, then rub the little one's stomach with a little Nerviline, and perfect rest is assured for the night for both mother and baby. You may not need Nerviline often but when you need it you need it badly. Get a 25c bottle to-day.

Not an Educated Dog.

In the "Floresta Espanola" of Melchior de Santa Cruz the author has an anecdote of Cardinal Pedro Gonzales. That prelate noticed that one of the priests in his retinue, a Biscayan, carried a short sword under his cloak. The cardinal reproved him and told him that it was wrong for a cleric to carry arms. The Biscayan replied that he carried the weapon to defend himself if he were attacked by a dog. The cardinal said that in case he saw a dog running at him he should begin to recite from the gospel of St. John. The priest acknowledged that this was a good way, but held to the dagger, "because there are some dogs who do not understand Latin."

Shattered Nerves and Weakened System,

THE AFTER EFFECTS OF LA GRIPPE.

Have You Had La Grippe?
Did it Leave any After Effects?

If it did, read what Mr. F. J. Brophy, of Montreal, Que., has to say of the good Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did him.

He Writes: I had a very severe attack of la grippe, which left me all run down, very nervous and extremely weak. I could not sleep at night and was troubled with profuse perspiration, which caused me much annoyance. Hearing of the good effects of Milburn's Pills, I began taking them. Much to my gratification they braced me up, invigorated my whole system, and made me feel like a new man. I can recommend them to all suffering as I did.

RIVER BOATS IN RUSSIA.

Everywhere up the Volga and its hundred tributaries ascend the iron barges of the Caspian sea oil fleet, while through the canals to St. Petersburg alone pass annually during the 215 days of free navigation thousands of steamers and barges bearing millions of tons of freight. Every known means of locomotion is used, from men who, like oxen, tramp the towpaths, hauling the smaller barges, to powerful tugs that creep along by means of an endless chain laid in the bed of the canals and minor rivers, dragging after them at snail pace great caravans of heavy barges.

From the greater streams immense craft nearly 400 feet long, 15 feet in depth, carrying 6,000 tons of freight, drift down to the Caspian, where they are broken to pieces to be used as firewood on the steamers going up stream. In all there are 8,000 miles of navigable waterways in the valleys of the Volga, or if the streams which float the giant rafts that form so large a part of the traffic of the rivers are included the mileage is increased to nearly 15,000, or as much as that of the valley of the Mississippi.

Fifty thousand rafts are floated down the Volga annually, many of them 100 feet long by 7 thick, and this gives but a faint idea of the real traffic of the river, for in addition there are 10,000,000 tons of produce passing up and down the river during the open season. Much of this centers at Nijni Novgorod. To this famous market steamers and barges come from all parts of Russia, bringing goods to be sold at the great annual fair, over $200,000,000 worth of merchandise changing hands in a few weeks. Thirty thousand craft, including rafts, are required for this traffic. They come from as far north as Archangel, as far east as the Urals, from Astrakhan in the south, St. Petersburg and Moscow to the west, while great caravans of ships of the desert arrive daily from all parts of Asia.

It Saved His Leg.

Babies In Greenland.

The bed of the baby Eskimo is not always one of eider down. There are times of famine now and then when the condition of the ice makes hunting impossible, and old and young starve to death. Cases have been known on both shores of Baffin bay where babies have been eaten by starving adults, but infanticide in Greenland is unknown because of a belief that the spirit of a murdered infant turns into an evil spirit called Angiak that forever haunts the entire village and brings endless misery and distress.

Last Cargo of Slaves.

Captain Foster was the commander of the slave ship Clotilda that brought the last cargo of slaves to the United States. The trip was made only after many thrilling scenes requiring weeks of skillful maneuvering and dangerous exploits. Just before the north and south engaged in war Captain Foster built the Clotilda and announced that he would make a trip to the gulf of Guinea despite the fact that United States war vessels had burned and sunk the ships of many who tried the voyage. He was warned repeatedly of the dangers attached to such an undertaking, but he equipped his ship and sailed away.

He reached the African coast after going out of his course many times and remained along the coast for a month. He succeeded in getting 100 negroes on board before he was detected by the watchful vessels of the United States. He was pursued, but easily outdistanced his pursuers, and two months later arrived in Mobile bay with his human cargo. A steamboat met the slaveship during the night, and the negroes were transferred in order to avoid the custom house officials. Captain Foster set his vessel on fire and passed through Mobile without being detected. The government authorities hunted for him for months, but he eluded them until the close of the war, when he retired from the sea.

Tipping the Butcher.

Did you ever buy your own steaks and get the worst in the shop nearly every time? An old friend has had that misfortune, and he is always willing to pay two or three cents more a pound than any other customer. Having listened calmly to his tale of woe, I inquired if he had acquired the practice of tipping the butcher. Tipping the butcher? No! He thought it was a sufficient tip to offer the two or three cents more a pound. "That offer," I tried to explain, "goes to the proprietor direct, or his block man thinks you are trying to make a thief of him by inducing him to hold out for himself the extra price. It will never work.

"Just say to your cutter: 'See here, old chap, I've been dissatisfied with my steaks for some time. Come out and take a drink, and tell me how to select good meat.' He's too busy. Then slip a dime into his hand and say, 'Have a glass of beer when you get out,' or a quarter and say, 'Have a smile with me when you have time.' Repeat this performance and presently your steaks are the delight of home. In the busiest private market in New York it is the rule to tip the butchers. You can get nothing fit to eat without it."

Toronto Telegram.—It is pleasing to see all the old lacrosse towns getting back into the lacrosse fold. Georgetown was long in being heard from and it was feared that Glen Williams had absorbed her players. But she's in line at last with an intermediate team. If Peterborough comes in now every old lacrosse town in the province as well as a large batch of new ones, will have a team in the C.L.A., and let us see, what was that chap's name who said lacrosse was at its lowest ebb in C.L.A. circles. Louder please.

HE GOT IN.

On Friday evening last proceedings of unusual interest were taking place in the drill-shed, and the usual aggregation of small boys clustered around the south door. Presently a tall young man of authority came along and ordered the boys to "clear out." One very small boy lingered until he could get the attention of the tall young man and in lisping, confidential tones said, "Mister, when you were a little boy, didn't you like to get into things?" The tall young man, after a moment's hesitation, informed the small boy that he could come in, and the invitation was accepted with alacrity.

THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Theobald, Albert Street.

They Were Heartily Congratulated Last Night by Their Many Friends -- An Address.

Yesterday was the fiftieth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrr. Thomas Theobald, No. 12 Albert street, town, and the occasion of their golden wedding was fittingly celebrated. Mr. Theobald and his family are well known to the citizens of Peterborough, and have always held the esteem and respect of the entire community. Their home on Albert street was a scene of much merriment last night. At six o'clock a sumptuous repast was served to a large company. All the members of the company were present excepting Messrs. Thomas and Edward, of Illinois. There were Mrs. W. Welsh, of Auburn, Messrs. Charles, Hunter Street, John, Albert street and Miss Amy and Miss Annie who live at home. Besides these there were about twenty intimate friends amongst them being Ven. Archdeacon Casey and Rev. Dr. O'Brien.

In the evening the party was augmented by about fifty or sixty young people who enjoyed themselves in music, songs, games, etc., and needless to say Mr. and Mrs. Theobold were the recepients of many congratulatory remarks.

During the evening the following address was read :—

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Theobald,—

It is with a high sense of pleasure that we, your friends, gather around you this evening to participate in this grand festival of yours, your Golden Jubilee. It must be a source of pleasure and delight to look back on that long span of years, still united as on the morning you both stood before the altar of God, your young hearts filled with love, ready to journey hand in hand through life together, sharing each other's joys and sorrows.

Well, may we say that the wishes of your many friends fifty years ago have been fulfilled, and we hope and pray with God's blessing that many more years may be added to this fiftieth anniversary.

As a token of the high esteem you are heldin, in our midst and as a remembrance of your Golden Jubilee, we ask you to accept these small tributes and wish you both a long and happy life together.

Signed, Timothy Hanrahan,
William O'Keefe,
W. Grady,
A. B. Doris.

Many handsome presents testified to the esteem in which the hosts of the evening are held by their friends.

Mr. Thos. Theobald was born in the County of Kent, England, in the year 1826, and is therefore 75 years of age. Mrs. Theobald was born in the year 1834 in the County of Carlow, Ireland. Her husband is an old militia man, having seen service in the Crimean war, fighting four of the most notable battles of that campaign. He saw eighteen years' active service in the English army.

He came to this country first in 1846 and in 1851 married his present life partner. They have lived for about 40 years in Peterborough, where for a long time Mr Theobald followed the occupation of a carpenter, but during the past 18 years he has been an employee of the Peter Hamilton Mfg. Co. He is still in excellent health and attends to his daily work, and, judging from present appearances, many more years of happiness are in store for him and his esteemed wife.

REV. DR. SYMONDS ABOUT TO LEAVE.

WILL RESIGN HIS CHARGE

And Accept the Headmastership of Trinity College School—Universal Regret Will be Felt.

If there is anything in the rumour which is current on the street this afternoon. Peterborough is about to lose one of her citizens, which she can ill afford to spare in the person of Rev. Dr. Symonds, who has been offered the position of headmaster of Trinity School, Port Hope.

While Dr. Symonds has not as yet made public his decision in regard to the offer which he has received, still it is understood that the answer to the offer will be in the nature of an acceptance.

As an earnest and eloquent exponent of gospel principles, Dr. Symonds has won, and held, the respect and love of all who have listened to his thoughtful discourses from St. Luke's pulpit.

As a clergyman he will be difficult indeed to replace, and as a citizen, who was always alive to the best interests of Ashburnham and Peterborough, his influence was so wide-spread and of such weight that his power for doing good had attained a magnitude of such scope that his loss will be an irreparable one to the municipality. Broadminded and untiring in the advocacy of such principles as are calulated to promote the culture of the highest type of manhood, the hand of St. Luke's rector will be an invaluable one to guide the future destiny of Trinity College School. The responsibility of moulding the characters of the young is a task involving labour of a nature which sits heavily on the shoulders of those who undertake it, but that his duties will be discharged in the same faithful and conscientious manner, as those of the shepherd of St. Lukes congregation, goes without saying.

Though loath indeed to see Dr. Symonds leave Peterborough, the citizens will recognize that in obeying a call to a higher sphere of labour, Dr. Symonds is doing so in the belief that his scope for doing good will be greatly broadened thereby.

LATE J. W. FITZGERALD.

THE BOOK OF DANIEL.

An Interesting Lecture at Charlotte Street League Last Night by Rev. Mr. Kilgour.

Monday evening the Rev. Mr. Kilgour gave an excellent dissertation on the Book of Daniel to a fair audience in Charlotte street Methodist assembly room.

The general scope of the book was shown under seven heads, and the object of sealing the prophecy was explained as arising from the desire of the Creator to keep secret His plans from Satan. The struggle between Greece and Persia, the rise and fall of Babylon, Media and Persia and the Roman Empire, the long and ruthless struggle between Antioch and Egypt—a struggle that wrought so fatally for the Jews—all these momentous national convulsions were shown to have occurred as foretold by the prophet.

In speaking of Gabriel and Michael, the Rev. Mr. Kilgour explained that God kept watch over man and the world by His angels, and that Michael was the particular guardian of the Jews.

Throughout the Book of Daniel the word day is used to represent a year, and indeed this was frequently done by the Romans. On this basis it was demonstrated that Daniel set forth the destruction of Jerusalem and the horrible deluge of blood that followed, together with the advent and mission of the Messiah and John the Baptist. Further the abominations of the early church were predicted, and the period of their abolition, a time, times and a half explained.

The speaker was followed with the closest attention, and spoke with his accustomed vigour and earnestness. Next Monday evening Rev. Mr. Kilgour discusses the Book of Revelation. During the evening the League Male Quartette sang very acceptably.

COMMON-WEAL ASSO. FORMED.

Largely Attended Meeting of Prominent Citizens.

REV. DR. SYMONDS PRESIDENT

Organization Perfected and a Mass Meeting to be Held to Forward the Objects.

A large number of the citizens of Peterborough and Ashburnham assembled last evening in the Canada Life Board room in answer to an invitation issued in the form of a circular calling a meeting for the purpose of organizing a Common Weal Association, the aims and objects of which were explained in Friday's issue of the Examiner:

Rev. Dr. Symonds occupied the chair, and in his opening remarks said that although he appeared there as chairman, he was not the original promoter of the movement, which was really a layman's and not a clergyman's movement. He wished to emphasize one or two points in the circular that had been placed in their hands. In the first place the objects of the society were not limited. Although one or two things were mentioned in the circular, the real object of the Association was a union of the citizens of Peterborough and Ashburnham to form and to maintain a high level of civic public opinion. We are living in age of combination. Nothing of to-day can be accomplished without association. Hence the need of some such a society in an age of great material progress. It was not to be forgotten that a high standard of character is a nation's best possession.

The chairman then proceeded to refer to some ways in which the scope of the Society might be enlarged should it prove successful. He warmly eulogized an effort now being made by His Grace Archbishop Bruchesi, of Montreal, to abolish the evil of indecent theatrical posters.

of to-day are civic problems, because the tendency of the times is for people to flock to the large centres of population. He thought that through the medium of this society we might once or twice a year procure the presence of some really first-class student of civic life to give a lecture or perhaps two or three lectures.

None of these objects could be attained without a measure of self-sacrifice. This was indeed true of everything best worth accomplishing in life. The sacrifice of the individual pleasure for the sake of the common good, was an absolute necessity for the best and most enduring forms of progress. He might add that at the same time that it issued the highest kind of happiness.

He particularly hoped the meeting would observe that what was asked of the members was entirely reasonable. Everything was voluntary. Neither was there anything Puritanical in the obnoxious sense of that word, in its demands. He saw great possibilities before the society, but success must depend upon the hearty co-operation of all. No one man, nor any committee could accomplish anything unless the body of citizens was behind them. On the other hand he believed that if only they had faith in the cause, there was nothing which such a body of men as he saw before him on that occasion could not accomplish.

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun expressed his hearty concurrence in the movement. He referred to the great importance of maintaining a high reputation for the town. With reference to the question of drinking during business hours, everyone present knew that public opinion was opposed to our young men falling into this dangerous habit. But it could not be a matter of surprise that they should do so if they saw their elders setting the example. Therefore it was right and good that all should abstain. He had pleasure in moving the following resolution:—"That the Peterborough Common Weal Society be hereby organized with the following officers: President, Vice President, Sec-Treas. and a committee of thirteen, and that the joining fee be 25c.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall seconded the resolution.

Col. Edwards asked if the society was or was it to be a business men's society. He referred to the growth of profanity on our streets, and hoped that a strong effort would be made to put it down.

OPEN TO ALL,

The chairman explained that the society was open to all, and said that the matter of profanity on the streets had been one of the moving causes in the formation of the society.

Mr. Pousette said that the platform presented high ideals. There were other matters which might come within the purview of the society, should it grow. He deprecated, however, the idea that Peterborough compared badly with other towns in its moral standing.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

The election of officers ensued and Rev. Dr. Symonds was elected president. The following nominations were made for Vice-President, Mr. L. M. Hayes, Dr. Boucher and Colonel Rogers. Mr. Hayes and Col. Rogers retired, and Dr. Boucher was declared elected. Mr. R. M. Dennistoun was unanimously elected sec.-treas.

A committee of thirteen (instead of six) was elected, viz., L. M. Hayes, Dr. Caldwell, Col. Rogers, Col. Edwards, A. L. Davis, C. F. McGill, E. H. D. Hall, E. A. Peck, G. S. Matthews, A. G. Parker, H. J. Grasett, T. W. Robinson and G. Giroux.

Mr. Carnegie sent a letter of regret for unavoidable absence, expressing his warm sympathy with the movement. Mr. D. Belleghem telephoned that he was suffering from a severe cold, but wished to be put down as a member should the society be formed.

The committee will meet on Thursday at 4 p.m., in Mr. Dennistoun's office, when it is expected that arrangements will be made for a mass meeting of the citizens to bring the matter fully to their notice, and to secure the co-operation of all the citizens of Peterborough and Ashburnham.

HOW QUAILS HIDE.

Although the Man Could Not See the Bird the Pup Was Right.

We are all more or less inclined to dispute the unusual incidents reported by observant brother sportsmen and if persuaded will excuse the bigotry shown by saying, "I never saw any such thing." The claim has been made that a quail will lay a dead leaf over its back when "laying close" in the woods, and this I have always thought an appropriate extract from a pretty fairy tale and pitied any one who could be gulled by such a very transparent fable.

One day while hunting quail a covey flushed wild and scattered in the woods. My companion took the old dog and I the pup, and we proceeded to beat up the cover. The first point the pup made was at the foot of a small tree, where the trees stood thick, but where the ground was stony and was covered only with thin patches of dead leaves.

Taking the direction of the dog's eyes, I passed close by his head and, brushing by the tree at the foot of which he stood, walked on 10 or 15 feet, but flushed nothing.

Going back to the dog, I carefully took the direction of his eyes and looking closely discovered sitting between the roots of the tree within a span of my foot the bird, and lying well over its back was a large dead oak leaf placed in such a manner as to convince me beyond all shadow of a doubt that the bird had placed it there.

My reputation for veracity is fairly good, but I wish that pup could also make a statement in this case, for he and I were the only witnesses of this, to me, strange and interesting incident.

P. S.—We got the bird.—Lewis Hopkins in Forest and Stream.

"THE MAN WITH THE ADZE."

A constructive rather than a destructive force implied by the name is "the man with the adze," who is sometimes seen by early comers to the meat markets.

Most persons have doubtless observed the large blocks upon which butchers trim their steaks and chops. The top of the block is usually as smooth as glass, but the constant chopping of meat thereon roughens the surface eventually. The general idea seems to be that the butcher keeps his block smooth by merely sawing off the rough section. Such, however, is not the case. Specialism has even entered here.

The man who makes a business of smoothing the butchers' blocks appears at the meat markets early in the morning before the customers arrive. He rolls the big block to the sidewalk, then mounts to the top of it, adze in hand. Bringing it down swiftly from a vertical position above his head, the blade is made to pass between his legs, skimming the surface of the block with great dexterity.

At each stroke a thin layer of the rough wood is removed. The operation is continued sufficiently to satisfy the butcher's requirements. Some three hours are ordinarily consumed in the operation, and at the end of that time "the man with the adze" finds himself richer by $1.

Photos That Would Pay.

Everybody is trying to make money quickly nowadays, and photographers, amateur and expert, form a goodly percentage of the total included in "everybody." Here are a few subjects that would fetch very high prices:

A house being struck by lightning. We have photos of lightning flashes, but no picture of the kind which shows a flash actually striking a house.

Two trains in collision. Photos of wrecked trains are common enough, but a snap shot at the very occurrence of the smash remains unrecorded.

A negative of an Atlantic liner batting with an ocean tempest. If you could take a snap shot of this subject from the deck of another liner it would be worth a good sum.

A photograph of a sprightly earthquake in Japan or some other country which is troubled in this way. It would be well to hang up your camera and make it work automatically, as earthquakes are not to be played with. Such a picture would be jumped at.

A Lay Suggestion.

On the last night of a series of "protracted meetings" in the Methodist church of a little southern California village the visiting evangelist was making a special effort to obtain a showing of anxious souls. He had preached his best sermon and reached an emotional fervor that he had seldom equaled. But nobody responded to his invitation. They sang a hymn, and then the evangelist rose again and called upon the congregation to "enlist for the service of the Lord."

A battle scarred, wooden legged veteran who had dropped into the back seat watched the proceedings with interest. For the third time the perspiring evangelist rose and asked, "Is there no one willing to enlist in the Lord's army?"

Then response came from the back seat, "Draft 'em, parson; hang it, draft 'em!"

Humors of all kinds are prolific of worse troubles. They may be extirely expelled by a thorough course of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

WHY THE BOILER BURSTS.

When you hear the kitchen boiler cracking, there is no cause for alarm. There is a prevailing impression that the cracking is produced by steam and that there is therefore an increased pressure on the boiler at such times. But this is an error. If the boiler is in good condition, with the water turned on as usual so that the boiler is kept filled, the only pressure that it is subjected to is the same as that in the water pipes, from which of course there never is the slightest danger. And this is true no matter how hot the water in the boiler may be.

The reason is very simple. As long as the boiler is kept full of water there is no room for steam. If you open the hot water cock, the water pours out, and steam rises from it, because it then has a chance to escape into the air. In other words, evaporation takes place. But as the hot water pours out water from the pipes rushes in to take its place, and thus the boiler is kept full.

The cracking noise referred to is heard when the water is unusually hot and is nothing but the expansion of the boiler under the influence of that heat. It is in no degree an indication of danger unless indeed the boiler is worn out or defective, which is a matter entirely outside of what we are now considering.

When a kitchen boiler explodes, it is generally because a fire has been kindled in the range while the boiler was empty. It happens sometimes when people come back to town after spending the summer away. The fire heats the boiler, of course, and when the water is turned on it is converted suddenly and violently into steam, and the boiler cannot stand the enormous pressure. Fortunately few persons are thoughtless enough or silly enough to build a fire before opening the cocks connecting the boiler with the water pipes.

CANNOT SAY ENOUGH.

Common Remark in Reference to Gratitude Felt for Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—Miss G. V. Campbell in that Position

To such people Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have made all the difference between misery and happiness.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are arousing unspeakable gratitude in thousands of homes throughout Canada, creating a feeling so deep and sincere that ordinary words of thanks sound cheap and insufficient.

Miss Gusty V. Campbell of Little Shippegan, N. B., is a case in point. She is one of those whom Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have gratified beyond the measure of words.

Suffering from the acutest pangs of indigestion, she found herself utterly helpless. Nothing she could do would afford her any relief. Her food fermented in the stomach, and all the usual pain and distress followed. In spite of the medicines she was prescribed, instead of better she grew steadily worse.

Consequently, it is with more than ordinary gratitude that Miss Campbell regards Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They restored her digestive system to the natural, wholesome, healthy condition where food is perfectly assimilated, and good rich blood sent to build up tissues and nerves. They gave the glow of vigorous health to her cheeks, and the spring of energy to her step.

"I cannot," she writes, "say enough in favour of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Looking through one of Dodd's almanacs, I saw the reasonableness of the claims made for Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and determined to test them. I am glad I did so. That was the first step towards regaining the health which I had lost, and which, thanks to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, I now again enjoy.

"I can honestly recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to any of my friends who are suffering from Dyspepsia."

Nature's Crowning Work.

As for the woman, she found the chief wonders of creation not in the culminating vertebrate, but in the lowest orders of life.

"The jellyfish, for instance!" exclaimed the woman. "How was it ever got to jell so beautifully?"

Now, the others thought they could understand her awe, although none of them, as it transpired, had ever put up any preserves.

HOTEL KLEPTOMANIACS.

Presumably Rich Guests Who Appropriate Other People's Property.

I was much struck with the habits of kleptomania common to some of the presumably rich visitors who engaged expensive suits of rooms and even paid their bills. After the departure of these guests the bed would be found minus the satin or silk coverlet, while towels and pillowslips were also very often removed.

On one occasion a gentleman engaged a double room for one night only, and the following morning the maid, knowing of his departure, made up the bed with fresh linen for the next occupant. However, the visitor had evidently returned to his room after breakfast, deliberately taken the slips off the pillows and packed them with his luggage, for on entering the room shortly after I found the bed made up, but no slips. I happened to know that the maid had certainly put fresh ones on when she made up the bed. What that gentleman could want with these two pillowslips is difficult to understand.

Of course candles, matches and soap (supplied gratis) are commonly removed, and even the sheets on the beds are not spared. Once a large double sheet was cut into pieces, the visitor evidently requiring sufficient linen for a petticoat or lining to a skirt, judging from the shape of the pieces left. The hotel sheet was no doubt the nearest thing available, so it was taken to save time and trouble, and the pieces left were found carefully rolled up and thrown into a cupboard outside the room which was only used by the maids and strictly private. Needless to say, before the remains of the sheet were found the visitors had departed, leaving no address.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

The Popular Medicine With the People and The Medical Profession

Only a true and effective remedy could continue, as Paine's Celery Compound has done, to hold its high place in the estimation of the ablest physicians and of the tens of thousands of busy men and women whose only means of judging is from the actual results in their own homes or among their friends. No remedy was ever so highly recommended, because no other ever achieved so many wonderful victories over disease and death.

For feeding exhausted nerves, building up the strength of the body, giving a healty and natural appetite, and as a promoter of refreshing sleep, Paine's Celery Compound stands to-day without an equal in the world.

Mrs. Garland, 675 Crawford street, Toronto, gives her experience with Paine's Celery Compound as follows:

"Your Paine's Celery Compound has most wonderfully improved my health. Before using it my appetite was poor—almost gone; I was weak and debilitated, and suffered from pains in the head. Paine's Celery Compound does all that is claimed for it. I have recommended it to my friends, and they all speak highly of the results received from it. I wish Paine's Celery Compound the success it so richly deserves."

Fished For Its Dinner.

"Looking over my neighbor's fence one day," says a lover of animals, "I was surprised to see on his doorstep these queer companions: A beautiful white sea gull and my neighbor's pet cat sitting quietly together.

"Becoming interested, I jumped the fence and asked Jones about his feathered pet. He told me that some boys had shot the gull a few days before and broken its wing, and as they were passing his house he noticed the poor, suffering thing and bought it. He bandaged the broken wing, and the gull, seeming to understand his kind intentions, became quite tame and nestled its pretty head against his hand.

"Jones entertained me by showing how the gull usually took his meals. Bringing a plate of oysters and a fork, he called 'Goosey, goosey, goosey!' and the bird came running to him. Then he held out an oyster on the fork and the gull seized it quickly with its yellow bill and ate it as demurely as if oysters had been served to it in this way all of its days.

"The oddest thing occurred one day when my neighbor gave the gull some small pieces of meat for dinner. He placed the meat on the ground near the gull, but the gull, espying a pan of water near by, took the meat piece by piece and, walking over, dropped it into the water. Then, true to its nature, it began fishing for its dinner."

WEAKNESS
OF MEN AND WOMEN

Could we read the hearts of every man we meet, what a load of sorrow and despair would be disclosed. Indiscretions and Blood Diseases have caused more physical and mental wrecks than all other causes combined. They strike at the foundation of manhood; they sap the vital forces; they undermine the system, and not only do they often disrupt the family circle, but they may even extend their poisonous fangs into the next generation. If you have been a victim of early sinful habits, remember the seed is sown, and sooner or later you will reap a harvest. If your blood has been diseased from any cause do not risk a return later on. Our New Method Treatment will positively cure you and you need never fear any return of the disease. We will give you a guarantee bond to that effect. We would warn you sincerely against the promiscuous use of mercury, which does not cure blood poison but simply suppresses the symptoms.

WE CURE OR NO PAY.

Don't Let your Life be Drained Away, which weakens the intellect as well as the body. There is no room in this world for mental, physical or sexual dwarfs. Our New Method Treatment will Stop all Unnatural Losses, Purify the Blood, Strengthen the Nerves, Restore Vitality, and make a man of you. If you are in trouble, call and consult us. Consultation is Free. We treat and cure Drains, Blood Diseases, Varicocele, Stricture, Unnatural Discharges, Gleet, Kidney and Bladder Diseases. No cutting or operations. No detention from business. Everything confidential. Consultation Free. Books Free. Question Blank Free for Home Treatment.

Port Huron, Mich., May 13.—The schooner Fostoria, in tow of the steamer Annie Laura, collided with a huge cake of ice in the St. Clair River Friday evening, and sank almost immediately. Two sailors, whose names are not known, were drowned.

THE METROPOLITAN.

Archbishop Lewis Was on His Way to England and Egypt When He Passed Away—His Career.

London, May 14. — Archbishop Lewis of Ontario, Metropolitan of Canada, died May 4 on board the Atlantic Transport Line steamer Menominee. He had embarked seriously ill, as the result of pneumonia, and had intended to stay in London for a short time and proceed to Egypt. He was accompanied by his wife and a trained nurse. During the night of May 3 he sank rapidly. He died at 4 o'clock the next morning. The body was embalmed and taken to his residence here.

Sketch of His Life.

The Most Rev. John Travers Lewis, Metropolitan of Canada, was the son of the Rev. John Lewis, curate of St. Anne's Church, Shandon, near Cork, in Ireland, and was born on June 26, 1825. His early education was received in private schools at Cork, whence he proceeded to Trinity College, Dublin, obtaining at his entrance the Primate's Hebrew prize. He was specially interested in classics and mathematics during the course, and when he graduated in 1848 it was as gold medalist in ethics and logic. He proceeded to England after graduation, and in July, 1848, was ordained deacon at Christ Church College Chapel, Cambridge, by the Bishop of Chester. A year later he was ordained priest by the Bishop of Down, and became curate of Newtonbutter, in the north of Ireland. Meanwhile his mother and family had emigrated to Canada, and, after a year's service as curate, he decided to visit them. The late Bishop Strachan was at that time pushing Anglican missions into the back settlements, and the young Irishman on his arrival was appointed a missionary at West Hawkesbury, on the Ottawa River. Promotion came rapidly. In 1854 he became rector of St. Peter's, Brockville, and in 1861, when barely thirty-six, he became, by unanimous vote of both clergy and laity, the first Bishop of Ontario when the Diocese of Toronto was divided. He was the youngest Bishop of the church. For many years Bishop Lewis steadily improved the position of the church in his diocese, and when the office of Metropolitan of Canada became vacant by the death of Bishop Medley of Fredericton, in 1892, Bishop Lewis was by the vote of the House of Bishops in Montreal, in June, 1893, elevated to the office. This was followed by the conferring of the dignity of Archbishop in 1894.

The late Metropolitan was the originator and promoter of the Lambeth Conferences, now so important in the church's work. He attended all the conferences. He was an author of some distinction, and contributed many articles to The Journal of Sacred Literature. Archbishop Lewis married first in 1851, Annie Henrietta, daughter of the late Hon. Henry Sherwood. She died in 1886, and in 1889 he married Ada Maria, daughter of Mr. Evan Leigh, Manchester, England. Miss Leigh was a well-known church worker and founder of the British and American Home for Young Women and Children at Paris. She survives her husband.

Bishop of Ottawa Benefits.

Ottawa, May 14.—By the death of the late Archbishop Lewis the sum of $20,000 of the Episcopal Endowment Fund of the Diocese of Ontario will revert to the Diocese of Ottawa, which means that the stipend of the Bishop of Ottawa will be materially increased.

Didn't Cut His Corners.

A writer in the Boston Transcript gives this reminiscence of the Rev. Dr. Elijah Kellogg of Harpswell, Me.: "One Sunday before his sermon the doctor announced from his pulpit: 'The widow Jones' grass is getting pretty long. I shall be there with my scythe, rake and pitchfork at 4 o'clock tomorrow morning, and I hope every male member of the congregation will be there too.'

"The next morning they were all there and among them Captain Griggs, six feet two in his stockings, with a weight of nearly 250 pounds. 'Parson,' said he as they were working up the field near each other, 'I'm goin to cut your corners this mornin.'

"Now, Dr. Kellogg was a little man, weighing scarcely more than 130 pounds, but he knew how to handle a scythe, and, as he told me, with a little shrug of his shoulders, 'he didn't cut my corners that morning.' More than that, the man who had thought he could beat the parson at mowing dropped under a tree exhausted from working with such a pacemaker."

The Worst Paved City.

Moscow is probably the worst paved city in the world. Great cobblestones driven by hand into a loose bed of sand form a roadway which is always dusty in summer and muddy in autumn, and in many of the roads there is no attempt at a roadway of any kind. The streets are badly watered and cleaned.

The city is regarded by the Russians as "the holy city," probably because of the large number of monasteries it contains. It was once the capital of the empire and still enjoys the distinction of being considered the capital of the interior, but there does not seem to be any particular desire on the part of the authorities to make it more worthy of its title.

COLDS

We all have colds, you can try it and see. You will find the edge taken off in a night; and, in three or four days, you'll be wondering whether that cold amounted to anything anyhow.

That's relief. If you tackle it quick, the relief is quick and complete, if you wait till the cold is in full possession of head and lung, why, of course, the relief is quick if it comes in a week.

A little emulsion won't clear and restore your whole breathing-machine in a minute; don't be looking for miracles.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Toronto, Canada.

A MOORISH STORY TELLER.

How the Professional Plies His Calling In the Market Square.

A writer in The English Illustrated Magazine listened to a professional story teller plying his calling in a Moorish market. By half past 6 in the morning the great square beyond the city gates, where the market is held, was crowded. Patient Arabs sat in front of their stock of fresh vegetables and maize or presided over a supply of fruit. Beggars claimed the attention of passers by.

Presently down the dusty road from the interior came a man without whom the market would be incomplete. He was the story teller. He passed the beggars with a simple "Allah will provide!" that convinced them he had no intention of sharing the responsibility of providing and made his way to a corner beyond the circle now occupied by a caravan from Tafilet.

There he seated himself comfortably on the ground. Within five minutes there was a circle of men and boys round him.

A brisk conversation ensued. The writer gathered that they were giving the story teller directions concerning the tale they wanted to hear. This is very often done. The audience, knowing that the story teller lives by their support, is at times very definite in its demands, and not infrequently a plot must be altered in course of narration.

Soon the story started, and no knowledge of Arabic was necessary to understand that the narrator was a man of parts. The audience was deeply moved, the interest extending from the gray bearded veterans more than 60 years old to the 15-year-old boy.

Later in the morning, when the sun's rays were nearly vertical and most of the business was suspended, the story teller was still at his labors, and his audience had grown until the enlarged circle was four or five deep, the inner rings sitting down, the others standing. Traders had left their stock in charge of children, and beggars had forgotten their woes and were eagerly listening to the tale which one who understood explained to be about a beautiful princess, a wicked djinn, an old husband and a young man.

The story appeared to be more engrossing than wholesome in tone. To the excitement of his audience, to their cries of pleasure, their constant smiles and occasional jokes, the story teller was to all appearance indifferent. He seemed to take an intense delight in the development of his romance and never showed the slightest sign of sharing the emotions of his hearers.

Sharing the Glory.

"Henrietta isn't one of those women who want to put a husband in the background and make him stay there."

"No, indeed!"

"Is she trying to make you prominent?"

"Yes. She is going to deliver a lecture to her club on how to manage husbands, and she wants me to come up on the platform and be an example."

To Have Him Pass.

"Well, good night," said Mr. Borem, finally breaking away. "I've had a most enjoyable evening. Er—by the way, I expect to pass your house tomorrow evening, and I thought I might"—

"I'll be delighted," said she quickly. "Good night."—Exchange.

The Chinese Portrait Painter.

Augustin Daly took the names of his plays from every conceivable source and always had a string of them for plays and characters. In her "Reminiscences" in Scribner's Magazine Mrs. Gilbert said: "We got so that we were all on the lookout for them as we went through the streets and would often call out, 'There's a queer name, governor.' He found some very funny ones for Jimmie Lewis and me. 'Dollars and Sense' was one of his best titles, I think. I know when he was trying to find a name for that particular piece he read a whole list of titles to us once at breakfast, and I said, 'Oh, I like that one.' Then it was spelled 'Dollars and Cents,' and it was Judge Daly who suggested the change. 'Let the old man keep his dollars,' he said, 'but the old woman has the sense.'"

WATER DRINKING.

Some of the Good Effects It Has on the Human System.

Hygienists and physicians alike preach the therapeutic nature of water, ranking it far above any drug in materia medica in its actual remedial value. Scarcely any up to date physician fails to give it a prominent place in his practice.

Water is not merely a mere mechanical conveyer of poisons out and foods in. It is a powerful vital stimulant, a divinely appointed agent which nature uses in her healing work.

"Water drinking," says the editor of a medical journal, "is an internal bath. It dilutes the fluids of the body in which the cells and fibers are bathed. It purifies the body by diluting the medium in which it lives. By the free use of water the movement of the mass of liquid in which the living elements of the human body perform their work is quickened and the stream of life runs clear and pure.

"In rheumatism cold water is useful as a means of diluting the blood so it can dissolve and carry out of the body a larger amount of uric acid and allied substances. As a means for encouraging activity of the skin and kidneys it is always useful in this disease."

Water drinking is an essential adjunct to the exercise, baths and other means employed to reduce obesity. It dissolves and carries out of the system the broken down material made by the treatment.

To increase the volume of the blood and introduce permanently a larger proportion of water a small quantity should be taken at frequent intervals; the amount taken during the day may sum up several pints, but the quantity taken at any one time should not exceed four to six ounces. This quantity may be taken every hour or hour and a half to advantage. The temperature of the water should ordinarily be about 70 degrees F. Very cold water is indicated only in fevers, constipation and hypopepsia.

The quantity must depend on the effect desired. A thirst for water is an indication that it may be taken with advantage. In fevers a glass may be taken every hour. For inactivity of the bowels one or two glasses of cold water should be taken in the morning on arising and as much more on retiring.

"Chronic biliousness," continues our authority, "is nothing more than chronic toxemia (poisoning), resulting from the putrefaction of food in the alimentary canal, and requires the free use of water. Eight or ten glasses a day would be none too much for such cases.

"Copious water drinking is one of the most effective means of relieving a common cold by aiding the elimination of tissue poisons, which, accumulating, give rise to the difficulty known as a 'cold.'"

In short, it seems that if we would be healthy, hearty and happy we ought to drink freely of that nonintoxicating but exhilarating beverage known as "Adam's ale."

Death to the Pea Bug.

The Colborne Express says: A Cramahe farmer informs us the pea bug may ruin the crop unless means be adopted to check its progress. This bug, he declares, may, unlike the potato bug, be literally annihilated if taken in time. We suppose the Government should attend to this matter at once, and would likely do so if informed on the subject. We may as well state that our informant is Mr. J. Reeve-Newson, Brighton, who furnishes us with the following recipe, which he guarantees will forever settle the pea bug question: Put the peas in a coal oil barrel holding about 300 lbs; put a saucer containing 3 ounces of bilsuphide, costing only 15c., on top of the peas, and cover immediately with a wet sack and boards, making the barrel air tight and let the cover remain 48 hours, when every bug will be dead.

DIED AT SELWYN.

Death of Thos. Houlihan, Esq., on Sunday Last.

The death occurred on Sunday of Mr. Thos. Houlihan, aged 78 years, who for the past thirty-five or forty years, has been a resident of Smith Township, near Selwyn. The deceased has been unwell for some time, being troubled with an affection of the liver, and during the past year or so he has been watched over with tender solicitude by the members of the family, various members who were at a distance coming home to see him. He was a native of Ireland, and on coming to Canada, at first took up residence in Cavan Township, moving, however to Smith in the early sixties. He was greatly esteemed by a large circle of friends, and the community in general will mourn his death. A widow and ten children survive, viz., Mrs. William Buck, Mrs. J. Dwyer and Mrs. H. Carveth of town; Mrs. J. Galvin, of Ennismore; Sister Beaucaria, of St. Joseph's Hospital, Toronto; James, of the homestead, Selwyn; Ambrose and Austin of Buffalo; Thomas of Pittsburg, and John of Rochester.

The funeral took place on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock to Young's Point.

YESTERDAY'S FOOT-RACE.

It looked like a revival of old times at the Driving Park, last evening, as hack after hack rolled through the gates followed by a large number of single rigs as well as wheelmen and pedestrians. The event which occasioned the excitement was the announcement of a 440 yards foot-race between Gauthier and Coutts. As neither of the men were in any kind of condition for a quarter of a mile race the betting was not as brisk as it would otherwise have been. The men started at the quarter pole Gauthier setting the pace at a fast clip, which he was unable to hold, however, having to drop to the rear at the first turn, when Coutts passed him and led into the stretch. The clip proved a heart-breaker for both men, and Coults staggered and fell about twenty yards from the tape, Gauthier trotting in a winner amidst the cheers of his friends.

THE G. T. R. AND THE PAN-AMERICAN.

So great has been the demand for the folder issued by the Grand Trunk Railway to advertise the advantages of that road as a route to the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, that the large first addition has been entirely exhausted and a second issue has been found necessary. The folder not only contains much information about the exposition and city of Buffalo, but it sets forth attractively the numberless beauty spots to be found along the line of the G.T.R., and most of them within such easy distance of Buffalo that many visitors to the fair will undoubtedly take the opportunity of visiting and beholding for themselves the matchless scenery of which Ontario can boast. A post card to Mr. M. C. Dickson, district passenger agent, Toronto, will bring a copy of this folder, which is well worth having. The Grand Trunk will make a determined effort to secure for itself a large portion of Pan-American traffic, by providing an improved through train service, special trains and reduced rates, and this road will undoubtedly do a large exposition business. The rates from PETERBOROUGH are $9.10, the regular round trip fare, good for 30 days; $7.30, good for 15 days, and $5.45, good for 3 days.

UNION AND NON-UNION

Battle Royal Between Men of These Classes at Albany, N.Y.

BLOODSHED AND FIERCE RIOT.

1,000 National Guardsmen, 100 Mounted Men, 600 Policemen and Detectives Occupy the Streets—Tuesday's Result: One Man Dying and Thirty Injured—Traction Company Determined to Run Cars.

Albany, May 14.—When last night closed over Albany it sent thousands of weary men to their homes, but those thousands were replaced by as many more who took up the vigil to prevent the United Traction men from running their electric cars with non-union men. The darkness brought some confidence that there would be no attempt before morning to move cars, for the two attempts made in broad daylight had brought bloodshed and riot on such a scale that the local police, aided by scores of deputies and hired Pinkerton men, had been unable to successfully compete with.

One man lies in a hospital wounded almost unto death, one of the two cars the company attempted to run lies in the gutter of a street not two blocks from the carhouse, wrecked, and the trolley wires are cut in several places, practically crippling the road. Near the car houses are thousands of men, women and children, wrought up to a pitch of frenzy that bodes ill if the doors of the car house opens to let out another car.

Inside the car house, afraid to even look out of the grated windows, are about 75 non-union men that the company expects to use in running the cars. Early this morning there were about 150 of them, but by nightfall, sickened by the sight of their blood-covered comrades, brought back from the first attempt to run the cars and urged on by the strikers and their wives, 65 of them had deserted and joined the ranks of the strikers. The men claim that they were brought here under a misapprehension.

At 3.15 o'clock in the afternoon the police practically admitted that they were powerless to take care of the large crowds on the street if cars were run, and General Manager McNamara immediately called upon Gen. Oliver, in command of the 3rd Brigade, for protection. He said: "We intend to run our cars if it takes the entire National Guard of New York State to protect us."

After a conference Gen. Oliver issued an order assembling at their armory to-night the 10th Battalion of Albany, comprising four companies of the National Guard of Infantry, and the 3rd Signal Corps mounted. Gen. Oliver said that he would warn the rest of the 3rd Brigade to be in readiness for a call. The troops that Gen. Oliver has at his command includes about 2,000 men. Major-Gen. Roe is here and will attend to the troops in person.

The story of the riot to-day is full of exciting features. At 10 o'clock two of the big car doors swung open and out darted a second car, with all the windows opened. Immediately there was a roar of hisses and cat calls and pandemonium broke loose. Several men made an effort to board the car as it shot out of the barn, but they were kept from doing so by the policemen, one of whom was stationed on each car step.

The car made rapid headway, and almost before the expectant crowd realized what had happened the car was well on its way over Quail street. It continued on to Madison avenue, to Lark street, to Washington avenue, to State street, to Broadway, to the Union Station, and returned by the same route, followed most of the way by bicyclists and people in rigs, all seemingly anxious to be on hand if there was any excitement to be had. Not any of the men were injured, although all were in the midst of a rain of stones and other missles along the route. But the second car did not escape. When the doors were opened the mob surged towards it, despite the efforts of the police.

The crew consisted of four men, dressed in plain clothes. As the car swung around the curve there was a rush for it, but the crowd was driven back. The committee from the strikers was allowed to approach the men.

"Do you want to come with us, boys? You won't regret it!"

There was no response from any of the men. The motorman, with his smile gone, waved them aside and gave the alarm bell two rings.

The conductors responded with two strokes on the signal bell, the current was turned on and the car was off again.

Seemingly with the turning on of the electric current all restraint in the great crowd broke. There was no concerted action, there was no attempt to control by any others than the police, the crowd was turned into a crazed mob. There was no regard for consequences or result. Each and every one of the great mass was moving. Some were running after the car, some were stooping for missiles to hurl, and others were running and shouting.

Through the middle of the street ran men, women and children, mingled with the officers of the law, whose clubs were swinging and arms moving in vain attempts to keep people from doing things. Men stooped to pick up stones and were overturned to be pushed and kicked by the followers. A man's arm was seen to draw back and be sent forward to give impetus to a rock, and the next instant he was in the arms of a policeman.

Before the car had started two policemen boarded it. They simply made two extra targets for the stones and bricks. The car had not gone 50 feet before one's helmet was crushed and another was in imminent danger of having more than his helmet damaged.

There was a perfect fusillade of stones. They came from all directions, and seemed to have but one resting place—car No. 74. They crashed through windows, front, rear and side; rolled through the doors, and crushed into the wooden panels. The six luckless men dogged and jumped from side to side to escape them and were successful, with the exception of the intrepid motorman.

A great, jagged-edged rock struck him fully in the forehead, and he dropped to the floor of the platform. Itwas a deep, ugly gash the rock left, and the blood flowed from it in streams. It spurted over the clothes of the policeman and the extra motorman, and spattered the front of the car with great clots. The unfortunate fellow dropped into a pool of his own blood that covered the entire platform.

The assistant, as soon as the injured man dropped, grasped the brakes and controlling handle, and faced the mob. His daring was reckless. A few feet more and the car was upon an insurmountable barricade. With a sudden jerk the car came to a stop, and all aboard it were thrown forward, one of the conductors among a pile of broken glass, to receive some ugly flesh wounds and cuts. The conductors and one motorman joined the strikers and the wounded man went to the hospital. He said his name was Marshall, and he lived at Greenpoint, L. I. Five arrests were made, and thus ended the first day's attempt to run cars.

ALBANY A CAMP.

Roster of the Military and Police Forces That Will Attempt by Force to Keep the Peace.

Albany, May 15.—A thousand national guardsmen, and a hundred mounted men will occupy Albany streets to-day and attempt to force a riotous crowd to let the cars of the United Traction Company run with non-union men. The 23rd Regiment of Brooklyn, the 10th Battalion of Albany and the Third Signal Corps will make up the complement of men.

They will be reinforced by 200 special deputies, 300 policemen and over 100 Pinkerton detectives. It is feared that the bloodshed and the riotous scenes of yesterday will be repeated with much greater fatality for the mobs about the car houses and street corners last night were in a frenzied condition.

The results of yesterday are: One man dying, fully 20 or 30 injured, 80 men out of 150 brought in by the company induced to desert, the trolley lines cut, cars demolished and the police almost powerless to control the thousands of men patrolling the streets.

The company, however, insists it will run its cars with other men, and it was said late last night that 300 new non-union men are in a train near the city waiting for the troops to make entry safe. Eight men have been arrested for rioting, two only of whom are strikers.

At a late hour last night W. D. Mahon, President of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes; R. Orr, Treasurer, and Daniel Dilworth, Chairman of the National Executive Board were in session with the Executive Committee of the two Councils of Albany and Troy in the hope of arriving at some settlement. The officials of the road are ready to meet the officers of the union and may do so before morning. At midnight three companies of the 10th Battalion took their stations at three important points.

Seventy Arrested.

Seville, Spain, May 15.—A mob of strikers here, while attempting to force a number of workmen to leave their tasks yesterday, came in conflict with the gendarmes. Many were wounded and 70 arrests were made. The strike movement is spreading.

Golden, B. C., May 15.—The assizes opened yesterday afternoon before Chief Justice McColl. UNION AND NON-UNION

Battle Royal Between Men of These Classes at Albany, N.Y.

BLOODSHED AND FIERCE RIOT.

1,000 National Guardsmen, 100 Mounted Men, 600 Policemen and Detectives Occupy the Streets—Tuesday's Result: One Man Dying and Thirty Injured—Traction Company Determined to Run Cars.

Albany, May 14.—When last night closed over Albany it sent thousands of weary men to their homes, but those thousands were replaced by as many more who took up the vigil to prevent the United Traction men from running their electric cars with non-union men. The darkness brought some confidence that there would be no attempt before morning to move cars, for the two attempts made in broad daylight had brought bloodshed and riot on such a scale that the local police, aided by scores of deputies and hired Pinkerton men, had been unable to successfully compete with.

One man lies in a hospital wounded almost unto death, one of the two cars the company attempted to run lies in the gutter of a street not two blocks from the carhouse, wrecked, and the trolley wires are cut in several places, practically crippling the road. Near the car houses are thousands of men, women and children, wrought up to a pitch of frenzy that bodes ill if the doors of the car house opens to let out another car.

Inside the car house, afraid to even look out of the grated windows, are about 75 non-union men that the company expects to use in running the cars. Early this morning there were about 150 of them, but by nightfall, sickened by the sight of their blood-covered comrades, brought back from the first attempt to run the cars and urged on by the strikers and their wives, 65 of them had deserted and joined the ranks of the strikers. The men claim that they were brought here under a misapprehension.

At 3.15 o'clock in the afternoon the police practically admitted that they were powerless to take care of the large crowds on the street if cars were run, and General Manager McNamara immediately called upon Gen. Oliver, in command of the 3rd Brigade, for protection. He said: "We intend to run our cars if it takes the entire National Guard of New York State to protect us."

After a conference Gen. Oliver issued an order assembling at their armory to-night the 10th Battalion of Albany, comprising four companies of the National Guard of Infantry, and the 3rd Signal Corps mounted. Gen. Oliver said that he would warn the rest of the 3rd Brigade to be in readiness for a call. The troops that Gen. Oliver has at his command includes about 2,000 men. Major-Gen. Roe is here and will attend to the troops in person.

The story of the riot to-day is full of exciting features. At 10 o'clock two of the big car doors swung open and out darted a second car, with all the windows opened. Immediately there was a roar of hisses and cat calls and pandemonium broke loose. Several men made an effort to board the car as it shot out of the barn, but they were kept from doing so by the policemen, one of whom was stationed on each car step.

The car made rapid headway, and almost before the expectant crowd realized what had happened the car was well on its way over Quail street. It continued on to Madison avenue, to Lark street, to Washington avenue, to State street, to Broadway, to the Union Station, and returned by the same route, followed most of the way by bicyclists and people in rigs, all seemingly anxious to be on hand if there was any excitement to be had. Not any of the men were injured, although all were in the midst of a rain of stones and other missles along the route. But the second car did not escape. When the doors were opened the mob surged towards it, despite the efforts of the police.

The crew consisted of four men, dressed in plain clothes. As the car swung around the curve there was a rush for it, but the crowd was driven back. The committee from the strikers was allowed to approach the men.

"Do you want to come with us, boys? You won't regret it!"

There was no response from any of the men. The motorman, with his smile gone, waved them aside and gave the alarm bell two rings.

The conductors responded with two strokes on the signal bell, the current was turned on and the car was off again.

Seemingly with the turning on of the electric current all restraint in the great crowd broke. There was no concerted action, there was no attempt to control by any others than the police, the crowd was turned into a crazed mob. There was no regard for consequences or result. Each and every one of the great mass was moving. Some were running after the car, some were stooping for missiles to hurl, and others were running and shouting.

Through the middle of the street ran men, women and children, mingled with the officers of the law, whose clubs were swinging and arms moving in vain attempts to keep people from doing things. Men stooped to pick up stones and were overturned to be pushed and kicked by the followers. A man's arm was seen to draw back and be sent forward to give impetus to a rock, and the next instant he was in the arms of a policeman.

Before the car had started two policemen boarded it. They simply made two extra targets for the stones and bricks. The car had not gone 50 feet before one's helmet was crushed and another was in imminent danger of having more than his helmet damaged.

There was a perfect fusilade of stones. They came from all directions, and seemed to have but one resting place—car No. 74. They crashed through windows, front, rear and side; rolled through the doors, and crushed into the wooden panels. The six luckless men dogged and jumped from side to side to escape them and were successful, with the exception of the intrepid motorman.

A great, jagged-edged rock struck him fully in the forehead, and he dropped to the floor of the platform. Itwas a deep, ugly gash the rock left, and the blood flowed from it in streams. It spurted over the clothes of the policeman and the extra motorman, and spattered the front of the car with great clots. The unfortunate fellow dropped into a pool of his own blood that covered the entire platform.

The assistant, as soon as the injured man dropped, grasped the brakes and controlling handle, and faced the mob. His daring was reckless. A few feet more and the car was upon an insurmountable barricade. With a sudden jerk the car came to a stop, and all aboard it were thrown forward, one of the conductors among a pile of broken glass, to receive some ugly flesh wounds and cuts. The conductors and one motorman joined the strikers and the wounded man went to the hospital. He said his name was Marshall, and he lived at Greenpoint, L. I. Five arrests were made, and thus ended the first day's attempt to run cars.

ALBANY A CAMP.

Roster of the Military and Police Forces That Will Attempt by Force to Keep the Peace.

Albany, May 15.—A thousand national guardsmen, and a hundred mounted men will occupy Albany streets to-day and attempt to force a riotous crowd to let the cars of the United Traction Company run with non-union men. The 23rd Regiment of Brooklyn, the 10th Battalion of Albany and the Third Signal Corps will make up the complement of men.

They will be reinforced by 200 special deputies, 300 policemen and over 100 Pinkerton detectives. It is feared that the bloodshed and the riotous scenes of yesterday will be repeated with much greater fatality for the mobs about the car houses and street corners last night were in a frenzied condition.

The results of yesterday are: One man dying, fully 20 or 30 injured, 80 men out of 150 brought in by the company induced to desert, the trolley lines cut, cars demolished and the police almost powerless to control the thousands of men patrolling the streets.

The company, however, insists it will run its cars with other men, and it was said late last night that 300 new non-union men are in a train near the city waiting for the troops to make entry safe. Eight men have been arrested for rioting, two only of whom are strikers.

At a late hour last night W. D. Mahon, President of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes; R. Orr, Treasurer, and Daniel Dilworth, Chairman of the National Executive Board were in session with the Executive Committee of the two Councils of Albany and Troy in the hope of arriving at some settlement. The officials of the road are ready to meet the officers of the union and may do so before morning. At midnight three companies of the 10th Battalion took their stations at three important points.

THE PROVINCE'S CROPS.

Department of Agriculture Publishes Its First Spring Bulletin Computed Up to May 1.

Toronto, May 15.—The Ontario Department of Agriculture has published a crop bulletin computed up to May 1. It reports the weather from November at three-fourths of a degree above the average for the past 19 years. The rain and snow was almost exactly the average of that period. Fall wheat could have been classed as "most promising," but for the Hessian fly, which caused damage in every county south of a line drawn from Hamilton to Sarnia. Where late sowing was done, the crop escaped the pest. Very little rye is being raised, but the grain, where grown, it is looking well. Clover fields present an excellent appearance. Vegetation is well forward. In Essex on May 6 peach trees were in full bloom.

Many cases of coughs among horses were reported. Cattle were rather thin, but healthy. There was an odd mention of "black leg" in Leeds and Renfrew, and of "lumpy jaw" in Huron. Lambs are reported in fine form. Swine have commanded more attention than ever, owing to encouraging prices. There appears to be hardly as many fat, or store, cattle to be disposed of as usual.

Fruit trees, as a rule, have come through the winter in splendid condition, and give promise of a generous yield.

Spring seeding was about half done in Ontario on May 1. There was a set-back by the flooding of low-lying lands, caused by the storm of April 19 and 20. Potatoes are reported in some places planted earlier than usual.

Mississippi River Steamer Sunk.

St. Louis, Mo., May 14.—A special to The Post Dispatch from Grand Tower, Ill., says:

The steamer City of Paducah sank in 25 feet of water 5 minutes before 10 o'clock last night in less than 5 minutes after striking a snag and while backing out from Bronkhorst Landing. The bodies of two passengers, who were drowned, have been recovered, and 22 members of the crew, most of them negroes, are missing. All of the officers were saved. First Mate Tobias Royal of St. Louis says only about 12 passengers were on board, and all were saved except two.

SET-BACK FOR TELEPHONE CO.

Senate Acts in Opposition to Banking and Commerce Committee.

Ottawa, May 15.—The Senate yesterday had under consideration the Bell Telephone bills in the amended form in which it came from the Banking and Commerce Committee. This contained, in lieu of any provision for the control of rates by the Government, a clause simply stating that the company would be subject to any future legislation affecting telephone companies generally. This clause was struck out on division, by a vote of 28 to 20—the company's first checkmate in the Senate. In the committee the company had it all their own way. The third reading was set for Wednesday.

When the bill is taken up on Wednesday Mr. Miller will move in the third reading an amendment, limiting rates to those in force on June 30, 1902, any sums charged in excess of such rates after June 30 next to be recoverable in court; also providing that the said rates may be increased or diminished by orders of the Governor-in-Council, upon application of the company or any interested municipality.

Hon. Mr. Kirckhoffer gave notice that on the third reading of the Bell Telepgone bill he would move in amendment to Mr. Miller's amendment a provision that the rates charged shall not be in excess of a certain schedule, which he quoted as below, and such rates shall not be altered except with the consent of the Governor-in-Council.

Not a Poisoning Case.

Alliston, May 15.—An investigation was held yesterday before Crown Attorney J. R. Cotter of Barrie, Magistrates Brown, Hood and Wright of Alliston in connection with a said case of poisoning of John Atchison of West Essa, who died rather suddenly April 22 last. Sufficient evidence was not obtained to warrant any action being taken, so the case was dismissed.

Mrs. Nation Insane.

Topeka, Kan., May 15.—The case of Mrs. Carrie Nation, charged with saloon smashing in Topeka, last February, went to the jury yesterday afternoon in the District Court Her attorneys set up a plea of insanity as a defence. None of Mrs. Nation's crusader friends were in court.

An Honest Tired Feeling

There is an "honest tired feeling," caused by necessary toil and cured by natural rest.

But very different is "that tired feeling," from which so many complain and which may even be classed as a disease.

That tired feeling takes you to bed tired and wakes you up tired.

You have no appetite, have bilious taste, dull headache, are nervous and irritable, blue, weak and discouraged.

In such conditions Hood's Sarsaparilla does a world of good.

It begins in the right place—in the blood, purifying it and imparting vitality, then its tonic effect is felt by the stomach, kidneys and liver; appetite comes back, all waste is removed naturally, headaches cease, that tired feeling departs and you feel like a new person.

This has been the experience of thousands.

It will be yours if you take

CHINA APPEALS FOR MERCY.

Her Utmost Offer Is 15,000,000 Taels, About $10,000,000 Annually.

Pekin, Sunday, May 12.—The answer of China to the statement of the Ministers of the Foreign Powers, as to the losses sustained by nations and individuals in China has been received. The answer commences with an appeal to mercy, saying that the country is impoverished. The answer explains that the utmost China can offer is 15,000,000 taels annually, for the 30 years. This amount will be derived as follows: From salt 10,000,000 taels, from the likin 2,000,000, and from native customs 3,000,000.

To Reinforce Fleet.

London, May 15.—"It is asserted here," says the St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, "that at the request of Admiral Alexieff, the Russian Government is sending two more battleships and four cruisers to reinforce the Russian fleet in Chinese waters in anticipation of serious trouble."

More Trouble in China.

London, May 15.—Dr. Morrison, wiring to The Times from Pekin, says:

"The Chinese reply to the Ministers of the powers is not acceptable."

Three Girl Saloon Smashers.

Wichita, Kansas, May 13.—Winona Kilgere, Anna People and Jasmine Wilhoit, three young girls, the latter a daughter of Lucy Wilhoit, a colleague of Mrs. Nation, smashed the Summit saloon here Saturday afternoon. Fred Wolf, the proprietor, knocked the girls down with his fist, and pitched them, one after the other, into the street. In the melee Miss People's wrist was broken. The police arrested the girls, and lodged them in the city jail.

Archbishop's Protest.

Montreal, May 13.—As a result of the protests by Archbishop Bruchesi against indecent posters and immoral literature, the police have issued a warrant for the arrest of John Fernandez, a newsdealer, who will have to answer to the charge of importing a lot of indecent literature from New York and other places.

A WOMAN'S STORY.

Mrs. M. E. Bradwell, of Hamilton, Ont. tells an Interesting Narrative.

How She was Saved From the Death That Claimed Her Mother, Grandmother and Aunt. Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills Cured Her.

Why women should suffer more from ill health than man, is a question that has never been satisfactorily answered. But ought women to suffer more than the male portion of the race? We say no. No woman need suffer the complaints known generally as "Female Troubles," which render so many thousands of women miserable any more than she needs to hold her hand in the fire.

There is a means of curing all these diseases, a safe, sure, simple and unfailing means of curing them, that means is Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills for Weak People.

Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 7, 1900.

"I am 46 years old, have six children and always had good health up till two years ago. Then the change of life came on. My grandmother, my mother and my aunt had died during this most critical period, and I felt greatly alarmed. Backache, tender, bearing down pains, shortness of breath, extreme bloating, dizzy spells, accompanied by most intense aching on the top of my head, made my life a burden. I also had inflammation of the bladder, which caused the most agonizing pain.

A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills. They had cured her in a time of similar trouble. I bought a supply and used them. In two months I was myself again, strong, robust and vigorous, not a trace of pain remaining. I have used Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills off and on, ever since and feel as well as when I was twenty. I most highly recommend Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills to every woman, who suffers from any of the complaints peculiar to our sex."

MRS. MARY E. BRADWELL.

Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills are sold by all druggists, large box 75c., small 25c., or sent postpaid on receipt of price by the Arnold Chemical Co., Limited, Canada Life Bldg., 44 King St. West, Toronto. Booklet sent free.

SOLVING A BIG PROBLEM.

Hon. Mr. Tarte Says Important Developments Are on Foot.

Ottawa, May 14.—Hon. J. I. Tarte, in an interview yesterday, intimated that important developments were on foot in regard to the transportation problem. The Minister hinted that, in addition to the employment of grain carriers of the largest size on the upper lakes, a fleet of steel barges, each costing $100,000, would before long be placed on the route between Port Colborne and Montreal. "About these matters I am unable to speak at present," said Mr. Tarte, "but something definite will be evolved."

The Parton Case Adjourned.

Parry Sound, Ont., May 14.—The Parton inquiry was continued yesterday, and after hearing the evidence of Alfred Swaziland, was adjourned until the 16th, when the Crown promises to produce another witness. Swaziland's evidence was unimportant. Mr. Powell, for the prisoner, offered to consent to a committal for trial. This he did in view of the sitting of the assizes commencing here this morning. To this the Crown Attorney would not consent. Mr. Powell announced his intention of making application before the presiding judge to-day to prefer a bill of indictment for the grand jury.

Mr. Mills Going to London.

Ottawa, May 14.—Hon. David Mills will represent Canada at the conference in London, England, at which the question of giving the colonies representation on the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council is to be considered. It is understood that Solicitor-General Fitzpatrick will accompany him; also Mr. J. D. Clarke, private secretary to Mr. Mills.

The Sultan Must Yield.

Paris, May 14.—The correspondent here of the Associated Press learns on trustworthy authority that unless the Sultan of Turkey yields on the question of interference with the foreign postoffices the powers will probably present an ultimatum in a few days, backed by a naval demonstration. The powers, including Germany, are acting in perfect unison in this matter.

FEAST OF HORSES.

Very Old Festival Still Celebrated In Hindustan.

Dosera, or the "feast of horses," is a very old festival in India. The Hindoos say that on a time long ago the god Rama went to war with the king of Ceylon and was victorious because his army had better horses and bullocks than the king's army. So yearly, at the time of a new moon, the Hindoos worship the horses and bullocks.

I had never heard of this festival, and on the morning of Dosera I was surprised to find my Arab pony Raja all trimmed with bright yellow flowers. He had a wreath around his neck, long pendants of flowers hung about his ears, anklets of the same bright flowers were tied around his legs just above the hoof and again above the knees, and tiny bouquets were tied to the harness in many places and on the reins too. It was pretty, and I am sure Raja felt "dressed up," for he was dignified and quiet all that day and carried his head a little higher than usual. Sometimes he does frisky things, but we are not at all afraid of him, for he is intelligent, and if we say, "Raja! Raja!" in a decided tone he seems to know that we wish him to be dignified. Raja means king, and we gave him that name because we think him the king of Arab ponies.

At Dosera the bullocks, which are as much used here as horses, had their horns stained with bright colored paints, generally a different color for each horn, and strings of little tassels of many different colors were tied from the tip of one horn to the tip of the other, or bright pieces of ribbon would be used instead of the tassels.

The white horses, of which there are very many here, and the white bullocks, too, were painted, some in stars or in round dots. Others had the rising sun painted on both sides of their bodies in red and gold colors. Some horses had only their tails and manes colored, while a few drivers painted the sides of the cart and the wheels also.

After all this decorating was finished the people made pujah to the animals, which means that they worshiped the horses and the bullocks. I could not find any one who would tell me if they worshiped the carts, too, but I think they did. After this is done the people give each other presents, which should be of gold, but as the people are most of them too poor to give gold they give the leaf of the "gold" plant, and that answers very well.

When evening came, and the coachman who had trimmed Raja with the fresh flowers had not received "backsheesh," he felt very much neglected and sent word to me that it was the custom of the country to give the coachman a donation. I sent him a rupee and made him quite happy.

Her Fifty Dollar Purchase.

"Goodness knows," said a Detroit woman who lived several years in New York city, "how many mistakes are made here every day in the sale and delivery of goods, but it was just awful in New York. In my own experience there I cannot number half of them, and I suppose other people could tell stories of carelessness not much different or fewer than mine.

"On one occasion I bought a $50 rug from a big department store where I was known, and the bill was to be sent in on the 1st of the month. It was not sent, however, and I waited for another month. Still no bill, and at the end of four months I called to see about it. It had not even been charged, and the result of my call was that some one was dismissed for negligence and I paid the $50. I was told afterward by several persons that I should never have said anything about it, and I was sorry I had, because my $50 did not add greatly to the profits of the store and lost some poor fellow his place."

That Lovely Gorge.

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson held an "at home" at their house in Manchester on the occasion of their return from a winter tour on the continent. They were very proud of the trip, and Mrs. Dawson was continually asking her husband if he remembered this, that or the other glorious bit of scenery.

"And, oh, the gorge at Andermatt!" she exclaimed. "You haven't forgotten that lovely gorge, have you, Fred?"

"The gorge at the Grand hotel?" drawled Fred wearily. "By no means. I'll remember that gorge to my dying day. Why, bless me, it was the only square meal we got in Switzerland!"—London Answers.

The Breton Peasant.

If there is a country where the tradition of hatred of "the Englishman" as a hereditary enemy still holds it is in Catholic Brittany. In the eyes of the Breton peasants and fishermen the Englishman is the enemy with whom they have fought battles and will fight them again.

That is to say, the Englishman stands for the typical sailor of a man-of-war or torpedo boat, whom they will fight when the time comes for the attack, but no one thinks of him as a man. The enemy is a unit of war, something outside ordinary life, a being in uniform whom it is glorious to kill. He is "the enemy"—something which will do great mischief to France if one does not take care, something which must be much more terrible and dangerous than they can imagine, since all the men of France lose the best years of their youth in learning to kill this eventual adversary.

If ever the peasants come clearly to realize that the only use of war is to kill people like themselves; if ever each soldier becomes capable of imagining what the shock of two armies is and by what complicated series of lies and intrigues peoples are brought to the point of killing each other, the work of peace congresses will be wonderfully simplified.

Reading as a Cure.

The practice of reading aloud at regular intervals is of great benefit to any one affected with a chest complaint. In all cases of lung trouble it is important to indulge in those exercises by which the chest is in part filled or emptied of air, and reading aloud, singing and whistling are three of those exercises.

There are many who cannot sing, and we do not expect the fair sex to whistle, but reading aloud can be practiced by all. Care must be taken not to overdo it, of course, and the body should be in such a position as to allow the chest to have free play.

Reading aloud, if we pay attention to what we are doing, will not only be beneficial from the standpoint of health, but will also have the effect of making us better speakers by teaching us proper modulations of the voice and by increasing our knowledge.

This is where it has the advantage over whistling and singing.

When the Baby Cries at Night.

There is a cause for it. Perhaps it is gas on the stomach, or may be cramps or diarrhœa. Don't lose sleep—anticipate such contigences by always keeping handy a bottle of Poison's Nerviline. Just a few drops in water taken inwardly, then rub the little one's stomach with a little Nerviline, and perfect rest is assured for the night for both mother and baby. You may not need Nerviline often but when you need it you need it badly. Get a 25c bottle to-day.

A Queer Animal Race.

The following paragraph is from the columns of the Bulawayo Chronicle: "At the recent Belingwe sports meeting an animal race was held, in which a monkey and a big rooster were two of the most prominent starters. These two caused considerable diversion, the monkey chasing the cock the length of the course, eventually wringing its neck."

A Question of Grammar.

"I is," began Tommy, when his teacher interrupted him.

"That is wrong. You should say, 'I am.'"

"All right," said Tommy. "I am the ninth letter of the alphabet."

RESTORED TO HEALTH.

One of the best known men in East Durham county is Steven O. Taylor, Charlecote, Ontario. His sufferings from rheumatism in the back (lumbago) for four years were known to everybody in the county. It was with the greatest difficulty, and only with agonizing pain that he sat down upon or arose from a chair, and walking was simply torture; neither the skill of physicians, nor the enormous quantities of patent medicines he took, gave him any relief until he tried Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. After taking the first few doses of this wonderful medicine he obtained relief, and, continuing the treatment, a complete cure was effected He has not been troubled with an ache or pain since and speaks in praiseworthy terms of the medicine which restored him to health—Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure.

BILL OF THE PLAY.

May Irwin is planning a trip around the world, chiefly for pleasure.

Joseph Jefferson celebrated his seventy-second birthday a short time ago.

Augustus Thomas is writing a new play, "Colorado," which will be produced in New York in November.

Sarah Cowell Le Moyne is said to be the only American actress who ever broke bread with Queen Victoria.

John Hare, the English actor, said recently that he was about to retire from the stage for an indefinite time if not permanently.

Rostand is at work upon a new play to be called "The Theater." Coquelin is to have the principal part, that of a broken down actor.

There is talk of an all star production of "The Merchant of Venice," with Richard Mansfield, John Drew, Julia Marlowe and other notables in the cast.

Marie Tempest has announced she will appear as Becky Sharp at the Prince of Wales theater in London before long. Her play is a new version of "Vanity Fair."

This would have been Mary Anderson's "silver" year as an actress had she remained in active service in the profession. Her first appearance was made Nov. 27, 1875, in Louisville in the character of Juliet.

Byron in the theater will be decidedly a novelty to our generation. Yet Sir Henry Irving is to risk the experiment. At the final curtain call of his Lyceum season he announced for the coming winter the production of "Manfred."

A company playing "A Pair of Tramps" were recently quarantined in their special car at Monmouth, Ills., the negro cook of the company having developed smallpox. The members of the company were vaccinated, and then the quarantine was removed.

In Extenuation.

A little girl between 4 and 5 years of age came running in from sliding one day and exclaimed to her mother: "Oh, mamma, did you see me go down? I went like thunder."

To her mother's astonished question as to whom she had heard say that the little one replied, "Well, mamma, you know you said one day 'as quick as lightning,' and it always thunders after it lightens, doesn't it?"

Make Believe Mourners.

The Chinese possess a great love of funeral display and heartless crocodile tears, as they seem at least to western eyes. An immense trumpet is even used sometimes, which is worked like a garden pump to sob out the "boo-hoo" of the afflicted relatives. The more unearthly and heartrending its sobs the better they seem to be pleased. For a great funeral all the beggars and ragamuffins and impudent small boys in the vicinity are hired. They are decked out in tawdry clothes, or perhaps their rags are not even disguised in any way, but they are at least given banners to carry and are hired to wail and sob as if their hearts were breaking. The dull, indifferent, stolid faces of the men and the roguish, mischievous smiles on the boys' faces belie their wails and give a very unreal air of hypocritical sorrow to the average Chinese funeral, though doubtless there is much genuine sorrow and as many real heartaches as in other lands

Infants too young to take medicine may be cured of croup, whooping cough and colds by using Vapo-Cresolene—they breathe it.

The Chinese have no use for bathrooms or bathing paraphernalia. Their toilet is quickly made and is not begun until nearly all the garments to be worn have been put on.

No lead pencil seems to suit a baby as well as the one it can take out of its father's pocket.

PEN, PENCIL AND BRUSH.

Anthony Hope is not in good health and is restricting his engagements as much as possible. He continues to write, however, in spite of his illness.

William Jonathan Neidig, a young San Francisco journalist and short story writer, has been made a member of the faculty of English of Leland Stanford university, from which he was graduated in 1896.

Frederic Harrison says that Englishmen are agreed in regarding Herbert Spencer as the greatest living man of letters. The philosopher is now 83, and his mind remains singularly clear for his years.

Sir Laurence Alma-Tadema, best known as a painter of pictures, decorated recently a set of china which the Dutch colony in London gave as a wedding present to Queen Wilhelmina. Tadema was born in the Netherlands.

Herbert Spencer's "Autobiography" extends to two volumes and is in print, but will not be published while he lives. He is an octogenarian, but looks ten years younger. It is said that he does not contemplate any further revision of his works.

When Tennyson was nearing 60 years of age and his fame might fairly be assumed to be worldwide, Edward Moxon, the publisher, decided to approach Gustave Dore and commission him to illustrate the "Idylls of the King." After Dore had considered the proposal he asked, "Who, then, is this M. Tennyson?"

EPIGRAMS OF A NOVELIST.

Patriotism no longer means love your country. It means hate your neighbors.

Deathbed repentances should be followed by deaths. Life tries them too hard.

London is Piccadilly and the park, or it is nothing. To live in London one must be born rich or die dishonest.

What is the house of lords but a monkey house—all these brand new peers, these brewers and bankers, aping the old feudal lords, mimicking their mediæval militarism?

Modern battles are won by brain, not by brawn. The future Napoleon will be a paralytic chess player carried about the field on a water bed.—"The Mantle of Elijah," by I. Zangwill.

The End Surprised Him.

Always read a letter to the end and hear a story to the end before you are too much elated or depressed.

A popular physician was much pleased with a certain aerated water and by his assiduous recommendation procured for it a celebrity it justly deserved. The doctor acted solely in the interest of humanity generally and expected no return.

To his surprise there came one morning an effusive letter from the company stating that his recommendations had done them so much good that they "ventured to send him a hundred"—

Here the page came to an end.

"This will never do," said the doctor. "It is very kind, but I could not think of accepting anything."

Here he turned the page and found the sentence ran:

A VERULAM WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Kate White and Mr. G. H. Murdock.

On Wednesday evening, May 8th, a very pretty and attractive event took place at the home of Mr. Jas. E. White, when his youngest daughter, Katie, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Gilbert H. Murdock of Wyevale. At 7.30 p.m. the ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Creighton of Bobcaygeon, in the presence of about thirty intimate friends of the contracting parties, after which a sumptuous supper was served.

The bride looked beautiful in a gown of white organdie trimmed with lace, chiffon and ribbon, and was assisted by her sister Miss Mary, who was attired in white similar to the bride. The groom was supported by Mr. Ernest Telford of Bridgenorth.

Mr. Murdock is a prosperous young farmer living in the County of Simcoe. As he has taken a full course in the Agricultural College at Guelph he is both a practical and scientific farmer.

The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful presents, among which was a beautiful gold bracelet, the gift of the groom.

Another event which took place during the evening was the baptising of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Thurston's baby boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Murdock left on Thursday evening on the 6 o'clock train for their future home ner Wyevale. The bride's travelling suit was of gray, trimmed with black silk and overlace. She wore a toque to match. Their many friends wish them a happy and prosperous voyage through life.

DINNER TO MR. HOLTZ

BY the Foremen and Officials of the C. G.E. Co.

The Affair Took Place at the Snowden House Last Night—Many Humourous Speeches.

The foremen and the officials of the Canadian General Electric Co. gathered at the Snowden House last evening to spend a last social time with their former fellow-foremen, Mr. Holst, before his departure for Norway. Everything passed off pleasantly and with much cheer.

The company with their guest sat down at 9 o'clock to partake of a very sumptuous banquet, and everyone showed their good taste by doing right royal justice to a good spread. Some there were among the bachelors who fared especially well, and it may be said that a little partiality was shown towards Frank P'k'm, who, it was noticed, was served twice.

After the appetite was satisfied, Mr. Harding, the genial foreman of the painting department, took the chair, and being a man of some weight, held it down most acceptably.

The toast list was well arranged and each number was drunk in purest aqua with much cheer. The first toast, "The King," was replied to by the whole company singing God Save the King. The next, "The town we live in", was replied to by A. Patterson and C. Huffman. The third "Institutions and Industries," by W. S. Robinson and J. Cuncannon; the fourth, "To the Ladies," by Messrs. Crowley and Pakenham; "Why the Trent Valley Canal should go by way of Port Hope," was answered by Capt. Carson; "Sports" was replied to by C. E. Brown and H. Burnham, after which a song by Mr. Stone and a reading by the chairman were given. The C. G. E. was replied to by Mr. McCrae and G. J. Tovey. With "To Our Guest" were mentioned the names of H. Smith, W. H. Collier, A. Gilbert, W. A. Brundrette, and T. Drew, who all expressed the deep regret they felt at having to part with their coworker. He has had charge of the Armature Department of the C. G. E. Co. for a little over two years and his relations with the other foremen have been most cordial. An honest and true man, a hard and steady worker and one who thoroughly knew his business. He has left the Armature Dept. in a condition thoroughly up-to-date.

In his reply Mr. Holst spoke at some length of the pleasant relations he had held with the men in the company's employ. His time in Peterborough had been, he thought, most pleasantly and profitably spent. He felt that he was leaving with the best wishes and goodwill of everyone he knew. There was a touch of pathos and deep pride when he spoke of Norway, the land of his birth, whose shores he expected soon to see.

The company broke up after wishing him bon voyage and continued advancement and prosperity.

CANDIDATES CONFIRMED

By the Bishop of Toronto Last Night.

There Were Sixty From St. John's and All Saints'—A Very Impressive Ceremony Which was Largely Attended.

An interesting confirmation service was held last night in St. John's church. In former years the crowding of mere sightseers to the church had interfered with the solemnity of the service, and strong efforts were made this year to prevent undue publicity. However, in spite of no public notice being given, the church was well filled, but it was evident throughout the service that those present were not merely spectators, but were deeply interested in the service and in those who went forward for confirmation.

The candidates assembled in the school house previously, and followed the choir into the church through the vestry door, taking the front seats in the church. The women and girls were dressed simply in white or in black, and each wore a small white cap, presenting an attractive appearance. Amongst the candidates were a number of well-known citizens of the town and representatives of our leading families. There were sixty candidates, of whom a number were from All Saints' church. A short evening service was conducted by Rev. W. L. Armitage, the special lesson being the account of the first confirmation at Samaria, Acts 8. The Bishop of Toronto, then gave a helpful and devotional address to the candidates in regard to the step they were taking. He said he would not refer to the rite of confirmation, knowing that all had been carefully instructed regarding it. He desired to remind them that in addition to submitting to a distinctively bible ordinance they were now giving in their definite allegiance to the counsel of Christ and the Church, and consecrating, by their own voluntary act, themselves to the church of God. In simple and striking language he briefly pointed out what was implied in God's ownership of their lives. The candidates then stood before the congregation and the Bishop put the solemn question to them as to whether they acknowledged their baptismal obligations and ratified the same. The names were then read, each one in turn answering, "I do." The Bishop offered prayer for the descent of the Holy Spirit, after which the candidates came forward and knelt individually before him for the "Laying on of hands." As each came forward and retired, verses of the hymns, "Come Holy Spirit, Heavenly Dove," and "Just as I am without one plea," were sung, the whole congregation uniting their prayers with the Bishop as each candidate knelt before him in the interval between the verses.

The service was a deeply interesting one. The service was concluded by the Bishop pronouncing the benediction.

[illegible] sympathy was occasioned from the announcement that two of the class were prevented from being present by illness and that one young man, the late Percy McIsaac, had been called to his rest before this event, to which he had looked forward with great desire.

MR. CRANE TO CONTINUE.

He Has Been Relieved of Certain Duties and Given Three Months Holidays.

It will be welcome news to the congregation of St. Paul's church and to the music-loving public of Peterborough in general to learn that Mr. John Crane has decided to retain the position of organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's. This, however, was only at the earnest solicitation of the members of the choir in which Mr. Crane has taken so much interest, the members of which having become greatly attached to their organist, and appreciating very highly his untiring efforts.

When Mr. Crane determined to resign his position, owing to his multifarious duties, there was widespread regret. At a meeting of the office bearers of the church which was held at the residence of Rev. Dr. Torrance, last night, a committee from the choir attended for the purpose of urging upon the managers the necessity of relieving Mr. Crane of a portion of his work as an inducement for him to continue. It was decided to ask him to retain the position of organist and choir master, with three month's holidays this year and a holiday of six weeks in each succeeding year. He is also relieved of certain mid week duties hitherto performed.

Mr. Crane has consented to this arrangement.

DIED IN TORONTO.

Mr. John C. Sherin of Lakfield—Was a Prominent Citizen.

The death occurred in Toronto this morning of John C. Sherin, of Lakefield, after an illness of several months. His demise was the result of a hemorrage of the kidneys. About ten days ago he left Lakefield for Clifton Springs, in the hope that he might shortly regain his health. However, he got as far as Toronto only when he was stricken down, and was therefore prevented from going any further. The remains will arrive in Lakefield at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon, and the funeral will take place from the G.T.R. station to the Methodist church and thence to the Lakefield cemetery where interment will take place.

The late Mr. Sherin was 73 years of age, and was one of Lakefield's most prominent citizens, having resided there for about 45 years, conducting a general store. He married a Miss Schofield, who, together with one son two daughters and several brothers are left to mourn his demise. The son is Mr. J. H. Sherin, who was in partnership with his father, and the daughters are Mrs. S. Henderson and Mrs. T. Knox, of Toronto. Messrs. Samuel Sherin, of Lakefield, and Henry Sherin, of town, are brothers of the deceased. In politics he was a Liberal and in religion a Methodist.

MR. PETER KING'S DEATH.

Unfortunate Man was Crushed by an Engine.

Rev. J. G. Potter Viewed the Remains in Toronto—Once Lived Here.

Rev. J. G. Potter, who is in attendance at the Presbyterian Synod, Toronto, writes regarding the sad death of Mr. Peter King, who removed with his family to Toronto last October.

Mr. King has been employed in the Polson Works, and has been in excellent health. On Tuesday morning while assisting in loading an engine, the conveyance knocked the props from under it, and rolling over crushed Mr. King, affecting him internally to such an extent that he expired on his way to the Emergency Hospital.

Mr. Potter viewed the remains in the Morgue yesterday, where it awaits the coroner's inquest. The family, consisting of Mrs. King, Misses Bella, Bessie and Messrs. Peter, Harry and Eddie, were seen, and are heart-broken by the sad occurrence. The bereaved family will have the deep sympathy of the entire community.

THE BOYS IN RED MARCHED

And Several Hundred Citizens Looked on.

They Drilled on Central Park by the Electric Light--The Orders That Were Read.

Judging from the interest displayed in the weekly parades of the 57th Regiment, there is no sign of the military enthusiasm which some time ago crept over the people of the town, abating. The boys in red are becoming more popular than ever, and the regiment will soon be recruited up to its full strength.

The parade last night was eagerly watched by the citizens in general, and the ladies in particular. One reason no doubt that so much interest has arisen in the Regiment, is the marches out, accompanied by the band. The band gives a stimulating flavour to the affair, and it will be gladsome news to the public to know that hereafter the band will be on hand every Tuesday night. However, the public would appreciate very much another feature which should be of little trouble to those in command to arrange, and that is that the route of march be announced on the evening of the parade. While the citizens of the town are reasonably sure of seeing the Regiment march down George street, still they are in a curious state to know by what street the return march will be made. Last night this uncertainly caused not a few to be disappointed. They want to see the Regiment as many times on the one evening as possible.

The Regiment marched down George street to Charlotte, east on Charlotte to Water, and north on Water to McDonel, and thence to the drill shed. Here they drilled under the arc lights, while several hundred persons watched eagerly and the band played on.

The following orders were read:

Headquarters,
Peterborough, May 14th, 1901.

Orders by Lt.-Col. E. B. Edwards, commanding 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers:

No. 1.—Detail of duty for week ending May 21st: Capt. for the week, Capt. Hayes; next for duty, Capt. Clegg; Subaltern for week, 2nd Lieut. Hamilton; next for duty, 2nd Lieut. VanEvery.

No. 2.—The following are taken on the strength of the Regiment:—"A" Co., Privates Pringle, Davey, Brown, W. Vass, A. Vass and Lavasseur. "F" Co., Pte. Skitch.

No. 3.—The Regiment will parade at the drill shed at 1.15 p.m. on Friday, May 24th, for the purpose of taking part in the celebration of Victoria Day.

No. 4.—The Band will parade at the drill shed each drill night hereafter at 7.45 p.m. unless otherwise excused.

No. 5.—A Regimental staff parade at which all Non-Commissioned Officers will be present, will hereafter be formed fifteen minutes before each parade of the Regiment.

No. 6.—The Sergeant-Major will be at the drill shed between 12.30 and 1.30 p.m. on Saturday of each week to issue rifles for shooting at the ranges.

No. 7. The Captain of the week will arrange that either he or the Subaltern of the week shall be on duty at the ranges on Saturday, and shall be responsible for the firing and for the return of the scores.

No. 8.—The following Officers will constitute a Board to examine candidates for Non-Commissioned Officer's certificates: Major Miller, chairman; Major Stevenson and Lieut. Walker. The examination for such certificates will begin at the drill shed on Wednesday, May 22nd, at 8 p.m.

No. 9.—The commanding officer has been pleased to make the following promotions: "C" Co., to be Corporal (provisionally) Pte. F. Smith. "E" Co., to Sergeant, Corporal A. J. Warne.

By order,

NEWS FROM SOUTH AFRICA

Parents Keeping Track of Their Boys.

Mr. John Armour Gets Trace of His Boy --Tom Miller Writes.

Mr. John Armour, No. 655 Water street, has at last got trace of his son William, who has been serving with one of the Old Country regiments in South Africa, during the recent campaign. Mr. Armour had not heard from his boy in some time, and in fact has not seen him in 20 years. Last fall Messrs. Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson sent the following letter:

The Officer Commanding Orpen's Light Horse, Cape Town, South Africa:

Sir. We have the honour to request that you will inform us what has become of No. 258 Trooper Wm. Armour. His parents have not heard from him for a long time, and will be very thankful for any information you can give regarding him.

We have the honour to be, Sir,
Your Obedient Servants,
DENNISTOUN, PECK & STEVENSON.

In reply to the above, Messrs. Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson received the following brief note:

No. 258 Trooper W. Armour is with the headquarters of his corps stationed here. (Prieska, Cape Colony.) He is in good health. The corps will in all probability be disbanded in the course of a few months, when he will be free to return to his home.

REDMOND ORPEN, Major,
Commanding Orpen's Horse.
Prieska, 11 4 01.

Mrs. F. W. Miller, Water street, has received the following additional letter from her son Tom, who is serving with the Scott's Guards in South Africa:

Protoria, 12 4 01.

Dear Mother,—We have now arrived at Pretoria after three month's march with General French, all through the Eastern Transvaal, and we came back through Natal, passing Dundee, Glencoe, Majuba Hill and Laing's Nek. We have been here about a week now, but we are off again tomorrow to Belfast, and then on the march again, which I hope will be our last one, as we all want to get home to the ones we love. My intentions are still good of going to Canada, as I intend to remain in England when my time is finished, which will not be long now. I am going to join the London police when I am finished, so it might be the only chance I will have of coming home. Well, dear mother, I don't know of any more to say this time, only I cannot get my photo taken out here, it costs too much money, but I will get it taken when I get back to London. I hear from Kitty every week. Well, good-bye, mother, with love to all.

From your loving son,
TOM.

2. That the salary of George I. Roszel, Chief of Police, be increased by $100.00, to date from the first of May.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
G. M. ROGER,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

Ald. Rush and Edgecombe introduced the by-law authorizing the transfer of the town lot, south of the Kennedy stock yards, to the Peterborough Shovel Co., providing the said company within one year erect a brick building 50x150 feet in size and instal therein machinery to the value of $25,000. The by-law received its first two readings and the ratepayers will be asked to voice their opinion in the matter on Tuesday, June 11th, the polling booths being located in the same places as is usual in the municipal elections and the same deputy returning officers being appointed.

THE JOINT COMMITTEE.

Ald. Shortly reported verbally for the Joint Committee of the Town and County. He spoke of visiting the Chemong bridge three weeks ago with the committee and finding it in a very dilapidated condition, Mr. Kelly had been engaged to repair the bridge and keep it in order for the season for $150. The town was liable for three-tenths of this amount. The locks' bridge needed to be replanked, readjusted and made safe for public traffic at a cost of $475 of which sum the town was liable for one half. The Hunter street bridge needed an expenditure of $70 on it.

Mr. J. L. Hughes addressed the council in reference to keeping up what he stated was called by courtesy "Charlotte Street Park." He represented that the lot could be converted into a very attractive spot by the expenditure of a very small sum of money. At present the fence was down and cows roamed at will through the lot breaking and destroying the trees and ruining the appearance of the park.

On motion, this park as well as the one in the south end was put in charge of Ald. Batten, chairman of the Property Committee.

Mr. Snell, of the Marmora Herald, who is getting out a pamphlet dealing with the mining and other industries of Eastern Ontario, addressed the Council in reference to advertising the town in his book. The matter was left to the Finance Committee with power to act.

The Council then adjourned.

BRIDGENORTH.

From our own correspondent.

Mrs. Johnson is spending a few weeks with her brother, Mr. Dr. Morgans.

The I. O. G. T., of Bridgenorth, intend holding their grand concert in their own hall on Friday evening, May 17th. Great preparations are being made as all the young people are taking active parts. Come along and enjoy a pleasant evening

Most of the farmers of the community are nearly through sowing, but the excessive rains on Saturday and Sunday accompanied with hail and wind was not welcomed very much by some, as it will cause quite a delay to those who have not finished their crop.

It Saved His Leg.

P. A. Danforth, of LeGrange, Ga., suffered for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg; but writes that Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in five days. For Ulcers, Wounds, Piles, it's the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed.

MORNING THOUGHTS.

Awake, and still with Christ,
He slumbers not nor sleeps,
And through the dark and silent night
A watch around me keeps.
O, Lord to thee I give
My thanks for all thy care.
And in the glad and happy morn,
I'll bow my knee in prayer.

Awake, and still with Christ,
O, heart sing and rejoice,
With birds in song and rippling stream
I'll join my cheerful voice.
Nature, shews forth His praise,
In fields, the flowers and trees,
And Solomon in all his glory
Was not arrayed like these.

Awake, and still with Christ,
The Lamb for sinners slain,
Who bore our sins upon the cross,
Alone, in grief and pain.
Exalted now at God's right hand,
In Heaven, in bliss, He is glorified.
When with His likness I awake,
I shall be satisfied.

A MENACE TO EUROPE

FRANCIS JOSEPH'S DEMISE WOULD CAUSE GRAVE COMPLICATIONS.

His Personality Is All That Stands Between Order and Anarchy in the Polyglot Austro-Hungarian Realm — Its Many Constituent Peoples Seem to Hate Each Other Vigorously.

There is an aged monarch in Europe whose demise cannot fail to produce immeasurably greater complications than anyone ever expected as the result of Victoria's death. This is the Emperor of Austria. Francis Joseph, now that Victoria is dead, is the oldest in years of reign of all the old world's sovereigns. He went to the throne in 1848, after the enforced abdication of his uncle, and has thus borne sway more than half a century. Christian IX., the King of Denmark, who was born a year earlier than Victoria, and who is 83 years of age, is a dozen years older than Francis Joseph, but the Austrian Emperor was on the throne 15 years before the Danish King entered power.

Austria-Hungary is composed of a larger number of races than are found in any other contiguous nation in Europe. Moreover, the hand of every one of those people seems to be against every other one. The German element of the Empire, which is the dominant caste, though the Slavs are more numerous, is hated by the Hungarians and the Bohemians, and this feeling is reciprocated. The Jews, too, as in many of the other nations of continental Europe, are an object of dislike to most of the Christians, while the latter are very far from being harmonious among themselves. Hungary has something closely approaching to independence, and Bohemia wants to get similar privileges, but both the Hungarians and the German ingredient of the population of the Empire oppose this concession.

The disturbances which have been breaking out periodically in the Austrian Parliament for the past three years, on account of race and class antipathies, have led the world to look for a catclysm after the death of the Emperor. Francis Joseph is personally popular with all the races of his polyglot empire. Bohemia and Hungary, as well as Austria proper, have affection for the aged ruler. Both Hungary and Austria would accept the suspension of the constitution which the Emperor has threatened in the event of the renewal of the race feuds in Parliament. This would make Francis Joseph as nearly an absolutist as any ruler in central or western Europe can be in this democratic age. If Metternich was alive he would welcome the contingency which would constrain the monarch to suspend the fundamental law. Metternich told the Austrian Ferdinand I. and the Prussian Frederick William IV. that a constitution was the last thing any people of the German race ever ought to ask for, and the old Mephistopheles found many persons of his way of thinking among the potentates of his day. Francis Joseph is a very different sort of person from his uncle and predecessor, Ferdinand, and nothing short of imperious necessity will induce him to carry out his threat to rule his country as an absolutism. Trouble is expected and a break-up in the Empire is feared when the death of the Emperor puts the head of a collateral branch of the family, who lacks the popularity as well as the ability of the present monarch, in power.

CANNOT SAY ENOUGH.

Common Remark in Reference to Gratitude Felt for Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—Miss G. V. Campbell in that Position

To such people Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have made all the difference between misery and happiness.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are arousing unspeakable gratitude in thousands of homes throughout Canada, creating a feeling so deep and sincere that ordinary words of thanks sound cheap and insufficient.

Miss Gusty V. Campbell of Little Shippegan, N. B., is a case in point. She is one of those whom Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have gratified beyond the measure of words.

Suffering from the acutest pangs of indigestion, she found herself utterly helpless. Nothing she could do would afford her any relief. Her food fermented in the stomach, and all the usual pain and distress followed. In spite of the medicines she was prescribed, instead of better she grew steadily worse.

Consequently, it is with more than ordinary gratitude that Miss Campbell regards Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They restored her digestive system to the natural, wholesome, healthy condition where food is perfectly assimilated, and good rich blood sent to build up tissues and nerves. They gave the glow of vigorous health to her cheeks, and the spring of energy to her step.

"I cannot," she writes, "say enough in favour of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Looking through one of Dodd's almanacs, I saw the reasonableness of the claims made for Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and determined to test them. I am glad I did so. That was the first step towards regaining the health which I had lost, and which, thanks to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, I now again enjoy.

"I can honestly recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to any of my friends who are suffering from Dyspepsia."

THE ROYAL BOX.

The Duke of Connaught has been gazetted grand master of the Order of the Bath.

It is said that Prince Charles of Denmark, the second son of the Danish crown prince, will probably hereafter live in England, as both he and his sister prefer that country to their own.

Queen Alexandra is the obstacle that stands in the way of Prince George of York inheriting the title prince of Wales. She was devoted to her eldest son, the deceased Duke of Clarence, and has a sentimental feeling about her husband's title going to any one else.

It is a rare privilege to be permitted to visit any of the kaiser's palaces. He thinks he is entitled to at least as much privacy as the lowest of his subjects, and his orders in regard to visitors are strict. As the Neues palace is regarded as, above all others, a haven of rest, few tourists are permitted within its precincts.

King Edward VII is one of the oldest of parliamentarians. As a member of the house of lords since 1862 he has seen nearly all the peers of today take their seats. As Duke of Cornwall since his birth he has possessed a peerage for a longer period than any living man except Lord Nelson, who succeeded in 1835, and Lord Dufferin, who succeeded to a peerage of Ireland in 1841.

THE JEWEL CASKET.

A lady's watch in plain black enamel and brilliants is a striking and elegant object.

"Tooth" ring mountings are used for some very large diamonds for men's wear. They display the stone with great effectiveness.

Pretty tie clips of gold wire in heart shape are useful accessories in the evening toilet. They are set with pearls and turquoises.

An adjustable bracelet adapts itself to any size of wrist. It is constructed on the trellis pattern and contracts or expands after the fashion of the familiar iron gate.

Foreign fashion budgets tell us that the scent ball is to be the novelty of the coming season. This is a hollow sphere pierced with small holes and holding a bit of sponge saturated with perfume. In simple silver trifles or elaborate gold affairs adorned with diamonds or other stones it affords an attractive accessory for chatelaine, chain or bracelet.

Confiscation in Morocco.

It is a custom in Morocco that all the property of an official reverts at death to the crown. The logic which leads to such a result is simple, for the government argues that all fortunes thus accumulated consist of moneys illegally retained by the authorities. A governor when appointed is probably possessed of no considerable fortune. When he dies, he may be a millionaire. Whence came his wealth? Squeezed most certainly from the tribes under his authority and therefore amassed only by the prerogatives of the position in which the sultan had placed him. It has never struck the Moorish government that these great fortunes might more honorably be returned to the people from whom they were stolen. The result is entire confiscation to the crown, including often such private property as his governor may have been possessed of before his appointment and not seldom, too, of the property of his relatives.

When the mighty fall in Morocco, the crash brings down with them their families, even uncles and cousins and all connected with them, and it is not seldom that the sons of great governors, who have been brought up in the luxury of slaves and horses and retinues of mounted men, have to go begging in the streets.

Barbers of Spain.

The barber's business in Spain is peculiar in that he is called upon to ply his shears on donkeys as well as men, for it is an important item in the care of Spanish donkeys that they should be sheared as to the back in order to make a smoother resting place for man or pannier. So, while the master held his animal, one of the barbers plied some enormous clacking shears and littered the ground with mouse colored hair, leaving the beast's belly fur covered below a fixed line and for a small additional price executing a raised pattern of star points around the neck.

The tonsorial profession is an indispensable one in a country where shaving the whole face is generally practiced among all the humbler orders, not to mention toreros and ecclesiastics. But the discomfort to which the barber's customers submit is astonishing. Instead of being pampered, soothed, labored at with confidential respectfulness and lulled into luxurious harmony with himself, as happens in America, a man who courts the razor in Spain has to sit upright in a stiff chair and meekly hold under his chin a brass basin full of suds and tilting his throat by means of a curved nick at one side.

All Eyes on Texas.

Great is Texas. Her vast cotton crops and marvellous oil discoveries amaze the world. Now follows the startling statement of the wonderful work at Cisco, Tex. of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. "My wife contracted a severe lung trouble," writes editor J. J. Eager, "which caused a most obstinate cough and finally resulted in profuse hemorrhages, but she has been completely cured by Dr. King's New Discovery." It's positively guaranteed for coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles. 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Jas. Lynch's Drug Store.

Cause of Talleyrand's Lameness.

The cause of Talleyrand's lameness has long been a matter of dispute. Some stories have it that the defect was congenital; others that it was occasioned by an accident which befell him in his infancy. The most curious explanation of all is that offered by a writer in The Quarterly Review. "To quote the very words of our informant, an eminently distinguished diplomat," says the writer, "Talleyrand's Vienna colleague, Baron Wessenberg, told me years ago that his lameness was owing to carelessness of his nurse, who laid him down in a field while she flirted with her sweetheart and on coming back to her charge found some pigs dining on the infant's legs. I am sure that Wessenberg told me this as an established fact, and I am all but sure that his authority was Talleyrand himself."

The Druggists are Busy.

Druggists report great demand for the new 25c cent size of Catarrhozone, and today's sales almost cleared out their stock. They explain this rapid run on Catarrhozone by the fact that it gives better satisfaction than any other remedy on the market. Druggists say that Catarrhozone is the only remedy that really does cure Catarrh, Bronchitis and Asthma. It relieves quickly, is pleasant and convenient to use, and guaranteed to cure or your money refunded. Readers suffering from Irritable Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, etc., are strongly advised to try Catarrhozone. It never fails to cure even the worst cases.

Did They?

There is nothing much more distressing than an unfinished story. A number of people in a London drawing room were conversing about capital punishment when a lady remarked:

"How strange it must seem to be sentenced to death!"

"Not so very, very strange, I assure you. I was myself once condemned to death in Africa," said a returned African explorer.

"Indeed!" exclaimed the lady. "And were you—did they"—

"Did they what, madame?"

"Why, did they execute you, you know?"—Exchange.

The Kidneys and the Skin.

In the spring, the kidneys have much to do. If they are weak or torpid, they will not do it well, and the skin will be pimply or blotchy. That is telling the story in a few words.

A Senate Jest.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell likes a bit of a joke, and is always ready to meet anybody half way in making one. When the Cook charges were being investigated in the Senate at Ottawa, Mr. S. C. Biggs and Mr. W. T. R. Preston were requested to leave the room, as they were likely to be called as witnesses, and it was not thought proper that they should hear the evidence preceding their own. It is said that after these two gentlemen had promenaded for some time through the solemn halls of the Senate, they became impatient, and the following note was written and sent by an attendant in to Sir Mackenzie Bowell:

"When can we come in? How long are we doomed to haunt these corridors of the dead?—S. C. Biggs."

Presently back came the attendant with a reply, which on being opened was found to contain the following:

"Until the trumpet sounds.—Mackenzie Bowell."

MR. BRODRICK'S ARMY SCHEME.

Secretary For War Moved His Resolution in the Commons.

London, May 14.—War Secretary Brodrick, in the House of Commons yesterday, moved his army scheme providing for six corps with 50,000 militia as a reserve, and increasing the Yeomanry from 12,000 to 35,000 men,

The Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, moved as an amendment that while desirious of improving the efficiency of the army, the proposals largely increased the existing burdens with out adding substantially to the military strength of Great Britain.

Sir Henry complained that the proposals of the Government were "showy pretensions, extensive and ineffective," and he asked for figures and definite statements.

Mr. Wyndham, the Irish Secretary, in defending the general economy of the military establishment, said that while the British soldier cost in all £111 annually, the American soldier, not taking into account the pensions, cost £287 annually before the war with Spain, and prior to the date when the United States had foreign stations.

The civil list resolution was adopted by 248 to 49 votes, and the Civil List bill passed its first reading.

More Boers Taken.

London, May 14.—Lord Kitchener, in a despatch from Pretoria, dated May 12, says:

"Grenfell has occupied Louistrichart, capturing 50 Boers, with rifles. Louistrichart was previously held by six British with 40 surrendered Boers.

"Other columns report 8 Boers killed, 20 wounded, 132 prisoners, 24 surrendered, and a machine gun, 6,400 rounds of ammunition, 150 wagons and 870 horses captured."

To See Kruger.

Durban, May 13.—Mrs. Louis Botha, who has obtained consent to interview Mr. Kruger and urge him to advocate peace, sailed to-day for Europe on the steamer Dunvegan Castle.

What Might Have Been.

London, May 14.—At a banquet of the Cornish Association, held in London Sunday night, Gen. Pole-Carew said: "At the beginning of the war had the Boers fully realized their strength and our unpreparedness we would have been driven into Durban and Cape Town, and we would have presented the spectacle of reconquering South Africa from the sea coast."

Harry Howland had relatives in Toronto, and his body was taken there for interment. The men got into an altercation some months ago and as a result Howland was fatally wounded.

Killed by M. C. R. Train.

Hagersville, Ont., May 14.—Joseph Harkins, a farmer's son, residing about three miles east of Hagersville, was killed by a M. C. R. train about midnight on Saturday. It is supposed that he was riding on a freight train, and, in attempting to jump off near a lane leading towards his home, fell and was caught by the train. His body was frightfully mangled.

Possibly a Murder.

Dover, May 14.—News has been received here from Shorley that the farm house of Wesley Allen was burned during the night and that Mr. Allen, his wife, 14-year-old daughter and another person at present unknown were burned to death. The circumstances are believed to point to murder.

FRENCH LINE GRANT.

Sir Richard Cartwright Introduces the Subsidy Resolution.

TRADE PROSPECTS IN FRANCE

Good Opportunities for Canadian Business on the Markets of That Country—The $1,000,000 Montreal Harbor Loan—Our Horses for Britain—Ascension Day Adjournment—Alien Labor Law.

Ottawa, May 15.—After the prolonged sitting of Monday, the House was not inclined to waste much time in talking yesterday, and a large amount of work having been done an adjournment was taken at 11 o'clock last evening. The resolution authorizing the payment of a subsidy of $100,000 annually for a line of steamships between Canadian and French ports was reported; also a resolution authorizing the Dominion Government to loan the Montreal Harbor Commission $1,000,000 for improving the terminal facilities and erecting elevators at that port. In supply the supplementary estimates for Agriculture and Marine and Fisheries were voted. Mr. Fisher, in reply to a question, announced that the Government had forwarded a strongly-worded memorandum to the Imperial authorities in references to the superior advantages which Canada possesses as a source of supply from which horses for the army might be obtained.

In the morning Mr. Bernier, Minister of Inland Revenue, introduced two bills amending the gas inspection and electric light inspection acts respectively.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier next moved that when the House adjourns on Wednesday it stand adjourned until Friday and meet on Saturday at 11 a. m., and it was so ordered.

When the third reading of the alien labor bill was moved, Mr. Clarke moved an amendment that police magistrates be entrusted with the power restricted under the bill to provincial attorneys-general and county judges. The amendment was lost by a vote of 37 to 66. The bill was read a third time.

Sir Richard Cartwright moved his resolution for a subsidy not exceeding $100,000 for a direct steamship service between Canada and France. He expected a satisfactory increase of the existing Franco-Canadian trade as the result of direct shipments. The statistics indicated that France would become a large buyer of Canadian iron, steel, coal and agricultural products.

After some discussion the resolution was carried, and the bill to effect the object of the resolution was introduced and read a first time.

The House then went into committee on the Solicitor-General's Act to amend the Railway Act, and the rest of the sitting was taken up in discussing the clauses until 1 o'clock, when the committee arose and reported progress.

At the afternoon sitting the act to amend the Railway Act was read a third time and passed.

The resolution granting the Harbor Commissioners of Montreal a loan of $1,000,000 for the purpose of building grain elevators was considered at some length. Mr. Fielding said the Government had come to the conclusion that the time had passed when private corporations could be entrusted with providing proper terminal facilities for handling grain.

Mr. Tarte explained the plan of the improvement, which included additional yard space, elevating plants, wharves, etc., at Montreal. He believed none of the ports were sufficiently equipped, and he hoped to see a line of fast steamships running to Halifax. Quebec's opportunity would be in accommodating the large sized ships, which cannot get up to Montreal. He advocated free pilotage and free ports generally.

Late in the afternoon, when the House was moved into committee of supply, Mr. Nat. Boyd brought up the matter of remount depots in the west for the supply of horses for the British cavalry. He spoke at some length, and was followed by Mr. Oliver. Both advocated urging the Imperial Government being memorialized to buy horses in Canada.

After recess Mr. Fisher stated that three or four months ago he sent an urgent cablegram to Lord Strathcona to inform the War Office that there were still a large number of horses which could be purchased in Canada. The almost immediate result was that Colonel Dent, the British remount officer, was sent out to buy two shiploads, and after that to go through western Canada and report upon that country as a source of supply for cavalry horses. The subject had been receiving the closest consideration of the Government; various plans and schemes have been put forward and considered, and recently a rather elaborate memorandum on this subject has been sent to the Imperial authorities, pointing out the advantage of Canada as a breeding-ground for horses, and that it would be greatly to the advantage of the empire as a whole that such supply of horses as may be required for army purposes should be obtained within the bounds of the empire, and that within the empire there is no part better qualified to produce those horses than Canada.

The House then went into committee upon the supplementary estimates for agriculture.

The Agricultural Department supplementary estimates were all disposed of by 10 o'clock, and the House rose at 11, after passing a number of Marine and Fisheries items.

THE WAIL OF THE BACK.

'TIS A WARNING CRY OF KIDNEY ILLS.
DON'T NEGLECT AN ACHING BACK.
PROMPT ACTION SAVES TROUBLE.

Urinary Troubles lead to Dropsy, Diabetes and Bright's Disease, and are caused by neglecting the first pain in the back. DOAN'S PILLS absolutely cure Backache and all Urinary Troubles. Read these testimonials:

MR. BENJAMIN STEWART, of Zionville, N.B., writes:

"For four months I was troubled with lame back, which was so bad at times I was unable to turn myself in bed without help. I tried plasters and liniments of all kinds, but none of them helped me. A friend of mine induced me to try Doan's Pills, and by the time I had used one box my backache had disappeared and is as strong and well as ever it was. I can faithfully recommend Doan's Pills to anyone troubled with lame back or urinary troubles."

MRS. GEO. H. ALWARD, White's Point, N.B., writes:

"I was so bad with backache that I could scarcely move around the house. My feet and ankles swelled up and were so painful that I could get no rest night or day. I tried several remedies, but they seemed to do me no good. I was advised to give Doan's Pills a trial, and from the first I perceived a decided change for the better, and by the time I had taken three boxes I could do my house work as well as ever and am completely cured. I cannot say too much as to the merits of Doan's Pills when I consider the health I now enjoy."

MR. BENJAMIN BROOKS, West Cape, P.E.I., writes:

"I contracted a severe cold which settled in the small of my back and was so sore that I could hardly walk. I procured a box of Doan's Pills, and by the time I had taken them I was completely cured. I might also say that my little boy was troubled with his kidneys. We tried several remedies, but none did him any good until we tried Doan's Pills. They proved to be what he wanted and have made a complete cure. I cannot recommend them too highly to all kidney sufferers."

THE CIVIC ASSOCIATION.

Regular Monthly Meeting Was Held Last Night.

Mr. H. Morgan's Paper on "New Industries"--The Matter of Public Parks--Will Houses be Numbered.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ashburnham Civic Association was held on Tuesday evening, the President, Mr. E. A. Peck, in the chair.

After routine business, Mr. H. T. Strickland, chairman of the Arbor Day Committee, presented his report, showing that 128 trees had been secured and planted.

A resolution of thanks to the A.C.A. for their efforts towards beautifying the village, was received from the Ashburnham Council.

A resolution of thanks was adopted to Mr. John A. Davidson and to the Dickson Co., who supplied the trees for Arbour Day, and the thanks af the Association were also tendered to the Arbour Day Commitee.

Mr. H. Morgan read an excellent and suggestive paper on "New Industries," and was heard with deep interest. The paper showed careful prepartion and was full of good suggestions.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Morgan for his able paper, and, in accordance with a suggestion therein, the following were appointed a Manufacturers' Committee to act with a similar committee appointed by the Council; W. Irwin, E. A. Peck and A. Rutherford.

A long discussion followed on "Public Parks." Finally, the matter was referred to the Executive Committee to consider the advisability of securing a recreation ground or park, and to outline, if possible, a scheme for its management.

A resolution was passed recommending the Council to consider the advisability of numbering the houses, and to take steps to do so, if practicable.

The question of a "Civic Picnic" was referred to the Executive Committee to make all arrangements.

A discussion followed, on the extension of the waterworks system. It was finally resolved "That in the opinion of the A.C.A. it is not advisable for the Council at present to extend the waterworks system and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Council."

Persons who received trees on Arbor Day are expected to pay ten cents each for them. The money may be handed to the Secretary-Treasurer, M. W. Matchett, or to Mr. Alex Fitzgerald.

The next regular meeting will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 8.

—The temperature was down to 30 degrees this morning, being two degrees below freezing point. There was also a heavy white frost.

SUMMER SPORTING SEASON.

The Nicholls Oval in First Class Condition.

Lacrosse, Cricket, Baseball and Other Lines of Sport.

The Nicholls Oval was last night thrown open to the public for the first time this season, and it was readily taken advantage of by the lovers of the various lines of sports. Cricket, lacrosse, baseball and bicycling were enjoyed by many. The oval looked exceptionally beautiful, and the grass was clipped short and uniformly—resembling a stretch of velvet. The track is in superb condition, and a bicycle party encircled the green many times.

Lacrosse was the most attractive of the sports last night. It is a rather novel sight to see a bunch of lacrosse men on the oval, and it looked pretty indeed. It was the first genuine practice of the Y.M.C.A. team, and they have every reason to feel proud of the turn-out. Amongst those who were on hand were Bob Parker, Arthur Upton, Lanny Mowry, Harold Daly, Frank Trollope, Harold Brown, Fred Taylor, Fred Campbell, George Robertson, Oscar Dumble, Charley Whiten, Walter Robinson, Harry Rush, Horace Ayers and E. S. Clarry. The boys went into the game with great spirit, and altogether had a splendid night's sport. The latest addition to the lacrosse circles is Harry Rush, who figured conspicuously at point, and who gives promise of developing into a noble exponent of Canada's national game. Oscar Dumble was in his element and played rings around not a few, whilst Capt. Ayers wore a broad smile all night, so elated was he over the success of the practice. Walter Robinson, too, is moulding into shape. The next practice of the team will be on Friday night next.

The Colts' cricket team had a short practice, although it was not their regular night. There will be a full turn out of the Colts' team this evening, and it behooves every member to be on hand and endeavour to get into shape for the game against Campbellford on the morning of May 24th.

The tennis courts on the oval have not yet been marked out, but they are expected to be in shape this week, when this popular game will be in full swing.

There is a slight possibility of the various games clashing with each other on the oval. There is not room enough for baseball, lacrosse and cricket to be played at the one time, and in order to avoid any difficulty in this respect, the heads of the various sporting organizations should wait on the trustees of the park and settle on nights for their respective games.

There will be a full practice of the Vatican lacrosse team on Wednesday night, on the Separate school grounds, commencing at 7 o'clock. A full attendance of members and all those wishing to join is requested.

The Vaticans have made arrangements for a game with the Lindsay lacrosse club for the afternoon of May 24th. The event will take place on the Nicholls Oval, after the programme of events already published, is pulled off. The match should prove to be a very exciting one, as the Vaticans are getting into the pink of condition.

THE ALBANY STRIKE.

Two Thousand Troops Now Guard the Non-Union Men.

EXCITING SCENES ON STREETS.

No One Was Killed, But the Motorman Injured Tuesday Is Likely to Die—Cavalry and Infantry Charge the Angry, Excited and Frenzied Mob—Statement by Mr. Mahon.

Albany, N. Y., May 16.—So serious was the situation last night over the Traction Company strike that Gov. Odell postponed the continuance of his trip to the state institutions and at 5.30 o'clock last night was at the Executive Mansion.

Two thousand armed soldiers are now within the city limits, more are coming and 2,500 are in readiness to move to Troy when Governor Odell so orders.

The streets are thronged with excited men, women and children and the otherwise quiet day terminated in bloodshed. A dramatic element was added to the day's features by the sudden death of Adjutant-General Hoffman.

As long as the Traction Company does not attempt to move cars or bring in non-union men the crowds on the streets remain good-natured, except for taunting the soldiers and police, but the instant an attempt is made to work on the lines or bring non-union men, the crowd becomes frenzied and bloodshed results.

Citizens, sabre-slashed, non-union men with broken limbs and bloody faces, women and children trampled under foot, soldiers maimed with flying missels and ringleaders in a crowd beaten with the butts of muskets were some of the results of the day.

Mob and militia closed in combat late yesterday afternoon, but by the accident of fortune there were no serious casualties.

It was the introduction of more non-union men to take the places of striking Traction employes that produced the violence and it was only by the skill and forbearance of the guardsmen that the clash was not a desperately serious one. Seventy-five non-union men [illegible] Depot shortly before 6 o'clock and their delivery at Quail street barn, mile and a half away, was a dash under cavalry escort, with mob resistance in almost every block.

Frenzied men in the countless numbers swarmed through the police lines, surged around the fast moving cavalrymen and fought to get at the cowed non-union men inside the circle of galloping horses.

The rays of the setting sun gave a glint to busy sabres, but the long blades, wielded by forebearing hands, seldom descened in serious blows. Several men were cut down by cornered cavalrymen, but the record does not yet show the score of a single fatality. In the mad ride through the streets, few of the non-unionists escaped the flying bricks and stones that the angered mob hurled at them, but less than a dozen were badly hurt. The courage of nearly a dozen of the non-union men fled in the opening spurt through the turbulent crowds, and they sprang from the wagons that carried them, to mingle and be lost in the crowd that demanded their blood.

The ride of the non-union men through the city was the dramatic spectacle of the day. Their coming was no secret, indeed, it was as well known as if proclaimed, and the design back of it was evidently for an open, daylight movement, with arms enough to awe the crowd.

At 5 o'clock, the Third Signal Corps, mounted and armed as cavalrymen, swung down through the city, and formed on Broadway, just south of the depot: There were solid platoon in front and rear, and both flanks were closed in. As they rested, they formed a parallelogram, but later, when they sprang forward, their lines were depressed by the onslaught of the crowd, until oval with the shape of the outer line.

Five thousand men tagged at their heels and jammed in around them when they formed and thousands more crowded into the intersecting streets.

A broken alleyway that runs along the south side of the Union Depot was the stage of the opening scene. Into it, at 5.45 o'clock, were driven four flat-topped open trucks. The crowd recognized them as the same unwieldy vehicles that had carried the first batch of strike-breakers, and greeted them with groans. The police signalled out individuals who were demonstrative and drove them back of the lines, but their activity did not repress the sullen hatred of the inflamed crowd. Suddenly a side door of the depot was thrown open, and up the alleyway toward the waiting teams marched the non-union men. There was scarcely a sound, and for a moment there was no demonstration, but most of those men failed when they got their first view of the crowd. It showed in blanched faces and shifting eyes, and stronger still in the way they crouched when they climbed into the awkward wagons that waited to carry them on the wildest ride they will ever know. Once they were all aboard, the drivers brought their teams out into the street, and the cavalry closed in around them.

As if by signal or plan every whip descended, every spur was clinched in, and the race was on. High up in the window on the top floor of a Broadway building, a wildly excited man barked out an imprecation on the heads of the luckless fellows below him, and 10,000 men took up the hue and cry. It was the hounds and the wolves over again, with the added frenzy of the splendid animal, man. The police threw themselves across the street in solid phalanx, but the crowd swept over them and took up the chase. Ahead were thousands more, and with no fear for either heels or blades of steel, they closed in around the cavalrymen.

The fighting, swirling crowd caught one cavalryman and swung him out of line. Then came a volley of bricks, and three of the strike-breakers sprang from the rear wagon. They were surrendering to men more desperate than they. The flying column held its way, and dashed into State street for the run up the hill past the capital. Here the crowd was as dense and desperate as the other, and men plunged in around the galloping horses. Another rider out from the side of the crowd brought his sabre down on the face of one of his antagonists, and a line of blood marked where it struck.

The horses were done and men were limp. Sixteen of the strike-breakers were injured during the ride and many of them—stunned, weak and scarred—had to be helped from the wagons. Of the 16 injured men, Gilbert Hart of Brooklyn was the only one sent to the hospital. He was wounded in the arm, and the surgeons say he was shot. He was also cut on the head. The strikers say that 16 strike-breakers deserted during the desperate ride, and that less than 50 were safely landed in the barn.

Quail street for six blocks was first cleared at the point of the bayonet, and then the side streets were swept.

Governor Odell said last night that he had every reason to believe that Major-General Roe was handling the strike matter with excellent judgment. He said he had come into Albany because it was on his route west, and he will leave at 8 o'clock a. m. to-day. The two wrecked cars that have lain on Quail street for two days were fired last night, after the picket line was drawn in. An alarm was sent in, and a chemical engine quickly put the fire out.

Albany is quiet at midnight. Both parties claim there is no attempt at negotiations for a settlement. Marshall, the non-union motorman injured Tuesday, will probably die before morning.

Union Is With the Men.

The following statement on the situation was given out yesterday noon by W. D. Mahon, International President of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes of America:

"Chairman Dilworth and myself have considered the situation, and cannot see anything to be gained by remaining longer in the city of Albany at this time. We came here to take up the matter in the interest of our people, and, if possible, bring about an adjustment of the same. Owing to the bitterness growing out of the present dispute there is no prospect of bringing the contending forces together. Being charged with the completion of the work of our International convention, which is to codify the amended constitution, and publish the proceedings of the convention, we therefore decided to take up that work and leave the matters here to the committees of the two local organizations until such time as they deem our presence will be of assistance to them. There have been many unfounded rumors set afloat to the effect that our International Executive Board had repudiated the position taken by the men here, that I again take this opportunity of denying the rumors, and to say that the men here will have the support of our organization in accordance with its constitution and laws."

THE MACHINISTS.

300 Firms Have Already Signed the Nine-Hour Day Agreement.

Washington, May 16.—President O'Connell of the National Association of Machinists stated yesterday that 300 firms throughout the country so far have signed the nine-hour day agreement. Telegraphic reports from Boston showed that a large number signed there yesterday, and in Elmira, what is claimed to be the largest steam fire engine plant outside of the trust, had agreed to the terms. The Executive Board of the Machinists' Association will meet here Friday, and remain until after the 20th inst., the date when the strike order is to be effective.

The machinists, numbering 150,000, and supplemented by workers in allied trades to the number of 450,000, demand a nine-hour day, with one-eighth increase in wages.

Strikers Being Replaced.

Toronto, May 16.—There is at present no early settlement of the strike between the Boilermakers' and Shipbuilders' Helpers and their employers. The men are still out on strike and intend to remain out until their demands are acceded to, while on the other hand the employers insist that the strike does not affect business. In all about 150 boilermakers' helpers and 40 shipbuilders' helpers are out. They were employed in Bertram's, Polsons' and Inglis. The employers stated yesterday that the places of the men were being filled and business was going on without any interruption.

$18,000 Worth of Sugar Sunk.

North Tonawanda, May 16. — The canal boat Nonpareil, owned by Captain Daniel Kill, and loaded with a cargo of sugar valued at $18,000, was sunk by colliding with an abutment of the Central Railroad bridge over the Erie Canal about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The cargo, which was insured, is considered a total loss.

G. T. R. President Arrives.

New York, May 16.—Among the passengers who arrived yesterday morning on the steamer Oceanic from Liverpool and Queenstown were Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, president of the Grand Trunk Railway, and Hon. Lady Rivers-Wilson.

Hailstones Kill Cows.

Bloomsburg, Pa., May 16.—Several cows were killed by a severe hail storm which passed over Orangeville yesterday. The hail stones were as large as hickory nuts, and were piled to a depth of six inches on the level.

New Bishop of Oxford.

Death of Abbe Verreau.

Montreal, May 16.—Rev. Father Verreau, principal of the Jacques Cartier Normal School, and a member of the Royal Society of Canada, died yesterday.

Another Irish Bill Killed.

London, May 16.—The House of Commons yesterday, by 226 to 102 votes, rejected the second reading of the bill amending legal procedure in Ireland.

SILK REMNANTS

The brisk selling of that lot of silks advertised Saturday last has caused many remnants. We purpose now to clear the remnants in short order and consequently have marked them at mere nominal prices. These silks were cheap by the yard, but now—well, if you are wanting a bit for trimming or can get a blouse out of less than three yards, then you cannot afford to miss these remnants at the pick-up prices marked on each piece.

Buy Silk Remnants at Sutcliffe's this week. Be quick and get the length and colour you want.

OUTRAGE ON GERMANS

Three Privates Blown to Pieces in Explosion at Kalgan.

MINISTERS NOT SATISFIED.

Foreign Ministers Would Not Speak for Publication on the Question of the Chinese Government's Answer—What Three of Them Personally Think—Chinese Troops Defeat Boxers.

Pekin, May 15.—An explosion at the arsenal at Kalgan to-day wounded one German officer and four privates. Three German privates are missing. It is supposed that they were blown to pieces. The Germans generally believe that the Chinese intentionally committed the outrage, although evidence to substantiate this view is lacking. A thorough investigation will be made.

Boxers Scattered.

Berlin, May 16.—The War Office has received the following from the German headquarters at Pekin:

Not Satisfied With China's Answer.

Pekin, May 13.—The Foreign Ministers refused to allow themselves to be quoted for publication regarding the Chinese Government's answer to the indemnity demand, but three of them gave expression to their personal views of the matter.

One of these said he had never expected the Chinese to agree to the demand without arguing, even had the total been only ten millions.

Another said it would not matter what China said, and that whatever the powers should decide upon would have to be agreed to eventually.

A third expressed himself as satisfied that a majority of the powers would agree to reduce the demands in accordance with China's ability to pay.

DEWET IN CAPE COLONY.

Reported to Have a Small Force and a Big Gun.

London, May 16.—An unconfirmed report has been received from Rosmead that Gen. Dewet, with a small commando, and a long tom, has crossed into the Zuruburg disurict of Cape Colony.

The Steamboat Company Censured.

Windsor, Ont., May 16.—The coroner's jury at Houghton, Mich., who investigated the burning of the steamer Bonvoyage a few days ago, Tuesday night brought in a verdict censuring the owners of the boat. They found that Mrs. Leah Sharp, Mrs. Ben Altman and the two Altman girls came to their death by drowning while escaping from the burning steamer, and that the disaster was due directly to the wilful negligence of the owners of the vessel in not taking necessary precaution against fire.

Wheat Seeding Is Finished.

Winnipeg, May 16.—The Northern Pacific crop report, issued yesterday, is of favorable character. Wheat seeding has finished, and the farmers are now putting in the coarser grains. The weather during the past week was cold and the growth slow, and now good, warm showers are wanted to bring on the rapid growth. In the southern part of the province some districts report the wheat four inches above the ground.

Spaulding, the bank defaulter, got six months in jail.

Like Father, Like Son.

Tacoma, Wash., May 16.—A special from Everett says: John Fay, employed by the Seattle Bridge Company at La Conner, Washington, reprimanded his 15-year-old boy for some trivial offence. This wounded the boy's feelings so deeply that he stole out of the room, secured a gun, and shot himself in the head. Hearing the report, the father hastened to the scene, and, seeing his son writhing in the agonies of death, he picked up the weapon and blew out his own brains.

Five Years Hard Labor.

London, May 16.—Fry and Everett, the two men convicted of defrauding Barclay & Co., bankers, of about £3,000, by forging documents purporting to represent large shipments of gold ore, which never existed, were sentenced yesterday to five years' imprisonment at hard labor.

Mrs. McKinley Very Ill.

San Francisco, Cal., May 16.—Owing to the very serious character of Mrs. McKinley's illness, the President yesterday definitely decided to abandon his contemplated Northwestern tour, and to return to Washington direct as soon as Mrs. McKinley shall be able to stand the journey.

Six Miners Were Killed.

Fairmont, W. Va., May 16. — Six miners lost their lives, five were fatally injured and three seriously burned in an explosion at the shaft of the George's Creek Coal and Iron Company at Farmington, seven miles west of this city yesterday morning.

Child Drowned in a Tub.

St. John, N. B., May 16.—Yesterday afternoon at Round Hill, near Oak Point, on the St. John River, the 14-months-old child of Charles Short fell into a tub of cold water and was drowned.

Humors of all kinds are prolific of worse troubles. They may be extirely expelled by a thorough course of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

An Honest Tired Feeling

There is an "honest tired feeling," caused by necessary toil and cured by natural rest.

But very different is "that tired feeling," from which so many complain and which may even be classed as a disease.

That tired feeling takes you to bed tired and wakes you up tired.

You have no appetite, have bilious taste, dull headache, are nervous and irritable, blue, weak and discouraged.

In such conditions Hood's Sarsaparilla does a world of good.

It begins in the right place—in the blood, purifying it and imparting vitality, then its tonic effect is felt by the stomach, kidneys and liver; appetite comes back, all waste is removed naturally, headaches cease, that tired feeling departs and you feel like a new person.

This has been the experience of thousands.

It will be yours if you take

When the Baby Cries at Night.

There is a cause for it. Perhaps it is gas on the stomach, or may be cramps or diarrhœa. Don't lose sleep—anticipate such contigences by always keeping handy a bottle of Polson's Nerviline. Just a few drops in water taken inwardly, then rub the little one's stomach with a little Nerviline, and perfect rest is assured for the night for both mother and baby. You may not need Nerviline often but when you need it you need it badly. Get a 25c bottle to-day.

COOK CHARGES DEAD.

STEEL RAIL CONTRACT DEBATE.

Another Exhaustive Discussion in the House—Nearing the End—Nearly All the General Estimates Passed—The Printing Bureau—Necessity for Extensive Improvements—Report Was Concurred In.

Ottawa, May 16.—The utter collapse of the Cook charges was made strikingly manifest yesterday afternoon in the Senate. Sir Mackenzie Bowell, as Chairman of the Committee of Investigation, presented a printed copy of the evidence taken and the arguments of counsel, and pointed out that no comments were offered, but each reader was left to make his own deductions. This was all Sir Mackenzie Bowell had to say, and the evidence was received without discussion. The Conservative Senator, Hon. Mr. Macdonald, made the candid admission, "That's the last of Mr. Cook," and with this observation the case was relegated to the obscurity which it deserves.

Telephone Bill Withdrawn.

Hon. Mr. Kirchhoffer announced the withdrawal of the Bell Telephone bill. The reasons advanced were the vote of the previous day, which revealed strong opposition to the bill, and the lateness of the session. Mr. Kirchhoffer said the opposing parties were not so far apart but that an amicable arrangement might be come to during the recess.

The Speaker announced the call to the Senate of Mr. A. A. M. Dechene.

The bill concerning the salaries of judges was reported without amendment.

The bill to amend the Criminal Code having reference to lotteries was read a third time and passed.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell moved that the report of the Cook Committee be received. It would be observed, he said, that the committee reported the evidence and the addresses of counsel, leaving each reader to make his own deductions.

The motion was adopted.

STEEL RAIL CONTRACT.

Another Exhaustive Discussion in the House of Commons—Nearing the End of the Session.

Ottawa, May 16.—In presenting the report of the Printing and Parliament Committee at yesterday morning's session of the House, Mr. Parmelee of Shefford in the course of his speech mentioned that 108 tons of type were tied up by the keeping of voters' lists standing. A forty minute debate followed, which was participated in by Mr. Legris, the Premier, Marcil of Bonaventure, Holme, E. F. Clarke, T. B. Flint and Clarke Wallace endorsed the report and urged the Government to place a sum in the estimates to make the proposed extensions to the building, in order that the requirements of the public service might be better met than they are at present. The report was concurred in.

Among the questions answered was one by Mr. Smith of Wentworth, who was informed that $2,500 has been voted toward the erection of a monument to commemorate the British victory at Stony Creek.

In answer to Mr. Clarke, the Premier said a protest had been received from the United Empire Loyalists against the erection of a monument to the memory of General Montgomery.

The Minister of Militia also informed Mr. Clarke that the long service decoration and medal granted to the Canada militia is conferred by the Imperial Government, and that there has been no unnecessary delay in issuing the medals.

Victoria Day.

Replying to Dr. Horner, the Premier stated that it was the hope of the Government that prorogation would take place before 24th May, but if, unfortunately, it should not, it is the intention of the Government to ask His Excellency to give special consent to the bill to establish Victoria Day a statutory holiday, so that the day may be observed this year as a holiday.

The Steel Rail Contract.

After lunch the consideration of the estimates of the Department of Railways and Canals was resumed. Mr. Haggart complained that the contract with the Clergue Company, which the Minister of Railways had now laid on the table, differed entirely from that which was first given to the House by the Minister, inasmuch as it was simply a contract for 25,000 tons of rails, and no more. The contract which was first submitted to the Clergue Company and which was signed by the President was for 25,000 tons each year for five years.

Mr. Blair repeated the explanation given by him at a previous sitting in reference to the matter. The order in Council, as he had already explained, authorized a specific contract for 25,000 tons only, with the understanding that new contracts would be made for each of the four successive years at prices prevailing in the British market during the previous year. A contract which had been prepared and sent to Mr. Clergue for signature without being first submitted to him was not in accordance with the terms of the order in Council. The revised contract, now laid on the table, was, he said, as it should have been in the first place, and Mr. Clergue had accepted it. He admitted that there was a moral obligation on the part of the Government to take 25,000 tons of rails for four successive years, providing the company was prepared to supply them at market prices.

Mr. Haggart insisted that it was virtually a contract for 125,000 tons of rails, and asked what had become of the other two companies with which Mr. Blair stated last session he was negotiating. Mr. Blair said he must have been misunderstood, as no other company had ever made any proposition to furnish rails.

Mr. Osler, discussing the question of purchasing steel rails, said it would be absurd for the Government to go into the market now to buy rails for delivery within two or three months.

Mr. Blair expressed his satisfaction at the admission made by Mr. Osler, who, with other members of the Opposition, in discussing the contract, had previously quoted the price of rails in November as showing that the bargain made three months before was a bad one. This admission of Mr. Osler was a complete vindication of the course he had pursued. Only a few days ago a company which had offered to supply rails at $28 per ton withdrew the offer because the price was going up.

Mr. Osler insisted that two days before he made the statement referred to he had seen a contract with the C. P. R. for $25 per ton for steel rails.

Messrs. Paterson, Brock and Fielding continued the debate, and then the estimate was passed.

In view of Thursday being a holiday, the House adjourned at midnight, after having made good progress with the supplementary estimates for the coming fiscal year.

The supplementaries for the current year have been adopted, and but one item of the main estimates has been held over for general discussion.

Prospects of Prorogation.

Ottawa, May 16.—Prorogation before Victoria Day now seems reasonably certain. All of the estimates, except the supplementaries for 1902 and a blue book estimate for the coming year held for general discussion, have been passed. The railway subsidies will be taken up on Friday. To-day being Ascension Day, the House will not sit.

Old Soldier's Experience.

(Special to The Examiner.)

London, May 16.—King Edward, who was born Nov. 9, 1841, has decided that his birthday shall be celebrated on May 24th of each year, thus continuing the holiday hitherto observed by all the public departments, on Queen Victoria's birthday, and giving an impetus to the colonial movement to observe the date as Empire Day.

DESTROYING TREES.

Boys Have Been Undoing the Work of the Horticultural Society.

The members of the Horticultural Society have complained to the police that the young trees in Central Park are being destroyed through branches being broken off them by the boys.

Though everyone would deprecate seeing Central Park turned into a place of flower beds and delicate turf on which the boys could not play, still the planting of trees on certain portions of it and the grading of the portions immediately adjacent to the street is to be commended, and any attempt to destroy trees should meet with the promptest kind of punishment.

REV. DR. SYMONDS' RESIGNATION

Will be Duly Dealt with on Monday Night.

An informal meeting of a few of the office holders of St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, was held last night to deal in a preliminary manner with the resignation of Rev. Dr. Symonds, who has been offered the position of principal of Trinity College School, Port Hope.

The churchwardens were present, and they announced that they had received the resignation of their Rector.

It was decided to call a general meeting of the congregation for Monday evening, at which the matter will be finally disposed of.

Rev. Dr. Symonds has been rector of St. Luke's for about nine years, and during that time he has greatly endeared himself to the hearts of his people.

CAPSIZED ON RICE LAKE.

Occupants of a Yacht Just Rescued in Time

On Sunday while Mr. Douglas Simpson, of Birdsall, accompanied by Mr. Breen, was out sailing on Rice Lake in a yacht, the boat capsized, throwing the occupants into the water. Had it not been for the timely assistance rendered by Masters Willie Copperthwaite and Johnny Bettes, there is little doubt but the accident would have terminated fatally as the lake was very rough and the water cold. Great credit is due these two lads, who at the risk of their lives, although only in a canoe, rescued the shipwrecked crew.

FOR HIS EMPLOYEES.

Mr. J. B. Grafton, the senior member of the firm of Grafton & Co., of Dundas, has forwarded to the local Y.M.C.A., a cheque to provide membership tickets for all the men employed in the Peterborough branch of that firm.

Mr. Grafton has also provided tickets in like manner to the men in the other branches.

This action on the part of an employer showing his appreciation of the work of the Y.M.C.A. as a factor in the development of men, is worthy of imitation by business men generally.

THEY WANT A NEW BAND.

The Citizens of Lindsay Have Taken the Matter in Hand—A New Leader.

Lindsay citizens are determined to have a band that will be a credit to their town. The recent visit of the 57th Regimental Band to the Scugog town appears to have inspired the citizens in this line. A public meeting was held on Tuesday night, when the matter of organizing a band was fully discussed. The town council will assume the financial responsibility and engage a competent band master. Here is what one of the speakers, Mr. B. Dingle, said in this regard:

"There is a very strong feeling at the present time in favour of having a creditable band—there never had been such unanimity—and the players should take advantage of it. The committee would engage a leader almost as good as Mr. Gliddon, of Peterborough; no doubt all had heard the band when here. He had been very favourably impressed with the rendition of 'Poet and Peasant'—it had been played in almost faultless style, although a most difficult number. As bands men, those present knew there must be at least 20 players at the start, and that all could not play the same instrument. His experience in orchestra work had taught him that a majority desired to play first violin. The players must be content to take the instrument allotted by the leader."

WEDDING BELLS.

COLLINS—HORCHNER.

The following is clipped from the Merrill, (Wis.) Star. The groom was a former resident of Asphodel:

"At the M. E. parsonage, on Wednesday evening, occurred the marriage of Miss Minnie Horchner, of New Lisbon, to Mr. W. T. Collins of this city, the bride waiving all formalities for that purpose. Mr. and Mrs. Collins have already settled down to housekeeping in the home previously prepared at 509 West Main street. Mr. Collins is an industrious, energetic young man, and is employed by the Wright Lumber Co.

After the ceremony the couple drove to the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Herman Bauman, 310 Riverside Avenue where a few of the most intimate friends were present. That every day may be May Day with them is the wish of the Star and all of their friends."

SHARPE—STEWART.

A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Stewart, Hastings, on Wednesday, May 8th, when their daughter, Edith, was united in marriage with Mr. Wm. Sharpe, of Westwood The ceremony was performed on the lawn by the Rev. D. A. Thompson at 3 p.m., in the presence of intimate relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The bride was assisted by her cousin Miss M. Shearer, while Mr. Jas. Sharpe, brother of the groom, performed the duties of groomsman.

The bride was prettily attired in white organdie, trimmed with lace and insertion, and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid was also dressed in white organdie, and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

After the ceremony the guests sat down to a sumptuous tea, after which followed the usual congratulations and admiration of the many beautiful presents, which signified the popularity of the bride.

LACROSSE.

That Manager Taylor, of the Vatican lacrosse club, has every reason to be confident of putting forth a very speedy aggregation of lacrosse players, was clearly demonstrated last night and previous nights' practices. Every player of last year's speedy twelve is on deck, with a few of the best of last year's Juniors, such as Vic. Hamilton, Geo. Mein, Oliver Dusty, and the veteran goal keeper of 1899, Dick Boyle, of South African fame. Although absent from the lacrosse field for one year, still Dick is better than better. Little Jimmie O'Brien is not showing up in very good form yet. He is very nervous, but a few good practices may bring him into line. Jim Anglesy, the sturdy defence player is unable to turn out yet still in a week or two he will be into the game again. He will certainly be missed, and a better defence man is hard to find. He is a good stick handler and a clever player, with lots of sand. He is in the game from start to finish. Remedy Dorris is going to turn out along with a few others. Dorris is a graduate of last year's Sudbury team, and is a cracker-jack. COM.

HASTINGS' ROMANCE.

Would-be Elopers Captured and Put in the Cells.

(Hastings Star.)

A little excitement was created in town on Friday, when it was known that Constable Wright had captured a man and woman at the station and lodged them in the "cooler." The man, Levi Palmateer, hails from Morganston, and the woman, his niece, Grace Palmateer, from near Dartford.

It appears that the man, accompanied by his wife, drove to Warkworth on Friday, and after placing his trunk on the Hastings stage bade his wife good bye and started for Hastings, she thinking that he was going to the States or to the Soo to find work. After going about half a mile he suddenly remembered that he had forgotten something, and getting out he walked back, the stage proceeding on its way. On reaching Warkworth Palmateer hired a rig and sent to Norham for a gentlemen friend, and the two started for Hastings. At Dartford corners the friend went alone to the home where the niece was working and getting her, journeyed on to Hastings, picking Palmateer up at the corners. But alas! suspicious woman. The wife through some means, got wind of the game and beat the would-be elopers to Hastings and called on our constable. The trio put up at one of the town hotels and when the evening train pulled in at 7.55 Mr. and Miss Palmateer were ready to depart. The constable at this juncture stepped in, and, through instructions from Mrs. Palmateer, placed the two under arrest. They were taken to the "cooler" and on Saturday evening the man was taken to Castleton and appeared before Magistrate Miller who remanded him. The woman was taken out on Sunday evening, when a settlement agreeable to all, was made. The man left on Monday for the States and the woman has promised to live a better life.

Mrs. Wallace, one of our oldest residents, passed away to her eternal rest on Sunday afternoon, at the advanced age of 81 years. She was buried on Tuesday afternoon in the Lakefield cemetery, her funeral being largely attended by both relatives and friends. Rev. E. J. Bridgeman, assisted by Rev. C. A. Campbell, conducted the funeral service. One daughter and four sons mourn her loss, viz.—Mrs. McIntyre, Toronto; Messrs. Samuel and Thomas Wallace, Lakefield; Mr. George Wallace, Winnipeg, and Mr. W. Wallace and daughters, Mr. and Miss Aldridge, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Fitzgerald, and Mr. T. E. Fitzgerald, of Peterborough.

The regular meeting of the council was held in the Town Hall. All the members were present, Reeve Fitzgerald in the chair. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

The Finance Committee presented their report, recommending payment of a number of small accounts, which on motion was adopted.

The Roads and Sidewalks Committee presented their report, recommending a number of repairs on the streets. The matter was laid over until the next meeting.

Mr. Kilbourn addressed the Council re the building of a drain from the river through Mr. J. P. Strickland's lot, and sinking two or three tanks through the swamp for fire protection for that portion of the village east of the railway track. The subject will be looked into and the cost taken into consideration.

Mr. David Darling addressed the council re the separating of Douro from our school section, but as a petition had not been presented from the required number of ratepayers, no action could be taken. The matter was referred to the village solicitor for advice.

The date of the Court of Revision was fixed for Tuesday, May 28th, at 8 o'clock.

A motion was passed calling the attention of the G. T. R. authorities to the fact that the present station buildings were inadequate to the requirements of the largely increased traffic at this point. Also that it would be expedient for the G.T.R. to build a sidewalk from Queen street to the station.

A READABLE BOOK.

"The Observations of Henry" may be a dry-sounding and unpromising title for a book from which to expect very interesting and entertaining reading, nevertheless it is the name of a book by Jerome K. Jerome, issued by the Copp Clark Company, Toronto, which consists of a series of four most readable short stories, purporting to be the result of the observation of Henry, a London waiter, of the character and adventures of many of the persons, with whom he came in contact in his professional capacity. The stories are told with a racy vigour of style, which combined with clever character sketching incidental to the narrative, enlists the reader's attention very deeply. The stories are brightened with several full-page illustration plates in colours.

WEAKNESS

OF MEN AND WOMEN

Could we read the hearts of every man we meet, what a load of sorrow and despair would be disclosed. Indiscretions and Blood Diseases have caused more physical and mental wrecks than all other causes combined. They strike at the foundation of manhood; they sap the vital forces; they undermine the system, and not only do they often disrupt the family circle, but they may even extend their poisonous fangs into the next generation. If you have been a victim of early sinful habits, remember the seed is sown, and sooner or later you will reap a harvest. If your blood has been diseased from any cause do not risk a return later on. Our New Method Treatment will positively cure you and you need never fear any return of the disease. We will give you a guarantee bond to that effect. We would warn you sincerely against the promiscuous use of mercury, which does not cure blood poison but simply suppresses the symptoms.

WE CURE OR NO PAY.

Don't Let your Life be Drained Away, which weakens the intellect as well as the body. There is no room in this world for mental, physical or sexual dwarfs. Our New Method Treatment will Stop all Unnatural Losses, Purify the Blood, Strengthen the Nerves, Restore Vitality, and make a man of you. If you are in trouble, call and consult us. Consultation is Free. We treat and cure Drains, Blood Diseases, Varicocele, Stricture, Unnatural Discharges, Gleet, Kidney and Bladder Diseases. No cutting or operations. No detention from business. A Cure For Loneliness

BY W. R. ROSE

The air was mild and clear. The children frolicked merrily among the trees in the park. The white capped nurses sat on the rustic seats here and there and watched their charges or played with the smaller children who nestled in wicker carriages with gay colored canopies.

On one of the benches not far from the entrance sat an elderly man. He was straight and square shouldered, with a white mustache and grizzled hair and a strong suggestion of early military training. He sat there because he liked to see the children at play. They were better company than his thoughts. Anyway, he had little else to do.

On this particular day he had watched the playful elves as they darted in and out among the trees until he had grown tired. The warm sun made him sleepy. His gray head slowly dropped back, his shoulders found a restful corner of the high backed seat, and presently he was soundly sleeping.

A slight concussion awakened him. He opened his eyes with a little start. The sun was peeping through the foliage, and the rays dazzled him. He tried to raise a hand to draw his soft hat over his eyes and could not. Both hands were pinioned fast. He looked down. A rope was encircling his body and holding his arms fast to his sides. He made an effort to release himself, but without success. He fancied he could sympathize with the feelings of Gulliver when he found the pygmies had caught and bound him. He was sure it was one of the playful fairies whom he had watched so many times among the trees. He was right. A child's laughter broke on his ears. His captor was close behind him.

"Aha," he said in what was intended for a very gruff voice, "are you there? Unhand me at once or tremble for the consequences!"

The cord—it was a child's skipping rope—was rapidly drawn from about his waist, and a moment later its owner danced in front of him.

She was a little girl of possibly 7, though at times her varying expressions made her seem much older. Her hair floated about her head in careless waves and tendrils, her eyes were gray and deep, her mouth was small and beautifully shaped, and there was a saucy upward tilt to her short nose.

"Pooh, pooh," she said, with a mocking courtesy, "I ain't a bit afraid of you!"

"And why not?" the old man asked. She was a charming fairy, a natural little coquette, and her every move was full of a subtle grace. "And why are you not afraid of such a gray old mustache as I am?" he asked again as she pirouetted before him.

"Because you are my grandfather," she carelessly answered.

The old man's face darkened.

"What do you mean by that nonsense?" he harshly asked.

"'Tain't nonsense," said the little maiden, "unless grandfathers is nonsense. Anyway, you're my grandfather." And she started to leave him.

"Wait," he cried. "Come here. What did you mean by saying I am your grandfather? Do you call every old man you see grandfather?"

"No," said the child. "Only you."

He studied her face sharply.

"Come a little closer," he said in coaxing tones. She marched boldly up to him. Her little hand flew up and touched the front of her cap.

"That's the way to salute a soldier," she said, with a merry laugh. "Mamma said you was one."

He caught his breath.

"Perhaps," he slowly said, "you can even tell me my name?"

"Yes, I can," replied the child. "It's easy. Your name is Philip. An now guess what mine is."

"Is—is it Mary?" he gently asked.

"No," laughed the child. "That's mamma's. Mine is most like yours. It's Philippa."

"Is your mother here, child?" he suddenly asked. "Is she lurking about among the trees?"

"Who? Do you mean mamma?" cried the child. "She isn't here. She hasn't no time for trees. She's always too busy. Didn't you know she paints? Yes; she paints lovely little pictures. Minichoors she calls them. They're pictures of people, don't you know, only much prettier. But sometimes people don't pay very quick, an sometimes they think mamma charges too much, an sometimes she doesn't have any pictures to do. Then, you know, it's pretty hard to have the landlord call. I guess you know how that is."

"And where is your father?" and the old man's voice suddenly grew hard.

"He's deaded in Callyforny," said the child. "He was an actor, you know; a stage actor. I don't 'member him very well. I was too little when he went away. I've tried to act, too, but Delia, that's the janitor's wife, she says I can't act for shucks."

"Good thing," muttered the old man.

"Well, I don't know," said the child. "You see, I wanted to do somethin to help mamma, an if I can't act I don't know what I can do. But I s'pose it's no use. Delia said that as a child wonder I was the wust she ever seen, an Delia goes out a good deal."

A faint smile crossed the old man's stern features.

"And what made you think that I am your grandfather?" he asked.

"Oh, Marie Kramer told me!" replied the child. "She knows everybody. She's lived out more places. She's Bessie Leighton's nurse now, an just as soon as she saw you sittin here one day she said, 'There's old Colonel Robson.' She knew you 'cause you used to go to the Brobsons, where she was livin then. An pretty soon she looked at me an said, 'Why, he's your grandfather, ain't he?' An I said I didn't know, an she thought it out an said, 'Yes, he is, 'cause your mamma is his daughter, an she ran away with a play actor, an the old bunks shut his door on her forever.' That's what Marie said. An when I went home I said to Delia, 'My grandfather's sittin over there in the park, an he's the lonesomest lookin thing.' An Delia says: 'If he's settin in the park, he's either a tramp or a millunaire. If he's a tramp, you must keep away from him, but if he's a millunaire you want to rope him in.' An when I looked at you again I saw you didn't look like a tramp, an so I thought I'd take my chances an rope you in, an that's just what I did."

"And your mother knows nothing about my being here?" the old man asked.

"Yes, she does," replied the child. "I told her, an she looked so queer, an her face got red, an she said: 'Philippa, dear, it may not be your grandfather. But anyway you mustn't speak to him unless he speaks to you first.' An I made you speak to me first, didn't I?"

The old man leaned back and looked at the child.

"Philippa," he said slowly, "how would you like to come and live with me? You would have your own beautiful room, and all the playthings you could want, and somebody to wait on you, and a pony to drive, and everything that could make a little girl happy."

"An would mamma come, too?" the child asked.

The old man shook his head.

"I'd like the room," said the child, "an the pony an all the rest, but I guess I'd be too lonesome without mamma."

"But you'd have me," urged the old man.

"We'd be just two lonesome ones together," said the child. Then she added, "If you knew mamma, you'd see how it is."

"Perhaps I am beginning to see," said the old man softly.

"I'll tell you what we'll do," cried the child. "You can borrow me. How's that?"

"It sounds well," said the old man. "How must I set about it?"

"Oh, it's easy," replied the child. "You just come to our flat an send up your card, an then mamma will whistle down an say, 'Please come up.' Then you go up, an I'm there, an I say, 'Mr. Grandpapa, this is mamma.' Then you bow an say, 'Pleased to know you,' an mamma says, 'Where have I seen you before?' an then you say, 'Can I borrow your charmin daughter for the rest of the day?' for you've come very early in the mornin, you know, an mamma says, 'Have you any s'curity for the rent—I mean for the child?' an you say, 'Oh, yes; indeed I have,' an then you put up a silver quarter for s'curity an take me, an we go away somewhere an have a splendid time together an get home when it's real dark, an mamma is gettin fidgety. I'd like to see that house of yours an that room an those ponies. We ought to get better acquainted—we ought to, really."

"Do you think your mamma would paint my portrait?" he asked.

"She'd be real pleased to," said the child. "An I'd get the commission, too, wouldn't I? She told me if I got any orders I'd get the commission. You're my order, ain't you?"

"Yes," said the old man as he slowly arose. "Come, we will go and seek your mother. I must get that picture before I grow any older—and before your mamma's memory quite outgrows the reminiscences of her childhood. Come, Philippa."

And hand in hand they passed down the graveled walk and through the big gates and presently found themselves in front of the huge apartment house that the lonesome Philippa called home.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Royalty's Flowers.

Queen Victoria was passionately fond of lilies of the valley, and no bouquet for her acceptance was deemed complete without the fragrant white bells, with their leaves of harmonious green twinkling somewhere in its composition. But she was also extremely fond of violets. This liking several of her descendants have.

The Empress Frederick, the queen's oldest daughter, when she was younger, always needed a bunch of fresh English violets to wear if they could possibly be procured, averring that no perfume was ever so sweet as theirs.

The Empress Eugenie in her palmy days of triumphant beauty was also passionately fond of the lovely purple flowers.

The Princess of Wales, now Victoria's successor as queen, loves flowers and has almost invariably been seen with a bunch of violets or lilies of the valley fastened to her gown. A spray of the latter relieved the somber effect of her beautiful dark sables when she went to welcome Lord Roberts at Paddington.

The Druggists are Busy.

Druggists report great demand for the new 25c cent size of Catarrhozone, and today's sales almost cleared out their stock. They explain this rapid run on Catarrhozone by the fact that it gives better satisfaction than any other remedy on the market. Druggists say that Catarrhozone is the only remedy that really does cure Catarrh, Bronchitis and Asthma. It relieves quickly, is pleasant and convenient to use, and guaranteed to cure or your money refunded. Readers suffering from Irritable Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, etc., are strongly advised to try Catarrhozone. It never fails to cure even the worst cases.

Dry Rot in the Pulpit.

The "unkindest cut of all" among unintentional sayings capable of a satirical application was that of an old pew opener in a southern county. She was in attendance on the rector, the church wardens and a city architect down with a view to church restoration. Said the architect, poking the woodwork with his cane, "There's a great deal of dry rot in these pews, Mr. Rector." Before the latter could reply the old woman cut in with, "But, law, sir, it ain't nothink to what there is in the pulpit."

The Kidneys and the Skin.

In the spring, the kidneys have much to do. If they are weak or torpid, they will not do it well, and the skin will be pimply or blotchy. That is telling the story in a few words.

Hood's Sarsaparilla strengthens and stimulates the kidneys, cures and prevents pimples, blotches and all cutaneous eruptions.

WOMAN AND HOME.

MRS. EVELYN SMITH, KEEPER OF A RHODE ISLAND PRISON.

Royal Needlewomen—Right Kind of Exercise—How to Treat a Mother-in-law—Wedding Colors and Superstitions—Royalty's Flowers.

The only woman jailer in the New England states and one of the very few in the whole world is Mrs. Evelyn Smith, in charge of the Kent county jail in Greenwich, R. I. Mrs. Smith is a widow, and her husband, Jotham S. Smith, kept the same jail before her. In fact the jail has been in the custody of the family for more than half a century, and Mrs. Smith herself has been the jailer for the past 21 years.

It is a modern institution at the present time, and with its steam heat, its electric lights and its fire and burglar proof walls and ceilings it ranks well with the best in the whole country, although it is limited in its capacity to the requirements of the county. Ordinarily there are half a dozen prisoners in the jail in her charge, but she has as many as twice that number at times, and she has never had a revolt nor a general conspiracy to break jail.

Only on one occasion have any escaped, and then the new jail was not ready for occupancy. Before the walls were sufficiently hardened two sailboat thieves were given into her custody, and they dug their way out one night, and nothing has ever been seen of them since, whereat the state authorities expressed their satisfaction at their permanent departure for other climes.

Mrs. Smith is an amiable, a motherly, an honest and a resolute woman. If she lacked courage, she would not be the successful jaileress she has been during the past twenty odd years. She treats her prisoners well, and they return her kindness by behaving themselves at least while they remain in the Kent county jail.

She does not know exactly why the men prisoners placed in her custody are so mild under her care, but she has often seen big strapping fellows come to the jail in the custody of three or four officers and handcuffs were on the prisoners. Frequently there would be a big fight just outside of the jail, when the final struggle would be made.

As soon as that man was landed inside of the jail she would say, "He is my prisoner now, and he can be taken care of without further trouble," and Mrs. Smith would accompany him to the corridor alone and place him in a cell. A few words from her were generally sufficient to make the prisoner behave himself.

"How do you do this?" Mrs. Smith was asked.

"Well, I don't exactly know, except it is that a man has more respect for a woman than he has for a man. There have been lots of tough and hardened men in the jail since I first came here, and they have behaved themselves very well. A little civility goes a great way, and with a fair degree of treatment the prisoners soon like to keep the jail orderly, and they thereby secure all the more liberty and privileges. That means a great deal to them when they are confined behind the bars."

The population of Kent county, in which is the jail kept by Mrs. Smith, is about 50,000, and the prisoners are brought from a large area of the country districts, reaching from the west shore of Narragansett bay to the Connecticut state line. The county comprises the towns of East Greenwich, Warwick, Coventry and West Greenwich.—Boston Globe.

Royal Needlewomen.

In the course of an article in The Quiver on the subject of "Royal Needlewomen" the author states: "Queen Elizabeth was as clever with her needle as she was in every other way. In her gloomy and much tried girlhood she embroidered with gold thread the cover of a black letter edition of St. Paul's epistles, which was her daily companion during her residence at Woodstock. A tablecloth that she worked after she became queen is at Penshurst place. A contemporary rhymer wrote that she was 'a needlewoman royal and renowned' and in another flight of verse averred that 'she made the needle her companion still.'

'Catherine de' Medici, the arch plotter and schemer, was very skillful with her hands and used to gather round her her daughters, Claude, Elizabeth and Margaret, and the young dauphiness, Marie Stuart, and with them spend many after dinner hours in silk embroidery. Perhaps the unhappy Mary's taste for needlework dated from those days, for when she came to her own kingdom, far from that 'pleasant land of France,' her industry was remarkable. When she sat daily for several hours in council with her ministers and advisers, a little sandalwood table holding her workbasket was always placed by her chair of state, and she stitched diligently while she talked and listened. It was a habit that stood her in good stead, for practically her one occupation during the long after years of her captivity was needlework. Sir William Drummond, the bard of Hawthornden, writing to Ben Jonson, says:

"'I have been curious to find out for you the imprexas and emblems on a bed of state wrought and embroidered all over with silk and gold by the late Queen Mary, mother to our sacred sovereign. The first is the loadstone swimming toward the pole, the word, her majesty's name turned into an anagram, "Marie Stuarta sa vertu m'attire," which is not much inferior to "veritas armata" (armed truth), which is likewise meant as an anagram on Marie Stuarta. * * * With the word "undique" (on every side) added, it would signify that through the cross she was armed at all points.' The remnants of this bed are at Hardwick, whither they were taken from Chatsworth. It is much mutilated by lawless visitors, who have cut out pieces as relics. At Hardwick also are two pictorial tableaux worked by Mary in tent stitch. They are about one and a half yards long by three-quarters of a yard high. The front shows Abraham preparing to sacrifice Isaac, and the second the judgment of Solomon. They were discovered by a former duke of Devonshire in an old oaken chest, where they had lain for over two centuries, uninjured by moth or damp and the colors as fresh and bright as when first combined."

The Right Kind of Exercise.

The woman who has "no time for relaxation and systematic exercise" is precisely the woman who most needs to take it. Rest, exercise, diet, amusement and work are of equal importance in the vast scheme of living if one would live sanely—that is, healthfully. The old saying, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," is perfectly true, and that all play and no work has the same effect is equally correct. It is the wise adjustment of the proportion of each that makes for health.

"I get all the exercise I need in going about my household duties," many women assert, but that is the greatest mistake possible. Under ordinary circumstances a few sets of muscles are called into activity, and the mind at the same time is fully occupied. For physical exercise to be helpful the mind should be at rest. A walk of 20 minutes' duration in the open air is an absolute daily necessity and should be at a reasonably brisk pace. Deep breathing should be practiced on these walks until it becomes a fixed habit. A good plan is to inhale slowly while taking seven steps, then exhale during seven. The mental application soon ceases to be necessary and the walker almost unconsciously breathes in this way. Deep breathing is helpful in cases of insomnia also.

The average woman takes too little care of her health until she loses it, and then she takes too much care of it with tonics and nostrums. She drinks two or three cupfuls of strong coffee for breakfast, eats meat three times a day, takes cakes and ices ad infinitum and by the time she is 30 or earlier has established a chronic dyspepsia that is guaranteed to last until her death. There are many more illnesses from overeating than from overworking and far greater danger to beauty.—New York Tribune.

How to Treat a Mother-in-law.

Mrs. S. L. Baldwin of Brooklyn, who lived for more than 20 years in China, has completed a translation of the accepted authority on Chinese etiquette written by Lady Tsad of the Han dynasty nearly 18 centuries ago. It contains the following instructions, says the New York Tribune, as to the correct behavior of a wife toward her husband's mother:

When your mother-in-law sits, you should respectfully stand.
Obey quickly her commands.
In the morning early rise
And quietly open the doors,
Making no noise to awaken her;
Her toilet articles hasten to prepare;
Her washbowl and towel,
Her toothbrush and powder,
All bring together.
Let not the water be too cold or too hot
When the mother-in-law awakens.
All these things respectfully present to her;
Then immediately retire to one side
Until her toilet is completed.
Then approach and present the morning salutations;
Again retire and prepare her tea.
Quickly and cheerfully carry it to her,
After which the breakfast table arrange,
Place the spoons and chopsticks straight,
The rice cook soft and
Let the meat be thoroughly done.
From ancient days until now
Old people have had sick teeth;
Therefore, let not the food be so dry
That your mother-in-law
With labor vainly eats.
Daily the three meals
Thus carefully prepare.
When darkness comes
And your great one (mother-in-law) desires to sleep,
Carefully for her spread the bed,
When she may peacefully rest,
And you may retire to your room,
Following these instructions,
All your superiors will praise you;
All that know you will esteem you as good.

Wedding Colors and Superstitions.

The custom for a bride to be dressed all in white is one that is common to many countries and is followed even among the fair little maidens of Japan, and with them, as with us, the custom has been handed down from very ancient times, as has also that of having wedding cake, wedding favors and bridesmaids, while the wearing of the bridal veil is said to have originated with the old Anglo-Saxons, among whom it was the custom to hold a veil over both bride and bridegroom.

There used to be many superstitions in connection with the colors worn at a wedding, and at one time it was considered almost as unlucky to wear green as to wear black, and there were many brides who would as soon have done without the attendance of their bridesmaids as have them dressed in green or even yellow.

For green is forsaken and yellow forworn.

Blue, however, was a color both good and fortunate for a bride, who, according to an old saying, should on her wedding day, if correctly attired, wear and if the "something old" was not her own, but merely lent for the occasion, it was supposed that it would bring the wearer especial good luck.

Something old and something new,
Something white and something blue,

The "something blue" was generally a blue ribbon, worn as a garter, which small articles of attire seem to have played quite an important and even prominent part at the weddings of olden days, for we read that it was the custom at one time for the bride to wear "a host of gay ribbons" as garters, which after the marriage ceremony was concluded were distributed "among the bridegroom's friends."

An Intoxicating Odor.

Among the peasants of southern Italy, Sicily and Sardinia a curious malady has been noticed by physicians which is caused by eating beans. One of the most remarkable effects of the malady is a species of intoxication resembling that produced by alcoholic drink. In some cases persons predisposed to the malady are seized with the symptoms of intoxication if they pass a field where the bean plant is in flower, the odor alone sufficing to affect them.

Imitations

of Dodd's Kidney Pills are legion. The box is imitated, the outside coating and shape of the pills are imitated and the name—Dodd's Kidney Pills is imitated. Imitations are dangerous. The original is safe. Dodd's Kidney Pills have a reputation. Imitators have none or they wouldn't imitate. So they trade on the reputation of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Do not be deceived. There is only one DODD'S. Dodd's is the original. Dodd's is the name to be careful about—is the sign of life, of vital force, of the force that life has, of the force that life is.

When the red is lacking, life is weak, the spirits are weak, the body is weak.

Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil puts red in the blood and life in the body.

It's the food you can turn into muscle and bone and nerve. It gives you the mastery over your usual food—you want that. What is life worth if you've got to keep dosing yourself as an invalid?

Red in the blood! get red in the blood!

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

AN ODD PARLIAMENT.

A BODY WITH A STRONG FLAVOR OF THE MIDDLE AGES.

In the Mecklenburg Diet the Member With the Loudest Voice and the Most Vigorous Fist Is Entitled to the Floor.

There is hardly anything more antiquated in parliamentary life than the opening of a Mecklenburg diet. Compared with the opening of the reichstag or the Prussian, Saxon or any other diet, all of which are businesslike bodies, it seems as though one had been set back in the middle ages. Agrarian conservatism pure and unadulterated reigns supreme.

To begin with the calling of the session, a more verbose, long winded and antiquated document is not in use in any modern legislative body.

This antediluvian document is sent to the 800 knights and 45 burgomasters, but only 30 or 40 put in their appearance. Judging from the size of the hall of session, both at Sternberg and Malchin, where the sessions are held alternately, this has never been otherwise. Were they all to appear, the hall would not hold half the number.

Only when a measure that may in principle curtail their rights and privileges is on the docket the knights show up long enough to "kill" the bill. This done, they betake themselves again to their estates.

A member of the Mecklenburg diet is not an ordinary mortal. He is not obliged to undergo the ordeal of a political campaign in order to obtain a seat, like deputies in the other German federal states. The ownership of a freehold gives him a seat in the diet. Nor does he forfeit his prerogative by legal offenses which elsewhere deprive the offender of all civil rights and honors. Only in case of bankruptcy and mental depravity must he discontinue the exercise of his rights. Daily allowances are not granted him. However, they are quite unnecessary, as he enjoys a large number of other valuable privileges.

Perhaps the most valuable of these is the one which exempts his estate from the oppressive "canon," or perpetual lease tax, while the copyholder or peasant is groaning under the burden.

After the knights and burgomasters have convened the land marshals inform the commissaries, who represent the grand dukes, that the freeholders have appeared.

The commissaries then proceed with much ceremony to the hall of session, where first the commissary of Mecklenburg-Schwerin and then his colleague from Mecklenburg-Strelitz (both grand duchies have a joint diet) read the old styled summons, after which it is handed to the marshal. The capita, also drawn up in the sixteenth century court style, enumerates the business which the college of serenissimos has selected for the deliberations, including also the petitions that have been received.

Parliamentary rules do not exist.

The presiding knight is perfectly free to take up any bill he chooses, and only rarely, that is in important matters, has the subject been discussed in committee before reaching the house.

The knights divide all business into two classes, styling the one "indifferent matters," the other "matters pertaining to the prerogatives of the knighthood." As only the latter really receive the full attention of the knights they are, upon the whole, the representatives of their own interests.

In case the minority, that is, the 45 burgomasters, as against the 800 knights, wishes to defeat a measure, the two parties, the knights and the burgomasters, give their formal statements, whereupon the matter is placed upon the table. The minority prefers this absurdity to a joint ballot in which it would be overwhelmed.

The general order prevailing in the Mecklenburg diet has become proverbial throughout the German empire, and the subject of much ridicule and comment. The tumultuous scenes that often take place remind one of the former Polish diet.

Rules for the floor do not exist. Twenty-seven members may speak simultaneously as long as they please without being called to order by the chairman; nor is it necessary to be granted the right of the floor by the chairman in order to make a speech. He who has the strongest voice and can stand pounding on the desk longest prevails.

There is one advantage in the Mecklenburg methods, they expedite matters immensely, still leaving every member an opportunity for the full expression of his opinion.

Mecklenburg has no constitution in the modern sense of the word. The absolute rights of the duchy are limited only by a knighthood. A popular representation, as in all the other German states, cannot be spoken of.

Two-fifths of the country, which is directly subject to the grand dukes, has no representation at all. One-fifth is made up of the cities which are represented in the diet by the burgomasters. As, however, the latter receive their appointment from the government without any previous consultation of the wishes of the cities, they are creatures of the grand dukes. The remaining two-fifths are composed of the knighthood, with 1,020 estates owned by 800 knights.

The affairs of the government are conducted in a most arbitrary manner.

In Mecklenburg-Strelitz the state's budget is never published for the information of the people. The taxpayers are left entirely in the dark as to the receipts and expenditures of the government.

The agricultural conditions are without their equal anywhere. No one is permitted to dispose at will of his real property, nor to divide a farm which exceeds in size two hides. The peasants can at best rent the land, for which they must pay a rent tax into the grand duke's treasury.

TALES OF CITIES.

It is estimated that the dense fog in London costs the city from $250,000 to $500,000 daily in the matter of bills for gas and electricity.

The climate of New York is abating. The Central park meteorological observatory has records covering a period of 32 years, and these give strong evidence that the winters are growing milder.

Sheffield, Ala., has passed a curfew law stipulating that it shall be unlawful for any child under the age of 15 years to idle or loiter upon the streets or in any store or other public place within the city after the hour of 8 p. m. without the written permission of his parent or guardian.

THE SCHOOLHOUSE.

The world depends on its school children.

The teachers are the guardians of a state.

A town which has no school should be abolished.

The world is only saved by the breath of the school children.

Even for the rebuilding of the temple the instruction of the children must not be interrupted.

If you interrupt your studies for one day, it will take you two to make up what you have lost.—Wit and Wisdom of the Talmud.

Actors Who Stutter.

It would seem that the stage is not only the last profession that would be chosen by a person afflicted by stuttering, but that a stutterer would never dream of selecting that profession. Yet it is a fact that some well known actors and singers labor under this disadvantage.

The strangest thing about it is that the sad impediment which is so painfully evident in private life seems to vanish entirely when they are on the boards.

It is curious that appearance on the stage or in the pulpit should have this beneficial effect, for stutterers in other walks of life do not lose their impediment when at work, however enthusiastic their love for their profession.—London Answers.

Victoria Got Her Primroses.

"The following little anecdote, told by Queen Victoria herself, will show her independence of character," says a writer in The Century. "Very fond of primroses and finding none in the royal gardens, she sent word to have some planted. The gardeners, the queen said, made many objections, and, finding shortly afterward that her wishes had not yet been carried out, she dispatched a messenger inquiring the reason. 'I suppose Queen Anne had none,' she said, 'so they did not think it proper for me to have any. But I sent them word promptly that Queen Victoria would have some—and she did.'"

A Financial Quicksand.

"Would you like an increase of salary, Mr. Smith?"

"No; it's no use."

"No use?"

"If I had more money, I'd have to pay more debts."

Weary Brain Workers

Fagged out, ideas come as slowly as molasses. You think of things just a minute or two too late. Snap's gone! The buoyancy that made work a pleasure—that's gone too. The doctor would tell you that you are run down, not eating enough nor digesting enough. Your blood needs aid, your digestion needs a tracer too. Your blood requires Phosphorus and Iron that it may be formed readily. Now Ferrozone is a wonderful nerve bracer and blood maker. It's food for the blood and nerves, it will make you strong quickly and permanently. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

DR. BYLES STOOD GUARD.

It Was a Thanksgiving Day, and the Cause Was Urgent.

One of the most famous of the old Puritan divines was Dr. Mather Byles, who was born in Boston in 1706 and who was the first pastor of the Hollis Street Congregational church, to which he ministered for more than 40 years.

Dr. Byles was famous as a humorist and wit, and innumerable anecdotes are related of his clever quips and retorts. He was a zealous Tory and warmly advocated the cause of "the mother country" against the colonies. In November, 1777, he was arrested as a Tory, tried, convicted and sentenced to be confined on board a guard ship and sent to England with his family within 40 days. The sentence was afterward commuted by the board of war to confinement in his own house, a guard being placed over him with instructions not to permit him to leave his residence for a moment under any circumstances.

On Thanksgiving morning, observing that the sentinel, who, like many of the colonial soldiers, was a simple rustic, had disappeared and that Dr. Byles himself was pacing up and down before his own door with a musket on his shoulder, the neighbors crossed the street to inquire the cause of this singular spectacle.

"You see," said Dr. Byles, "I begged my guard to let me go out to procure some cider with which myself and family might celebrate Thanksgiving day, but he would not permit me to stir. I argued the point with him, and he has now gone to get the cider for me on condition that I keep guard over myself during his absence."

SCHNEIDER The Jeweler

A MERCHANT KILLED

And Two Other Albany Citizens Fatally Wounded.

SHOT BY SOLDIERS IN STREET.

Militia Had Orders to Fire if Assaulted, and They Carried Them Out—Hundreds of Broken Faces and the Whole City Wrought Up to Excited Frenzy—Conference Fruitless.

Albany, May 17.—One man dead, two fatally wounded in hospitals, hundreds of others with broken and wrecked faces, cars running merely as electric arsenals, with no patrons, the city under martial rule, with its citizens in a frenzy of excitement and the city authorities and leaders of the strikers trying to get the railway company to come to an amicable settlement, was the situation when darkness put an end to the trouble last night in the strike situation.

The list of casualties so far is:

William Marshall, non-union motorman, skull fractured, will die.

William Walsh, merchant, shot by National Guard, dead.

Leroy Smith, merchant, shot by National Guard, fatally wounded.

Gilbert Hall, non-union motorman, shot by mob, will recover.

George Booze, citizen, cheek ripped open by bayonet.

William Rooney, citizen, shot by National Guard, not seriously.

Non-union motormen, Monahan, James Glynn, Frank Flint, Ernest Mores, Thomas Kelly, James Murphy, Michael Smullin, Michael Curtin, Charles Jennings, Myron Walk, Michael Kelly, Stephen O'Hare were all badly cut and bruised by rocks thrown by strikers.

Trooper F B Harrington and Trooper Walter Van Guyshing of the Third Signal Corps, wounded with stones.

Hundreds of citizens slightly wounded by flying missiles and bayonets.

Innocent Men Killed.

The bloodshed in Albany came after a day of absolute peace. From early morning the crowds had melted away before bayoneted and shotted guns, cars had been operated under heavy guards, and there was an impression that the spirit of turbulence was waning. Noon had seen the sentries and patrols practically without occupation. Hundreds of them rested for hours on curbs and stairways or mingled in a friendly way in the straggling crowds that lined the sidewalk. There had been some minor demonstrations, particularly in North Albany, but not a shot had been fired, and as the day passed the running of cars attracted but little attention.

The volley fired on Broadway by a squad of 23rd Infantrymen, in which Leroy Smith and Willaim Walsh, well-known citizens, fell mortally wounded, changed all that. It stirred anew the feeling of hatred as the excited tidings swept like a wave through the city, and the guardsmen were bitterly denounced. Neither of the men had been guilty of any act of offence, but were caught in the crowd, some members of which had stoned the guardsmen, and by regrettable mischance were hit. The disturbance was not a serious one, and "murder" is the title applied by inflamed public sentiment to the shooting. The guardsmen seem but to have followed their duty as soldiers, for they were under orders to shoot if assaulted. The bright prospect of a settlement of the strike has not served to allay the growth of vindictive feeling, and if the present situation continues, acts of bitterness and violence may be expected.

The day began with an imposing show of military strength. In the western portion of the city the massing of troops began at 8 o'clock on a plan outlined in official orders from Brig.-General Robert Shaw Oliver, and executed by Brig.-General Barnes. The 23rd Infantry drove back the crowds that surrounded Quail street barn in a series of spirited charges. These rushes were theatrical and exciting, but not especially dangerous. Once the area about the car barn was clear the despatch of detachments to guard the lines during the prospective movement of troops began. Simultaneously Col. Lloyd of the Second Regiment began extending his men southward into the city over Broadway to a junction with the troops from the west at the foot of State street. This movement completed a great right angle with two arms of equal length.

Movement of Cars.

When the defensive lines were completed the movement of cars began from Quail street barn. A car manned by triple crews of non-union men and 10 militiamen was run out first to pick up the first of the wrecked cars stalled in the street. Then another car slid out and picked up the second one, and in quick succession eight other cars were brought out. Lieut.-Col. Brady, with Capt. Hamlin, and all of Company I, of the 23rd, boarded the first car, and in succession all the others were manned with heavy guards. Nettings had been hung down over the sides of most of the cars, but Brady ordered them removed. "Tear them down," he called out. "I don't want the people to think my men are afraid of stones." The traction company's tower wagon and repair wagon fell in behind the procession of cars, and the mounted signal men of the 3rd Brigade, acting as cavalrymen, divided into two troops and surrounded the wagons. The men had orders to fire if assaulted and sat with their rifles ready for action.

Lieut.-Col. Brady, clinging to the front rail of the first car, gave the word to start, and the electric cars went humming and buzzing up the street with the cavalry clattering along behind. It was the effort upon which the Traction Company had centered its every resource, and the guardsmen viewed it as the most serious undertaking of the strike campaign. Trouble seemed inevitable, and the spirit of the enterprise thrilled every man who participated in it. But there was no trouble. The cars charged down over the hill past the capitol at high speed, and spun around into Broadway for the run north toward Troy, and met no opposition. There were men in the crowd who viewed the partial triumph of the Traction people with unconcealed hatred, but the militia arm was too strong for resistance. Men and women cursed and jeered the strike-breakers and soldiers as they dashed past, and there were some small individual clashes between pickets and excited strike sympathizers, but the main movement was executed without a single serious row.

It was on the final run of the group of soldier-laden cars that the great tragedy of the day occurred. The cars were on Broadway moving northward and a constantly swelling crowd was gathering about Union Depot. Leroy Smith lounged on the steps of his store, William Walsh, his business neighbor from across the street was his immediate companion and a small crowd hung about near them. It was into this crowd that the guardsmen fired at a range of less than 20 feet. Smith and Walsh were both shot in the abdomen and fell where they stood. A third man, William Rooney, was slightly hurt by a glancing bullet. Some of the guards stepped from the car and reloaded their pieces.

The startled crowd fell back at the first shot and a moment later the guards sprang aboard the car and were rapidly wheeled from the scene. Smith and Walsh were hurried away to hospitals for surgical cares and the angry mob swarmed into the street to curse and denounce the guardsmen.

Leroy Smith is a member of the shoe manufacturing firm of Smith & Herrick and a citizen of wealth, respectability and prominence. He is a member of the Albany Club and a whist expert of National reputation. He is 50 years age and has a family. One of his sons serves with the Signal Corps of the Third Brigade and was in the scrimmages that occurred last evening after the arrival of the second batch of non-union men.

Walsh is the head of a plumbing house and well known in business circles. His brother, Charles Walsh, is assistant chief of the fire department and is serving with the Tenth Battalion, of which he is a lieutenant, on strike duty. He is the son of a former Republican County Clerk and 26 years old. Neither man had any part other than as a spectator in the demonstration that provoked the shooting.

The rest of the cars made the run to North Albany and back without trouble and when they reached Quail street barn were housed for the night. When the cars were all in the guards in the street were re-called.

SETTLEMENT PROSPECTS.

The Strikers Waived All Demands For the Removal of the Nine Non-Union Men—Mr. Walsh Dead.

Albany, N.Y., May 17.—Five hours of conference last night with all the warring elements represented failed to settle the Albany strike of street railway employes. The strikers waived all demands for the removal of the nine non-union men. The Executive Committee of the United Traction Company will consider the proposition this morning and may accept it and settle the strike.

In the meantime Major-General Roe intends to take every precaution and at midnight ordered out the 9th Regiment of New York, commanded by Col. Morris. It will arrive here this afternoon, 800 strong, and if the strike is not settled will assist in opening up the other lines of the Traction Company in this city.

William Walsh, one of the men wounded by a bullet from a squad of the 23rd Regiment, defending a car, died at 10.45 last night.

Leroy Smith, shot in the same melee, was slightly improved at midnight.

Strike at Kingston.

Kingston, May 17.—Yesterday morning upwards of 200 laborers employed in the locomotive works struck for an advance of 10 cents a day. They have heretofore received $1.20 a day. Two weeks ago they made a demand for the increase. The time limit expired Wednesday night, and an extension of 10 days asked by the company was refused. The strike affects the whole works, and upwards of 400 men are idle.

THE ONTARIO MINES ACT,

Its Constitutionality to Be Tested in the Courts.

Ottawa, May 17.—The Dominion and Ontario Governments have jointly agreed to refer the Mines Act, passed by the Ontario Legislature in 1900, to the courts in order to test its constitutionality. Under this act power is taken to impose a tax of $10 per ton upon ores of nickel, or $60 per ton when such ores are partly treated or reduced, whilst ores of copper and nickel combined are rendered liable to a fine of $7 per ton, or $50 per ton if partly treated or reduced. A strong protest was made to the Dominion Government against the Provincial enactment by an association called the Ontario Miners' Protective Association, on the ground that it was unconstitutional. It was urged that the taxes proposed were in reality export duties on nickel ores, and such were an interference with trade and commerce. The Provincial legislation, it was contended, was ultra vires, and therefore the Federal authorities were asked to disallow it. The twelve months during which the act could be disallowed expires on Saturday, but it has been determined to obtain a decision from the courts in preference to exercising the veto power.

Garrison Up to Full Strength.

Ottawa, May 17.—The Militia Department learns that the third special service battalion at Halifax is now almost up to its full strength. Nearly 500 recruits had to be obtained to replace the soldiers who were discharged in March last, and the former are pronounced to be a superior body of men. It is not known how much longer the Halifax battalion will be required, but the men are only engaged for one year, with the understanding that they may be discharged at any time on receiving a month's pay.

PROBABLE TRAGEDY.

Wm. Hockins, Leslie Druant and Alex. Rae, Who Were Living at Midland, Supposed to Have Drowned.

Midland, Ont., May 17. — Three young men named William Hockins, Leslie Druant and Alex. Rae hired a boat here Saturday afternoon for the purpose of sailing to Victoria Harbor, and they are known to have reached the Harbor and spent some hours there, leaving in the evening for here. This was the last seen of them. On Sunday a boat was found off Midland Point in a badly damaged condition. Since then a hat has been found, but no other trace of the occupants of the boat. It is supposed the boat was upset by a sudden squall, either Saturday night or Sunday. Hockins and Druant are supposed to belong to Meaford, and Rae to Roche's Point, near Barrie. All three had been working here for some time. The authorities of the town are taking the matter up and have notified Meaford.

MURDERED BY HER SCHOOLMATES.

Little Blanche Reynolds Brutally Beaten by Other Girls.

Windsor, May 17.—Blanche Reynolds, daughter of a well-to-do resident of Harbor Beach, Mich., was knocked down and pounded to death by several of her girl schoolmates as she was on her way home Wednesday. Her 9-year-old brother was also attacked and badly injured. So far only one arrest has been made, but others are momentarily expected.

The story of the assault is almost incredible in its brutality. The little girl, while going from school was set upon by a crowd of seven or eight other girls, all older than herself. After being thrown to the ground, the assailants beat their victim with sticks until she had lost consciousness. Then turning their attention to the 9-year-old brother, they beat him cruelly.

Both children were brought home in a terribly exhausted condition. Blanche died shortly afterwards, but regained consciousness long enough to reveal the names of her assailants.

Hattie Harriman is the name of the girl already in custody. She is 14 years old and apparently does not realize the enormity of her crime.

The Reynolds family came to Harbor Beach about three years ago from Toronto, where they are well known.

ADOPT ARMY REFORM

Brodrick's Army Scheme Passed the House of Commons.

NO AMMUNITION BEFORE WAR.

A Statement by Mr. Balfour That Caused a Mild Sensation in the House—Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's Amendment Rejected by 327 to 211—The Government's Majority Was 142.

London, May 17.—In winding up the debate on the Army bill in the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. A. J. Balfour, the Government leader, denied that there was any large body of opinion hostile to the scheme of Mr. Brodrick, the Secretary of State for War.

The amendment of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, in which he said the proposals largely increased the existing burdens without adding materially to the military strength of Great Britain, and asked for figures and definite statements, was rejected by a vote of 327 to 211.

Mr. Brodrick's scheme was then adopted by a vote of 305 to 168.

The leader of the House spoke with delightful animation, but he was not very convincing. One sensation his speech certainly did contain. That was the revelation of the fact that at one time in 1899 there were in the United Kingdom only 3,300 rounds of smallarms ammunition.

Will France Give a Subsidy?

Montreal, May 17.—The special correspondent of The Star in London cables:

It is announced from Paris that the Canadian subsidized Franco-Canadian steamship line confidently expects the French Government also to subsidize it, believing that an opening exists for a regular trading service, and direct communication will be maintained in the future between Havre and Bordeaux, and Quebec and Montreal. The present ships will be replaced by four new vessels, two to be built in England and two to be built in France. Efforts will be made to enlarge the scope of the 1893 treaty to include in the minimum tariff as many articles as possible.

An Honest Tired Feeling

There is an "honest tired feeling," caused by necessary toil and cured by natural rest.

But very different is "that tired feeling," from which so many complain and which may even be classed as a disease.

That tired feeling takes you to bed tired and wakes you up tired.

You have no appetite, have bilious taste, dull headache, are nervous and irritable, blue, weak and discouraged.

In such conditions Hood's Sarsaparilla does a world of good.

It begins in the right place—in the blood, purifying it and imparting vitality, then its tonic effect is felt by the stomach, kidneys and liver; appetite comes back, all waste is removed naturally, headaches cease, that tired feeling departs and you feel like a new person.

This has been the experience of thousands.

It will be yours if you take

ENGLAND'S FIRST SHIP.

Great Harry Was the Country's Premier Fighting Machine.

Of the first ship, properly speaking, of the British navy, known as the Great Harry, the following particulars are given in an old number of the Mechanic's Magazine, dated Oct. 25, 1823:

The Great Harry was built by King Henry VII at a cost of £14,000, and was burned at Woolwich, through accident, in 1553.

Though King Henry, as well as other princes, hired many ships, exclusive of those which the different seaports were obliged to furnish, he seems thus to have been the first king who thought of avoiding this inconvenience by raising such a force as might be at all times sufficient for the service of the state. Historians tell us that he caused his navy, which had been neglected in the preceding reign, to be put in a condition to protect the British coasts against all foreign invasions, and that in the midst of profound peace he always kept up a fleet ready to act.

In August, 1512, the Regent, a ship of 1,000 tons, which was at that time the largest vessel in the British navy, was burned, and to replace it the Great Harry, or, as it was also known, the Henry Grace de Dieu, was built in 1515.

The vessel, of about 1,000 tons burden, was manned by 349 soldiers, 301 marines and 50 gunners. She had four masts and portholes on both decks and in other parts.

Before the time of her construction the cannon were placed above deck and on the prow and poop. One Descharges, a French builder at Brest, is said to have invented portholes.

In a list of the British navy, as it stood on Jan. 5, 1548, the Great Harry is said to have carried 19 brass and 103 iron pieces of ordnance.

The name of the ship is supposed to have been changed in the reign of Edward VI to Edward, which, on Aug. 26, 1552, was reported to be still "in good case to serve," and was ordered "to be grounded and calked once a year to keep it tight."—Cassier's Magazine.

BILLIARD CUES.

How They Are Made—America Furnishes the Best.

"Most billiard cues," said a New York manufacturer the other day, "are made in two pieces—the cue proper and the handle. The cue is made generally of maple, and the butt, which is wedge shaped, is inserted into a handle of rosewood, snakewood, ebony, mahogany, walnut or some other fancy dark wood, which is cut to dovetail with the long part.

"The maple wood used in making the handles is sawed into suitable lengths and seasoned. The logs are then split into pieces from which the handles are made. These pieces are called bolts. The bolts are sawed approximately to the shape of the handle to be finally made, and in this shape they are handle blocks. The handle block is turned to the shape of the handle in a lathe, and when the butt has been fitted it is finished and polished.

"The finest and best cues are fitted to the handle or butt by means of a double wedge. At the top of the cue is a ferrule of ivory, of horn or bone, in which the leather tip is fitted. While the ivory ferrule is the most expensive, of course it is less durable than the horn or bone ferrules, which are less liable to crack. The extra workmanship on cues is put in on the butts, some of which are elaborately inlaid and carved in beautiful patterns.

"There are a number of billiard players who will not permit another person to use their cues, and for the use of these particular players cues are turned out from which the tips may be unscrewed, leaving the cue with unfinished points and useless.

"American billiard cues are the lightest, strongest and neatest made anywhere in the world. They are made in all weights and lengths and rank in price from 80 cents to $25 and more each, according to the quality and finish of the article.

Big Electric Railway Deal.

Kingston, May 16.—An electric railway between Tranton and Ottawa, to take in Kingston and Cornwall, is the plan settled upon by a number of Boston and Kingston capitalists. Messrs. G. E. Smith and E. B. Larring of Boston have been in the city perfecting the plans and left yesterday for Boston to consult with other members of the proposed syndicate. Three Kingston capitalists, outside of Mr. R. J. Carson, are interested in the scheme, but their names will not be given out until the company have applied for a charter from the Ontario Government. The company will be completed in ten days.

Fifty Dollars and a Lecture

Montreal, May 16.—John Fernandez pleaded guilty before Judge Desnoyers yesterday morning to a charge of importing into Canada prohibited publications and to a second charge of keeping them for sale. An Ontario Man Killed.

STALKED BY VULTURES.

While a Man Was Trailing a Buck the Birds Followed the Man.

I met with a curious and not altogether pleasant experience, writes an Anglo-Indian correspondent who has done a good deal of large and small game shooting in India, when I was one day stalking a black buck. Between me and my quarry lay a large flat field of black cotton soil bordered by a very low, straggling and thinly growing hedge of small babul trees. My only way to get a shot was to cross this, keeping the bushiest tree between me and the buck, who had not much to browse on and was therefore seldom motionless. I proceeded to do the hundred yards on the flat of my stomach. This on loose, hard baked black cotton soil was no joke. I pushed my rifle on ahead; then, wriggling past it until the muzzle was near my knee, I would pass it on in front again, and so on.

Progress was slow, and I was so absorbed that I failed to observe shadows crossing and recrossing my path and circling round until I had gone some 50 yards. Then the whirring of wings attracted my ears, and almost at the same moment a vulture landed on the ground not 20 yards away. I looked up. The air was alive with these repulsive looking birds. Then it flashed across me that I was being stalked! Doubtless these birds were attracted by my extraordinary method of procedure and mistook me for a wounded or dying man making a final effort to reach some shady spot. This was especially possible, as the experience occurred in a famine district where deaths by the wayside were not infrequent. By looking up I had evidently shown myself to the buck, for he was now off at full tilt. I therefore took pot shot at the vulture at 20 yards, but did not allow for the sighting sufficiently and missed him. The thought of being waited for by a flock of vultures while very much alive and well was, to say the least, uncanny.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Burden Bearers of the East.

In the east the camel today, as in the days of Solomon, is the principal beast of burden in peace and in war. Across the pitiless desert he strides, his great pack nodding as he swings along. Down the old, old trail that winds through the hills of Lebanon, blinking, they come in pairs, bringing cedars to the sea. But the most remarkable of all freighters is the eastern hamal, the human burden bearer. All or nearly all the freight of Constantinople is handled by the hamal. He wears on his back a regular pack saddle, thin at the top, where it rests on his shoulders, and thick at the bottom, where it ends at his hips. A broad band circles his forehead, and when he leans forward the saddle presents a flat, level surface.

Cheap.

Lover—You are getting prettier every day.

Sweet Girl—Just now I am living on brown bread and water to improve my complexion.

"How long can you keep that up?"

"Oh, indefinitely."

"Then let's get married."

Old Soldier's Experience.

M. M. Austin, a civil war veteran, of Winchester, Ind., writes: "My wife was sick a long time in spite of good doctor's treatment, but was wholly cured by Dr King's New Life Pills, which worked wonders for her health." They always do. Try them. Only 25 cents at Jas. Lynch's drug store.

Historical Divisions of Time.

For convenience time is, by historians, usually divided into three great eras—ancient, mediæval (or middle) and modern. The ancient period is considered to extend from the earliest times down to the fall of the Roman empire in the west in A. D. 476; the mediæval from that date to the discovery of America by Columbus in 1492 and the modern from that time to the present. Some historians prefer to put the end of the mediæval period at the capture of Constantinople by the Turks, about 40 years earlier than the Columbus event. The dark ages are often held to be coeval with the mediæval era, but some authorities think that the term should be applied only to the part of the era extending from the downfall of the empire of Charlemagne, in the ninth century, onward.

An Absurd Superstition.

A popular belief is that the sound produced by a little insect known as a "death watch" portends the death of some relative or friend. That the noise made by this little creature resembles the ticking of a watch is undisputed, but that it in anywise foretells the dissolution of a human being is absurd. Observation has established the fact that these little insects infest decaying timber and posts, and that the peculiar noise is caused by them in gnawing and boring through the rotten wood fibers in quest of food.

Then and Now.

In these days of cheap literature, when the masterpieces of English writers can be had for 6d., it is interesting to note that just 1,000 years ago the Countess of Anjou gave 200 sheep, one load of wheat, one load of rye and one load of millet for a volume of sermons written by a German monk.—London Standard.

Weary Brain Workers

Fagged out, ideas come as slowly as molasses. You think of things just a minute or two too late. Snap's gone! The buoyancy that made work a pleasure—that's gone too. The doctor would tell you that you are run down, not eating enough nor digesting enough. Your blood needs aid, your digestion needs a bracer too. Your blood requires Phosphorus and Iron that it may be formed readily. Now Ferrozone is a wonderful nerve bracer and blood maker. It's food for the blood and nerves, it will make you strong quickly and permanently.—Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

BALLS RECOVERED

Tome time ago sixteen billiard balls were stolen from the rooms of the Total Abstinence Society rooms and all attempts at the time to locate them proved abortive. However, chief Roszel got wind of the fact that some boys in the vicinity of the west ward school were playing with a number of such balls and this morning he proceeded to investigate. He was successful in recovering thirteen of the stolen articles, and expects to have the remaining three before long. The boys claim to have found them hidden under a tree at the edge of the creek just north of McDonel street.

ALL SAINTS' CONGREGATION.

Held a Social Re-Union Last Night.—A Presentation.

A most successful congregational reunion was held in the basement of All Saints' Church last night, the affair being very largely attended. The spacious apartments were attractively decorated for the occasion and the arrangements were carried out to the letter.

The chair was occupied by Mr. Jos. Mulholland, church warden, who performed the duties pertaining to that office in a happy manner.

The following programme was rendered:

Instrumental	Mrs. Mowat
Recitation	Fred Hooper
Solo	Herbert Mowat
Reading	Walter Hooper
Song	L. Scott
Instrumental	Miss Stephenson
Vocal Solo	James Brown
Recitation	Helen Stone
Song	Mr. Halpany
Chorus	Choir

The rector was unable to attend on account of a meeting at St. Johns.

At the conclusion of the programme a very pleasing feature in connection with the entertainment took place. It was, to the great surprise of Rev. W. L. Armitage, the presentation to that gentleman of a handsome camera outfit, accompanied by an address worded in complimentary terms. Rev. Mr. Armitage replied briefly, assuring the congregation of the deep interest he has in his people.

Refreshments were served and a pleasant time was spent in social intercourse.

The piano, a Dominion, was kindly loaned by the Peterborough Music Co.

A GRITTY DRIVER.

He allowed Himself to be Dragged for Several Blocks rather than let a Horse Get Away

Bert Kearns, the bus-driver of the Oriental Hotel, took a trip last night, which he will not forget in a hurry. He was taking some baggage to the Grand Trunk station from the hotel and just as he was crossing the small bridge spanning the creek on Hunter street, the trunk on which he was sitting rolled from the waggon carrying him with it. All this commotion in the rear frightened the horse, which started off on a runaway career, Kearns in the meantime hanging on to the reins and being dragged along on the roadway. No one made an effort to stop the horse and Kearns clung to the reins until J. J. McBain's elevators were reached when one of the lines broke and the horse consequently got away.

Kearns was badly skinned up by coming in contact with numerous stones in the roadway and there isn't much of his body that doesn't bear some souvenir of his dangerous journey. He deserves great credit for hanging on to the lines so pluckily in his endeavor to prevent the horse from getting away.

CANOES FOR THE EXHIBITION.

Sent By the English Canoe Co'y to the Pan-American Exhibition.

A visitor from Peterborough who has just returned from the Pan-American Exhibition, tells of having seen on exhibition by the Ontario Government an elegant canoe manufactured by the English Canoe Co., of Peterborough. This canoe was built by the English Canoe Company for the Ontario Government to represent the various species of wood that grow in our forests, and which are both useful and ornamental. The canoe has thirteen samples of wood contained in the construction, being as follows: Cedar boarding, elm ribs, oak gunwales, cherry thwarts, basswood footboards, maple kelson, butternut decks, walnut trimmings, tamarac end pieces, birch throat blocks.

Needless to say the craft is a beauty, and serves as an excellent advertisement for the Ontario Government and the Wm. English Canoe Co.

APPRECIATED REV. DR. SYMONDS

Citizens of Peterborough Will not let Him Depart Without a Souvenir.

INFLUENCE WAS WIDESPREAD

And all Classes of Citizens Will be Pleased to Know that His Popularity is to be Recognised.

A large number of representative business and professional men of the town met in the Board Room of the Canada Life Assurance Co., this morning for the purpose of considering what action should be taken to express the appreciation which the citizens felt of Rev. Dr. Symonds previous to his departure from town.

Amongst those present were Messrs. J. H. Bunham, L. M. Hayes, Peter Campbell, W. D. Parker, R. M. Dennistoun, Dr. Boucher, A. P. Poussette, Wm. Smith, Geo. Giroux, G. M. Roger, Rev. J. C. David son, W. H. Hill, G. W. Hatton, H. Le Brun and E. H. D. Hall.

Mr. Burnham was apointed chairman of the meeting and Mr. W. D. Parker, Secretary.

On motion it was decided that the selection of a suitable gift be left in the hands of a committee composed of the chairman and secretary with Messrs. W. H. Hill, L. M. Hayes, Dr. Boucher, A. P. Poussette R.M. Dennistoun, G.W. Hatton, Col. H. C Rogers, Robt. Fair, Col. E. B. Edwards, R. C. McHarrie and D. W. Dumble.

The suggestion that a piece of plate be selected met with universal approval.

"The Rev. Herbert Symonds, D. D., of Ashburnham, Peterborough, has been appointed head master of Trinity College School, Port Hope. He will enter upon his duties on July 1, at a salary of $2,500 per year. The vacancy occurs through the resignation of Rev. Edmond Jones, who returns to England to take up school work in that country, and the governing body was practically unanimous in their decision to offer the position to Rev. Dr. Symonds. The latter was born in England in 1860, and received his early education at Framlingham College. Coming to Canada in 1881, he matriculated at Trinity University in the following year, took first-class honours in 1885, and was the prize essayist for two years in succession. He then took a course at Cambridge University, returned again to Trinity, where for three years he was a fellow, and later for the same period professor of theology. Some years ago he was appointed rector of Ashburnham church. In addition to his church work he has interested himself in many literary and social projects, and among other offices is President of the Canadian Church Unity Society. He is a firm advocate of the federation of Trinity with Toronto University, and in a recent pamphlet made a splendid argument along this line. He is an ardent champion of religious education in public schools, and is well-known as a lecturer. Queen's University has recognized his ability by conferring upon him the honorary degree of D.D. Rev. Dr. C. J. S. Bethune, formerly headmaster of the School, and Hon. G. W. Allan have written to the secretary of the governing body of the school, expressing hearty approval of the selection, and speaking of the reverend gentleman's abilities and fitness for the position in terms of warmest praise. The Board of Governors, by whom the appointment was made, consisted of the following gentlemen:—The Bishop of Toronto, Senator G. W. Allan, Mr. E. B. Osler, M.P., Mr. Ed. Martin, K.C., Hamilton; Mr. J. A. Worrell, Rev. Prof. Jones, Rev. J. C. S. Bethune, Rev. Prof. Clark, Mr. Dyce Saunders, and others.

STRANGERS FELLOWSHIP CLUB.

Officers Were Elected Last Night at the Y.M.C.A.

A new organization was set in motion last evening which promises to be a strong auxiliary to all the churches of the town in the way of locating young men who are coming to the town as strangers, besides helping young men generally.

For the past year the local Y.M.C.A. has been putting forth special efforts to locate strangers and to accord to them the full privileges of the building during their first month's residence in town and to introduce them to the church of their choice. Over 250 young men have thus been helped during the year. The officers have felt, however, that a systematic organization among the members of the association would yield multiplied results. The Information and Relief Committee met a few evenings ago and strongly recommended banding the workers together in a club to assume this very important work.

There was a good attendance at the initial meeting last evening when the plan of organization was most heartily endorsed. It was decided to call the club the Strangers Fellowship Club. Some of the aims of the same are:—

1. To locate young men arriving in town and report their names to the association.
2. To notify the secretary of young men leaving town.
3. To exercise a prayerful interest in young men who are strangers as well as young men generally, and to carry on systematic visitation among them.
4. To report the names of young men who are sick.
5. To endeavour to get young men who are strangers located in home-like boarding houses, and to introduce them to the pastors and young men of the churches where they should attend.
6. To interest them in association work and membership.

The following officers were elected:

Hon. President—Mr. B. F. Ackerman.

Hon. Vice-Presidents—The Ministers of the town.

President—John Manning.

Sec.-Treas—Garnet Galley.

Executive—President, Sec.-Treas. and Messrs. V. Thewlis, H. Merrill, S. Hall, G. G. Pratley.

The committee as named above will meet in a few days and draft a constitution. Any member of the Association may join the club.

NEW VEHICLES.

Mr. Comstock's Ambulance—Mr. Leary's Hack.

Peterborough's new ambulance arrived in town this morning. It is owned by Mr. A. Comstock and was manufactured by the Guy Carriage Co., of Toronto. The ambulance has not yet been set up but it appears to be in everyway up-to-date. No arrangements have been decided upon as to its use.

There also arrived from Messrs. Guy & Co., Toronto, an elegant new rubber tire hack a sister to the handsome new hack Mr. Leary added to his livery, less than one year ago. It is a most luxuriant looking carriage and equipped with the most modern improvements. Mr. Leary has this spring added to his establishment a wagonette, a handy little vehicle, a couple of park phaetons and his rubber tire single buggies number no fewer than 8. He has paid out well on to $3,000 for horses and carriages this spring.

WILL BE HERE IN JUNE.

Messrs. Ringling Brothers' Big Circus Billed for June 14th Canadian Tour.

Ringling Brothers' Circus will exhibit in Peterborough, Friday June 14th. This will be good news for all who thoroughly enjoy a high-class circus performance, for this show is said to surpass anything of the kind ever seen in Canada. The Canadian tour is short, and Peterborough is one of the few towns that will be played on this side of the International line. This is its first trip through Canada, and as the name of the show is comparatively unknown, curiosity will undoubtedly be aroused in regard to its merits and magnitude. That it is a big show of unusual size is sufficiently attested by the fact that five trains of cars are used to transport its paraphernalia, while seats are provided under the main hippodrome portion sufficient to seat the entire population of Peterborough. The performers number 300 artists from all parts of the world. There is a notable list of trained animal displays, including 20 elephants in one act, and O'Brien's 61-horse act, and a colossal menagerie, with hundreds of rare wild animals, among which is what is believed to be the only specimen of the giraffe now in existence. A street parade a mile in length will inaugurate circus day.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

GOLF.

The formal opening of the golf links for the season was signalized yesterday by the President, Mr. Peter Campbell, giving a tea. The links were crowded all afternoon and well on into the evening. The fact that mixed foursomes were played almost entirely lent variety to the afternoon's pleasure, and the many pretty costumes worn by the ladies made the scene a gay and striking one.

Teams composed as follows will play off to-morrow, representing the Bankers, Doctors and Educationists against the Town:—

Hamilton	vs.	Burnham
Complin	vs.	Ray
W.D. Parker	vs.	Burnett
Eastwood	vs.	Dennistoun
Young	vs.	Bradburn
Hollingshead	vs.	McGill
Crane	vs.	McAllister
A.G. Parker	vs.	Hall
Smith	vs.	Brown
Walker	vs.	Granger
McHarrie	vs.	Patterson
McFall	vs.	Collier
Dean	vs.	McGie
Greer	vs.	Fred McGill
Kinnear	vs.	Terrill
Campbell	vs.	Hill

CRICKET.

A meeting of the executive of the Peterborough Colt Cricket Club was held last night, when it was decided to divide up the players into two sets, for the purpose of practicing. This was found necessary owing to the fact that there has been too many players at the evening practices. Until further notice the following players will have possession of the creese on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings: James Lundy, A. Boucher, F. Tully, A. Fitzgerald, C. Stapleton, H. E. Wood, H. Munro, C. Rogers, Harry Rush, Roy Stone, T. Bradburn, Ross Cameron, Geo. Rogers, T. Pakenham, C. Patterson, G. Pozer, M. Lowney, H. VanEvery, R. Parker, Fred Roy, H. Walkey, and G. Ferguson.

The following players will play during the afternoon from 4 until 6:—F. Orr, C. Ackerman, A. Moore, A. Wood, W. Hatton, R. Hall, W. Burritt, R. Munro, S. Giroux, E. Weller. However, the members of the senior team are allowed to play during the afternoon provided there are not more than 12 juniors present.

BASEBALL.

The Port Hope Guide says: "Bob" Edmunds and "Mac" McGill will take care of 2nd and 3rd bags again this season for the File Makers. They are a hard pair to beat. Charley McMahon will again cover that space beetween 2nd and 3rd bases. He will stop short everything coming his way. The position will be carefully guarded. Giddy Burt and Silver Pethick are both showing lots of speed and nasty curves. They are quite capable of doing their share of winning a game. McElroy will catch, and if he is as clever as when he last appeared on a Port Hope diamond, the fans will make no kick.

Loss of Appetite.

A person that has lost appetite has lost something besides—vitality, vigour, tone.

The way to recover appetite and all that goes with it is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla—that strengthens the stomach, perfects digestion and makes eating a pleasure.

Thousands take it for spring loss of appetite and everybody says there's nothing else so good as Hood's.

WHO OWNS THE PARKS?

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—The recent act of vandalism—the cutting down of living pine trees in the Central Park—makes the question a very pertinent one just now: Who owns the parks in the Town of Peterborough?

This question being answered, this further question may become an important one: Who controls them?

CITIZEN.

ST. LUKE'S MENS GUILD.

The adjourned business meeting of the Men's Chapter of St. Luke's Guild, was held last evening in the vestry, when some important matters in connection with the church were brought up.

There was a good attendnace of the members, and considerable discussion took place as to the ways and means of wiping out the present mortgage on the church property.

A strong committee was appointed with this end in view, and no doubt with the hearty co-operation of the congregation, this will be accomplished. It was also decided that the Men's Guild should unite with the Women's Auxiliary and Girls' Guild for the purpose of arranging for the holding of lawn socials this coming season, of which due notice will be given.

The business being concluded, Mr. J. J. Turner, jr., gave a very lucid explanation of the construction of the Union Jack, after which a hearty vote of thanks was tendered him and the meeting adjourned.

WHOM WILL YE SERVE?

China Will be Conquered for Christ—Where are Our Sympathies?

To the Editor of the Examiner:

There are in China a considerable number who have found congenial occupation since the outbreak, berating missionaries, and depreciating their work. I have before me a little book in which these charges are collected and answered, by a gentlemen who lives in Shanghai. According to their critics, these missionaries are selfish, living in luxury, without tact, and are vindictive. They over-estimate the number of their converts, who, they say, profess conversion simply for the loaves and fishes. They lean on the gunboat for protection, and in an objectionable manner, thrust an objectionable religion down the throats of the Chinese. Now these charges, and many more, can be answered fully, without ascribing infallibility to missionaries any more than to other men.

But whilst their enemies are so occupied what are the Missionaries doing? Well, 183 of them have laid down their lives, and, now wearing the martyrs crown, are doing whatever the redeemed are doing before the Throne. Of the remainder who escaped, some came to the home land, but the majority are at the Coast, standing at the door ready to re-enter and resume work as soon as permission is given. And in the meantime what? The women have held a conference in Shanghai, presided over by Lady Blake, the wife of the Governnor of Hong Kong, in which they prayed for the women of China, discussed their needs, and how best to relieve them. The male missionaries also held conference for prayer and Bible study—that they (the missionaries) might be themselves spiritually quickened, and thereby China blessed. As opportunity offers, they send letters and messages of sympathy and encouragement to the scattered and persecuted converts who remain. Is that selfish or vindictive?

Others are employed gathering up, lovingly, the story of the massacres, the heroic courage and loyalty to Jesus Christ of missionaries and converts alike, and the many interventions of God's hand, delivering from death those whose time had not come. It is sad, heart-rending, but glorious. For example, eighteen colporteurs about to go on a journey, were warned of the risk, but said, "We go on a colporteur tour, God's will be done." Only four of the eighteen returned. Their homes were looted and burned, and their families exterminated. Those who escaped did so after passing through terrible privations. The whole story will never be told, but enough to make us rejoice in the power of redeeming grace.

Was ever any country more afflicted and more in need of sympathy than poor China today? The terrible scourge of war is now succeeded by one of the worst famines on record. In the two northern provinces of Shensi and Shansi, crops have failed for the third time, and the situation is so desperate that it is said cannibalism prevails amongst them. In the past, Missionaries have been their friends in time of distress, but now the Missionaries have been driven away by their own act.

Let us not for this, turn away from them in anger, but rather say in compassion, as the Master did, 'Forgive them for they know not what they do.' This is the hour of darkness, but the light will dawn. China will be conquered for Christ, and satan will be shorn of his kingdom and power. Where are our sympathies? Where are our sympathies? Whom shall We serve.

FEATHERED FREAKS.

BIRDS WITHOUT WINGS AND BIRDS WITHOUT SONG.

The Penguin Is a Bird That Walks and Swims, but Does Not Fly—A Bird That Can Run Faster Than the Swiftest Horse—The Tailor Bird.

Birds without wings are found in New Zealand and Australia. Kiwi is the name of one species. Beautiful mats are made of the feathers of the white variety, but it takes ten years and more to collect enough feathers to make even a small mat which would sell for about $150.

Birds without song belong to Hawaii. In Honolulu one sees a bird about the size of the robin, an independent sort of fellow, that walks about like a chicken, instead of hopping like a well trained bird of the United States, and it has no song.

A bird that walks and swims, but does not fly, is the penguin. No nests are made by penguins, but the one egg laid at a time by the mother is carried about under her absurd little wing or under her leg.

The largest of flight birds is the California vulture or condor, measuring from tip to tip 9½ to 10 feet and exceeding considerably in size the true condor of South America. The bird lays but one egg each season—large, oval, ashy green in color and deeply mitted, so distinctive in appearance that it cannot be confounded with any other.

The California condor is rapidly approaching extinction and museums all over the world are eager to secure living specimens. It is believed that there is only one in captivity.

Another large bird is the rhinoceros bird, which is about the size of a turkey. One recently shot on the island of Java had in its crop a rim from a small telescope and three brass buttons, evidently belonging to a British soldier's uniform.

A bird which is swifter than a horse is the road runner of the southwest. Its aliases are the ground cuckoo, the lizard bird and the snake killer, snakes being a favorite diet. In northern Mexico, western Texas and southern Colorado and California it is found. The bird measures about two feet from tip to tip and is a dull brown in color. Its two legs are only about ten inches long, but neither horses with their four legs nor bounds nor electric pacing machines are in it for swiftness when it comes to running.

Most curious are the sewing or tailor birds of India—little yellow things not much larger than one's thum. To escape falling a prey to snakes and monkeys the tailor bird picks up a dead leaf and flies up into a high tree, and with a fiber for a thread and its bill for a needle sews the leaf on to a green one hanging from the tree. The sides are sewed up, an opening being left at the top. That a nest is swinging in the tree no snake or monkey or even man would suspect.

Many a regiment cannot compare in perfection of movement with the flight of the curlews of Florida winging their way to their feeding grounds miles away, all in uniform lines in unbroken perfection. The curlews are dainty and charming birds to see, some pink, some white.

Birds in flight often lose their bearings, being blown aside from their course by the wind. In this case they are as badly off as a mariner without a compass in a strange sea on a starless night.

All very young birds, by a wise provision of nature, are entirely without fear until they are able to fly. The reason of the delayed development of fear is that, being unable to fly, the birds would struggle and fall from their nests at every noise and be killed. Suddenly, almost in a day, the birds develop the sense of fear, when their feathers are enough grown so that they can fly.

It is always a source of wonder to arctic explorers to find such quantities of singing birds within the arctic circle. They are abundant beyond belief. But the immense crop of cranberries, crowberries and cloudberries that ripen in the northern swamps accounts for the presence of the birds.

A stick of wood seven inches long and a quarter of an inch in diameter was once taken from a wren's nest. It is very singular that so small and delicate a bird should use such rough material with which to construct its nest. If an eagle should use material proportioned to its size, its nest would be made up of fence rails and small saw logs.

The extraordinary situations in which nests are found occasionally almost give one the impression that birds must be endowed with a sense of humor. For instance, a wren built its nest upon a scarecrow, a dead sparrow-hawk, which a farmer had hung up to frighten away winged ravagers of his crop. In the pocket of an old jacket hanging in a barn a bird, also a wren, made its nest, which when discovered contained five eggs. It was a robin that raised a young family in a church pew and a robin that built its nest in the organ pipes of a church. Places of worship have always been favorite building places for birds.

HOTEL PROPRIETOR WINS HIS CASE.

Under an Unjust Penalty for Eight Years.

Bright's Disease Held the Sentence of Death Over his Head—Suffered all the Misery of Broken Health in the Meanwhile.—His Deliverance by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dresden, May 15, (Special.)—Allan McIntosh, proprietor of the well-known Clifford House here, in conversation at his house to-day, made a statement that cannot fail to carry with it the weight and influence of the speaker.

"Gentlemen," said he, "Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of Bright's Disease after eight years of torture."

To say that his hearers were surprised, but faintly expresses it. Mr. McIntosh looked so far from an invalid at the present time that the news of his former affliction with a dreadful malady like Bright's Disease, sounds unreal and improbable.

"I had Bright's Disease for over eight years," repeated Mr. McIntosh. "I could get absolutely nothing to help me. Bright's Disease was incurable, I found. My back was a continual ache. My urine was of that dark colour which is the most alarming symptom of the disease.

"Gentlemen, I tell you I was in a bad way. Bright's Disease means death if you dont cure it, and I could get nothing to cure it. In fact I was told it was incurable, and believed it. But it isn't. Dodd's Kidney Pills can cure it. They cured me. I used seven boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and Bright's Disease left me. Only for Dodd's Kidney Pills you wouldn't see me here before you this minute."

The facts as related by Mr. McIntosh are universally confirmed by the people of Dresden.

POWER OF IMAGINATION.

A Druggist's Story of How It Worked In One Case.

"The power of imagination," said a New York druggist, "is past comprehension. Not long since a domestic in the employ of a prominent family came into the store in great haste with a prescription which called for two grains of morphine in two ounces of aqua pura—that is, distilled water—the accompanying direction reading, 'A teaspoonful every hour until the pain is allayed.' The patient for whom it was intended was the head of the family, who was suffering from a severe attack of nervous neuralgia.

"Now, it so happened that the family physician who had written the prescription was behind the counter when the messenger arrived, having dropped in, as was his wont, on the way to his office. While I was putting up the prescription we chatted and laughed and joked and passed the time of day as only professional men are capable of doing. I filled the bottle, corked it carefully and labeled it properly, and when the retreating form of the domestic had disappeared out of the store door returned to my companionable physician visitor. As I did so I saw to my amazement the two grains of morphine reposing upon the prescription scales.

"'Doctor,' I ejaculated, 'I've given that girl nothing but distilled water. The morphine is here; look at it. What shall I do?'

"'Do?' he replied, with admirable sang froid. 'Do? Why, nothing at all. I'll wager you that the aqua pura will work as well without the opiate as with it.'

"'Agreed,' said I. And do you know," concluded the pharmacist, "the doctor was right, and the patient with the nervous neuralgia—an exceptionally intelligent and college bred man—was sleeping as peacefully as a babe after the second dose of the 'mixture.' Faith is everything where medicine is concerned."—Exchange.

IT MADE HIM A HERO.

AN ACT THAT BROUGHT A LAWYER FAME AND FORTUNE.

It Looked Like an Exhibition of Pure Nerve and Daring, but In Reality It Was Simply An Outcome of His Nearsightedness.

"A person who enjoys good eyesight," said a man who most decidedly does not, "would be greatly astonished to know how little is seen by those who are nearsighted even in a moderate degree. The average shortsighted man, of whom there are hundreds in every large city, sees nothing distinctly more than a foot away from his nose. Beyond that distance the outline of objects becomes hazy and indistinct, growing rapidly more and more so until everything is finally merged into one general blur. The faces of people across the street are mere pink blotches, their figures are destitute of detail, signs are indecipherable 30 feet away, and the whole movement of traffic and passing show of the thoroughfare is a misty panorama, in which nothing much smaller than a cab can be definitely distinguished.

"Of course a nearsighted person can see as well as anybody through properly fitted glasses, but a great many folks regard them as such a disfigurement that they prefer to do without their aid. That kind of pride is certainly very foolish because it causes one to miss at least nine-tenths of what is going on, to say nothing of being an open invitation to accident. Yet, oddly enough, I know of a case in which it actually saved a man's life and laid the foundation of a fortune.

"The hero of the episode was a lawyer in a city in Ohio where I spent my boyhood. He was beyond middle age at the time, but was straight as an arrow and a decidedly handsome, soldierly looking personage. These good looks of his were his weak point, and although he was extremely nearsighted he was vain enough to deny himself glasses and kept the fact of his infirmity a secret. The consequence of this folly was a wide reputation for haughtiness, as he rarely recognized anybody on the street, and it undoubtedly damaged him in his practice. At any rate, he had never made anything more than a very modest living when the curious incident I have in mind occurred.

"The city government had been for a long time under ring rule," continued the story teller, "and it finally became so bad that the decent people revolted and organized a reform movement. The good looking lawyer—call him Colonel Jones for convenience—was one of the reformers, and, among other things, he made himself active in securing indictments against a number of gambling house keepers.

"The boss ringster of the place was a typical bully and ward politician named Harding, who was financially interested in several of the games and naturally furious at any interference. He was a giant physically, he would fight at the drop of a hat, and the personal fear he inspired was really the secret of his influence. After the gambling indictments were found he proceeded to use his 'pull' to have them pigeonholed, and, learning what was going on, Colonel Jones was rash enough to write a newspaper card in which he scored the authorities for allowing such a ruffian to defeat the ends of justice.

"The colonel looked like a soldier, but he was really a very blandi and peaceable gentleman, and he never dreamed that his little effusion would get him into personal difficulty. On the morning the card appeared he was walking calmly to his office when Harding rushed out of a bar across the street, called him by name and at the same time leveled a six shooter at his head. At that distance all coons looked alike to the nearsighted lawyer, and, turning in the direction of the voice, he made out the vague figure of a man with outstretched arm apparently beckoning him to come over.

"A little surprised, but still perfectly placid, he started to cross the street. Harding glared at him in amazement and once or twice was on the point of pulling the trigger, but the spectacle of that serene and dignified figure calmly advancing straight on the muzzle of the gun was too much for his nerves, and before the colonel traversed half the distance he dropped the weapon and ignominiously fled.

"Needless to say, the episode made a tremendous sensation, and Jones, who had sense enough to hold his tongue, was the popular hero of the hour. Harding, on the contrary, was ruined, for his prestige had disappeared like a flash of lightning, and, unable to stand the disgrace of the affair, he quietly sold out his belongings and left the city. That broke the back of the ring, the reformers went into control, and the colonel was elected mayor by a tremendous majority. He served two terms, built up one of the biggest law practices in that part of the state and died worth nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

"In explanation of my inside knowledge of the case I don't mind saying that he was a distant relative of mine, and in the family circle, where his nearsightedness was well known, he owned up to the facts as a good joke. He said he had a vague idea when he started across the street that Harding was a farmer client who had promised to pay him a fee that morning."

of Dodd's Kidney Pills are legion. The box is imitated, the outside coating and shape of the pills are imitated and the name—Dodd's Kidney Pills is imitated. Imitations are dangerous. The original is safe. Dodd's Kidney Pills have a reputation. Imitators have none or they wouldn't imitate. So they trade on the reputation of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Do not be deceived. RESTORED TO HEALTH.

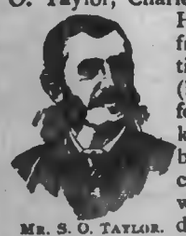
One of the best known men in East Durham county is Steven O. Taylor, Charlecote, Ontario. His sufferings from rheumatism in the back (lumbago) for four years were known to everybody in the county. It was with the greatest difficulty, and only with agonizing pain that he sat down upon or arose from a chair, and walking was simply torture; neither the skill of physicians, nor the enormous quantities of patent medicines he took, gave him any relief until he tried Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. After taking the first few doses of this wonderful medicine he obtained relief, and, continuing the treatment, a complete cure was effected. He has not been troubled with an ache or pain since and speaks in praiseworthy terms of the medicine which restored him to health—Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure.



MR. S. O. TAYLOR.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

The Druggists are Busy.

Druggists report great demand for the new 25c cent size of Catarrhozone, and today's sales almost cleared out their stock. They explain this rapid run on Catarrhozone by the fact that it gives better satisfaction than any other remedy on the market. Druggists say that Catarrhozone is the only remedy that really does cure Catarrh, Bronchitis and Asthma. It relieves quickly, is pleasant and convenient to use, and guaranteed to cure or your money refunded. Readers suffering from Irritable Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, etc., are strongly advised to try Catarrhozone. It never fails to cure even the worst cases.

Cologne's Great Cathedral.

The first thing that strikes you about Cologne cathedral is its glorious profusion, its boundless wealth. There is so much of everything. Bricks and mortar were never so multiplied, magnified and glorified. I should like to see the original specifications. It is more than a building; it is a city by itself. The materials that go to compose the flying buttresses alone would build cottages for 10,000 men. The grinning gargoyles, the enchanting turrets, the forests of stone foliage, the poetry of water spouts, the quaint humors of the wood carving, the depth of the cornices, the twists and turns of the roofing, the great population of statues, the rich mosaics—who can pretend to charge his memory with more than a miserable fraction of all this detail or to say he knows Cologne cathedral? A man who is bored with Cologne cathedral had better at once betake himself to another world. This one can provide him with nothing more interesting.

Lights That Shine.

"Do you think the present generation will produce men as great as those who have gone before?" asked the worried man.

"I don't know," answered Farmer Corntossel. "It 'pears to me like you don't hear as much about young men studyin by pine knots an taller dips as you did in them days. Cigarettes an fireworks seems to be more in demand now."

All things green have a hardy growth in England. The garden beige there is compact and beautiful, more so than in any windy country.

A FORCED SALE.

With the Coat on the Robust Customer Fixed the Price of It.

"Speaking of forced sales," said the man who was smoking a pipe, "makes me think of going with a friend of mine once up into old Chatham street, years ago, when there were more clothing stores there than there are now in the same thoroughfare renamed, to look on while he bought a pea jacket. He was a broad shouldered, ablebodied man, this friend of mine, and he didn't want any help from me. I went along for company.

"He found a coat that suited him all right enough. It fitted him neatly, and all that, and when he got it all buttoned up he turns around to the clothing man and says:

"'How much is that coat?'

"'Ten dollars,' says the clothing dealer.

"The big man, with the coat on him, turns around again to the mirror and throws his arms forward, as a man will do, you know, to see if the coat is perfectly easy everywhere and doesn't draw anywhere, and throwing his arms forward like that made the coat set across his back tight and smooth as a drumhead.

"'Oh, it fits you beautiful,' said the clothing man, standing back of him and sweeping his hand across the coat's back.

"'It isn't bad,' says my friend, looking at himself sideways and throwing his arms to the front further, 'but, goodness me, it isn't worth $10. Give you $5.'

"'Oh, no,' says the clothing man; 'it's cheap at ten. And please don't throw your arms forward quite so hard as that. You'll tear the seams out, first you know. You could pull the sleeves out of a sheet iron coat that way.'

"And so you could, you know, easy enough. You could split any coat ever made that way if you were only strong enough, and my friend was, and he kept on carrying his arms forward and saying as he did so, with the seams a-straining:

"'Five dollars.'

"'Oh, I couldn't do that,' says the dealer. 'Call it eight.'

"'Five,' says my man, with a little more strain.

"'Say seven,' says the dealer, 'and the coat's yours.'

"'Five,' says my friend, 'and it's the last call,' and as he spoke he threw his arms another half inch forward, and the stitches began to crack. 'Five,' he says now, 'or I split the coat plumb up the back!'

"'Take the coat!' says the clothing man, and my friend handed over a V and walked out with the new coat on his back and his old coat over his arm.

"Now, maybe the dealer would have come down to his price, all right, in time anyway, but my friend certainly did hurry him a little, hey?"

COULDN'T BEAT HIM.

The Chips Were Only Beans, but One Chap Corralled All of Them.

"Acquiring wealth is a trade to which some men are born, and they couldn't be anything else if they tried," said the thoughtful man as he contemplated his cigar. "Now, there is—well, I will call him Jones, not caring to mention his name. He is a well known man of business in this city, wealthy and with a reputation of turning everything he touches into gold. I am not a big fish in the financial puddle, but chance threw Jones and me together on a proposition in northern Michigan, and we went up there to look the matter over.

"There were four of us together one night in a little cabin in the woods, and, time resting heavily on our hands, some one proposed a game of poker. None of us was in the habit of risking much money on that subtle game. Indeed there was not enough ready money in the whole party to make a decent table stake, so to pass the time we began playing, using beans to make our bets with.

"Now, poker with nothing to bet except beans is not wildly exciting, and I was very much amused to see the way Jones played his hands. The rest of us made a joke of the matter, plunging and bluffing with the knowledge that we had only to dip our hands into a sack of beans near by when we needed more funds, laughing and telling funny stories the meanwhile and having a good time generally. But not so Jones. To him, apparently, it was a serious matter. Not once did he permit himself to smile. Seldom did he lift his eyes from his cards, playing his game as if thousands of dollars were at stake instead of beans. He meant to have every bean before he got through, and he did, too, for when the game ended all the beans in camp had been transferred to his pile.

"I came away without going into the deal with Jones, although it promised well. I was afraid I didn't understand the game, and I hardly cared to take the chances of seeing the few beans I have gathered together by many years of hard work go into the pile that he already possesses."

A Big One.

An octopus which had been in a fight with some other monster once drifted ashore on the Malay peninsula. He had feelers, or arms, which were from 12 to 17 feet long and weighed altogether 550 pounds. It was calculated that he was big enough and strong enough to drag a two ton fishing boat under the surface by main strength.

The inhabitants of Palmyra get all their salt by dipping buckets into the neighboring salt lake and allowing the water to evaporate.

SYMPTOMS OF KIDNEY TROUBLE.

Backache, Sideache, Swelling of Feet and Ankles, Puffing under the Eyes, Frequent Thirst, Scanty, Cloudy, Thick and Highly Colored Urine. Frequent Urination, Burning Sensation when Urinating.

These symptoms indicate a deranged condition of the kidneys, and some of them are caused by uric acid in the blood, and unless attended to immediately may eventually cause Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Dropsy, etc., which very often result in life-long misery. Doan's Pills not only relieve but cure all the above complaints.

Here is what Mr. Young, of Harcourt, N.B., writes:

THE DOAN KIDNEY PILL CO.,
Toronto, Ont.

DEAR SIRS,—Some time ago I was greatly troubled with pains in my back, hips and legs. My water was very scanty and was the color of strong tea and very thick, containing a sediment very much like fine sand and had a very offensive odor. I am very glad to say that after I had taken one box of Doan's Pills all of the above troubles have disappeared and I am perfectly cured and feel like a different person. I might also say my brother was troubled with his kidneys and used Doan's Pills and was completely cured.

WHITE MURDER CASE.

Dr. Ellis Found Strychnine in the Deceased Stomach.

THREE-EIGHTHS OF A GRAIN.

Not Sufficient to Cause Death, But the Analyst Has Yet to Find Out How Much Was in the Living of the Stomach—Mrs. White Committed for Trial—Evidence Much as at Inquest.

Brantford, Ont., May 17. — The witnesses in the White murder case yesterday were the same as at the coroner's inquest, excepting Prof. Ellis, Government analyst, who testified to finding three-eighths of a grain of strychnine in the stomach of deceased, Charles White. This showed there was more than this in the stomach before death took place. He had not yet analyzed the coating of the stomach. The amount found in the stomach would not cause the death of Mr. White. Strychnine was used in fluid, or pill form, for a tonic. L. F. Heyd, for the defendant, Mrs. White, addressed the court at some length, taking up the evidence from beginning to end, submitting there was no case made out, and no evidence given that would justify a committal.

After Mr. Heyd's address the Police Magistrate made a few remarks, and committed Mrs. White for trial.

Among the witnesses yesterday morning was Mary Irving, a collector, who swore that Mrs. White had compplained of her husband because of his drinking habits, and more particularly because of his jealousy towards her, and had told her that she had a powder that would cure drunkenness. She had called at the house often, and Mrs. White had talked to her repeatedly of the relations between her, Mrs. White, and her husband. The witness said that she had not been kindly received and finally became frightened to go to the house.

The Prices of Canned Goods.

Toronto, May 17.—The fruit canners and packers of Ontario are completing the terms of an arrangement by which the whole output of the factories for this year and the surplus from last year will be sold to a syndicate, thus regulating the price of the products of many concerns. A meeting of the Canadian Canners' and Packers' Association is now being hold at the Walker House for this purpose. All day yesterday the members were in session discussing the details of the agreement. One firm in St. Catharines is strongly opposed to turning over the year's output to the syndicate, and others who object to limiting the output, may stay out of the game. The syndicate has put up $20,000, and will on July 1 take over all the unsold stock of the canners who agree to sell.

A Woman Shot and Killed.

Montreal, May 17.—Mrs. Louis Lefebvre, 3168 Notre Dame street, wife of a Grand Trunk employe, was shot and killed last evening by Joseph E. Laplaine, a census enumerator, who boarded with the deceased. It appears that there was a quarrel, with the above result. Mrs. Lefebvre had gone out into the back room of her store to get some oysters for some customers, when she was followed by Laplaine, who pulled a revolver and shot her through the head. He then went over and reported the case to the police. The only explanation he would give for his deed was that he was in love and that his love was not returned.

SOME CURIOUS CHURCHES.

Congregations Which Meet In Inns, Windmills and Boats.

A public house is one of the last places one would expect to be used as a place of worship. The inhabitants of Twyford, a village near Winchester, would not consider this at all a novelty, because for several years past the Phœnix inn has been used Sunday for religious purposes. The room in which the religious services are held will comfortably hold about 200 people and opens at the back on to a pretty tea garden. The most remarkable feature of the services is that they are often conducted while the public house is open for business purposes, and the customers can join in the singing if they are so disposed.

There are two or three instances of public houses which have been converted into churches, and there are also two or three theaters which are now places of worship. The Fen district possesses a canalboat church. There are a large number of people who live some distance away from any church, and the canalboat church travels from place to place for the benefit of such folk. The boat will seat a congregation of about 100.

The old chapel of ease at Tunbridge Wells has a unique situation. It stands in two counties and three parishes. When the clergyman leaves the vestry, he comes out of the parish of Frant of Sussex. If he is going to officiate at the altar, he walks into the parish of Tunbridge, in Kent. If, on the other hand, he is going to preach the sermon, he walks from the parish of Frant to the parish of Speldhurst on his way to the pulpit.

The chapel at Milton Bryant is situated in the village pond. The reason for the selection of this strange site was because no landowner would would grant any other position.

The "windmill" church near Reigate is familiar to London cyclists. Not so familiar is the underground church at Brighton. Owing to some "ancient lights" difficulty, the authorities could not "build up," and as the site was a good one they decided to "build down."—London Mail.

USING HIS WITS.

Showing How People May Be Guided by Inference.

"You see," said the man with the bulging forehead and prominent nose, "if people would only be guided more by inference it would save lots of useless trouble."

"I don't understand you," said the man who had been tickling a pimple on his chin.

"Why, for instance, I passed a frozen pond one winter day. On the ice I saw a pair of skates, a boy's cap and a mitten. Out in the middle of the pond the ice was broken. Did I jump to the conclusion that a boy had been drowned and raise a great hullabaloo about it?"

"Of course you did, or else you ought to be prosecuted. You don't mean to say you passed on and said nothing?"

"I do," calmly replied the man of the forehead. "I inferred instead of jumping to a false conclusion."

"But you had to infer that the boy was under the ice," protested the other.

"Not a bit of it. If the boy had fallen in, the skates and cap and mittens would have gone with him. I simply inferred that he had seen a rabbit and given chase. I was right too. In the course of five minutes I met him on the road."

"Oh, you did! And maybe you inferred something else."

"Of course I did. As he had the nosebleed, I inferred that he had fallen over a log in the chase and got left, and he admitted that such was the case."

"Then you ought to have wound up the performance by inferring whether it was a male or female rabbit."

"It wasn't necessary, my captious friend. As I passed on I found the rabbit, dead from overexertion, and it was a male."

THE ALBANY STRIKE.

There Were no Further Riots on Friday in the City.

NO SETTLEMENT EFFECTED YET

The Strikers Withdraw Objections to the Old Non-Union Men, But the Company Makes a New Complication by Standing by the New Non-Union Men — Mr. Smith Is Dead.

Albany, N. Y., May 18.—No settlement has been reached in the great railway strike. After hours in conference the officials of the United Traction Company and the committee from the organizations of the strikers adjourned without changing the situation.

The company will proceed to run its cars to-day on every line within the city limits with the aid of a military force that now numbers 3,000 men.

The only step towards settlement that was made was the appointment last night of a committee from the city council to arbitrate and the adoption of a resolution declaring that if a settlement is not affected by Monday night the council shall revoke the franchise of the company.

The company declares that such action will be of no effect, as the road now has a vested right that cannot be taken from it.

The reason there was no settlement last night is because the company refuses to discharge the men brought from other points to take strikers' places.

There was a well-defined rumor last night that the company will try to move a car in Troy this morning and in the event of not receiving proper protection will call on Major-General Roe for military assistance.

The Executive Committee of the Board of Directors of the United Traction Company and a committee representing the strike employes of the road went into conference at 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and remained in continuous session until after midnight.

The compromise proposition framed at the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Albany and Troy strike organizations was presented by the advocates of the strikers. This proposition formed the basis of a discussion covering a period of nearly eight hours, which had absolutely no results. The committee presenting the cause of the strikers announced that it was without power to conclude any agreement, and that the propositions considered acceptable could be of a tentative nature only, as a report on the same would have to be made to the associations of strikers for ratification.

The strikers agreed to waive the question of unionism so far as employes of the company at the time strike was declared are concerned. The company, on the other hand, refused to discharge the non-union men who have been brought to this city to take the places of the strikers. This is a new phase of the difficulty, and promises to develop far more serious impediments in the way of settlement than has been anticipated at any time since the strike was called. It is a matter that had not been considered by the strikers or the public, and puts an entirely new aspect on the situation. This company, it is learned, was willing to increase the wages of the extra men and night-trippers to 19½ cents per hour, but refused to establish a uniform rate of 20 cents an hour for all employes, as requested by the strikers.

There was no repetition yesterday of the stirring scenes of disorder and turbulence that have marked the traction strike as one of the most desperate labor struggles of the year. There was the same imposing show of military strength, and in the mid-afternoon 600 additional troops of the 9th Regiment of New York city were added to the already large force now on duty here.

The afternoon was featureless.

E. Leroy Smith, the prominent citizen and clubman who was shot by a squad from the 23rd Regiment, died shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday morning in the Albany Hospital, after making a statement to his clergyman, exonerating the guardsmen from blame. Mr. Smith was 60 years of age. He leaves a wife and three children.

20,000 Bricklayers Locked Out.

New York, May 18.—Between 15,000 and 20,000 bricklayers in the employ of contractors who are members of the Masons' and Builders' Association, were locked out at noon yesterday. President Otto Eidlitz of the Masons' Builders' Association said the lockout had been caused primarily by the refusal of the Bricklayers' Association to abide by an agreement decided upon by an Arbitration Committee. There had been a strike on the part of the bricklayers employed by Contractor Reilly. The matter had been referred to an Arbitration Committee and an agreement reached. The strikers then demanded that they be paid for the time while they had been striking. This was refused and the men stayed out. The Masons' Builders' Association on May 11 adopted a resolution that if the members of the Bricklayers' Union did not abide by the terms of the agreement that a lockout should take place.

CONNOLLY OUT FOR GOOD.

Locomotive Works Management in Kingston Makes a Statement to Strikers.

Kingston, Ont., May 18.—Several new phases in the strike of the laborers at the locomotive works has cropped up. The men demand the re-employment of Connolly, the discharged union man. They are also trying to induce the laborers in the Kingston foundry to strike for higher wages. The strikers will ask the Dominion Government to pass an act that the highest union wages will be paid in the erection of the locomotives for the Government.

Thursday night the home of Rodger Greer, a union man, who refused to strike, was stoned. The police interferred.

The locomotive works management, in view of the demand of the Laborers' Union for a general advance in wages and re-instatement of Connolly, has closed the matter by declaring that Connolly will never again be employed.

This action renders useless and unnecessary any further effort to readjust the wages of some of the laborers, as they purposed doing. The company remarks, in conclusion: "Whilst we are at all times prepared to pay fair wages and treat our employes justly and liberally, we propose to keep the management of our shops absolutely in our own hands, and will not accept any dictation as to whom we shall employ or discharge."

Canada's Trade Figures.

Ottawa, May 18. — Canada's aggregate trade on the basis of goods entered for consumption and export exclusive of corn and bullion for the ten months ended April 30 exceeded that for the same period of the previous year by nearly twenty millions. The actual figures were $283,517,289, showing an advance of $19,050,113. The imports totalled $142,942,420 for the ten months, as against $143,303,759 in 1900, a falling off of $361,339. The diminution is accounted for by the fact that the dutiable goods were less by $1,064,706 than in 1900. The free goods were $703,369 in excess of the class of imports for last year. For the month of April the imports of dutiable and free goods were $322,423 ahead of the same period last year. The increase was wholly in free goods. The exports, reckoning both foreign and domestic produce, amounted to $159,624,932, as compared with $140,213,480 for the preceding ten months.

Tobacco.

Even the best judges of tobacco can't always be depended on. Sometimes their taste goes back on them, so to speak, and remains blunted for a week at a stretch. Professional samplers of tobacco take a week off every few months and never look at the weed until they return to duty. In that way they keep in condition.

SCANDAL IN SERVIA.

Queen Draga Said to Have Attempted to Fool the King.

MRS. M'KINLEY AND MRS. GAGE.

Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson's Abrupt Characterization of the Stories of C.P.R. and G. T. R. Amalgamation — A Clergyman's Body Found—An Investigation in Progress—An 11-Year-Old Boy Missing.

The 15-year-old son of Charles Gingras of Winnipeg, Man., was drowned in the Seine River.

Mrs. McKinley is better. The sinking spell expected on Friday did not come and conditions are hopeful.

Mrs. Gage, wife of Secretary Lyman J. Gage of the Treasury Department, died at her residence at Washington on Friday.

Friday the Senate read the Manitoba Railway bill a third time and passed it. 'The Judges' salarics' bill was also passed.

At Niagara Falls Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Lannon are anxious as to the whereabouts of their son Harry, who mysteriously disappeared from home on Monday last. He is only 11 years old.

A man named Albert Campbell, aged 35 years, fell off Baxter's wharf at Burlington, Ont., on Friday and was drowned. He was fishing and came from Belleville or Napanee.

Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, President of the Grand Trunk Railway, now in Montreal, says reports regarding amalgamation of his road and the Canadian Pacific are "all rubbish, and really not worth thinking about."

The greatest indignation has been aroused in Belgrade, Servia, by a report that Queen Draga failed in a deliberate attempt to foist upon the King the child of her sister as her own. It is also said she is only in the fourth month of her pregnancy.

Mr. Charles J. Campbell, late Assistant Receiver-General, died in Toronto on Friday afternoon at his late residence, 80 Avenue Road. Deceased was born in Kingston 82 years ago. He was succeeded in 1896 by Mr. David Creighton, the present Assistant Receiver-General.

A daring robbery was committed at Birtle, Man., Thursday night, when the safe of the C. P. R. station was blown open and the contents stolen. Fortunately the robbery was one day too late, and the thieves got only about $200, whereas, one day sooner they would have had $4,000. The safe is pretty badly wrecked.

The body of a man found in a house in Ninth avenue, New York, has been identified as that of the Rev. Dr. Edward G. Phillips, of St. Gabriel's Church, Hazelton, Pa., who recently had a conference with J. Pierpont Morgan in reference to the threatened strike in the iron and coal regions of Pennsylvania. An investigation is going on.

The fiat has gone forth that all Sunday business at Niagara Falls, Ont., must stop immediately, and those who say so are the local committee of the Lord's Day Alliance, acting at the instigation of Rev. J. G. Shearer, field secretary. Any offenders against the law will have to answer for their sins, as Chief Mains will see to it that the new order of things is strictly enforced.

S. G. Kitchen of St. George, Ont., was seriously injured on Friday night on his farm while exercising a bull, which got beyond his control. The animal suddenly turned on him, knocking him over and rendering unconscious, and had it not been that that the bull was dehorned, would have been gored to death before help could be obtained. Friday at a late hour the doctor gave hopes of recovery.

BOUNTY ON REFINED LEAD.

A Sliding Scale Beginning at Five Dollars a Ton.

Ottawa, May 18.—The silver-lead miners of British Columbia will be delighted to learn that the Government has decided to grant a bonus in aid of the refining of lead in this country. The deputation that waited upon the Cabinet some time ago asked for a bonus of $5 a ton for five years. It has been thought best, however, to adopt a sliding scale of bounties. These are restricted to lead refined in the Dominion from materials produced in Canadian smelters from Canadian lead ore. The bounty begins at $5 a ton, and is reduced by a dollar each year until 1906, when it will be discontinued. The scale will thus be as follows: Calendar year 1902, $5 a ton; 1903, $4; 1904, $3; 1905, $2; 1906, $1. The bounties are to be paid half yearly, but the total sum so payable is not to exceed $100,000 in any year. If the sum earned during any half year exceeds $50,000 the bounties are to be reduced as regards that six months, so that the maximum payable shall not be more than the $50,000. If the sum earned is less than $50,000 the balance is to be carried to the credit of the next half year, and may be paid out in addition to the amount falling due for the latter period. The payments of bounties as well as the rates and charges for refining are to be made in accordance with regulations to be framed by the Government. The bounties are to cease on 31st December, 1906.

Toronto's Big Boxing Bout.

Toronto, May 18.—Jim Ferns of Kansas and Matty Matthews of Brooklyn (champion) will box at the Crescent Athletic Club on May 24 for the welterweight championship of the world, 20 rounds at 142 pounds. The club was required to guarantee a purse of $1,000 for the match. Two preliminary bouts are also on the card.

THE NON-JURY SITTINGS.

BEFORE HON. MR. JUSTICE ROBERTSON.

Open on Monday at Noon — A Small Docket.

The Non-Jury Sittings of the High Court of Justice for the County of Peterborough will open on Monday at one o'clock before the Honourable Mr. Justice Robertson. There are only three cases on the docket.

Dover vs. The Haliburton Lumber Co.

The plaintiff, Fred Dover, resides in the Town of Peterborough, and the defendants are engaged in lumbering operations in the Township of Dysart, in the provisional County of Haliburton. The plaintiff seeks to recover from defendants damages, alleging that the defendants and their servants and workmen during the fall and winter of the years 1900-1901 wrongfully broke and entered the plaintiffs lands in the Township of Dysart, and cut down, and carried away and destroyed five hundred pine trees and one hundred cedar and black ash trees, standing and being on the said lands. Also that the defendants, their servants and workmen wrongfully cut roads through the woods on said lands, and cut and left large quantities of brush and "slash," thereby exposing the remainder of the timber on the said lands to be destroyed by forest fires.

The plaintiff claims:

1. Damages for the wrongs complained of.
2. An injunction restraining the defendants from any repetition of the acts complained of.
3. The costs of the action.

The defendants in their statement of defence deny the allegations in the statement of claim, and as an alternative defence they bring into court $175, and say that the sum is enough to satisfy the plaintiff's claim.

E. B. Edwards, K. C., for plaintiff; Blake, Lush & Cassels, for defendants.

The Standard Co. vs. The Dickson Co. of Peterborough, Limited.

This is an action dating back for ten years or more, and was tried at Cobourg before the late Hon. Mr. Justice Rose in 1891, but for some reason not concluded.

In the record which was prepared at that time it would appear that the plaintiffs were a company carrying on business at Montreal and elsewhere in buying lumber and re-selling the same, and the defendants were a company in business in Peterborough and elsewhere as manufacturers of lumber.

The plaintiffs allege that in the month of April, 1891, the defendants agreed to sell and deliver to the plaintiffs, five million square feet of merchantile lumber of the description known as "mill run," at the price of $15 per 1000 feet, subject to a deduction of 2 per cent. of the price for cash; and also two million square feet of merchantable lumber of the description known as common lumber at the price of $9.50 per 1000 feet, subject to a like deduction.

The plaintiffs claim in effect that the defendants failed to carry out this contract, and ask for $20,000 damages.

The defendants deny the allegations contained in the plaintiffs' statement of claim, and after reciting a number of alleged deviations from the terms of the original contract, put in a contra claim of $10,000 damages.

E. B. Edwards, K. C., for plaintiffs; Hall & Hayes for defendants.

Gage vs. Dunsford.

The plaintiff in this case is Georgina M. M. Gage, a widow, residing in Otonabee, and the defendants is her sister, also a widow, residing in the town of Lindsay.

The action is brought to have it ordered that the plaintiff may be declared to be the owner of certain lands in the Township of Otonabee, and that the defendant holds the same in trust for her, and that the defendant may be ordered to convey the same to the plaintiff; that the defendant be ordered to account to the plaintiff for the expenditure of the moneys alleged to have been given her for the purchase of the said lands, and such other and further relief as the court may see meet.

The defendant puts in a lengthy defence, alleging amongst other things that the plaintiff never requested her to furnish a statement of how the moneys were spent, and that the said defendant has expended in excess of the $2,000 advanced by the plaintiff, considerable sums of money in making improvements to the premises. She asks that the action be dismissed.

E. B. Stone for plaintiff; D. R. Anderson, Lindsay, for defendant.

Parton Committed For Trial.

Parry Sound, May 18.—The preliminary hearing of the Parton case was continued before the Police Magistrate yesterday.

Mrs. Isaac Hurd, who lives in the neighborhood of the Parton farm, testified that, on the morning of the fire, whilst over at Edward Hurd's place, talking of the fire, old man Parton came in. He said that he heard the children upstairs, and supposed that they made the noise because of the fire and smoke there. He also said he supposed the fire was caused by the lamp in the children's room. This testimony was given very positively.

The Magistrate, in view of this important evidence, committed the prisoner for trial.

Prices Will Be Advanced.

Toronto, May 18.—All day yesterday the Canners' and Packers' Association discussed trade matters in secret session, and the end is not yet. President H. I. Matthews of Lakeport was in the chair, about one-third of the canneries in the Province being represented. Several hours were devoted to a discussion of the proposed advance in prices for the coming season's pack, and also for the goods on hand, and a scale was fixed which was satisfactory to all present, but will have to be submitted to every canner in the association before it is adopted. It is thought that the arrangement will be satisfactory, as every effort was made to meet all the conditions of the DEATH OF MR. J. W. FITZGERALD.

(From the Catholic Register.)

Not only in Ontario, but in the United States and Ireland will the announcement of the death of Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald, of Peterborough, be heard with regret. He was one of the Irishmen in Canada who unceasingly kept himself in touch with the affairs of his native land. His contribution was always first whenever aid to the national movement was asked for, in Ireland, the United States or Canada. Unselfish in his own devotion, he regarded with affection such men as Hon. Edward Blake, who have devoted their time and talents to the Home Rule Cause. In his profession Mr. Fitzgerald held a high place. He was a devout Catholic and a citizen whose worth was acknowledged by the people of Peterborough of every creed and class.

An Orillia fiddler known at "Goosequill Jack," ran short of fiddlestrings, and cut off a horse's tail to secure the necessary material. The owner of the horse, who does not reside in Orillia, found the horse bathed in blood and is raising quite a fuss about the cruelty which the act involved. It is very evident that he never had the pleasure (?) of witnessing a lacrosse match in Orillia.

Chickens are now plucked in a wholesale manner by the use of pneumatic machinery. There is a receptacle in which the fowl is placed after being killed and into this are turned several cross currents of air from electrical fans revolving at the rate of 5,000 turns a minute. In the twinkling of an eye the bird is stripped of its feathers, even to the tiniest particles of down, and the machine is ready for another.

One touch of Christianity greatly strengthens the kinship of the whole world, and we are glad to see the following kindly words in the Canadian Freeman, a leading journal reflecting the opinions of the Roman Catholic church, with reference to the late Archbishop Lewis. They reflect a broad, kindly and just spirit which, unfortunately, is not as general as it ought to be, and which, if general, would make for that unity which is so desirable. The Freeman says:

"Kingstonians of all denominations will regret to learn of the death of Archbishop Lewis, who was nearly all his life connected with the Anglican Diocese of Ontario. He passed away while en route to England, after a long siege of illness in New York City. The venerable gentleman was 76 years of age, and had done much for the Anglican Church in Canada. He was consecrated in St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, in 1862, and the boys of that time are the men of to-day. He was undoubtedly one of the cleverest men of his Church in Canada, being highly educated. His clearness of thought and expression was a distinguishing characteristic of his mind. The Catholic people of Kingston in turn, extend their sympathy to their separated brethren in the death of their venerable Archbishop, who had lived and laboured so long in our midst."

OTONABEE COUNCIL.

The Otonabee Council met at Keene on May 14th. Robert Richardson and Sons' statute labour was commuted for 1901 and 1902 for placing stones and covering them with clay on the swamp road north of the base line on the 7th line. The sum of $1,600 was voted to be appropriated for the roads. John Smith's tender for cedar plank at $11 per M. was accepted. Mrs. Jas. Christie made application for charity; referred to Mr. Fife to enquire into. Mrs. James Rutherford applied for the lows taken out of the crossway on the base line on the 11th concession; referred to Mr. Weir with power to act. Petitions were received from the residents of the road beat north of Keene and the Fife Settlement to have their statute labour commuted; the clerk was instructed to prepare a bylaw in accordance. As announced the new grader was tested on the hill south of Keene, and drew a large number of interested spectators. It was operated by Mr. Gardhouse, of the Sawyer-Massey Co., and drawn by three powerful teams owned by Jas. Elmhirst, G. Eason, and Z. Renwick. On motion, the operator will be paid $1.50, and man and team $2.75 per day.

The Board of Health met on the same day. Complaint has again been made of the waste water nuisance near the post office. The secretary was instructed to notify Dr Shaw and Wm. J. Read, from whose houses the flow is coming that it must be abated before the 15th of June next. Moved by Mr. Weir, seconded by Mr. Devell, that owing to the greatly increased number of small-pox cases in the province, and not knowing how soon it may be in our midst, would again strongly urge the preventive means of vaccination. Mr. Robertson's complaint re skating rink water closet was again laid over for further consideration.

Weary Brain Workers

Fagged out, ideas come as slowly as molasses. You think of things just a minute or two too late. Snap's gone! The buoyancy that made work a pleasure—that's gone too. The doctor would tell you that you are run down, not eating enough nor digesting enough. Your blood needs aid, your digestion needs a bracer too. Your blood requires Phosphorus and Iron that it may be formed readily. Now Ferrozone is a wonderful nerve bracer and blood maker. It's food for the blood and nerves, it will make you strong quickly and permanently.—Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

A National Measure in Which the Opposition Co-Operates—The Imperial Coins —Object of Making It a Branch of the Royal Mint—To Use Our Own Gold—A Purchasing Assay Office.

Ottawa, May 18.—A very heavy day's work was done by the House yesterday, and all the Government bills upon the order paper save two were given third readings. Mr. Fielding's resolution granting $75,000 yearly for the maintenance of a branch of the Royal Mint at Ottawa was reported, and a bill founded upon it was given third reading. Mr. Fielding announced that he expected the mint to be self-sustaining, and that arrangements had been made with the Imperial authorities to coin British sovereigns when the mint is not employed in coining Canadian currency. It is probable that $2.50, $5 and $10 will be the denominations of Canada gold coins issued. A purchasing assay office is also to be opened, but whether it will be located at Dawson City or in British Columbia has yet to be determined. As correspondence respecting the contract between New South Wales and the Eastern Extension Company is still proceeding, Sir Wilfrid Laurier had a clause inserted in the Pacific Cable bill providing that the act shall not go into operation until the Governor-General issues his proclamation. Sir Wilfrid Laurier pointed out to Mr. Clarke legal and practical objections in the way of the Government at this late stage of the session adopting his bill restricting the Bell Telephone Company as a Government measure.

The Canadian Mint.

Mr. Fielding moved the House into committee upon his resolution granting a sum not exceeding $75,000 annually for defraying the expenses connected with the maintenance of a branch of the Royal Mint in Canada. He said that the desire to have a mint in Canada might be said to be the outcome of a legitimate national pride. The Dominion mineral production had largely increased in the past few years, yet Canada was behind Australia, three of the states of that Commonwealth having mints. It was said that trade followed the flag, but there were some people who thought that trade followed the gold. Seattle had been very largely built up by the trade which resulted from the handling of gold from the Yukon country. There was the difference in Canada as compared with Australia, that we had here a paper currency system, based on a strong gold foundation; and also that we had a decimal currency, while the British system was used in Australia. As to the control of the Canadian branch, it would be practically with the Royal Mint authorities. Canada placed a certain sum annually at their disposal, and they could account to the Government for its expenditure.

Canada thus got the privilege of making British gold sovereigns, so that when all the gold, silver and copper coinage required for Canada was minted, the mint could be employed during spare time in making sovereigns out of Canadian gold.

Mr. Fielding said we would not also mint British silver coins. There was no profit in minting gold, as gold was worth about as much in any other form as in coin. But in making silver coins there was a large profit and we could not expect England to forego that advantage. In Canada we now employed between 25 and 26 million dollars of gold in United States gold coin mostly for reserve purposes. A sufficient gold coinage would be minted to meet the demands of Canada, which are smaller than most people imagine, for it was not part of the Government's plan to displace the present standard of currency. Those demands satisfied the mind would turn out British gold coins.

A very considerable amount of the new gold Canadian coinage would be required for the reserve held by Canadian banks. Up to a certain point we required only a certain quantity of gold to be held as reserve. But for every dollar of notes issued in excess of that the Government required a gold dollar to place behind it. That point was $20,000,000, the reserve for which was required to be 15 per cent. in gold and 10 per cent. in Canadian debentures guaranteed in Great Britain. That point was reached some years ago and since then they had been holding gold dollar for dollar.

By the arrangement in Australia the Royal mint authorities ran the mints there, rendering an account at the end of the year and if the whole of the revenue had not been expended the balance would be returned.

The Canadian Government, therefore, proposed to give the Royal Mint a guarantee of $75,000 a year for the expenses of the mint here, but that sum would not likely be all required. Besides the annual cost of maintenance the Government would have to provide a mint and the sum of $50,000 was now asked for that purpose.

In Australia the mints were very expensive, but the Government here had had plans prepared in England for a modest building two storeys in front and one in the rear. It would be a plain building, which was estimated to cost $200,000 or perhaps less. Then a high fence or wall would have to be erected around the building with an iron defensive wall. Somewhat ornamental, on top of that.

This would cost $14,400 more, vaults and strong rooms would cost $45,000—so that the total cost of building, vaults and enclosure would be $259,400.

Taking the equipment, therefore, at $300,000, equal to $9,000 a year, the total annual outlay would be about $74,000. Against that was to be placed the profit on silver and copper coinage, there being no profit on gold. At present the value of bar silver was so low compared with silver coinage, that if the Government could turn out an unlimited amount of silver coins it could make lots of money. There would only be issued, however, what the country would absorb. He thought the fear of a large issue was the cause of the objection of the banks to a Canadian mint. But they need have no apprehension on the score. Weaker nations than Canada might be tempted to make an extensive issue of silver, which no Government in Canada would descend to. He would ask honorable gentlemen opposite to trust the present Government in that regard just as he would be disposed to trust them.

As to this incidental profit, coinage in Canada had made an average yearly profit during the past 10 years of over $94,000. So that our mint would be self-sustaining. Of course we could save money by not having a mint of our own at all, just as we could save money by having our notes printed in England instead of in Ottawa, but that could not properly be called a national spirit. Allowing $74,000 as the annual cost of the mint we should, however, have an average annual profit of $20,000 to the good.

Mr. Fielding went on to say that in order to carry out fully the object of the Government there would also be a purchasing assay office somewhere in the west; he was not prepared to say where, at the moment. Some advised that it should be in Dawson, others argued, and with force, that it should be established in British Columbia. However, as it would not be done this season, it would be decided during the summer and the visit to the west of Mr. Sifton, and, he hoped, the Premier would help to decide the matter. In conclusion, Mr. Fielding expressed the hope that the arrangement would be one that would give general satisfaction.

Based on the experience of Seattle, a building for an assay office would be rented and the annual cost would be under $20,000.

The mint itself will be located in Ottawa on land owned by the Government and, therefore, we shall not ask any appropriation for a site.

Mr. Borden approved of the proposal and expressed his belief that not only would the profit be greater on the coinage, but a larger amount of gold coinage would be used than the Minister apprehended. He asked why the vote was not taken from time to time by estimate instead of by statute?

Mr. Fielding replied the reason was that the British Government desired such an arrangement.

Mr. Maclean inquired what denominations of gold coins it was proposed to mint.

The Finance Minister replied two and a half dollar, five dollar and ten dollar pieces. He did not think any larger gold coins would be issued. The British sovereign to be minted at Ottawa would be legal tender the world over.

The resolution was then passed and a bill founded on it was introduced and read a first time.

The bill is entitled: "An act to provide for the establishment and maintenance of the Ottawa branch of the Royal Mint."

Other Matters.

The bill to provide for a further annual allowance for the Province of Prince Edward Island, which was under discussion in committee when this question was raised, caused not a little discussion on the general question of subsidies to Provinces.

The bill was reported at 1 o'clock and read a third time.

The Gas and Electric Light Inspection bills were read a third time and passed.

In reply to a question, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that Hon. Mr. Mulock had received informal instructions to ascertain to what extent it is possible to increase trade between Canada and the Australian colonies and to make a report to the Government.

Bills Passed.

The bill providing a subsidy of $100,000 per annum for a direct line of steamers between Canada and France was read a third time and passed.

The bill to amend the Pacific Cable Act was also read a third time and passed.

C. P. R. Exemption.

On the motion to go into supply, Mr. Richardson moved the following amendment:

That this House having by resolution, on the second day of April last, declared its intention of obtaining a judicial interpretation of the clause of the Canadian Pacific Railway contract relating to the exemption from taxation of the company's land grant, the House now requests the Government to make the contention before the courts that the exemption period contemplated in the contract began when the contract granting the subsidies, both in cash and lands, was ratified by Parliament.

After debate the amendment was defeated by 99 to 12. Those voting for it were: Messrs. Blain, Bourassa, Johnston (Cardwell), Lavell, Maclean, McGowan, Oliver, Puttee, Richardson (Lisgar), Robinson (Elgin), Roche (Marquette), and Wallace.

The House then went into committee of supply.

HOTEL PROPRIETOR WINS HIS CASE.

Under an Unjust Penalty for Eight Years.

Bright's Disease Held the Sentence of Death Over his Head—Suffered all the Misery of Broken Health in the Meanwhile — His Deliverence by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dresden, May 15, (Special.)—Allan McIntosh, proprietor of the well-known Clifford House here, in conversation at his house to-day, made a statement that cannot fail to carry with it the weight and influence of the speaker.

"Gentlemen," said he, "Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of Bright's Disease after eight years of torture."

To say that his hearers were surprised, but faintly expresses it. Mr. McIntosh looked so far from an invalid at the present time that the news of his former affliction with a dreadful malady like Bright's Disease, sounds unreal and improbable.

"I had Bright's Disease for over eight years," repeated Mr. McIntosh. "I could get absolutely nothing to help me. Bright's Disease was incurable, I found. My back was a continual ache. My urine was of that dark colour which is the most alarming symptom of the disease.

"Gentlemen, I tell you I was in a bad way. Bright's Disease means death if you dont cure it, and I could get nothing to cure it. In fact I was told it was incurable, and believed it. But it isn't. Dodd's Kidney Pills can cure it. They cured me. I used seven boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and Bright's Disease left me. Only for Dodd's Kidney Pills you wouldn't see me here before you this minute."

The facts as related by Mr. McIntosh are universally confirmed by the people of Dresden.

The World Over

Throughout the civilized world one fact is becoming plainer and plainer every day—Japanese Catarrh Cure is the only sure, permanent cure for Catarrh. Grateful letters come from the far cornere of the earth, Europe, Australia, United States, and Canada, telling of the positive lasting cures performed by Japanese Catarrh Cure when all other remedies had afforded only temporary relief. The fact of people sending thousands of miles across seas and continents for the few boxes that cure them, proves that for Catarrh in every form nothing on the face of the globe equals

JAPANESE CATARRH CURE

Rev. S. Edgar Hunt, Fallinddling Isle of Wight, England: "I regret that I omitted obtain Japanese Catarrh Cure here, and enclose a post office order for six boxes. Japanese Catarrh Cure is the only medicine of the many I have tried that has done me any real good."

Messrs. Cornell & Co., Richmond, Australia: "Enclosed find order for six more cases Japanese Catarrh Cure. We must say this has proved itself an article of undoubted merit. It will have an enormous sale here when more widely known."

J. S. Hazzall, 615 W. 39th Avenue, Omaha, Nebraska, U. S. A.: "I have tried about every Catarrh remedy made on this side the line, but never got the slightest permanent benefit. Some time ago I sent to Canada for a box of Japanese Catarrh Cure, and from the first application it seemed to touch the spot, Catarrh entirely left me before the box was used up."

Blinda Hawes, Goose Bay, Newfoundland: "I must say Japanese Catarrh Cure cured me, partially after a score of other advertised cures had failed."

Mrs. Parr, Chilliwhack, B. C.: "My husband tried all the advertised remedies and many doctors, but in every case the catarrh came back. One year ago he used Japanese Catarrh Cure, and since finishing the treatment has not the slightest sign of catarrh."

Japanese Catarrh Cure is 50 cents a box at D. Tully's drug store or sent postpaid by the Griffiths & Macphenson Co., 121 Church street, Toronto.

IN A RUSSIAN PRISON.

A SUSPECT'S ACCOUNT OF HIS FIRST DAY IN A FILTHY CELL.

Covered Almost Instantly With Horrid and Hungry Vermin—Wearing the Cloak of a Diseased Convict. How Time Is Passed In the Jails of Russia.

I was taken into one of the little courts in which were four cells, each with room for ten persons. The sleeping berths were for ten persons, but the space between these berths and the wall was so narrow as to make it difficult for all the ten to walk at once. Several of them generally sit or lie on the berths. All the cells were open, and the prisoners were in the court. Some were mending their ragged clothing, some knitting stockings, some merely lying or sitting in the sun. Most of them, however, were employed in destroying parasites in their hair or clothing.

Several persons surrounded me and asked who I was, how long I was to stay and where I was going. No one inquired why I was in prison. That question is considered impolite in prison society. After having satisfied the curiosity of the questioners, most of whom were in chains and were to be transported to Siberia, I was taken into a cell, where a vacant place was shown me on a sleeping berth an ell wide, with a dirty pillow stuffed with straw and no mattress or blanket, for both of which the prisoner's cloak serves.

The prisoner who showed me my place was the "elder of the ward" (starosta). He was very amiable to me and recommended one berth, remarking: "There's plenty of room here. There are only ten of us. In all the other cells there are 15. That's why I put you here." The fact is that the elder was building hopes on me. He had noticed that I wore spectacles and had therefore concluded that I must be a "gentleman" and of course must know how to write, and he was just then very anxious to write a petition.

I of course consented and asked him to explain to me his business. He began an account, from which my attention was distracted by a sudden sensation of burning all over. "Oh! Is it they?" he asked, breaking off. "They?" I repeated, wondering. He nodded. My experience was familiar to him. "Never mind," he said consolingly, "they only bite so furiously just at first. You won't feel them after a bit."

I tore off my cloak. My shirt was literally covered with vermin. They were in such swarms that I stood horror stricken. It seemed to me that I must die from them. My new friend, still trying to console me, helped me off with my shirt, and we went out into the court. Laying down the cloak in the hot sunshine to get warm, we employed ourselves in clearing the shirt of vermin. Before laying the cloak on the ground the elder held it up for me to look at, and it seemed to me to be almost free from insects. But after a few minutes he called my attention to it again.

The vermin hidden in the coarse canvas texture had come out to the heat. It was only then that I understood in what condition the clothing was that had been given me. I drew back with the bitter conviction that it was useless to struggle against such endless legions. But my instructor assured me that there was no need to despair, that I must have patience and that by working at it 18 hours a day one could get rid of a great many in two days. There was nothing for it but to follow his advice; not that I had any hope of success, but rather from sheer desperation. But we had not long to sit in the court. At 7 p. m. our names were called over, and we were locked up in the cell. We lighted some tiny lamps, filled with grease, and went on with our work.

Some had contrived to get hold of a pack of cards and spent the time in playing, though with frequent interruptions, as at any moment the sentinel might look in and catch the gamblers in the act, which would have resulted in a search and the confiscation of the cards. One of the prisoners, therefore, stood admiring the beauties of the darkness, acting meanwhile as scout, and gave notice with a movement of his foot every time the sentinel approached. Then instantly all the gamblers would put on the most innocent air and occupy themselves in some other way. At 5 a. m. we were let out. I had not slept at all nor obtained one moment's relief from the torment of the vermin.

The prisoners crowded round the well and drank. Some took off their clothing and washed it, remaining naked while they did so. The morning chilliness was still in the air. I and my new friend resumed our toil of the day before. He was evidently well accustomed to the work and looked compassionately upon my ignorance and clumsiness. "You don't a bit know how to manage. You look half afraid of them. You shouldn't go at it so gingerly. I know whose cloak that is," he went on. "A fortnight ago there was a fellow here—'Jack Fool' we used to call him. Quite a natural one, you know.

"He was always soft in his head, and then he was ill, too—just all over wounds and sores from head to foot. Well, there he'd lie, and of course he got all over these creatures. He never tried to get rid of them. Of course a decent fellow wouldn't let his cloak get into that state, but the fool didn't care—not he. He didn't seem to have any feeling somehow."

On learning the biography of my cloak I appealed to him in horror to know whether I could not possibly get it changed for another. He at first maintained that it was quite needless, that he could get rid of the vermin, that one could not catch diseases from clothes, etc., but he failed to convince me. "Of course," he remarked at last, "one can get it changed. It'll cost a lot, but it can be done. Here, sir, anything can be got for money. Why, not only clean things, you can have spirits, playing cards, paper, pens and ink—anything you like."

My cloak was changed that day. Prisoners are not allowed to have money in their possession, but a prisoner who has money to his account in the office can buy things in the prison shop by order.

The dealer, like a banker, cashes your order, though in goods instead of money, and takes 20 per cent himself for trouble and risk.

That evening I felt far less miserable in consequence of a clean cloak.

The Knowing Bee.

"Bees are very intelligent," commented the great scientist. "We have reason to believe they can count as high as ten."

"Yes, indeed," added the common person, "and I have often heard of the spelling bee."

The Ideal Maid.

Oh, do not paint her charms to me!
I know that she is fair.
I know her lips might tempt the bee,
And her form's beyond compare.
Such natural gifts I do not prize;
My heart they cannot win.
The girl I love has squinty eyes,
But her father's got the tin.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

THE GREAT REGULATOR OF THE DIGESTIVE ORGANS.

The Only Medicine That Gives Tone and Strength to the Weakened and Irritated Nerves of the Stomach and Digestive Machinery.

The lives of the majority of men and women are made miserable by some form of stomach derangement. It may be common indigestion, biliousness, flatulence, waterbrash, heartburn, or the ordinary weak stomach. Paine's Celery Compound quickly overcomes every trouble, gives tone and strength to the weak and overworked stomach, stimulates the appetite, puts the digestive apparatus in proper condition to pass the food over to the blood to be converted into nerve, brain, muscle and tissue. Miss Hien of Egansville, Ont., writes as follows:

"I was troubled with a severe pain in my stomach for four years and could not eat meat or any strong food. I was under the care of doctors, and used a vast number of patent medicines, but received no benefit. A lady friend who had been cured by Paine's Celery Compound, after years of suffering, advised me to give your medicine a trial. I did so, and was completely cured. I can eat any kind of food now and feel well and strong."

Too Much For Him.

He fought grim foemen over seas,
He chased the wild beast to its lair;
He stopped the maddened steed and saved
The frightened maid, so frail, so fair;
But, oh, he quailed when asked to hold
His sister's babe, so wee, so sweet,
While she put on her things and went
To make a call across the street.

SIGNESS AND BRAINS.

Lombroso Figured Out More Short Geniuses Than Tall Ones.

From investigations among soldiers and from the literature of the subject there is no doubt in my own mind that if a man's development is so unstable that he has psychical stigmata he is invariably of bad physical development also and has numerous psychical stigmata. As far as I know, there are few if any cases of abnormal minds in average bodies devoid of stigmata. It is a fair inference, then, that if a man's body is nearly an average in all respects, height, weight, proportions, etc., there must also be an average brain and therefore a normal mind, excluding, of course, normal men who have acquired insanity. Beyond this we dare not go, for there is absolutely no relation between intelligence and stature. Men of genius may be big like Bismarck or little like Napoleon or De Costa, and the same may be said of the feeble minded as well as those of average intelligence. George Washington's physical measurements are said to have been identical with those of Jeffries, the giant pugilist. Other illustrations might be given indefinitely.

It is true that the human brain weight depends upon the body weight, for many muscles require many brain cells. In like manner the sparrow needs but a few grains of brain, while the whale and elephant must have more than man. Yet that indescribable and immeasurable variable called intelligence depends upon other things in addition to weight of brain, and the increase of brain weight due to increased stature consists of tissue which may not and probably does not have any bearing upon intelligence.

A big physique with immense reserve power and endurance is a decided element in forcing men to the front in the struggle of life. This is in accordance with investigations among school children, which are said to show that the best scholars in any class are appreciably bigger than the rest. Hence, other things being equal, the big men, having an advantage, should have a larger percentage of their number successful than the little men. Yet statistics show the very opposite, for Lombroso mentions ("Man of Genius," page 6) but 26 great men of tall stature, while he names 51 who are short, some of them being even dwarfish or less than five feet in height. As the anomalies of height are equally distributed on each side fo the mean there must be some tremendously active cause to make the little men more than twice as brilliant as the big. The two classes, being equally removed from the average, should be equally abnormal mentally.—Dr. Charles E. Woodruff in Medical Review.

MALT BREAKFAST FOOD

IS KING OF THE BREAKFAST TABLE.

Delicious, palate tickling and healthful Malt Breakfast Food, while it reigns in thousands of families as the King of the Breakfast Table, has also extended its fame and sway to the best hotels and restaurants of the Dominion, and has clearly demonstrated its superiority over the common grain foods such as oatmeal, cracked wheat, hominy, etc.

Malt Breakfast Food, with its peculiarly delicious flavour, its great nutritive properties, its adaptability for the digestion of weak and strong people has become the favourite breakfast food with old and young, and is talked of in the homes of rich and poor and in our palatial hotels and restaurants. Try a package of the great health food that all the best physicians are recommending. One 15 cent package of Malt Breakfast Food makes from twenty-five to thirty meals; as cheap as the cheapest oatmeal. All grocers.

WANTED TO BE A MEDIATOR.

Mountaineer Took Kindly to Suggestion of Interposing Friend.

As we sat smoking our pipes by the fireplace I ventured to say to mine host that I had heard of the feud between the Johnsons and the Robinsons and asked him to tell me how it came about. He scratched his head and looked puzzled and finally said:

"It's a good way back, and I've dun forgot. Reckon it was about a dawg."

"That's what I've heard, that your dog chased a mule of his which was feeding in front of your house. Robinson got mad about it, you had high words and then the feud began which has lasted 18 years. Is it true?"

"Reckon that's the way of it," he slowly replied.

"There wasn't much in that to quarrel about?"

"No."

"But two or three people have been killed on either side on account of it, I understand."

"Three on one side and two on t'other," he answered after counting on his fingers, "and two more wounded."

He seemed so calm and good natured about it that I thought I might go further, and after a bit I asked:

"Uncle Ben, don't you think this quarrel ought to be fixed up?"

"Might be," he replied as he gazed into the fire in a blank way.

"Suppose, for instance, that I volunteer my services as mediator."

"Waal?"

"How would you suggest that I go to work to bring peace between the two families?"

The old man rose up and took the tongs and replaced a brand which had fallen on the hearth and then sat down and asked:

"Do you know where Robinson lives?"

"Yes. Three miles up the road."

"Kin you shoot?"

"Fairly well."

"Waal, you take your gun and sot out fur Robinson's. Git the hull crowd from the old man down to the last young un into the house and then fasten all the doors and begin poppin at 'em through the winders. Keep it up till the last one has turned up his toes, and when you come back with the news thar'll be an end to the quarrel and we'll hev peace."

No Desire to Injure.
A few days ago there appeared in the Examiner a paragraph referring to outside contractors who had been engaged in contract work in Peterborough. Mr. W. J. Bailey, of Toronto, who had a contract in Peterborough, considered that the article reflected upon him, and he has complained to us of the injustice done to him by its publication. The information supplied to the Examiner was considered at the time to be reliable, and was such as to cause the comments to be made. It is not the desire of the Examiner to reflect injuriously upon any contractor; and since the inferences drawn from the paragraph were quite without foundation, regret is therefore expressed that use was made in the Examiner of information from which inaccurate conclusions could be drawn, by which anyone should be injured or unfavourably affected.

Mr. W. B. Bletcher, who for some time has been an employee of the Canadian General Electric Co., left to-day for Toronto where he assumes a more lucrative position. Last night Mr. Bletcher was given a suitable send off by his fellow members of Eko Camp of which he has been for so many years an enthusiastic member. At Eko Camp rooms he was presented with a beautiful ring, accompanied by a well worded little speech from Mr. Frank Packenham. Mr. Bletcher replied briefly, thanking the boys for their kindness.

POPULATION OVER 11 THOUSAND.

Town Will Have Two More Aldermen.

PETERBOROUGH'S INCREASE.

It has Grown Very Rapidly During the Past Year—Some Comparisons —Census Returns.

"What will be the population of the town of Peterborough, according to the census recently taken," is a thought that has, no doubt, crossed the minds of many since the work of the local enumerators has been completed, but so far, the public has been kept strictly in the dark in this regard. The instructions that were issued to the enumerators, both local and district were, that no information was to be given to the public until received through the proper channels from Ottawa, and despatches from the Capital state that it will be impossible to announce the returns for the whole Dominion before July first, but that the population of the districts will be announced from time to time, when completed. Notwithstanding this fact there has been announced in the newspapers of various towns throughout the Province alleged returns, which invariably show an increase of population. How this information was obtained is not known, but most likely it has been carefully figured out with the assessment rolls of the preceeding few years as a basis of comparison, together with what little information that may have inadvertently leaked out. It is in this manner that the EXAMINER is able to state without fear of being very much out in the calculation, that the population of the town of Peterborough, will, according to the returns that will shortly be made public, show a population of about 11,350 souls. This appears to be pretty precise guessing but there need be no fear as to the probability of its not being about right.

According to the last census which was taken in 1891, Peterborough showed a population of 9,717. The assessment roll completed in October, 1899, showed the town to have a population of 10,554. ratepayers and their families. In October 1900, one year later, the assessment showed that there were 10,879 ratepayers and their families, an increase of 325. By wards the assessment roll showed :—

" " 2	2.195
" " 3	2,765
" " 4	2.045
Total	10,879

Of course the assessment roll is not nearly so complete as the census enumerators work, but notwithstanding this fact there has been a very large increase in Peterborough's population during the past year. Taking the assessment roll of '00 as being correct, and the EXAMINER'S prediction as to the census just taken there would be an increase of 471. This would be somewhat over the mark but there is reason to believe that there has been an increase of at least 200.

With this rapid increase of population a new question arises, viz: the representation in the town council. Until the municipal elections of 1899, Peterborough had twelve representatives at the council board, but by the Municipal Amendment Act of 1898, passed by the Ontario Legislature, it was enacted that in towns having more than five thousand of a population and in cities having less than sixteen thousand population, the municipal council's may consist of a mayor, and an alderman for each one thousand of a population of the said town, according to the last census. Accordingly, on the 8th day of August, 1899, the town council passed a bylaw entitled "a bylaw respecting the council of the town of Peterborough." Clause 1 of this said bylaw reads : "The council of the town of Peterborough shall be composed of a mayor and one alderman for each one thousand of a population of the said town, as determined by the last census."

The council of the town of Peterborough, therefore, will be composed next year, and for the ten succeeding years, of a mayor and eleven aldermen. Peterborough, too, has reason to feel proud of her increased population, denoting, as it does, prosperity and activity in industrial circles. Nor is there any reason to suppose that in the next few years the increase will be any less, but on the other hand it should be decidedly greater.

LAKEFIELD PIC-NIC.

A Large Number Will Go Out from Town to Attend It.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick's 24th of May Lakefield Pic-nic promises to be more popular than ever before this year, and the indications are that large numbers will attend from town. Excursion rates will go into effect on the regular Grand Trunk trains in the morning and at noon, and arrangements have been made for a special to return at 8 p. m. Ample accommodations will be provided.

As usual, refreshments will be served on the grounds, and the hungry picnicker will be well looked after by the ladies at both dinner and supper time.

Hon. J. R. Stratton and Hon. Frank Latchford have both promised to be present and deliver addresses, and there will also be a number of other speakers in attendance. During the day the Lakefield Band will discourse sweet music. An excellent programme of sports has been arranged.

PETERBOROUGH BEN'S RETURN.

The Dog Arrived Home This Morning —His Experience.

"Peterborough Ben," of South African fame, arrived in town on the C.P.R morning train, and has been kept busy all morning receiving the hearty congratulations of his hosts of friends on his safe return. Mr. R. S. Davidson, "Ben's" owner, who presented him to Col. Steele, of the Strathconas, had, along with "Ben's" admirers, almost given up hope of seeing him again. Since his arrival in Canada he has been in Ottawa, awaiting arrangements for his proper disposal. This morning he made his appearance on the streets to the delight of the citizens, in charge of Mr. Alf. Brown, who so carefully looked after him in South Africa. He recognized Mr. Brown quite readily, and appeared to be glad to get back to his friends. "Ben" looks the same as the day he went away on his noble mission, and will be at home to his friends on an evening not yet arranged.

MR. A. G. PARKER LEAVING.

He has been Notified of his Transfer to the Management of the Belleville branch of the Bank of Montreal.

Mr. A. G. Parker, local manager of the Bank of Montreal, received notice from headquarters, this morning, to the effect that he was about to be transferred from the management of the Peterborough branch to that of the one in Belleville.

Universal regret will be felt by the citizens at the impending departure from town of Mr. Parker, as during his residence in Peterborough his activity in promoting the bank's welfare and the general interest which he took in all matters pertaining to the advancement of municipal affairs, brought him into close contact with the public and secured for him a popularity, which was well deserved. The kindness with which Mr. and Mrs. Parker have both placed their exceptional musical ability at the disposal of the various churches for concerts, etc., has been fully appreciated and their contributions in this respect will be greatly missed.

The Belleville branch of the Bank of Montreal is one of the most important of the bank's various agencies and Mr. Parker is to be congratulated on his advancement. The previous manager at Belleville is retiring on account of ill health. Mr. Parker will be replaced it is understood by Mr. W. H. Hogg, present manager of the Regina branch.

SPORTS FOR THE 24TH OF MAY.

Officials Who Willl Act During the Afternoon.

THE TORONTO FOOTBALLERS

Good Weather is all That is Needed to Make the Day a Grand Success— Entries for the Sports Should be Made Early.

The Committee on sports met last night to complete arrangements for the 24th and it is thought that when the day arrives, all that will be necessary for the enjoyment of all will be a suitable day.

A reply from the Scots Football Club, of Toronto, states that they will bring down a very strong team and intend administering a defeat to the Town team. They will also bring down some good men to compete in several events.

The following gentlemen were appointed to help run off the sports :—
Assistant Secretary—R. F. McWilliams.
Announcer—Mr. Complin.
Starter—J. M. McLeod.
Judges—Thos. Hay and Capt. Bennett.
Judges of Bayonet Contest—Lt. Col. Edwards and Mr. Walker.
Timer—Alex Gibson.
Scorer—G. B. Cameron.
Clerks of the course—Messrs. Jas. Hamilton, E. S. Clarry, Frank Packenham, R. A. W. Hay, C. B. Robertson, G. J. Tovey.

In order to facilitate the running off of the sports, it was decided to have entries closed on the evening of the 23rd. Post entries will be received on the grounds up to 2.30. All competitors are requested to put in their entries as soon as possible to the Secretary, A. W. McPherson.

The menagerie race will be arranged on Tuesday evening after drill. Each officer is asked to come prepared to enter an animal. The companies are asked to try and arrange the entries of their squads for Tuesday evening. Already numbers 3, 4, 5 and 6 have signified their intention of being represented. This race is to consist of five men in uniform ; they are to be connected by having a rope through their belts. This should be an exciting and interesting race.

These same companies as well as the Y. M.C.A. will likely compete in the relay race. The committee would like entries from a number of organizations such as the Edison's or the Hamilton works or any other organizations around the town. This is the last event of the running. It will likely come last and will take place on the track. Each relay will go once around.

One race is changed. Instead of having a regular wheelbarrow race, the Committee thought it would be more interesting to have a human wheelbarrow race. A man acting as a wheelbarrow will be driven 25 yards. Then the two change places and go back the 25 yards.

A programme of the sports will be gotten out. This will give the events in the proper order with the approximate time at which they will be run. The prises will be distributed as won.

THE CELEBRATION.

The Office was Crowded Last Night—The Telephone.

The committee rooms of the 24th celebration committee were crowded last night with citizens making enquiries concerning the event. The preparations for the same are going merrily on and the procession in the morning will certainly be a monstrous affair. A number of private floats that will be amusing in the extreme will be sprung on the public.

The old bridge-works where the work of constructing the floats is in progress, presents a very busy scene just now. It is like a shipbuilding yard.

A telephone has been placed in the office and Mr. D. H. Burrett may be called up at any hour of the day.

THE ROSS GOVERNMENT'S GRAND RECORD OF PROGRESS

As Developed by the Work of the Session of 1901.

PROMISES KEPT TO THE LETTER.

Hon. Mr. Stratton's Annual Address to His Constituents at Bensfort.

A Progressive Movement All Along the Line — Great Results of the Government's Forward Policy—New Ontario Developed, Old Ontario Benefitted—Resume of the Legislative Work of the Session —The Past Sets Pace for the Future.

The hall at Bensfort, South Monaghan, was well filled on Monday evening, with an audience of his constituents, assembled to hear the annual after-the-session address of Hon. Mr. Stratton, representative of West Peterborough, and Provincial Secretary, on the legislative work of the session recently brought to a close. More than usual interest was manifested as this was the first address delivered in South Monaghan by Mr. Stratton on Provincial topics since his acceptance of the portfolio he now holds in the Ross Government. Mr. John Riddell presided as chairman, and the pleasing story Mr. Stratton had to tell of the splendid manner in which the Ross Government had administered Provincial affairs during their two years of office, and the record presented of the great achievements already effected, were listened to with the closest attention, and frequently punctuated with applause. Much interest was added to portions of Mr. Stratton's remarks by the use of the fine new map of Northern Ontario, just issued by the Government, to point out the indicated areas of agricultural lands in the new territory, the sites of the several forest reserves, the sites of the several pulp concessions, the routes of the several railways aided by this government, and other interesting topographical features. After a few remarks, expressive of the pleasure it afforded him to again meet his constituents, Hon. Mr. Stratton said:—

During the fifteen years I have had the honour of representing the important riding of West Peterborough it has, as you are aware, been my practice after a Session of the Legislature to appear before my constituents and give a summary of the legislative and administrative Acts of the Legislature and the Government. Circumstances have always admitted of my having a good record to present, but I am happy to say that in all the time mentioned it has never been in my power to invite your attention to a more progressive, practical and in every way gratifying record of administration and legislation than that of the Session which has just closed. The prestige of the Government has been enhanced and the material interests of the province have been promoted to a degree that must be gratifying to both. A distinctive feature of the Session was, that it was the first Session of the Ontario Legislature of the 20th Century; it was the first Session of a new reign, at the close of the longest and most glorious reign of British history, during a third of which the affairs of the Province have practically been in the hands of a Liberal Administration. It is a pleasure to note that the record reign has been paralleled in excellent features by the record of the Provincial Government—never has a kingdom been better governed than during the sixty odd years of Queen Victoria's reign, and the affairs of a Province have never been better administered than have those of the Province of Ontario during the thirty odd years the Liberal Government has been in power. And to repeat the idea suggested a moment ago, never has there been a Session that has presented the evidence of more solid progress and stable soundness of financial conditions than the Session of 1901.

The Opening Features.

A feature of the Session was its opening, which found the chamber draped in mourning in memory of the departed Queen, and of course the first consideration was the adoption of resolutions of condolence worthy of the occasion, and in a Legislature where party feeling often runs high and where more or less acrimony of debate obtains, where there is marked difference of opinion, it was yet not at all surprising that the leaders of both sides of the House, voicing the opinions of their respective followings, were of one mind in their sentiments of loyal tribute to the virtues of the late Sovereign, to the glories of Her reign and of loyal devotion to the new Sovereign who succeeded her. On this account the debate on the address, which usually consumes a fortnight, was confined to the brief speeches of the mover and seconder and the closing addresses of the leaders.

The Sessional Programme.

The Speech from the Throne, the Sessional programme of the Government, was pitched to an aggressive note; aggressive, not in a controversial sense, but in the sense of its being expressive of the forward policy of the Ross Government, and the legislation founded upon it was quite in keeping with this character. The Public Accounts were promptly brought down and although they showed that in spite of an increase in expenditure over the previous year, due to steady development and expansion in all departments of government and to unusual expenditures—Cobourg Asylum construction, Patriotic Fund grant, exploration of northern Ontario and Ottawa and Hull Fire Relief Fund—totalling altogether $101,836—there was a surplus of $160,210.81 of receipts over expenditures on the current operations of the year. This was simply a forecast of the pleasant picture Hon. Premier Ross, Provincial Treasurer, had to present in his budget speech; and his showing of the present financial standing of the Province, was in keeping with the features of his interesting review of the administrative record and record of progress of the Province since Confederation, a presentation most appropriate to the first Session of a new century.

Income and Outlay.

The Premier showed that since Confederation the total revenue of the Province had been over 108 millions of dollars. The expenditure in that time had been a little over 107 millions, leaving a surplus on the operations of 34 years of over a million of dollars on the 31st of December 1901. Altogether the Government of the Province had handled in that time over 216 millions of dollars, "In regard to which," Hon. Mr. Ross truly said "there has been no loss, no scandal or no evidence of financial mismanagement whatever." No financial institution—not even the Bank of England—can show a cleaner record than that, and no Government has a better right to claim credit for such conditions than the Liberal Government of Ontario. Besides, it is to be borne in mind that of the immense sum expended, the large amount of over 80 millions of dollars has been spent on municipal and philanthropic services which relieved the people of the Province of direct taxation to that extent. (Applause).

Our Financial Standing.

The financial administration of the Province of Ontario has been of an excellence that cannot be challenged. True, the Opposition long tried to throw doubts upon the correctness of our financial position as set forth by successive Provincial Treasurers from time to time. To set at rest all doubts thus expressed and to place our financial standing upon an indubitable basis, Hon. Premier Ross, upon assuming the leadership of the Government, promised a Royal Commission to investigate and report upon our Provincial finances. That promise, like all other promises made by him at that time, was kept. The Commission was appointed, the Commission investigated, the Commission reported and that report showed that not only had all the claims made in respect of our financial standing been amply justified, but it also showed a financial standing which cannot be surpassed by any other state or country in the world. Their report demonstrated in brief that the Province has assets of $7,535,400.90, and liabilities of $4,954,929.43, leaving a surplus of assets of $2,580,471.80. But of our liabilities $3,135,070 are railway obligations, not payable at present, but the payment is spread over a period of forty years and is generally payable out of current revenue. If we deduct this amount, not presently payable, from our liabilities it will leave our total surplus of assets at $5,715,541. Our funded assets—apart from our cash in the bank—bring us an interest income of $312,000 a year. The amount on which this is payable at five per cent. is $6,277,761. Taking the value of money at 3½ per cent., the value assigned to it in calculating the obligations of the Province, the present value of this six million dollars odd of assets is the large sum of nine million dollars. (Applause). This is a financial standing of which any country might be proud, which, as I have before remarked, and it cannot be too often repeated, gives us a Province without a dollar of debt presently payable, with a million dollars of cash in the bank and with annual receipts in interest from funded investments sufficient to pay all our liabilities twice over. This condition was practically reached under previous administrations, but it is fitting in a sessional review to point out that the present Government has improved the financial position which it found on assuming office. Our assets in 1900, or at the end of 1899, were $7,368,917.20. On December 31st, last they were $7,535,400.70, an improvement of $166,483.70. The cash in the bank at the credit of the Province at the close of 1899 was $630,195.39. At the close of last year our cash credit at the bank was $1,083,546.31. Is it not very greatly to the credit of a Liberal administration that after nearly thirty years of continued government it can meet the House and the country and show cash assets of over a million dollars. (Applause).

A Big Policy Well Carried Out.

The present Government, under the leadership of Hon. G. W. Ross, entered upon its career with an ambitious policy looking to the development of the newer portions of the Province, as well as to a more intense development of the capabilities of the longer settled portions. Speaking at Whitby in the fall of 1899, soon after he had received his mandate of government, Mr. Ross outlined the programme of action to which his Government would be committed. This included an energetic campaign of development of the resources of New Ontario, investigation as to the extent of these resources, improvement of transportation facilities both rail and highway, the promotion of mining interests and industries, the encouragement and advancement of educational interests—with a view of giving education a more practical trend—helping the farmer to better markets by cold storage, securing home manufacture of our pulpwood, and thus bringing into utility long dormant resources, and stimulating the employment of capital and labour, placing our splendid financial position upon an unquestionable basis, and other things looking to an advanced movement all along the line of Provincial development and improvement. Generally speaking, in the short space of two years, this programme of policy has been almost literally carried out, with the result of imparting an immense stimulus to private (individual and associated) enterprise, involving the large employment of capital and labour, inciting profitable industrial and commercial activity, and at the same time vindicating the statesmanlike foresight of Hon. Premier Ross, and the energy and industry of himself and his colleagues and strengthening public confidence in his and their administrative ability. (Applause).

Investigating Our Resources.

One of the items in the programme of administrative action is the promise made by Premier Ross to bring about a somewhat systematic exploration of New Ontario with a view of gaining some general idea of its resources as a basis for action in bringing about their development. It is well known that at the Session of Parliament of 1900, the sum of $40,000 was set aside and expended to provide for the exploration of New Ontario. Ten exploring parties were sent out and this Session a report of their work was laid before the House. The general result was that the explorers found an area of land suitable for agriculture nearly as large as half of Old Ontario and capable of maintaining a population of one million souls—more than sixteen million acres, or more than the whole area of Ontario under crop last year. The explorers also report the existence of pulp wood to the extent of 288 million cords, worth, at the present price fixed by the Government, over 115 million dollars. Besides there are evidences of great mineral wealth. In the time at their disposal the geologists of the several exploration parties had no adequate opportunity for investigating closely the indications of individual mineral deposits, but the same geological formations that occur in known rich mineral-bearing areas in other parts of the Province, were noted at many points and veins of gold-bearing quartz and deposits of copper, iron and other minerals of economic value were met with. The results of the exploration, while necessarily not being definite, furnish evidence to fully warrant careful prospecting for minerals with excellent chances of important discoveries. This is, apart even from the wealth of mineral deposits revealed, a provincial patrimony worth developing, and the policy of the Government has been and is still directed towards a realization of these immense stores of dormant wealth. (Applause). What has been done in this direction in the past? The first concession granted to the Clergue Syndicate in 1894 has been the forerunner and foundation of important industries and the immediate object, pulp production, has spread out in a wide and still widening circle. The exploitation of the pulp feature extended so that railway facilities were demanded to handle the raw material, and this led to the Algoma Central Railway bargain whose far reaching results are now familiar to almost every Ontarian.

Two Contrasting Policies.

Being far-sighted and broad, the Government saw the benefits to flow to the regions operated upon and to the country at large from the railway bargain entered upon. Being short-sighted and narrow, the Opposition failed to see these advantages and denounced the bargain in the extravagant language generally employed by Mr. Whitney, the Leader of the Opposition, going so far as to pronounce the Algoma Central Railway bargain as "public robbery." The result has been the completion of the [illegible] sources of northern Ontario; and has as completely condemned the unprogressive, doubting, halting, hesitating attitude of the Opposition. In a word the operations inaugurated by the Government's bargain with the Clergue Syndicate, have called for the expenditure of nine millions of dollars already and another nine millions will have to be spent to carry out the Company's plan of operations. A score of different industrial activities has been extensively employed and the demand on Old Ontario for supplies, machinery, foodstuffs, etc., was last year a million dollars, and this year this item will be at least two million dollars. (Applause).

More Results.

The results indirectly proceeding from the granting of the first concession are by no means at an end. The effects upon the development of the mineral resources of Northern Ontario have been very marked though it seems that hardly a beginning has been made. Iron and steel are the business backbone of the world, and Ontario is destined to fill an important place in the production of these articles. We have, literally, immense deposits of iron, and our nickel deposits are perhaps the most extensive and excellent in the world. The juxtaposition and almost conjunction of these minerals gives us a great advantage. At the Sault, in addition to all the great industries at work there, the iron and steel industry is looming up largely. At present the Clergue Syndicate is building a steel plant to be finished and in operation by September capable of turning out 600 tons of steel rails per day. One thousand men are now at work upon the buildings which are 300 feet wide by 1500 feet in length—over a third of a mile. Nor is this all. Mr. Clergue says that in the fall another steel plant will be begun to have a capacity of 2,000 tons per day, or the two will have a combined capacity of 2,600 tons of steel rails per day, more than double the capacity of the great steel works at Sydney, Cape Breton, which is 1,200 tons per day. The day, if not at hand, is not far distant, when Ontario will be independent of the world for a supply of iron and steel as well as of all other economic and precious metal. (Applause).

Other Pulp Concessions.

Such important and far-reaching results from the first concession have in part followed from the subsequent concessions. The occurrence of unfortunate litigation has prevented the development that was expected at Sturgeon Falls, but the Spanish River Company is actively engaged in developing its concessions. Contracts have been entered into, as a beginning, for machinery and buildings to the large amount of $500,000, and the orders have been placed with one exception with Ontario manufacturing establishments, one contract for pulp grinders to the amount of $25,000, going to the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, Peterborough, and they could have accepted much larger orders, had they not been too busy with other work to supply the orders in time. Thus, from the action of the Government, we have development of the resources of the new country and material benefits to the industries of the older portions of Ontario.

Another Advance Step.

Encouraged by the results of the Sault Ste. Marie and other pulp concessions in other portions of Ontario, and in pursuance of their policy of development, the Government with the concurrence of the Legislature, at the last session, entered into an agreement with the Keewatin Power Company, which has constructed a water power at Tunnel Island, Lake of the Woods. The chief features of the agreement—the conditions of the concession—bind the company to expend at least $1,500,000 in the construction of pulpwood plant, etc. Of this sum $500,000 is to be expended within one year from April 4th 1901, $500,000 within two years, and the balance within three years. This million and a half is in addition to the $500,000 already expended by the Company in developing water power, etc., making a total of $2,000,000. The Government also reserves the right to sell the pine timber on any land granted under the agreement, and no right is given the Keewatin Power Company to cut pine. If within three years from April 4th, 1901, the Company shall not have expended $1,500,000 in erecting pulp and paper mills and other necessary plant, and providing the equipment necessary for the actual operations of the mills, the agreement shall become null and void, and provision is made for enforcing under forfeiture the employment of the stipulated number of hands (300) and the production of the specified quantity of pulp and paper. The Company is bound to manufacture every year an annual output in pulp and paper of 40,000 tons, and to employ continuously an average of 300 hands. In return the Government grants the right for a period of twenty-one years, to cut along, and within five miles of, the rivers and streams tributary to the Lake of the Woods, except Rainy River, on unoccupied lands, pulpwood sufficient for the operation of the mills to their full capacity. The company is required to pay 40 cents per cord for all spruce pulpwood and ten cents per cord for other woods, the price to be advanced, if the market warrants it, at the option of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, and the Government may impose conditions regarding cutting. The agreement gives the Company no rights in the lands, and no monopoly, only the privilege to cut, and no pulpwoods shall be cut for export in the log. In every way the interests of the Province are protected, as well as promoted, by the terms of the agreement and capital is encouraged to render productive resources that have for centuries been useless and idle. (Applause). The Keewatin concession is in the westermost part of New Ontario, and previous pulp concessions are so distributed as to form centres of development that will, in expanding, affect the whole of the southern part of New Ontario. On the extreme east we have the Blanche River Pulp Company, next west the Sturgeon Falls, then the Spanish River, and proceeding westward the Sault Ste. Marie, the Nepigon and lastly the Keewatin Power Company at Rat Portage in almost the western limit of New Ontario.

Blind Opposition.

When one considers the great extent of development and industrial activity proceeding from the first pulp concession and the humiliating rebuff thus given to the intemperate denunciation by the Opposition of the allied enterprise, the Algoma Central Railway, it would be thought that considerations of self respect, if not patriotic consideration for the benefit and advancement of the Province, would have taught the Opposition wisdom, or at least caution, in indulging in blind partisan criticism of another pulp concession entered into by the Government, whose terms are more favourable to the Province than other concessions the Opposition tacitly accepted. Mr. Whitney, the leader of the Opposition, only one short year ago, from his place in the House denounced the Algoma Central bargain as a "gigantic steal." Still this year so great and convincing has been the success of the Algoma Central contract, that he and his right-hand lieutenant, Mr. Matheson, were constrained by the logic of success to support a much larger contract—the Manitoulin & North Shore Railway Bill. Yet Mr. Matheson, speaking for the Opposition, denounced the concession to the Keewatin Pulp Company, whose conditions I have just referred to, as an "outrageous and criminal" proposal. This retrograde action on the part of the Opposition was so hostile to the true interests of the Province, so unpatriotically obstructive, that Mr. G. F. Marter, North Toronto, a prominent and able member of the Opposition, and formerly leader of the Conservative party in Provincial politics, who has, as I can testify, been a thorough-going and faithful supporter of the Conservative party for fifteen years—he having entered the Legislature the same year as myself—that Mr. Marter was compelled to break with his party and support the advance development policy of the Government, which he did when he voted with the [illegible] on the Keewatin Pulp Con[illegible] he said, he [illegible] to bring his fellow Conservatives to his own way of thinking, but failing in this he had concluded not to bind himself down to party lines contrary to the interests of the Province, which were he declared, represented in this matter by the forward policy of the Government. This defection of Mr. Marter derives its chief importance from the fact that it shows that the development policy of the Ross Government is in the interests of the country, and that the policy of the Opposition is a standstill, stagnating policy which has driven from its ranks one of its most prominent members, who is too honest a politician and too good a patriot to place party interests before the interests of his Province. (Applause).

The Conservative Press Also.

Not only has Mr. Marter practically condemned the retrograde policy of the Conservative Opposition, but candour compels the Toronto "News", a thorough-paced Conservative journal to applaud his action and incidentally condemn the Opposition, which, for party reasons, it in the main cordially supports.

In its issue of April 15th, the News has the following:—

"The rapid progress that has been made in the new territory since the Clergue Company, and the two or three other corporations established there began operations, in our judgment justifies the stand Mr. Marter has taken, and proves that he has a clearer understanding of the needs of North Ontario than the other members of his own side who oppose such concessions as those made to the Keewatin Company. It is possible that the concessions in this case are more generous than any that have been made previously, but we must remember that there was considerable opposition to those also on the same grounds, yet no one will say now that the Province did not act wisely in giving Mr. Clergue and others engaged in developing the north country every privilege or grant they received. It is only by a policy of generous concessions that we can bring into full use the immense wealth that is lying locked up in that country. The region is of immense size, and the value of its products almost incalculable, but that value can only be realized through manufacture. It is not a poor man's country, and we venture to say that unless it is brought about by great capital it will remain for ages almost the same wilderness it is to-day. Mr. Marter knows this, and as a good citizen he is compelled for once to [illegible] his party. He deserves all the more honour for his independence and public spirit, and Liberals, as well as Conservatives, instead of misrepresenting his motives, would do well to remember his example when their conscience is advided between their loyalty to party and their duty to the public."

Development Railways.

Another item in the development policy of the Government of main importance, was the subsidizing by land grant of the Manitoulin & North Shore Railway, a complement to and practically a continuation of the Algoma Central Railway scheme of development, with the additional feature of facilitating transportation and placing Older Ontario in direct communication with the traffic resources of New Ontario, which stand to be developed by the construction and operation of the northern portions of the line. This road will run from Meaford in Grey County northward through Owen Sound, Wiarton and the Bruce Peninsula, and thence across Manitoulin Island (giving an outlet to the produce of this rich grazing region) into Algoma and northward to Trill township. A spur eastward will connect with Sudbury and the road will continue west from Trill to Michipicoten a distance of 103 miles. The building of this line will open up millions of acres of mineral, timber and agricultural lands, heretofore useless and unproductive, and bring them and the traffic resulting from their development into direct communication with the commercial and industrial centres of Older Ontario. Connecting with the C.P.R. at Owen Sound the north country served by this line will have daily communication with the south, and connecting with the G.T.R. at Wiarton and Meaford, brings the whole northwest in communication with the Grand Trunk system both east and west, connecting Peterborough by way of the Midland, with all this area. Thus is afforded cheap and direct transportation to the manufacturers and producers of all Ontario with the Northwest. It will shorten the distance from the north to Toronto by about eighty miles, and this short route is guaranteed to all systems, for one of the conditions of the grant is that the road shall give running powers to all other lines, and the Government has control of the right of way and the freight and passenger traffic rates. Another condition is that the Company shall construct a 300 ton (daily) public smelter in the Sudbury mining district to be finished within two years. This will stimulate the mining industry, for small prospectors are at present at the mercy of large companies, and by the erection of a public smelter they can count upon the ores they may mine being smelted at fair advantage. Besides, the line will tap a rich region of nickel lands at present inaccessible. Another condition is that the Company must place 1,000 settlers a year for 10 years, and in addition to control of rates and right of way, the Government reserves the right to purchase the line at the end of fifteen years. It is simply impossible to estimate the immense advantages that will result from the construction of this line on the terms named. Much as the Algoma Central contract has led us to expect from the work already accomplished there are reasons to believe that even greater results will flow from the building of this line. It will not only aid in developing the new territory but will give Older Ontario, not only the direct benefits resulting for this development but also the advantage of director touch with the benefits of the industries connected with the building and operation of the Algoma Central Railway.

Other Colonization Railways.

During the present Session aid was granted by way of subsidy to other colonization and development railway lines. The Bracebridge and Trading Lake railway receives a subsidy of $[illegible],000 per mile for 16 miles. The [illegible] Algoma Railway [illegible] results in giving a moral stimulus to an existing industry that of the Rock Mine Company which has spent considerable money on the rich Rock Lake Copper [illegible] deposits, and the building of this road means further development, large employment of labour and the inevitable encouragement of agricultural settlement. A subsidy of $3,000 per mile for 25 miles was granted a railway from Bolton Creek in Oso township, County of Frontenac to the iron mines in Lanark township, in Lanark County, and $10,000 was granted to extend the Grand Trunk from Burke's Falls to Maguetewan. Then the Port Arthur and St. Joe Railway was subsidized by cash and land grant and a subsidy of $3,000 per mile for 25 miles was granted to the Norwood and Apsley Railway, a line which will open up to operation important mining properties and give the settlers in the northern districts an outlet to the front for their produce, making the conditions of pioneer life less lonely and undesirable. The Government, while equal to enterprises and undertakings of great magnitude, is not forgetful of the rights and claims of the people where the interests involved may be smaller but not less important to those directly concerned. In granting aid to these railways the Government has provided for the observance of the motto "Ontario for Ontarians." It is stipulated that every railway must, as a condition of aid, use, in the construction of railways, rails manufactured in Ontario, provided such rails can be procured in Ontario, and if not in Ontario in the Dominion, at a price not greater than the open market price in Great Britain or the United States, and the same condition applies to railway supplies and rolling stock—they must be of Canadian manufacture. Persons employed in building such railways shall not be overcharged for food or supplies by contractors, sanitary regulations shall be provided in construction camps, and such roads are to carry, at the request of any municipality, road making material, gravel, stone, etc., at actual cost. The Government reserves the right to acquire any of these lines, by arbitration or otherwise, and altogether, so far as provision can be made, public rights are fully protected.

The Parties Again in Contrast.

In its railway policy as developed last session and the session before, the Ross Government has struck out boldly. It had faith in New Ontario when it subsidized by land grant the 'Algoma Central Railway, and the result has more than justified its wisdom, courage and foresight. The Opposition has a lack of faith in New Ontario. They could not see ahead and severely condemned the bargain with the Algoma Central Railway, Mr. Whitney going so far as to call the grant "colossal robbery," but the results that have followed this grant have astounded him, and although he has not had the courage to take back his violent and ill-judged denunciation of this enterprise, he has had the wisdom not to repeat his blunder, and has offered no opposition to the Manitoulin and North Shore Railway, though the concessions are greater than those to the road so vigorously condemned. Nothing succeeds like success, and the phenomenal success of the bold aggressive policy of the Ross Government disarms criticism and elicits the admiration and sympathy of all who at heart desire the progress and advancement of this progressive and advancing Province. (Applause).

A New Departure.

The enterprise of the Government is not limited to bringing about merely material development, but it has taken steps to crystallize into action public sentiment in regard to Government ownership and construction of railways, which has of late been considerably in evidence and at the same time to bring into touch with commercial conditions the dormant resources of the northern part of the Province. The opening up of the rich agricultural lands to the west of Lake Temiscamingue to settlement, is a problem which the Ross Government has attacked in earnest and in a new way. Nothing has been done in respect of giving effect to several railway charters, aided by grants of money and land to open up this territory, and now [illegible] proposes to take the North Bay northward, a distance of 106 miles. This line, which is estimated to cost about $1,750,000, will tap a very rich agricultural country, and give the great bulk of the resulting trade to Ontario, where it belongs, instead of permitting it to be diverted, of which there is at present some danger, entirely eastward and largely out of the Province. The pine alone, which this line will open to the market, is worth five times the cost of the road, and the people of Ontario will have the benefit of the new country. Once the road is built by the Government, as soon as settlement proceeds, and demand for supplies arises, it is confidently believed to be possible to lease the road for a sufficient sum to pay the cost of construction, the Government retaining control over transportation rates. This railway, once in operation, will permit of easier settlement of the country, which settlement will create a demand and "have an effect that will be felt upon all our industries, our factories, our packing houses, and every form of trade, wholesale or retail," and this in itself will be ample compensation in this regard for the expenditure necessary to construct and own this line. In inaugurating and adopting this course, the

THE ROSS GOVERNMENT'S GRAND RECORD OF PROGRESS.

Ross Government becomes in fact the pioneer in Government construction and ownership of railways, as it has led the way in originating perhaps the most aggressive and enterprising policy of development of our Provincial resources ever applied to any country, especially in the short space of time it has been charged with the responsibility of promoting the Provincial interests. (Applause).

Aiding Our Mining Industries.

It needs no elaborate arguments to prove the extent and importance of the mining industry of Ontario. The problem that confronted the Government was that of creating, or helping to create the conditions that would make for the largest development and secure to Ontario the largest measure of advantage. Generally speaking, the chief need in accomplishing this end is capital, but there are details, which naturally dovetail in with capital, to be worked out. We need engineering skill and scientifically trained persons to help capital accomplish its work, and that skill must be Canadian and preferably of Ontario, and means must be employed to develop that trained skilll among our own citizens. Our Provincial University bears a most important relation, as much, in one sense, to our material, as to our intellectual, progress. While its chief function in the past has been to train teachers for our High Schools, to in turn train teachers for our Public Schools, to fit our people for places in the ranks of our professional classes, and to exercise a directing and formative influence upon national culture, it is recognized by the Government and by the head of our Education Department, that our Provincial University must do its share, and a large share it can do, in promoting the material development of the country. In an able address on the second reading of the Bill respecting the University of Toronto, Hon. Mr. Harcourt, Minister of Education, pointed out the necessity of equipping the University with facilities for supplying the demand for expert knowledge in engineering and manufacturing. We had, he said, great natural resources, and we should go forward and take steps to extend the facilities for scientific training. The recent developments in the iron and steel trade in Canada had furnished an additional reason for equipping young men in those sciences which would enable them to take their part in the great industrial development which might be expected to result in the near future. We had great hydraulic powers, and we needed hydraulic engineers. We had immense mining resources and we needed mining engineers trained in a Provincial and not in a foreign University. To meet the demand for University aid, the Government decided to furnish this aid by taking upon itself the burden of supporting the scientific department. In the University Act of 1901, "for the purpose of encouraging the study of the mineral and other natural resources of the Province, and for supplying the demand for expert knowledge in engineering and manufactures," the Province is empowered to pay the salaries of all professors, lecturers and of other instruction in the department of chemistry, physics, mineralogy and geology, and the cost of the maintenance of these departments; the act also sets apart a site on College street in the City of Toronto for the departments of mineralogy and geology in connection with the university, and, for the extension of the school of Practical Science, the Government has decided to erect a substantial, new, up-to-date building in harmony with the other university buildings, to cost from $175,000 to $200,000, and in the supplementary estimates of the year is found a vote of $50,000 towards this building. An Act was also passed granting to the School of Mining, Kingston, the sum of $22,500 per year for five years. Thus practical aid has been given in the work of training our boys to enable them to take part in developing the natural resources of the Province and in removing the necessity of their receiving this training at foreign schools or of importing trained men to do the work which our own citizens will hereafter be trained at home to do. (Applause).

Older Ontario Not Forgotten.

While the Government and Legislature have shown great solicitude for improving New Ontario and in the process incidentally helping the older portion of the Province, the latter has been specifically looked after. In fulfilment of a promise made, Hon. Premier Ross introduced a bill which at the last session was passed into law, appropriating a million dollars of Provincial funds to aid the improvement of the public roads of the Province.

To Help Build County Highways.

The Act provides that before the 1st of of January, 1903, the highways to be improved under a system of county roads in any county may be designated by by-law of the County Council; a copy of this by-law is to be sent to township clerks: and within three months from receipt of notice, township councils shall report to the county clerk their approval or disapproval of the roads so designated. If, on the receipt of the reports from the several townships, it shall appear that one-third of the townships oppose the road selected as the portion of the highway to be improved, then the roads to be improved in such townships shall be decided upon by arbitration, according to the provisions of the Municipal Act. In the event of more than one-third of the townships in any county disapproving of the roads designated by the County Council, the latter body shall submit by by-law to the people the question: "Are you in favour of a county road system?" If the vote is favourable, the roads to be designated in any objecting township shall be determined by arbitration. Before the final passage of a by-law setting apart roads to be improved, the County Council may submit it for approval of the ratepayers of the county qualified to vote on money by-laws. In case the county by-law fails to carry, or the county fails to take action in regard to county highways, then before Jan. 1st, 1904, any Township Council may by by-law set apart roads to be improved, subject to the vote of the ratepayers. Any municipality may apply the whole or the part of the money it may be entitled to under the Act for the purchase of toll roads or for freeing them from tolls; any highway built under the Act to entitle it to a share of the Provincial fund must be constructed according to the regulations of the Public Works Department respecting highways, and the County's share one third of the total cost, but not to exceed its proportion under the Act) of the Provincial road fund, will be paid on receipt by the Public Works Department of a report to the effect (certified by a competent engineer) that these regulations have been complied with, and, subject to the approval of the proper officer of the Public Works Department. The sum any County shall be entitled to under the Act shall be in proportion to the assessed area of the County but shall not exceed the proportion it is entitled to under the Act. Municipalities may raise by twenty-year debentures the money required for its share of the cost of highways. The statute labour on the roads improved under the Act shall be commuted and applied to the improvement of other highways in the township as the Council may direct. Complementary to this Act, an Act was passed to facilitate the acquirement of toll roads by municipalities. This is a very important measure, for to the average farmer good highways are in one sense more important than railways, for, without good highways, the farmer cannot get easy access with his produce to the railway. The Province has spent millions on railways and some municipalities have burdened themselves heavily to help railways; and if as liberal bonuses had been devoted to the construction of highways the results would doubtless have been in many cases more satisfactory. The Liberal Government has managed our finances so that this million dollars is available to help municipalities build good roads. If it is taken advantage of the result will be the expenditure of three million dollars, (the Provincial contribution being one-third of the cost), in improving the highways of the Province, which represents at an average cost of a thousand dollars per mile over the Province, the construction of 3,000 miles of first class highway, or about 65 miles to each county. The success of this legislation will be much assisted by the action of the Government in having established a Good Roads Department, and appointing an efficient Commissioner whose work has done a great deal in arousing a healthy public sentiment in favour of improved highways.

The Beet Root Sugar Business.

In addition to helping the farmer by improved roads to reach the market, the Government has helped to provide a new source of market supply. Last year the Government distributed seed with a view of testing the suitability of Ontario soil for the growth of sugar beets, and the results were very satisfactory. They showed that the average yield was 18 tons per acre, of a value, at $4.00 per ton, of $72.00. The average cost of growing was $28.70 per acre, leaving a net profit of $43.30. It was thus demonstrated beyond doubt that we could grow large yields of sugar beets of high sugar percentage. The problem was to find a market which would encourage farmers to enter upon the culture of beets, to a commercial extent. This the bill passed last Session provides. The sum of $225,000 is set apart as a special fund "for the purpose of encouraging the growth of sugar beets and the establishment of factories for the manufacture of refined sugar therefrom," In case a factory is established for the production of sugar from beets it shall be entitled from the above funds to a bounty of one-half per cent. per pound for all sugar of "first-class marketable quality" produced for the first and second years and one quarter of a cent per pound for the third year, and nothing thereafter. No more than $75,000 in any one year shall be paid out of the fund, and in case the total amount of bounty claimed exceeds this sum it shall be divided pro rata among applicants entitled to it. The conditions upon which this bounty is to be paid, in addition to making pure sugar, are that a factory the first year must pay at least $4 per ton for beets delivered under contract, irrespective of the sugar quality of such beets. During the second and third years the factories, to entitle them to obtain the bounty must pay for all beets grown according to contract, 3½ cents per ton for every one per cent. of sugar value, that is, for beets of 12 per cent. sugar contents, $4 per ton will be paid, and for beets of 15 per cent. $5 per ton will be paid. As the tests made showed a high per centage of sugar purity, the farmer is assured of a good price for a crop that will produce five or six times as large a profit per acre as wheat. (Applause.) On the motion for the third reading of the bill Mr. Boyd of North Grey, on behalf of the Opposition, evidently for the sake of political capital, for it was not necessarily in the interest of the farmer, moved an amendment expressing regret that no provision was made in the bill for a bonus to the farmer for each ton of beets raised. On this amendment Mr. Marter, the former Leader of the Opposition, again separated himself from his political friends and voted with the Government. It was pointed out that the bonus was inadvisable, inasmuch as the farmers get a profitable market for a new crop which was in itself a bonus, and that if a bounty were given in this case for the growth of beets, it could not be consistently refused for any other crop. The farmer wanted no capital to grow beets, while a factory costs about half a million dollars, and ran its risk of getting a sufficient supply of beets to make its operation profitable. By encouraging a factory with a bonus, a good market is provided the farmer whose profits will come from the beets sold.

Land Grants to Volunteers.

Not satisfied with merely oratorical recognition of those who served their country and Queen in helping defend the country at the time of its invasion in 1866, and of those who helped to maintain the integrity of the Empire by service in South Africa, the Government introduced and passed at the last session an Act to confer land grants on those citizens of the Queen domiciled in Ontario—who enlisted for service in South Africa; the next of kin of such persons since deceased—any person who served in the same campaign as chaplain, nurse, newspaper correspondent, Red Cross attendant—persons who were members of the Volunteer Force who were in active service in the defence of the frontier in 1865, 1866 or 1870—the next of kin of any of these persons, who within six months of the termination of their services died of wounds, exposure or illness from such service—persons resident of Ontario, members of the Company known as the Chicago volunteers, who came to Ontario in 1866 to serve in the defence of the Province,—and lastly persons residing in Ontario who were engaged in the Imperial service in the defence of the Province in 1866. The Act authorizes the Commissioner of Crown Lands to set apart certain lands for the location of the above classes, who, upon satisfactory proof of service, shall be entitled to be located for 160 acres of land for each person. These lands shall be exempt from all settlement duties and taxes (except school) for ten years, and shall not be subject to any writ of attachment, execution or garnishee, and, to promote settlement, only one location per square mile shall be allowed under the Act. The pine timber and minerals on such lands shall be subject to the Public Lands Act and the Mines Act respectively.

I have already dealt more or less specifically with the more important legislation of the past Session, but there are other Acts which, though of minor importance, show that every department of the public interest receives legislative attention.

Educational Legislation.

The Act respecting the Education Department was consolidated and one or two amendments made, one of which was to empower the Education Department to make regulations for affiliating with the Normal College or Normal Schools, such High Schools or Collegiate Institutes and Public Schools as may be [illegible] to consolidate the Acts relating respectively to Public and High Schools, and to include the amendments placed on the statute book since the revision of 1897. This applies especially to the Public School Act. In the High School Act there are some few changes made, but of minor importance.

Voters' List Act Amended.

The Ontario Voters List Act was amended by adding a subsection to Section 14, providing that anyone who will be of the full age of twenty one years within thirty days of the date fixed for hearing appeals to the County Judge, and who possesses the other necessary qualifications, has the right to be entered on the Voters Lists as entitled to vote at municipal elections and elections for the Legislative Assembly.

Sanitation in Unorganized Districts.

An Act was passed to provide for sanitary regulations for those parts of the Province which are without municipal organization. It provides that the Lieutenant-Governor in Council may make regulations respecting the conditions upon which any industry may be carried on in order to prevent nuisance; respecting the outbreak or spread of disease; for the cleansing, ventilation and inspection of lumbering, mining and railway construction camps; for the inspection of houses and premises, and providing for the employment of qualified physicians by employers of labour in such camps, and the erection of permanent or temporary hospitals. These regulations may be generally applicable, or may be applicable to particular localities or industries. The expense of carrying out these regulations shall be apportioned by the Minister in charge of the Provincial Board of Health and shall be paid by the corporations or persons whose duty it is to carry out such regulations. Especial necessity for this legislation arose from the fact that in many camps where a large number of men are congregated these camps were so situated that the lakes below them, which supplied the water for drinking and culinary purposes, were polluted by the refuse and offal of the camp and much sickness was likely to break out, conditions which indicated the necessity for providing proper sanitary regulations, to protect the health and lives of those working in these camps.

Ontario Companies Act.

The Ontario Companies Act was amended by adding to Section 40 a clause permitting companies to hold general meetings for the election of officers outside of the Province if authorized by special Act or Supplementary Letters Patent. Another amendment makes it unnecessary to pass a by-law to authorize purchase of stock in another Company if the special Act, Letters Patent or Supplementary Letters Patent authorize such purchase. Section 1 of the Act of 1900 is repealed by a section providing that the name of a Company which for three years defaults in respect of returns prescribed by the Act, may be given in whole or in part to a new Company, unless the defaulting Company after three weeks' notice by the Provincial Secretary furnishes satisfactory proof that it is a valid and subsisting corporation. Failure to furnish such proofs within one month after notice shall be deemed evidence of the demise of the Company. The fee for filing the annual returns of extra-provincial corporations is fixed at $5 for companies with a capital stock of $100,000, and $10 for a capital stock exceeding that amount.

Summary Convictions.

The Summary Convictions Act is amended by making it clear that Subsection 1 of Section 2 includes and makes applicable to convictions under this Section, the provisions of Sections 889-890, both inclusive of the Criminal Code, 1892. It also provides for security for costs by an appellant to quash a conviction. The Statute George II, 19 is repealed.

Street Railway Act.

The Act of 1900 is amended by substituting for the section requiring the use of fenders, a section providing that Companies may use fenders which may be selected by themselves subject to approval by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council on the report of the Engineer of the Public Works Department, and shall be compelled to use such fenders within the time fixed by such other Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. The engineer in making his report shall have due regard to the efficiency of the fenders to be approved of for life-saving purposes. The Act also fixes a penalty of $10 for every day on which cars shall be run without such fenders, except in case of accident or unavoidable necessity.

For the Reception of Royalty.

Mr. Graham of Brockville introduced a bill which was passed authorizing any municipality to include in its estimates, and to expend such sum as may be deemed prudent, in giving a fitting reception to Their Royal Highnesses, the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall on the occasion of their expected visit to this country. The Act makes valid such expenditures and will doubtless be largely taken advantage of to extend a becoming and loyal welcome to the Heir Apparent of the Throne, such as was given the reigning monarch on the occasion of his visit to Canada in 1860.

Trustee Investment Act.

An amendment to the Trustee Investment Act permits trustees, subject to the usual conditions, to invest funds in Companies whose stock has a market value of not less than 7 per cent. premium and whose paid-up capital stock is $400,000, instead of 25 per cent. and $500,000 respectively as heretofore provided.

Election Act Amendment.

The Act founded on the bill of Hon. Mr. Gibson to amend the Ontario Election Act provides that any person "who procures an appointment as Deputy Returning Officer by false pretences, deceit "or other improper means, or who acts without lawful authority" shall be guilty of personation and shall be liable to a penalty of $200 and imprisonment for not more than six months. It further provides that "Any Deputy Returning Officer or "Poll Clerk who wilfully miscounts the "ballots or otherwise makes up a false "statement of the result of an election shall be guilty of an offence and "shall be liable to a penalty of $200."

Agriculture and Arts.

The Agriculture and Arts Act is amended by striking out the clause of the Act limiting the amounts of the Legislative grant to be paid to the Societies of North and South Muskoka.

Land Titles.

The Land Titles Act is amended, the chief provision being that in case of fraudulent entries of ownership or encumbrances the Master in Chancery shall have power on the application of the rightful owner to have the same cancelled.

Municipal Arbitrators.

The Amendment to the Municipal Arbitrations Act provides that when any municipality by bylaw declares its desire to be brought within the provisions of the Act, an official arbitrator shall be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, and shall exercise in respect of such a municipality all the powers of the official arbitrator under the Act.

Industrial Schools Act.

A section was added to the Act relating to Industrial Schools, providing that when any municipality has been ordered to pay any sum towards the maintenance of a child in an Industrial School, the local Judge of the Division Court may, on demand of the corporation, make an order for the payment, by the parent, stepfather or guardian of the sums which the corporation is liable to pay for the maintenance of the child.

Making Factories' Act More Clear.

The Factories' Act is improved by making it clear that the conveniences required to be provided such as lavatories, etc., etc., shall be provided by the owner of the factory, and an amendment of sub-section 5 is added requiring that the owner of a factory who fails to provide certain conveniences after two months' notice by the Inspector shall be deemed guilty of a contravention of these provisions and shall be liable to the fine prescribed—$600—or 12 months imprisonment. This is a measure for affording still more ample protection to those employed in factories. Other amendments require inflammable material to be stored in a building separate from the factory occupied by operatives, that every steam boiler shall be insured in some duly authorized inspection company, and that the provision of satisfactory and sufficient fire escapes on all factory buildings over two stories in height shall be made. A further amendment requires that no owner of a factory shall put it into operation without having received a permit from the Inspector.

The Drainage Act.

The Municipal Drainage Act is amended by providing that the order of the referee upon an appeal (Sec. 71) shall be subject to appeal to the Court of Appeal, whose decision shall be final. Another amendment declares that all applications affecting drainage works shall be made heard and tried by the referee only and service of notice of claim shall be filed with the County Clerk.

Assessment Act Amended.

An Act was passed to amend the Assessment Act, meeting the "Scrap Iron Assessment" difficulty. The clause that is largely operative to this end is as follows:—

"Real property belonging to or in the possession of any person or incorporated Company, and extending over more than one ward in any city or town, or situate in any township, may be assessed together in any one of such wards at the option of the assessor, or the assessment of the property may be apportioned amongst two or more of such wards in such manner as he may deem convenient, and in either case the property shall be valued as a whole or as an integral part of the whole."

Another clause provides that the portion of an International bridge (for instance, the bridge over the Niagara River at Queenston) lying in Ontario, is liable to an assessment as an integral part of the whole and on the basis of the whole. Cognate to the object of the above Act is the amendment to the Supplementary Revenue Act of 1899. This repeals the so-called "Scrap Iron" Assessment provision and also makes it clear that Mutual Insurance Companies are not municipally assessable under the Act. A bill to amend the Assessment Act on the basis suggested by the Assessment Commission was withdrawn. Discussion showed that the bill had features which might give a great deal of trouble and respecting which there was considerable difference of opinion. In view of there not being time during the Session to deal, with sufficient deliberation, with the matter, it was considered wise to let it stand, and when the Assessment Commission shall have brought down their full report, a subject of so much importance can be discussed at another Session fully and intelligently in the light that that report will throw upon it. The House will have before them a complete bill dealing with the whole field of Assessment, personal property, income, reality, franchise, etc.

Auditing Public Accounts.

The Act relating to the auditing of Public Accounts is amended by adding a section requiring that there shall be in the office of the Provincial Auditor a Chief Clerk, who shall at all times act for the Auditor in the latter's absence.

The Fisheries Act.

The Ontario Fisheries Act passed last year was amended chiefly by making clear the terms of the several provisions and some minor amendments and changes were made. One of interest to sportsmen is the repeal of the clause limiting the catch of bass, pickerel and maskinonge in leased waters and substituting a clause providing that excessive or wasteful fishing or fishing out of season shall involve the cancellation of the lease covering the waters on which such fishing takes place. Sections 47 to 50, relating to the number, size and weight of fish which may be taken, are repealed.

Registry Act Amendment.

This Act was amended by adding a section empowering the Inspector to authorize the Registrar in writing to expend a portion of the fees in providing fireproof or metal fittings for vaults, and another section enables the Crown to bear part of the expense of making plans of towns or villages, where the land was not subdivided into lots at the time it was granted by the Crown.

To Amend the Statute Law.

An Act to amend the Statute Law provides a series of amendments and additions, touching a large variety of subjects, many of which are of merely technical importance. Among the chief changes is a provision, including Deseronto and Sault Ste. Marie, under the provisions of the Manhood Suffrage Registration Act, and providing for the constitution of Registration Boards for these places; another fixing the fees payable in Surrogate Clerk's Office; another providing that an appeal may lie from a judgment for decision of a Court of General Sessions allowing or dismissing an appeal thereto under the Summary Convictions Act, to the Court of Appeal without giving any security in the appeal to the latter Court, at the discretion of the Attorney General. An amendment to the Master and Servants Act provides a penalty not exceeding $25 for workmen leaving employment before re-paying advances made by employers — railway fare, money, food, lodging, etc. Another amendment allows a salaried solicitor to collect lawful costs in proceedings. An important provision is made to define the limits of Sanitoria for Consumptives, requiring that such buildings shall not be established or maintained within 150 yards of any dwelling without the consent of owner or occupant of adjacent property affected. Another amendment authorises the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, with the consent of trustees of Toronto University to sell to the City of Toronto the property known as the Upper Canada College Block in that city for a sum not less than $220,000. It is also provided that in mining suits where action is brought in Ontario on a judgment obtained elsewhere, the defendent may set up the same defence as in the original action. There are several minor amendments not of very great public interest.

Succession Duties Act.

The Act to Amend the Succession Duties Act provides that only bona fide debts are to be deducted in ascertaining the value of an estate, and it also includes in the preferred class of beneficiaries, grandchildren, adopted children and children to whom deceased has stood for ten years in the acknowledged relation of parent. The amended Act also makes it clear that all estates in Ontario shall pay the duties whether the deceased owner has or has not been a resident of the Province.

Shop Regulation Act.

This is amended by providing a penalty of not over $500 or 12 months imprisonment in any case where an owner of any shop shall neglect or fail, within two months after receiving written notice, to provide the conveniences required by the Act. No employee of a bake shop shall be permitted to work on Sunday, nor for more than twelve hours out of twenty-four, nor more than 60 hours in one week, except by permission of the Inspector in writing, which writing shall be displayed in the shop. No employer shall permit an employee in any barber shop to work on Sunday and no employer shall open or allow to be opened his barber shop on Sunday without incurring a penalty of $50.

The University Act.

The Act respecting the University of Toronto and University College is to some extent a consolidation, but contains several new features. It creates a Board of Trustees as a body corporate in which all property owned by or held on behalf of the University, including the former site of Upper Canada College, shall be vested. The Trustees are given power to appoint or remove bursars and all other officers or servants of the University and University College employed on the premises or grounds, and shall have control of the property assets, income and revenue and have power to invest funds. As before stated, the Government is empowered by this Act in order to encourage the study of the mineral and other natural resources of the Province, to bear the expense of all instruction in chemistry, physics, mineralogy and geology, and the Act sets apart lands on College street, Toronto, as a site for a Science Building to cost about $200,000. The act confirms existing federation and declares the following Institution to be affiliated with the University:—Trinity Medical School, Toronto School of Medicine, Albert College, Ontario Agricultural College, Royal College of Dental Surgeons, School of Practical Science, Toronto College of Music, Women's Medical College, Ontario College of Pharmacy, Toronto Conservatory of Music, Ontario Veterinary College. An amendment permits every federated College to appoint two members to the Senate and every federated University, the Law Society, Upper Canada College, one member each in addition to the representatives of the faculty. An added section creates a University Council which deals with the discipline of students, arranges time tables, lectures, etc., etc. Another empowers Trinity University to negotiate federation.

The Municipal Act.

The Act to amend the Municipal Act contains more or less important changes to meet conditions that have arisen and such as experience has demonstrated to be desirable. These amendments include a provision for the separation of farm lands from villages and towns, for fixing the mode of procedure and the financial responsibility in respect of such a reduction of area. Another amendment permits the Councils of towns where Aldermen have been elected by general vote for two years to submit to popular vote by bylaw at the Municipal elections the question of a return to the Ward system. It is also provided that there shall be separate ballot papers for Mayor and Aldermen in towns where they are elected by general vote, and every elector shall be entitled to only one vote for mayor and one for each alderman to be elected. In case of the death of an alderman in a city where election is by general vote, the unsuccessful candidate who received the highest number of votes at the last election shall be entitled to the vacant seat. The council of any municipality may by by-law authorize the chief of police or other designated officer to order the stopping of any immoral play or performance and in case his orders are not obeyed he has power to arrest offenders without warrant. Another amendment permits municipalities to pass by-laws to prohibit the "giving, selling, distributing or receiving" of trading stamps, this provision to take effect after the 1st of January, 1902. Another amendment empowers any (or two or more) municipalities to arrange with the National Sanitorium Association for the establishment and maintenance within such municipality or group, by the Association, of a sanitorium for consumptives, the powers of the municipalities in such cases being defined by the Sanitorium Act of 1900, and all plans, buildings etc., shall be subject to the conditions imposed by the Act. The self-governing powers of municipalities were extended by amendments permitting the passage of by-laws to regulate matters of local concern.

In addition to the Acts enumerated there were Acts passed respecting Insurance Companies, respecting Upper Canada College—exempting its property from taxation and expropriation—and an Act was passed providing for the incorporation of towns in territorial districts. Besides the general Acts dealt with, Acts which affect the Province generally, there were passed about 70 private Acts for the convenience of municipalities, and others to enable them to effect improvements, maintain their progress and to serve the interests of their citizens.

Extension of the Parliamentary Term.

About the end of March, 1902, the present Parliament will cease to exist by effluxion of time. As the House is generally in session at that time of the year, an Act was passed last session extending the duration of the present Parliament in order to permit, if necessary, of the work of the session being completed before expiration of the legislative term. Therefore by the Act referred to the life of the present Parliament may be extended, but not beyond fifteen days after the conclusion of the term of Parliament. It does not necessarily follow that, because of the passage of the Act the duration of the Legislature will be prolonged; but it extends the time, if additional time is required, to complete the public business before the House adjourns. The necessity of extending the Session will largely depend upon the course of the Opposition in expediting or retarding public business. There is no good reason if the House is convened at the usual time, why, under normal conditions, the work should not be completed before the Parliament ends by effluxion of time. The Act in question simply makes provision that, if the necessity arises, the session will not be allowed to close automatically, with perhaps important public business uncompleted. An attempt is made by the Opposition to magnify the gravity of the Act, and to unduly insist upon its enactment as an unconstitutional proceeding, but this is a mere assertion of the Opposition right to criticize. There is no ground for alarm. If the Act is not taken advantage of no harm will be done: and the Act will not be used to prolong the life of Parliament for a few days, unless the public interests can be served by so doing. No one desires to have a general election held at a season of the year when the roads are likely to be in an almost impassible condition, and as they are certain to be in some parts of the Province. In a word, though authority is given to extend the time, it need not be exercised if the Opposition facilitate as far as possible the transaction of the business of the Session.

General Results.

In addition to the Legislative action I have referred to, the Session has disclosed much which bears upon the part the Government has taken in promoting the public interests. Many of the reports presented give interesting information. The annual report of the Ontario Agricultural College shows that the year it deals with was a most prosperous one. There were enrolled last year 259 regular students and 84 students in the special dairy course, all being admirably trained in the special knowledge which has contributed so much to placing the Province in the admirable position it holds in dairying and agriculture, creditable alike to the fostering care of the Government and to the intelligence and enterprise of our farming classes. Not only by the college and the encouragement to collateral institutions, the Dairy School, etc., does the Government seek to help the farmer, and the Cold Storage legislation of last session as well as the Beet Root Sugar legislation of this session, but the Government went as far as it had the power to do, by procuring the adoption of a memorial to the British Government setting forth the excellent quality of the horses for army remounts this Province could produce, and urging the establishment in Ontario of a remount station which would encourage the farmers to produce the best quality of horses. (Applause.) It is the aim of the Government to use the people's money to advance the interests of the people. The estimates for next year contain a sum of $34,000 for improving the the buildings of the Agricultural College, and the splendid gift of $45,000 by the Massey estate will be expended in extending facilities, providing a library and laboratory and room will be provided for 60 or 80 additional students for whom it is much needed.

Other Matters of Moment.

The report respecting Asylums shows the total population as 5,152, the great majority of whom are cared for at the expense of the Province to the relief, in a financial sense, of the municipalities from which they come, and this year the Victoria Asylum for Women, at Cobourg has been fitted up or rather is being fitted up for the accommodation of from 175 to 180 senile patients, at a cost of about $75,000, and will be ready for occupancy in September. The conversion of the buildings of the Penetanguishene Reformatory for Boys into an asylum for insane criminals, and its removal to Oxford County, where new buildings are to be erected, will not only afford needed asylum accommodation, but will also afford Reformatory boys an opportunity for learning farming where the soil is more suitable and prepare them for occupying land in the newer parts of the Province. The Government's foresight in appointing a Provincial Auditor was fully justified by the information contained in a return presented the last Session. This showed that during the year 1900 no losses to municipalities occurred through improper keeping of accounts or irregularities of Treasurers, a condition in striking contrast to the year 1897—the year of the Auditor's appointment—when the losses from these and similar causes amounted to $100,000. The first report of the Assessment Commission was brought down and, with the full report, will form the basis of complete legislation upon this difficult and important subject. The report of the exploration parties which investigated the resources of northern Ontario last summer was not presented in printed form, but $4,000 was appropriated for printing the report which will be a great revelation to the people of the imminese agricultural and mineral resources of New Ontario which it is the settled policy of the Government to utilize with the greatest possible energy. This new territory will be a great source of revenue, but the greatest need of this province is perhaps not revenue. Our finances are in a healthy condition and we have sufficient Provincial income for making reasonable demands upon our financial resources for the administration of the ordinary affairs of the Province.

What We Need.

What we need and what the people of the Province expect and what they will not expect in vain from the present Liberal Government is an energetic development of our natural resources which will give new life to the commercial and industrial interests of the Province, which will attract capital, which will create wealth and employ labour; and to this end the Government addresses its best energies and, as has been shown, with the greatest success, but the success that has been achieved is only a modest measure of the great results that will come from the Government's aggressive and go-ahead policy. (applause) This policy commends itself to the people of the country but it does not, unfortunately, receive the support it should do from the Opposition. The Conservative leader, Mr. Whitney, instead of patriotically joining hands with the Government in a patriotic endeavour to advance the public welfare, denounces, and Mr. Matheson joins him in denouncing, the progressive policy of the Government, preferring rather to hash and re-hash political scandals and ignoring the large share his party had had in the political irregularities he so hypocritically condemned. There is no fault to be found with condemning political impurity in the abstract wherever it is practised, but for the leader of the Conservative party to pose as a purist and make a policy of this one-sided course is absurd to say the least of it, and, joined to his blind opposition to an advance policy for the Province, this course alone unfits him for the wise control of the affairs of the Province to which he aspires. If Drake and Hawkins and Frobisher had contented their patriotism and enterprise by talking "scandal about Queen Elizabeth", they never would have made the great voyages of discovery which resulted in making Great Britain the mistress of the seas and the greatest commercial and civilizing force in the world. Mr. Whitney will never work his way to power by talking political scandal. He mistakes the temper of the people of the country. They do not and never will sympathize with stagnation. (applause.)

Has The Confidence of the Country.

Hon. Mr. Ross (and his colleagues and followers are in hearty sympathy with him) aims higher. He and the Government realize that we have a Province of magnificent resources and they also recognize that we must have a policy of development worthy of these resources. The Government has faith in the country, and confidence in the energy, enterprise and ambition of the people of the Province who reciprocate this confidence and will support the Government in the carrying out of a policy which, while it insures good Government and efficient administration of current affairs and proper care of established interests, is energetically directed to the development of our unlimited natural resources, to the creation of new centres of population and of manufacturing and commercial enterprise, which will react on Older Ontario sending an impulse of new life through every avenue and department of its agricultural industrial and commercial activities. (Applause.) The Ross Government has done well for Ontario; it is doing well for Ontario and will continue to do well for Ontario. for no Government on the eve of an appeal to the people ever stood so high in the public confidence, no Government ever presented so strong claims to the renewal of the trust which they have discharged with so much wisdom, energy and ample regard for both the present and future interests of one of the fairest countries the sun shines on. (Long continued applause.)

At the conclusion of Mr. Stratton's address, Mr. Thos. Dodds, in moving, seconded by Mr. Wm. Rutherford, a vote of thanks which was heartily carried, referred to the wonderful progress of settlement in the Rainy River District, from which he had recently received a letter from his son, stating that the surveyed areas were filling up so rapidly that there was need for the survey of two or three more townships.

Mr. Geo. M. Roger, barrister, who was present, spoke of the great information Hon. Mr. Stratton's address had given him respecting the tremendous capabilities of New Ontario, whose extent and value had never been so fully impressed upon his mind as it had been that evening. The people of Ontario had a fortune in the new territory, and it was a great thing that a Liberal Government had successfully withstood the effort of the Conservative Government to deprive us of this great region, and had preserved it to Ontario, as the foundation of future greatness and prosperity.

The meeting closed with cheers for Hon. Mr. Stratton, the Ross Government and the King.

A FARMER'S TRIALS.

A SUFFERER FOR YEARS, THE RESULT OF A FALL.

In His Weakened Condition La Grippe Fastened Itself Upon Him, and Brought Him Near the Grave.

Mr. William Silver is a well-known farmer living near Hemford, N. S. During his life he has passed through much sickness, but now, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, he is again enjoying vigorous health. To a reporter who recently interviewed him Mr. Silver said:—I am now in my 62nd year, and I may date the beginning of my troubls to my sixteenth year when I was thrown from a horse's back and had my spine somewhat injured. This was always a weak spot, and it seemed to leave me more susceptible to other troubles, as it grew worse as I advanced in years. As a farmer I always had to work hard and often to expose myself to inclement weather. My back trouble was finally aggravated by indigestion, and as this affected my appetite, I was very much run down. Finally a few years ago I was attacked with la grippe, which developed into pneumonia. My family doctor succeeded in conquering this trouble but for six months I was not able to leave the house, and all that he could do for me did not bring back my strength. Finally I consulted another doctor, but with no better result. In fact before I stopped doctoring I had tried four different physicians and all the time instead of getting better I was growing weaker. Some eighteen months had now now elapsed since my attack of la grippe, and during that time I was not able to do any work. My whole system seemed exhausted, and my nerves shattered. On fine days I would go out for a while, but often I would become so weak and dizzy that I could scarcely get back to the house. One day a neighbour asked me why I did not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I thought the advice might be worth taking and I sent for a half dozen boxes of the pills. Before they were gone there was no doubt I had found a medicine that was helping me, and I got a further supply. I continued taking the pills for about three months, and before I quit using them I was feeling better and stronger than I had done for years. Every symptom of the weakness that had followed la grippe was gone, and my back which had bothered me for so many years was almost as strong as in boyhood. I have since done many a hard day's work, and had been exposed to bad weather, but without any evil effects, and I can truly say Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have restored me to vigorous manhood."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure such cases as the one noted above, because they create new, rich, red blood, thus strengthening weak and shattered nerves. They do not purge and weaken like other medicines, but strengthen from the first dose to the last. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent postpaid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Horses For British Army.

London, Ont., May 17.—The advantages of having a remount station for cavalry horses for the British army established here was demonstrated at the Queen's Park yesterday. About 400 horses of all sizes and grades were brought to the notice of Col. Dent and Dr. Fraser, veterinary inspector, and underwent a rigid examination. These horses came from all over the country and are a very fine looking lot. Col. Dent and Dr. Fraser express themselves as being well satisfied and they consider this one of the finest lots they have examined. About 200 horses altogether have been accepted.

The Lesson He Wanted.

In his autobiography, "Up From Slavery," Booker T. Washington tells an amusing anecdote of an old colored man who during the days of slavery wanted to learn how to play on the guitar. In his desire to take guitar lessons he applied to one of his young masters to teach him. But the young man, not having much faith in the ability of the slave to master the guitar at his age, sought to discourage him by telling him: "Uncle Jake, I will give you guitar lessons. But, Jake, I will have to charge you $3 for the first lesson, $2 for the second lesson and $1 for the third lesson. But I will charge you only 25 cents for the last lesson."

Uncle Jake answered: "All right, boss, I hires you on dem terms. But, boss, I wants yer to be sure an' give me dat las' lesson first."

"I'm very sorry," came the startling reply. "I'll see that it don't occur again, for I'm going to chain her up in future."—London Telegraph.

OBITUARY.

MRS. THOS. E. BELL.

The death occurred in Lakefield yesterday of Isabella Forgie, aged 64 years, wife of Mr. Thos. E. Bell. The deceased was widely connected throughout the district, and the announcement of her death will come as a great shock to a large circle of relatives and friends. The funeral will leave the family residence on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and proceed to Hillside Cemetery for interment.

MRS. BENJAMIN HALES.

Mrs. Benjamin Hales of the township of Chandos, died at the home of her daughter Mrs. Wm. Snelgrove of the same township on Tuesday last, aged 71 years. Mrs. Hales had gone on a visit to her daughter in order to take care of her during her illness, when she was suddenly taken ill herself and died. A family of seven is left to mourn her loss. The funeral took place on Thursday at 12 a. m., from the house of Mr. Wm. Snelgrove. The officiating minister was Mr. Berry of the Apsley Methodist Mission.

MRS. M. P. DOHERTY.

The Catholic Register says:—"The Register extends its sympathy to Mr. M. P. Doherty, of the Colonization Roads Department, on the loss of his wife. The family is well known in Toronto and in the Peterborough district, where they lived for some years after Mr. Doherty had given up business in Toronto. Mrs. Doherty died on Friday morning after a long and painful illness, and the funeral took place on Monday from St. Helen's Church. She was a model Catholic woman, and her death is a sore loss. She leaves nine children, the eldest not more than eighteen years of age.

MRS. EDWARD KERR.

On Monday, 6th of May, one of the oldest settlers of the Township of South Monaghan passed away in the person of Mrs. Edward Kerr, relict of the late Edward Kerr, Esq., at the advanced age of 89 years. The deceased, whose husband died six years ago, leaves three children to mourn her loss, viz: Thos. who lives on the homestead; Richard, of Leamington, and George, of Eastwood. The deceased has also one brother in Canada, who resides at Tilsonburg.

Mrs. Kerr was born in County Wicklow, Ireland, and with her parents removed to Canada many years ago. She was one of the oldest pioneers of the township, and was a most consistent member of the Bensfort Methodist church. Her remains were interred in the Dawson burying ground. The funeral, which was very largely attended, showed the very high esteem in which she was held by her many friends in the district, who had been associated with her for over half a century.

IN VICTORIA OR CENTRAL.

The Band Question Again to the Front.

Reasons Advanced Why Central Park Should not be Used—No Accomodation.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—When I first saw the announcement that the council intended to change the summer band concerts from Victoria Park to the Central Park I thought it was merely an idle rumour, without any foundation whatever, so absurd was the idea: but since you have treated it seriously, I presume there has been a move made in that direction. I cannot for a moment think it is because Prof. Glidden prefers the change, or that the music would sound better. On that point it would be well to hear what the Professor has to say. Speaking for the public, I unhesitatingly say that the change would be very unpopular, and uneasy would be the Alderman at his next election who would advocate the change. It would be an act of such stupendous folly that I cannot understand one putting himself in that position.

Nature could not have better designed Victoria Park for such a purpose, with its suitable acclivity from the band stand, giving the thousands who avail themselves of the treat, a vantage ground for both hearing and seeing the band, that is at once ample and restful, for it is a well-known principle of acoustics that sound has a greater tendency upwards than downwards or laterally. The surroundings of the park, too, are beautiful, and the air is pure and free from dust. Indeed, it is an ideal spot for such purposes. Then why the change, when Central Park does not possess these advantages, and has many other disadvantages? It is a well known fact that owing to the contract for watering the streets not being properly enforced, the three streets surrounding this park are usually dusty and in consequence unfit the place for a pleasure resort, apart from it being low and flat, and otherwise unfit for the purpose intended, besides the noise of wagons and other vehicles passing and repassing would drown the soft parts of the music, and grate upon the trained ears of the musicians. If Lindsay or any other town was the proud possessor of one of the best, if not the best, bands in Canada, would its people deign to deprive them of the best place within reach and relegate them to any old spot? I have heard it stated that the excuse for the change is that there is danger of the boys destroying or injuring the trees, but does not the same danger exist at other times, and would not the same objections apply to Central Park, and more so, now that the trees there are newly planted? Has it come to this, that our high-salaried Chief, with his posse of policemen, cannot ward off the attacks of a few small boys for an hour and a half. If he will confess his powerlessness, I will give a written guarantee that the same number of civilians will undertake the task, without pay, and save the trees from any injury. What is the park for anyway? Why has the public cheerfully submitted to taxation for keeping it up, but for this very purpose? Then out upon such an excuse for the folly proposed.

Yours, etc.,
Pro Bono Publico.

BOWLING.

A splendid job has been made by Mr. Jas. O'Keefe of the levelling and re-sodding of the lot selected for the bowling green. The sod will be firm enough to play on by the 24th of May, and the attention of all members is called to the fact that none but those wearing heeless, rubber soled shoes are allowed upon the green. The strict enforcement of this rule is necessary in order that the uniform levelness of the sod may be maintained.

At a meeting of the committee yesterday a large number of applications for membership were passed upon, and the total enrollment now reaches the number of sixty-five. As the membership is limited to one hundred, those desiring to identify themselves with the club, should forward their names to the secretary at once.

GOLF.

At a largely attended meeting of the Executive Committee of the Peterborough Golf Club held last evening, it was decided to strictly adhere to the rule regarding the limited membership in future. The limit is now fixed at 65 members and as the club now has 63 on the roll only two more members can be admitted. The committee feels the necessity of enforcing this rule on account of the great danger engendered through overcrowding the links.

A RELIABLE PILE CURE.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is the safest and surest Pile Cure on the market, because it contains no mineral poisons nor opium nor cocaine, but can be used with absolute safety and certainty of cure.

Many physicians are now using the Pyramid Pile Cure in place of surgical operations, being painless, convenient to use, and the patient can attend to his daily occupation while the cure is being made, as it is used at night, and no additional treatment is necessary.

Dr. Wharton says the Pyramid Pile Cure will prove a blessing to mankind, when it is remembered that heretofore a surgical operation was considered the only cure with all its danger to life, intense pain and an expense of from ten to one hundred dollars, to say nothing of the possible return of the trouble. The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents and $1.00, and does the work quickly and safely.

A book on cause and cure of piles will be mailed free by addressing Pyramid Co., Marshall, Mich.

THE DEANERY MET.

Representatives Assembled in Port Hope.

The Rural Deanery of Durham and Victoria met in the choir vestry of St. Mark's church, Port Hope on Tuesday, at 2 p.m., it being well attended, only three members being absent. There were present, Revs. Archdeacon Allen, Millbrook; Canon Farncombe, Newcastle; R. L. Seaborn, Bowmanville; Rural Dean Marsh, Lindsay; J. J. Creighton, Bobcaygeon; G. Field, Gore's Landing; William Farncombe, Fenelon Falls; E. Langfeldt, Omemee; E. Daniel, Port Hope, and the rector, Rev. E. G. Dymond.

After reading and commenting upon the portion of the Greek Testament assigned, (I Tim. IV,) the minutes of the last meeting were read.

A discussion on "Synod Topics" followed, led by Canon Farncombe. Divine service was held at eight p.m. W. C. Allen. The first lesson The first portion was taken by the Rector, the second portion by Rev. W. C. Allen. The first lesson was read by R. D. Marsh, and the second lesson by J. J. Creighton. An impressive sermon taken from the text, "Ye are the light of the world," was preached by Rev. R. L. Seaborn, and the closing prayers and Benediction by Ven. Archdeacon Allen. There was a full choir, and the musical portion of the service was beautifully rendered. Special Psalms and appropriate hymns were appointed.

There was a celebration for the members of the Deanery at 9 a.m., on Wednesday morning; the Rector was the celebrant, assisted by Canon Farncombe. After the service another meeting was held to consider the next meeting place, as well as the with the Benediction by the Ven. Archdeacon. A resolution regretting the resignation of Rev. E. Jones, Headmaster of Trinity College School, and expressing appreciation of the interest he has taken in the Rural Deanery and Archdeaconal meetings during his residence there was passed.

The clergy were entertained by Mrs. H. Ward, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Evans, Rev. E. Daniel and the Rector.

THE ALBANY STRIKE.

Settlement of Railway Trouble Affecting Five Cities.

A TEN-CLAUSE AGREEMENT.

It Was Signed by the Representatives of the Men and the Company—Both Sides Made Concessions—90 Cents Per Hour Granted, But the Company May Employ Non-Union Men.

Albany, N. Y., May 20.—The great railroad strike, lasting for twelve days, requiring the presence of three members of the National Guard in the city, costing the lives of two prominent merchants, and entailing an expense to the County of Albany of over $39,000, is amicably settled, and if the agreements are kept, there will be no trouble for three years at least.

The ominous calm which succeeded the killing of two inoffensive citizens four days ago by National Guardsmen defending property, was succeeded Saturday afternoon and evening by hysterical enthusiasm when public bell towers and city newspapers proclaimed that the twelve days' strike on the street railways of five cities had been settled. Flags flying from public and private buildings, horses and wagons decorated with bunting and the national emblem, citizens carrying small flags in their hands and enthusiastic youths and otherwise dignified citizens chasing after the union-manned cars, marked some of the earlier scenes of the afternoon.

The repair wagon left the Traction Company's barn with its old union crew aboard, and, going along Earl street, received an ovation. It was decorated with flags and escorted by a joyful, shrieking crowd, very different to the passion-bound crowd that had followed the cars the last few days. Saturday night several of the lines were running in this city, and all of them in the other cities, and by noon Sunday all the lines were running on schedule time with union men.

The first indication of the settlement of the strike came at an early hour Saturday morning from Troy, where it was announced that the Troy division of railway employes' organization had decided to sign the agreement presented at Friday night's conference. Following this notification, the other divisions met in Albany, and, after they had signed, the Traction Company, of course, signed it, and at 11 o'clock Saturday morning it became binding.

As is usual, both sides of this controversy, which has cost two lives and the loss of many thousands of dollars, claim the credit.

Concessions Won by the Men.

From the face of the agreement it is evident that the striking men won these concessions:

Increasing night men and extra men's wages to 20 cents per hour.

Granting men the right of appeal from a decision of an inspector or the superintendent, to Traction Company's Executive Board.

Providing that inspectors boarding a car need not be rung up, unless they present an equivalent for fare.

The road to pay any employe for lost time when suspended and found not guilty.

Employes permitted to ride on their own divisions free by showing their badge. No discrimination against strikers who have not committed violence.

Concessions the Other Way.

The Traction people obtained these concessions:

That men who are on strike and committed violence, shall not be reinstated, unless proven guiltless.

That the road may hire or discharge any man, without reference to his affiliation or otherwise with a union.

That no proposition to strike shall be acted upon until 48 hours has elapsed from the time of notification, and that if a strike is ordered it shall not take effect until six days.

Everything Quiet on Sunday.

Albany, N. Y., May 20.—The incidents of yesterday, the first day of active operation of all the railway lines affected by the great strike, have been few because of the heavy fall of rain. The two men shot by National Guardsmen in defence of life and property, were buried during Sunday afternoon, but the pouring rain kept away the thousands of sight-seers that otherwise would have marked the occasion with their presence. The departure of the 23rd Regiment early in the morning was the second feature of the day, and stirring sermons in many city pulpits aided in closing the incident.

THE LOOKED FOR

NEW YORK SKIRT WAISTS

ARE TO HAND.

The range this morning as we write is full. The colours and the sizes are complete. Many have been waiting for the thirty-two, four and six sizes. This is the only way we can advise those who are waiting. These are the most popular blouse we ever had. The quantities are limited though in the better qualities. So speak quick.

Prices—75c, $1.00, $1.25, $2.00, $2.25. In Colours.

Prices—90c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.75, 2.00, $2.25—in White.

Ladies' Black Parasols at $

The line is one we can term satisfactorily cheap. The make-up is good, the combination of top and handle is exceptional. They are appealing good value. Just a dollar!

The Two Dollar Quality

is a beautiful silky twill, light but firm, bright but durable. Steel rods and choice sticks daintily mounted.

The Dollar-Fifty Fancy

is a nifty looking smart sunshade—one that does not attract the heat on account of the darkness of it. The airy colours also lend a coolness in appearance. They are the $2.00 and $2.30 sort, but for a trade reason we bought them so that we might sell them at a dollar and a half.

Tortoise Shell Combs

A heap of styles to pick from—styles that are good and qualities that are superior. They consist of Pompadoure, Back Combs, Hair Pins, etc., etc. Their worth is, in many cases, double the price we ask, which is only

Fifteen Cents Each.

Don't overlook the Circular that we sent to your home. If for any reason it did not reach you, advise us, and we will send another. These Circulars tell of special lines suitable for holiday as well as every day needs. (It's Sutcliffe's Circular.)

MACHINISTS STRIKE TO-DAY.

They Demand a Nine-Hour Day and an Increase of Wages.

Washington, May 20.—"It is my opinion that fully 50 per cent. of the machinists employed in the United States, Mexico and Canada will go out on strike Monday," said President James O'Connell of the International Association of Machinists last night. "The precise number of men or percentage cannot be stated, as notifications of agreements being signed are continually received and many adjustments of differences will be made. It is my belief that but a few of the allied trades members will remain at work when the machinists go out."

President O'Connell says everything is going quietly and there are no indications of trouble. In several places the strike was inaugurated ahead of scheduled time. The machinists employed in the Richmond Locomotive Works, at Richmond, Va., Driggs-Seabury Works at Derby, Conn.; a firm in St. Albans, Vt., and at a few other places went out Saturday. In each instance members of the Allied Trades also quit work.

The interest is chiefly centred in San Francisco and Cincinnati. In these cities a movement has been formed to oppose the nine-hour demand. The Union Iron Works, where the battleship Ohio was launched on Saturday, is among the firms opposing the machinists.

President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, has gone to Cincinnati, where he will have direct personal charge of the strike situation on Monday.

The strike order will be enforced against the firms which have not granted a nine-hour day and a 12½ per cent. increase in wages. There will be no interruption of work in shops where agreements have been signed.

Lockout at Kingston.

Kingston, Ont., May 20.—At noon on Saturday notices were put up at the Locomotive Works that all departments were closed until further notice. The company finds itself unable at present to run any of the departments. Four hundred men are out of work. Men who claim to know, say the works will be removed to Quebec in the course of the next few years. The company states that, if the union men do not comply with their conditions and return to work in a reasonable time, that non-union men will be placed at work. The shops will not be allowed to remain idle.

BOER CHANGE OF HEART.

The Times' Pretoria Correspondent Takes a Sanguine View—One Thousand Boers Corraled by Gen. Blood.

London, May 20.—The war is about to end. One learns this much yesterday from The London Times' Pretoria correspondent, who, until now, has never taken a sanguine view of matters in South Africa. His report of a change of heart among the Boers certainly has a tone of authority.

1,000 Boers Rounded Up.

Cape Town, May 19.—Gen. Bindon Blood has just concluded a successful concerted movement against the Boers in the Northern Transvaal. The British columns engaged in the operations covered a wide area, routing all the commandoes that opposed them and capturing 1,000 Boers and great quantities of supplies, stock and wagons in various districts. Gen. Blood conducted the operations in the centre with Col. Plumer on his left flank and Gen. Kitchener on his right. The Boer Commander, Gen. Ven Viljoen, abandoned everything, but succeeded in making his escape with a few mounted men. The Boers did not make a stand at any point.

The report from Durban that a company with £7,000,000 capital has approached the Natal Government for permission to construct a direct trunk line from Durban to Johannesburg by tunnelling through the hills, is confirmed. If the scheme goes through the Rand will be only 12 hours' journey from the coast.

Kruger's Firm Faith.

London, May 20.—A man who recently succeeded in interviewing Mr. Kruger reports that he is fanatically confident that the Boers will win in the end. He is not bitter against England, as he considers that that country has been misled. He was anxious to know if the war in South Africa had hastened the death of Queen Victoria. He also declared that he did not believe that God would desert His chosen people — the Boers. When one of Mr. Kruger's entourage suggested that the miracle which was to save the Boer cause was somewhat overdue Mr. Kruger replied: "Miracle! Isn't it a miracle that 15,000 men are holding 250,000 at bay?"

King to Receive Him.

London, May 20.—It is announced that Sir Alfred Milner, now on his way here from the Cape, is to be received by the King at Marlborough House next Friday, and also publicly entertained at luncheon at Claridge's on Saturday by Mr. Chamberlain.

The Boer Prisoners.

Hamilton, Bermuda, May 20.—No doubt now exists as to Boer prisoners being sent to these islands. The British steamer Cayo Romano, which sailed from London on May 2 for New Orleans, by way of Bermuda, is discharging large numbers of tents, stoves, utensils, stores, and bedding, many of the articles being marked, "For Boer Prisoners."

Queen Draga Deceived.

Belgrade, May 20.—All rumors regarding the abdication of King Alexander, the resignation of the Cabinet and the banishment of Queen Draga, growing out of the recent sensational experiences of the Servian royal family, are declared to be without foundation. Prof. Cantacuzene, of Bucharest, who was summoned with Dr. Wertheim of Vienna, announces that Queen Draga presents all the symptoms of false, or nervous, pregnancy, and that she is suffering from nephritis, but that her condition is not serious.

A Chesley Man Killed.

Chesley, Ont., May 20.—Saturday afternoon George H. Elliott of this place lost his life. He and a man named McDonald, were driving over the iron bridge that leads into this place, when they were overtaken on the middle of the bridge by a runaway team belonging to a farmer named Alexander Brown of Sullivan Township. Mr. Elliott was thrown out of his rig and one of the wheels of the farmer's wagon passed over his head, killing him instantly. Mr. McDonald escaped unhurt.

THE LAST ESTIMATES

Purchase of the Plains of Abraham and Other Items.

THE RAILWAY SUBSIDIES PASSED

The Sessional Indemnities—The Members Agree to Increase It to $1,500 Per Annum for Both Senate and Commons—The Proceedings in the House of Commons on Saturday.

Ottawa, May 20.—Further supplementary estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902, amounting to $1,240,476, were submitted by the Minister of Finance Friday night. This amount, added to the estimates already laid before the House, brings the total estimated expenditure for next year up to $60,008,540. Of the present appropriations $952,528 is required to satisfy arbitration awards in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick in connection with the Eastern Extension Railway. Of this sum Nova Scotia is to receive $671,836 and New Brunswick $280,-602. A vote of $80,000 is asked for the purchase of the Plains of Abraham from the Ursuline nuns at Quebec. The sum of $100,000 appears under the heading of additional sum required for the census. Out of this it is presumed the claims of some of the enumerators who have been underpaid will be met. An appropriation of $15,000 is required for the construction of an astronomical observatory at Ottawa. This, together with a new museum building and a branch of the Royal Mint, already determined upon, would indicate that steps are being taken to carry out the promise to make Ottawa the Washington of the north. In addition to the vote for the construction of the observatory, there is a sum of $15,000 for the purchase of a telescope and apparatus. The expenses of a Judicial inquiry into the alleged paper combine take $3,000, while the equipment and maintenance of an assay office in British Columbia or the Yukon will need $20,000. The Northwest Territories Government gets $25,000 additional allowance for schools, and $10,000 will be devoted to a hydrographic survey of Lake Winnipeg. A sum of $5,000 is given for a public building at Fort William.

Indemnity Increased to $1,500.

The members of the House of Commons and Senate are to have their indemnity increased from $1,000 to $1,500, beginning with the present session. This step has been determined upon as a result of communications between both parties. There is practically unanimity of opinion in favor of the increase, and a resolution authorizing the augmentation will be introduced to-morrow.

The House Proceedings.

The bill authorizing further advances to the Harbor Commissioners of Montreal was passed through its final stages Saturday morning, and the order for the second reading of the bill to amend the Manitoba Grain Act, 1900, was discharged and the bill dropped.

Mr. Bernier, Minister of Inland Revenue, introduced a bill providing for the reorganization of the Department of Inland Revenue by appointing a Deputy Minister, in lieu of a Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner, as at present.

The House went into committee upon the railway subsidies.

At 6 o'clock nine subsidies, aggregating $1,320,000, had been passed.

At 11 o'clock on Saturday night all of the resolutions had been adopted and read a second time, and Mr. Blair introduced a bill in accordance with the resolutions.

Private Bills.

The House took up the order paper of private bills for the first hour Saturday evening and cleared off all the private legislation on hand, save one or two bills which stood over.

Upon the motion for the third reading of the bill for the relief of Lilias Middleton, Mr. Britton emphasized the necessity for a divorce court, and pointed out that this woman had been put to an expense, outside her personal expenses, for counsel of nearly $500, which made the relief which the law declared persons were entitled to under certain circumstances impossible of attainment by persons who were not possessed of considerable means.

The bill was given third reading upon division, also the bill giving relief to James Ward McDonald. The following bills were given third reading and passed: To incorporate the Quebec Terminal & Railway Company—Mr. Malouin; respecting the St. Lawrence and Adirondack Railway Company—Mr. Monk; respecting the Great Northern Railway of Canada—Mr. McCarthy.

The amendments by the Senate to eight private bills were concurred in. The House adjourned at 11.05.

Smallpox at Havelock.

Havelock, Ont., May 20.—Dr. Bryce, Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, arrived in town Saturday night and found four cases of smallpox, two being the worst he had seen. A daughter of John Morrow, three of whose family have the smallpox, a mile west of here, escaped from quarantine Saturday morning and left on the 5 o'clock train for some point in the States, where she is to be married Monday.

James Barry's Body Found.

Algonac, Mich., May 20.—The body of the man found in the river here Saturday has been identified by his two sons, as that of James Barry, of Point Edward, Ont. He was 52 years of age, and was a boilermaker at Sarnia. In trying to reach the ferry on Christmas Day, he slipped under the ice.

The Yukon Open.

Victoria, B.C., May 20.—The Yukon is open for navigation.

The Chinese are not entirely clothed in cotton. The ordinary annual crop of silk in China is estimated at about 21,-000,000 pounds, of which over 60 per cent is consumed in the country where it is produced.

The key to the Bastile is now hanging on the wall in the hall at the old home of Washington at Mount Vernon. It was given to Washington by Lafayette.

Pure Blood.

Your blood is pure when it contains a certain amount of nutrition, when the blood cells are in a certain healthy condition, and when there is oxygen enough to neutralize any impurities that may get in.

The poison that gathers in your system during the winter is forming germs constantly, and if your blood has not enough condensed oxygen you'll be very sick and liable to fevers.

Powley's Liquified Ozone is antiseptic, and furnishes the system with condensed oxygen. It is especially adapted for blood disorders because it acts directly on the blood to purify it.

MISS LILY HALL, 12 Sully Street, Toronto, says:—

A year ago I was unable to go out of doors without a veil covering, on account of eczema on my face, and was unable to get it cured. I was doubtful but persistent with Ozone, and have been thankful ever since it cured me.

Powley's Liquified Ozone is $1.00 a bottle, large size; 50c. small size; at all druggists.

ECLIPSE OF THE SUN.

Twenty-Two Solar Spectators Turned Their Eyes Through Telescopes at the Clouded Orb.

Port Louis, Mauritius, May 20. — The total eclipse of the sun was well observed at the Royal Alfred Observatory on Saturday. The partial eclipse was partly lost through a cloud and the first contact was entirely lost. The last three contacts were well observed. The party included 22 observers.

Fifty-two photographs of the corona were obtained with the photoheliograph of the Mauritius Observatory, the Groenwich coronagraph, the new Begin telescope and other smaller cameras.

Professor Claxton arranged the meteorological observations over a wide area for evidence of eclipse cycles. The corona was of the expected minimum type, but seemed fainter, yellower, more diffuse and less definite than the eclipse of last May.

Photographs of Sun's Eclipse.

Amsterdam, May 20.—The Dutch expedition observing the total eclipse of the sun at Karangsago, Sumatra, telegraphs: "During the eclipse the sun was partially obscured by clouds. Successful photographs were taken of the corona, with different refractors, and of the spectra of the corona and chromosphere, with two spectrographs. On the other hand, the photographs with the prismatic camera and measurements for the polarization of light and heat radiation of the corona have not succeeded."

Three Lives Crushed Out.

St. John, N.B., May 18.—One of the worst fatalities which has occurred in St. John in years, happened yesterday afternoon, when the 107-foot chimney of Jewett's saw-mill, at Milldigeville, collapsed, crushing to death, with its thousands of brick, three men, and injuring three others. The dead are: William J. Price, Geo. McClusky and Charles Wilson, all men in the prime of life. The injured are: Joseph Nesbitt, Robert Logan and Henry Codnor. On Tuesday repairs to the chimney were begun, and the men replacing the brick lining with new when the accident occurred.

Wood Fell on Him.

Brantford, May 18.—Calvin Wood, a young lad about 10 years of age, was on Thursday evening, with a number of other boys, playing on a lumber pile on Wadsworth street, the lumber pile fell over burying Calvin Wood underneath. The other boys escaped with few scratches. Assistance quickly arrived, and, clearing the lumber away, got young Wood out and removed him to the hospital. His leg is broken in two places, skull fractured and arms badly bruised.

A Whole Family Poisoned.

Cedar Springs, May 18.—The whole family, with the exception of one daughter, of W. D. Wigle, consisting of his wife and six children, have been under the doctor's care since Tuesday morning, suffering from what appears to be a case of poisoning. They are now all out of danger except Mrs. Wigle and her six-months'-old baby. The case is one that is puzzling everyone, even the doctors at present not being able to diagnose the symptoms.

Both Feet Cut Off

Clinton, May 18.—Alexander Taylor, a tea merchant of this place and a brother of Dr. Taylor of Goderich, was driving across the G. T. R. tracks a mile east of here when his horse became frightened and threw him on the track in front of an approaching train. He was struck by the train and the wheels passing over his legs, completely severed both feet. There is but slight hopes of his recovery.

Americans Winning.

Manila, May 18.—Gen. Mascardo, with 328 men, have surrendered to Capt. Joseph P. O'Neil of the 25th Infantry at San Anatonia, Zembales Province.

Weary Brain Workers

Fagged out, ideas come as slowly as molasses. You think of things just a minute or two too late. Snap's gone! The buoyancy that made work a pleasure—that's gone too. The doctor would tell you that you are run down, not eating enough nor digesting enough. Your blood needs aid, your digestion needs a bracer too. Your blood requires Phosphorus and Iron that it may be formed readily. Now Ferrozone is a wonderful nerve bracer and blood maker. It's food for the blood and nerves, it will make you strong quickly and permanently.—Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

WOMEN IN BUSINESS.

THEY ARE SUCCESSFUL IF THE PROPER COURSE IS TAKEN.

Miss Holly Points Out the Road—Men Are Considerate and Appreciative as a Rule—Mistakes Women Make About Their Work.

In one of the New York publishing houses there is a young woman who should deliver lectures upon "How to Be Happy, Though Self Supporting." She contradicts all the ravens who croak over the working girl's woes and the stenographer's handicap. She would drive a woman's suffrage convention to tonics and self distrust. She is so satisfied with life and work that the air is clear of pessimism for a radius of 50 feet around her, and the microbe of feminine discontent can't exist in the same room with her.

"Were you born so?" asked the reporter gravely.

Miss Holly laughed. She usually does laugh. She can't help it. It isn't an irritating giggle; it's a gay little laugh of the escape valve variety.

"I was born happy. I achieved happiness. I had happiness thrust upon me."

The reporter shook his head pityingly. Whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad.

"Why shouldn't a girl be happy when she is well and has a chance to work and opportunities for success are lying around loose." Evidently she was mad—quite mad.

"But things are so hard for women," said the reporter. "Men hold them down. They have no rights. They are underpaid and overworked and insulted and"—

"Stuff and nonsense!" said the happy woman. "There may have been a time when woman didn't have a chance. She's way past that now. If a girl doesn't succeed today, it's her own fault. It isn't easy for her to make a large fortune, but there's nothing to prevent her from winning a responsible position and a good salary."

"As for the men—well, there are disagreeable men, I suppose, but I believe that the average man gives a girl a perfectly fair show and likes to see her succeed if he finds she is reliable and earnest. If a woman demands the privileges of her sex as well as its rights, she must expect to take its disadvantages too. If she makes her employer think of her as a woman before he thinks of her as a valuable piece of business machinery, she is courting trouble.

"I would infinitely rather work for men than for women. I have found the men fair, considerate and appreciative, and the most competent working women I know say the same thing. The class of stenographers and other working girls who have hair raising experiences is the class that doesn't inspire respect either for quality of work or personality.

"After all, it all comes back to the personal equation. I have studied the girls who fail, who drudge and complain, and I find that there is invariably good reason in their own character for their lack of success. One hears a lot about stenographers. No girl who is a really good stenographer sticks at that work long. She has a thousand opportunities of making herself valuable, of learning the business and her employer's ideas and needs. Stenography is only a stepping stone for her.

"An opportunity comes for her to attempt something beyond her regular work. She is ready for it. She knows the ins and outs of things. She broadens her field as much as possible, regardless of the hard work. When a man finds that a woman has a keen interest in the business, isn't afraid of work, is to be depended upon in emergencies, he is practically sure to advance her, and she can rise as high as it is possible for a woman to rise in that house.

"The trouble with most girls is that they don't love their work. It bores them. They do it only in order to earn so much a week, and they look upon it merely as a makeshift to bridge over the time until they marry. Now, what sort of attitude is that and what sort of work will it produce? That kind of thing makes me wild. I've worked in offices where all the girls spent the last hour or two of the day watching the clock and dawdling. They were always saying:

"'Oh, I'm so glad it's nearly 6! I'm tired to death!'

"They moaned and groaned all day. I would have liked to bundle them out of the window. If a girl wants to be a slipshod stenographer or clerk on a small salary all her days, that's the way to go at it. If work is worth doing at all, one can find interest in it, and the days were never long enough for all I wanted to crowd into them.

"I didn't like stenography, but there was so much all around me to be learned, and I tore through my regular work in order to have time to learn those other things. Nine-tenths of the girls who take shorthand are like automatons and never have the faintest idea of the meaning of the sentences they are writing. They will write the same word or phrase every day for a year and never have the curiosity to find out what it means.

"A big share of them haven't intelligence enough to understand the meaning if it were explained to them. Then they complain that they don't get on. I'm not running down my sex. No, indeed! I'm saying that no intelligent girl need fail and that critics make the mistake of judging feminine work and possibilities by a class of women who don't deserve to mount.

"When I had to go to work, I was a horrid little snob. I remember I refused to meet two girls once at a party because they were stenographers. Disgusting, wasn't it? I soon found that plenty of girls better educated and quite as well born as I were in the field before me. Goodness, what a revelation an introduction into the working world is to a woman and how it upsets her neat map of life and society! I studied at the Young Women's Christian association, and I'd like to go on record as owing more than I can ever pay to that institution.

"You see womankind is burdened with false traditions and theories. We don't start fair, so far as our point of view is concerned. It will be a good many years before we do start fair, and woman suffrage and women's clubs won't be the things to bring around the millennium. The healthy, rational working woman who makes herself a power in business will set the standards."—New York Sun.

ANTIQUE TIMEPIECES.

The Fascination They Hold For All Sorts of People.

Ancient clocks and watches seem to have a singular fascination for all sorts of people. Philip the Cruel of Spain is said to have had more than a thousand in his famous collection, and the late George W. Childs of Philadelphia, who was as kindly and gentle as the Spanish monarch was inhuman, was equally devoted to the fad. In this city several curio dealers make a speciality of venerable timepieces and keep a list of those which they can secure from private owners when the occasion requires.

"The demand for these goods," said one of these merchants, "is of a varied nature. One type of customer wants an old clock to give an air of dignity or of comfort to a hall or sitting room. Nothing, in fact, is sleepier than a huge Dutch hall clock six feet high, which ticks like a blacksmith beating an anvil and which rings an old fashioned gong bell. Another type enjoys polite deception and imposes a purchase as a time honored heirloom.

"A third type purchases clocks which are marked by high beauty and artistic finish. Some of the ancient constructions were made by artists and cannot be surpassed, if equaled, by those of today. This is especially true of those which came from the workshops of famous French, Flemish and Italian designers. Clocks of this class always command high prices and may be considered works of art rather than mere timekeepers. The fourth type seems to have no particular idea in their fad. They want old timepieces and ask no questions as to their works, their beauty or their historical connection. If a clock is a century old, well and good; if it is two centuries old, so much the better, and if it is three centuries they are beside themselves with delight.

"There are a few who purchase watches and clocks for historical associations. Of these the number is much larger than is usually supposed, and it grows every day. The greater attention paid to history and biography has helped the movement, as has also the practice of giving exhibitions and making gifts to museums and learned societies."

THE LIQUOR HABIT.

Rev. A. J. McCallen's Lecture.

On the occasion of a lecture delivered before a large and appreciative audience in Windsor Hall, Montreal, in honour of the Father Matthew anniversary, Rev. J. A. McCallen, S. S., of St. Patrick's church, and president of the St. Patrick's Total Abstinence Society, paid the following grand tribute to the value of Mr. Dixon's new discovery for the cure of alcohol and drug habits.

Referring to the physical craze engendered by the inordinate use of intoxicants, he said: "When such a craze manifests itself there is no escape, unless by a miracle of grace, or by some such remedy as Mr. Dixon's Cure, about which the papers have spoken so much lately, and if I am to judge of the value of the Dixon remedy by the cures which it has effected under my own eyes, I must come to the conclusion that what I have longed for twenty years to see discovered, has at last been found by that gentleman."

Full particulars of this new medicine are sent sealed free to all applicants. Address, Mr. Dixon, 81 Willcocks street, Toronto, Ont.

Pansies That are Pansies.

No more beautiful pansies can be seen than those raised this year by Mr. Blade of the West End Greenhouses. They show extra large bloom, in uncommonly handsome colours and shades, richly marked and variegated. The three long beds of these lovely garden violets have attracted crowds of visitors to the West End Greenhouses during the past week; and the demand has been so great that the beds will soon be stripped of their beautiful "heart's ease" bloom.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

Non-Jury Sittings Before Hon. Mr. Justice Robertson.

The non-jury sittings for the High Court of Justice for the County of Peterborough opened at one o'clock to-day before the Honourable Mr. Justice Robertson. There were only three cases on the docket and it is said that one of these, the Standard v. the Dickson Co., of Peterborough, will not come up for hearing.

The first case taken up was that of Fred Dover v. the Haliburton Lumber Co. E. B. Edwards, K.C., for plaintiff; Mr. Gow, of Blake & Co., for defendants.

LUMBERING SHANTY BURNED.

One of the Dickson Company Northern Outposts Destroyed.

Word was received in town on Saturday of the destruction by fire on Friday of one of the Dickson Company's shanties in the north country.

The shanty was the headquarters last winter for Giles Stone's gang of men, and was situated on Pencil Creek, not far from the head of Lake Ketchecum. Besides the boarding house, there were the usual outbuildings, consisting of storehouse, stables, blacksmith shop, etc., and the loss will be a heavy one. The buildings are insured for $500 in the Waterloo Mutual, through W. H. Hill, local agent.

It is not known how the fire originated, as no one was living at the place during the summer months.

SMALLPOX AT HAVELOCK.

A Young Woman Escapes From Quarantine to be Married.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Havelock, May -19th.—Dr. Bryce, Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, arrived in town last night, and found four cases of smallpox, two being the worst he has seen. Three cases are at John Morrow's one mile west of here, and the fourth is in town. The latter case came from Campbellford, where the patient had been nursing her daughter. The disease had not been called smallpox there, and no steps had been taken to prevent it spreading. Dr. Bryce has gone to Campbellford to-day to investigate matters there. Another case has been discovered at S. Johnston's, three miles from here, the Morrow boy, who brought the disease from the shanties, having gone to work for Johnston. The local Board of Health have arranged to remove all cases to tents outside the town, where they will be cared for. It is proposed to remove thither any further cases that may occur.

The churches have been closed here to-day, some of the patients having attended the services last Sunday.

A daughter of John Morrow, three of whose family have the smallpox, escaped from quarantine this morning, and left on the five o'clock train for some point in the United States, where she is to be married on Monday.

DEPUTATION OF PHYSICIANS.

Waited on the Provincial Secretary on Saturday Last.

While in Peterborough on Saturday Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, was waited upon by a number of the local physicians, who addressed him in support of a petition which had been previously forwarded to the Ontario Government, urging the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to take such proceedings as would prevent the Medical Council from erasing from the roll the names of physicians who were licensed to practice, but who had neglected to pay their council fee of $2 per annum.

The deputation stated that it was not so much the annual fee of two dollars that was objected to, but rather the arbitrary power invested in the Council of enforcing payment by cancelling the certificates of those in arrears and erasing their names from the membership roll, thereby disqualifying them from practising their profession in Ontario.

SCALDED TO DEATH.

The Little Two Year Son of Mr. David Fowler.

Walter Burritt Fowler, the little two year old child of Mr. David H. Fowler, No. 338 Water street, met with a horribly painful accident on Saturday, which proved fatal, death having relieved the little one of his sufferings this morning.

Mrs. Fowler had left a large pan of hot water in her kitchen, which she intended using for washing, and while she went for an instant into another room, the little one, unnoticed, crept into the room where the scalding water was, and fell into the pan.

It's sufferings, as a result, were very severe, and notwithstanding everything possible being done to relieve its pain, it was not until death came that it was freed of its agony.

The child was two years and two months old and the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Fowler will extend to them their sincere sympathy in the sad loss they have sustained.

The funeral will take place from the family residence on Tuesday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock and proceed to Bridgenorth Cemetery where interment will take place.

MR. RODGERS HAS RESIGNED.

The Present Organist and Choir Master of St. John's Church—His Successor.

It is understood that Mr. C. J. Rodgers, organist and choir master of St. John's Church, has resigned his position and intends leaving Peterborough for Toronto. A committee consisting of Messrs. A. P. Pousette, H. Rush and Herbert Morphet have been appointed to recommend a successor to Mr. Rodgers. It is not unlikely that Mrs. Mowat will succeed Mr. Rodgers as organist and that Prof. R. Glidden will be appointed to the position of choir master. This is the arrangement that is believed to be under favourable consideration.

BISHOP McEVAY.

Another Former Resident of Town Who is Rising High.

The many friends in Peterborough of His Lordship Bishop McEvay ,of London, who is an old Peterborough boy, and was at one time connected with St. Peter's Cathedral as priest, will be pleased to read the following kindly words from the London Advertiser concerning him:

"On Sunday next Bishop McEvay starts on a confirmation tour, and he will be absent from London every Sunday until the end of July. By that time he will have compassed the task of visiting and administering confirmation in every parish of his Diocese within two years, as well as attending to his other manifold duties. This is a task involving great labour and devotion to duty upon the part of this faithful and zealous ecclesiastic, for the diocese comprises fifty parishes and about forty missions. Bishop McEvay's obedience to his own stern sense of duty is evidenced not only in the indefatigable manner in which he himself labours for the advancement of the Church, but in the fact that he expects his priests to be equally faithful and untiring in their work.

"Bishop McEvay's eminent fitness for his high office is shown not only in his capacity for unwearying efforts, but in the substantial progress that has marked the affairs of the diocese since the assumption of the episcopal chair. In London the past two years have also witnessed the establishment of the Mount St. Joseph Orphanage, the improvement of St. Peter's cemetery, and the beginning of a work at a new Separate School in South London, while a new church in the East End will shortly be under way. In the outside portions of the Diocese, four new parishes have been formed, five new priests' residences erected, a convent built at Chatham, several new churches erected, and sixteen new schools established. A number of new schools will also be built in the Huron District. Altogether the Roman Catholics of the Diocese of London are to be congratulated on the ability and devotion of their honoured head."

It seems that in no matter what walk of life the Peterborough boys elect to follow, they are capable of fulfilling their duties in a manner to reflect credit on the town.

SELF DENIAL EFFORT.

By the Salvation Army Between May 26th and June 1st.

A remarkable illustration of the development of the Salvation Army operations is given by a glance at the history of what is known as the Self Denial Effort—an annual event—which this year falls on the dates from May 26th to June 1st, inclusive. This wonderfully successful method of raising funds for prosecuting the work of the Army originated some thirteen years ago, when, to assist the Foreign Fund of the International Headquarters, in London, Gen. Booth made an appeal on these lines. The sum asked for was $25,000, and $24,110 was realized. Since then Great Britain alone has raised $1,560,000 by its Self Denial Effort. This territory, with almost one-eighth the population, has raised $250,168.31, last year's amount being $23,034.35. This Self Denial Effort entails upon Salvationists giving up not only what money they may be able to afford towards the extension of Army operations, but some luxury or personal indulgence during that week, abstinence from which will keep before their minds the spiritual lessons of Self Denial. It is, in fact, an annual fast, in which not only the devotee, but the world, benefits.

The movement, however, is not confined to Salvationists, as they, with marvellous success, enlist the sympathies of those who are by no means at one with them in the religious creed. The effort is one which can only have a beneficial effect on those who participate in it, while its financial results are an important item in the extension of the many branches of Army work with which the whole world is now familiar. We can only wish for the same success that has attended previous efforts.

THE ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

Rev. Dr. McKay in St. Paul's Church Yesterday.

He Occupied the Pulpit Both Morning and Evening Delivering Two Eloquent Sermons.

Rev. R. P. McKay, D. D., Foreign Mission Secretary of the Presbyterian Church, conducted the anniversary services in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church yesterday morning and evening. The congregations on both occasions were exceptionally large, and the reverend Doctor's addresses were eloquent and interesting.

The text for the discourse in the morning was taken from the eighth chapter of Romans—"It is Christ that died, yea, rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us."

It was on these words, the speaker said, that he wished to dwell for a short time. We know a great deal of Christ's life on earth, but we do not know so much about Christ in Heaven, and as He is at the present time. Speaking of Christ in His present state, Rev. Dr. McKay said that He was not now subject to human limitations, as He was here on earth, yet He has taken some thing away with Him that He did not have on earth. He has gone away and taken His own body, the badge of brotherhood and the emblem of eternal life. This at least is one thing that we know of Christ in His present state. As to what He is doing, we are told that He is sitting at the right hand of God. Is not this the place of power? Christ there is ruling this world. It has been stated that Christ is simply a teacher, that He has deposited the seed with us, and is waiting the harvest, but He does more. He quickens us that we can understand it. Referring to the extent of the Kingdom of Christ, the speaker said that the whole universe was ruled by Him and He will rule it until it is brought to His feet. At the present time as in the past some do not recognize Him, but the world is going to come out all right after all. He maketh all things work for good unto them that believe in Him. It is true that Christ has finished His atonement, but He has not finished His work, and He now maketh intercession for His people. It is in this manner that God is going to save the world.

After dwelling on the privilege of prayer, and the necessity for earnest prayer, and the energy that is needed to save souls, the reverend gentleman spoke of the place that Christ was going to prepare for us. How long is it going to last? Is there going to be any end to it? He thought there was, and that the world would pass back to the Father and continue as before sin.

Rev. Dr. McKay's closing remarks were an earnest appeal to his hearers to make their peace with God at once. Whilst they could be saved at the last moment, still were they acting honestly towards their Maker in enjoying the world, and returning to the fold when forced to by approaching eternity?

In the evening Rev. Dr. McKay delivered a powerful sermon from the text, "For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ."—Gal. iii, 27.

At St. Paul's yesterday, Miss Lexie Clark, of Toronto, contributed two excellent solos. In the morning, Danks "Just as I am," and in the evening Liddle's "Abide With Me." In both selections Miss Clark showed herself the possessor of a rich contralto voice of considerable range, and her singing was received by the large congregations with much acceptance.

The evening anthem was "Come see the Place," by the choir.

IT NEEDS TUNING.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I wish to call the attention of our authorities to an intolerable nuisance that is perennial. I allude to the shrill whistle of some factory in town which goes off between five and six o'clock every morning, and never lets up until one would think that all the steam in the boiler was exhausted. It is just at that hour when we are enjoying our most refreshing sleep, and when it is impossible to go asleep again before the hour of rising. I do not see what right or licence this factory has that it should disturb the peaceful slumbers of fifteen thousand people, especially the sick and the delicate. I understand that there is a by-law against such a nuisance. I do not refer to the Edison whistle, for it does not grate on the ear, nor does it keep it up so long, and moreover it comes at a more reasonable hour.

Yours, etc.,

Sufferer.

The Toronto papers to-day contain a notice of the marriage of Mr. Harry Mansfield Torrington to Miss Madge Pritchard, youngest daughter of Mr. S. Pritchard, No. 20 Woodlawn avenue, Toronto. The marriage occurred on December 29th, 1900. Miss Pritchard was some years ago a resident of Peterborough, residing with her parents on Harvey street.

Cobourg Post: "Mr. Belcher, C.E., of Peterborough, was in town on Monday last to meet the council in reference to superintending the construction of the sewer system. At the meeting in the evening, Mr. Belcher was engaged to look after the work, the remuneration to be 4 per cent. on the east end sewer, and 5 per cent for the west end work.

Mr. W. Mitchell, who has been managing Mr. T. G. Holmes' scrap and commission business in Peterborough for the past two years, has resigned his position. Mr. Mitchell will remain in town, where he has many well wishers who will be glad to hear of his success in whatever new position he occupies.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The band will hold a special practice this evening.

—Will J. W. Graham call at the G. N. W. Telegraph Office for an important telegram?

—Mr. W. B. Bamford will meet the Cow Boys at the committee rooms at eight o'clock to-night.

—A resident of the north end lost a fine cow yesterday through the animal becoming entangled in a rope to which she had been tied.

—The choir of St. Paul's church will give a social in the Sunday school room on the evening of Thursday, May 30th.

—Messrs. Jordan Bros. have just added another delivery horse to their establishment, and for quick delivery and general accommodation Jordan's establishment will be unsurpassed.

—For the convenience of those attending the Victoria Day Celebration in Peterborough, a special train will leave here for Campbellford and intervening points at 10.30 o'clock at night.

—All those who are in any way interested in the floats that will be used in the procession on May 24th, are asked to be at the bridge works to-night, where the fixing up of the floats is now in progress.

—Perhaps no one is more anxious that the rainy weather would hold up a while than are the bicyclists. The beautiful stretches of pavement on either side of the roadway are too tempting, and allure the wheelmen to their surface. But it is a breach of the town bylaw for anyone to wheel on the pavements or sidewalks, and as a result the Chief was busy this morning making out a number of informations against alleged guilty parties. The most of the offences are said to have been committed this morning.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

The attention of the public is directed to the fact that on Tuesday next, beginning at 2.30 p.m., there will be a sale of valuable houses and lots on the corner of McDonel and Stewart streets. M. E. TANGNEY, Lindsay, Administrator of Property.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Mr. Robert Jaffray of Toronto, conducted the services at Bethany Tabernacle yesterday. In the morning he gave an address on "Faith," which was greatly appreciated by his hearers, the address being marked by lucidity and originality. In the evening his subject was mission work in China, the speaker having been for six years a missionary in China. He also gave a short address to the local Chinamen in their native language.

CHARLOTTE STREET.

Rev. Mr. Cragg occupied the pulpit of the Charlotte street church yesterday morning.

Miss Hendren sang in the Charlotte street church yesterday. In the evening a quartette, composed of Miss Hendren and Miss M. Stephens, and Messrs. A. L. Davis and F. Skitch, rendered a selection entitled "He Careth for Me."

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

The music in George Street Church yesterday at both services was excellent. The morning anthem "How Long Wilt Thou Forget Me, O Lord," was sung with much taste and expression. The solo passages were taken "recit." by Mrs. McCall, solo by contralto members, duette, Mrs. McCall and Mr. H. Goldey.

During the offertory the male chorus "Heavenly Mansions" was sung in splendid harmony by the male portion of the choir.

The evening anthem was a new selection entitled "O Thou Who Hast Prepared," by Sheppard. The unison by the choir was very pleasing.

BENSFORT.

(From our Own Correspondent.)

Farmers are all through with their spring seeding.

The council of South Monaghan ought to rebuild the wharf at Smithson's Landing as that is where the most traffic to town goes from.

The cheese factory is booming again.

Fruit promises to be a good crop this year.

The fish have taken to deep water again, but, alas, some of them have been taken from their natural element never to return.

Hon. J. R. Stratton delivered an address in the hall here last Monday night, which was largely attended and well received by this constituency.

The Bensfort church sheds are undergoing repairs which are badly needed.

The crops look splendid and the farmers are consequently feeling and looking happy.

There is some talk of the Council of South Monaghan and the Council of Otonabee asking the Ontario Government for assistance to keep Otonabee and Peterborough road in somewhat decent repair for the spring and fall weather. Otonabee people are as much interested in this as are South Monaghan farmers.

The farmers of Otonabee can bring from Ridell's Hill to Port Hope as much grain on one load with one team as two teams will bring over the Otonabee roads. So much for good roads.

The Municipal Council met on Monday. The meeting is said to have been called to accept the resignation of Councillor Baxter, who has resigned account of ill health. Mr. Joseph White, of South Monaghan, has been elected to succeed Mr. Baxter. The assessor has completed his duties and the Court of Revision will shortly be held.

The claimants for high water damages have not as yet received their cheques. It is said several of our residents are again going to call on the Minister of Railways.

Mr. Thomson Huggins had a barn raising on Monday last.—Progress is the word.

THE OCEAN SCORCHER.

He Who Brags About How Many Times He Has "Crossed."

The ocean scorcher, the woman or man who was forever bragging about how many times he had "crossed," is, thank heaven, on the decrease. Fashion has at last set the seal of her disapproval on him, and he is rapidly becoming obsolete. The fashion is now never to mention the number of times one has been to Europe. "The last time I was over" is the way to refer to an over the water experience if you wish to be in the vogue. Of course you may, if you truthfully can, say "the time before last I was over" or "the tenth time I crossed" or "during my seventh trip through Europe," but a great majority, you will find, say "the last time I was over." It is safer—when one has been over but once.

Pin many of these travelers so fond of relating their European experiences down to the figures, and you will find that "the last time I was over" bears a close relation to the little boy who said he was next to the head of his class, to have it transpire later that the class consisted of himself and a little girl. "The last time I was over" may, like as not, have been the first. Still anything is better than the ocean scorcher and his bragging. To him it didn't matter where he hadn't been or what he hadn't seen or anything, but simply how many times he had crossed.

The one time on record that any one was known to get ahead of these scorchers was when a lot of them were sitting swapping lies on a certain steamship deck and a nonscorcher, having learned that the star scorcher's record was 188 runs, remarked, "There's a man on board who has crossed 566 times." Then, as the excitement caused by the news somewhat subsided: "He's never been anywhere except to the two ports Liverpool and New York. He's never seen anything, he's never done anything, but just cross the ocean 566 times—he's the ship's barber."

He Hacked Off His Leg.

Caught in a bear trap on the banks of the Athabasca, near Milford, Me., John McLeod, a lumber scaler, was obliged to take out his jackknife and cut off his leg. The trap was too heavy to move and was sprung in such a way that he could not reach over and release it. He was far from any human being, and the only way out of it seemed to be to cut off the leg.

That was done easily, because the leg upon which he operated was of wood. But when he stumped back to camp it made him mad to hear the jeers of the French-Canadian cook of the lumber crew.

"Why you no take off you whole wood laig, ah? You get out um thrap and no spile yon wood laig 'tall, ah?"

Fatal Process.

"Gazzam has been going without his breakfast for a month to reduce his flesh," said Twynn.

"With what effect?" asked Triplett.

"He is losing two pounds a week and is very much tickled over it."

"Well, if he keeps on at that rate he'll be tickled to death."

Where He Can't Smoke.

Miss Lafin—What has become of Mr. Clay?

Miss Lafin—How strange!

Mr. Rand—Not at all. He wished to break himself of smoking.

Canada's Census.

Ottawa, Ont., May 15.—It is now stated that the population of the Dominion will be announced about the first week in July next.

When You Eat

Do you have a feeling of undue fullness in the stomach, belchings, or sour or bitter risings? These are but a few of the symptoms of the diseased stomach.

The worst thing which can be done for the stomach in such a case is to take some tablet or powder which merely gives temporary relief from discomfort. The best thing to do is to begin the cure of the disease by beginning the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It makes the "weak" stomach strong, and puts the body in a condition of vigorous health.

"I was troubled a long time with dyspepsia, torpid liver, and constipation," writes Mrs. Julia E. Deal, of Ostwalt, Iredell Co., N. C. "Could scarcely eat anything at all; would have attacks of pain something like colic, and sometimes it seemed as though I could not live. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, stating my condition, and in a few days received a kind letter of advice, telling me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took four bottles, and one vial of Dr. Pierce's Pellets, and now I can eat anything I want and it don't hurt me. I have not been in bed a day since I took your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I have not since felt any symptoms of disease. I have not taken any medicine in twelve months."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation.

THE DOMINIE.

The Rev. Henry B. Smith, a Cherokee Indian, has resigned the rectorship of St. Paul's church, Ardmore, I. T., and gone to Milwaukee to assist the Episcopalian bishop in the cathedral parish.

Sir George Williams, founder of the London Young Men's Christian association, may attend the jubilee convention of the association in Boston this coming June. Sir George is now 80 years old. He is at present in southern Europe for his health.

Francis Valentine Woodhouse, who died a few days ago at the age of 96, was the last surviving apostle of the original 12 of the Catholic Apostolic church founded by Edward Irving. Mr. Woodhouse was also one of the oldest English barristers, having been called to the bar in 1820.

Medals are to be given to the contributors to the Methodist twentieth century fund. Those giving $5 or more in excess of last year will receive a bronze medal bearing the face of John Wesley, Sunday school scholars giving $1 will receive a gilt medal with the face of Francis Asbury, and donors belonging to the Epworth league will receive a bronze medal of Bishop Ninde.

JEWELRY JOTTINGS.

Rose gold reigns in the lorgnette, and jeweling has become most elaborate.

Jewelers provide ingenious devices for doing away with ear piercings, thus making easy the path of the newly favored ornament.

Little round balls of turquoise, about the size of a pea and perfect spheres of purest blue, are the captivating form of the newest earrings. No mounting shows.

A bracelet of rarest elegance consists of a mere thread of gold with a pendant comprising first a square cut emerald, second a ruby and last a marquise diamond.

ARMY NOTES.

In our army 304 officers speak Spanish fluently, 224 are handy with their French and 136 are well up in German.

One British regiment has been in mourning for more than a century. This is the old Forty-seventh, the Loyal North Lancashire regiment. The officers wear black blended with gold braid in memory of General Wolfe, who was killed at Quebec.

Japan has greatly increased her cavalry in the last few years and still more recently added nearly 40 field batteries to her artillery, and as the country itself produces no horses suitable for this purpose the necessity for importing them is urgent.

The artillery of the French colonial army is composed of 6 field, 10 mountain and 20 foot batteries. The headquarters are in Paris with the relief depot comprising 4 field, 2 mountain and 6 foot batteries. The remainder are distributed in Cochin China, Madagascar, the African settlements and the French islands in the West Indies and elsewhere.

THE PEDAGOGUE.

Not only is education free in New Zealand, but, where necessary, children are conveyed to and from school gratuitously on the government railways.

Pennsylvania university has a new mascot. Down in the big swimming pool, in the basement of Houston hall, floats Ben Franklin. He is a big duck, originally white, though now dyed in the university colors.

One of Booker Washington's college professors at Tuskegee, the Rev. Charles W. Wood, was once a bootblack in Chicago. A boyish contest in oratory, the honors of which he carried off, started him on his career.

Opportunities.

If you want to succeed in the world, you must make your own opportunities as you go on. The man who waits for some seventh wave to toss him on dry land will find that the seventh wave is a long time coming. You can commit no greater folly than to sit by the roadside until some one comes along and invites you to ride with him to wealth or influence.

FORTY WAYS OF SLEEPING.

And Thirty-nine of These Ways Are Entirely Wrong.

Do you know that there are at least 40 ways of sleeping, as there are at least 40 ways of doing everything?

Do you know that of the 40 ways of sleeping one is the right way and 39 are wrong ways?

One man or woman gets up in the morning rested, refreshed and ready for the fray. Another rises feeling as tired as on going to bed.

This tired feeling in the morning of which so much is said by advertisers of medicine and by good doctors is due in a majority of cases to lack of common knowledge about the art of sleeping.

When you go to bed, let go of all your muscles. Relax.

Let the bed hold you and all your weight. Don't hold on to the bed.

Don't clutch at your pillow. Don't wind one arm around your head, keeping that arm tired all night. In the pictures the lovely maiden is seen sleeping with her arm curled up in the air and is supposed to be resting beautifully. But she is not resting properly, and her curled up arm is a survival of the monkey tribe, who curl their hairy arms above their heads to keep off tropical rain.

When you go to sleep, be limp.

Don't haul your legs up into a knot and keep the muscles of thighs and stomach cramped and tired through the night. Stretch out your legs, and if your feet are cold wear warm woolen socks in sleeping.

Make your spine limp above all.

The spine is the center of nervous and muscular tension with those who do not know how to sleep. The ordinary foolish sleeper has his spine working as hard as though he were climbing up a hill. Let your spine give to the bed. Let it sink down and not know during the eight hours of sleep that it ever carries weight.

Don't clinch your hands.

Don't twist your fingers into knots.

Have you seen a baby sleeping? It is from top to bottom as flabby as a half cooked pancake. It rests. Its small, perspiring hands are open and at rest. Its neck is limp. Its little spine offers no more resistance to slumber than a sausage. Imitate the baby when you get ready to sleep.

Are you bothered at night by a brain that persists in working and will not go to sleep? Don't try to stop the thinking of the brain. Let it think about relaxation. Let it wonder just how limp it can make all the muscles. By the time it has really succeeded in relaxing its friends, the muscles and nerves, it will be ready for sleep itself and will drop off into rest.

STOMACH TROUBLES.

Few People Ever Escape—Reason Why Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are so Highly Spoken of—Mrs. Eliza Brown's Letter.

Mrs. Eliza Brown, Metcalf street, Strathroy, is one of the vast legion who have found for themselves that Dyspepsia and Stomach troubles must not be trifled with.

The health of the stomach means in all ordinary cases the health of the whole body; the ill-health of that important organ means nothing short of Dyspepsia.

Those who have suffered it do not need to be told what a blight on life Dyspepsia is, and it is to be hoped those who haven't never will.

Now, Mrs. Eliza Brown, of Strathroy, who recommends Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets so highly, for a long time didn't think heartburn after eating, and pain in the chest, anything more than a mere annoyance of no particular importance. She complained of the unpleasantness and inconvenience, but the full meaning as to what these symptoms were was not borne upon her until she felt her general health beginning to suffer.

She began to lose spirits and energy; a feeling of heaviness grew upon hr. Her tongue became coated, she grew pale, nervous and found her daily duties an almost insupportable burden. She had neglected the first warnings of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Pain after eating, sure signs that the stomach is failing and digestion is not going on perfectly.

"I could not get any relief," writes Mrs. Brown. "I didn't know what to do. I was in misery. I heard of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and got a box at Mr. Dyas' drug store to try.

"How delighted I was when I found the very first Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablet I took stopped the heartburn and sour gas that had tormented me so long. I kept on using them regularly after every meal. The distress after eating immediately disappeared and gradually my health improved.

"My digestion is now perfect, my rest sound, and I feel strong and bright.

I am no longer taking the Tablets, for I no longer need them. But I will always own up to the fact that if it hadn't been for Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets I would have been a sickly, sallowfaced woman the rest of my life."

Punished For Red Cheeks.

Under the Puritan regime, when religious fanaticism reached the high water mark of absurdity, it was bodily unsafe for an Englishman to have a florid color.

As Dr. Echard, an old divine, writes: "Then it was that they would scarce let a round faced man go to heaven. If he had but a little blood in his cheeks, his condition was accounted very dangerous, and it was almost an infallible sign of reprobation, and I will assure you a very honest man of sanguine complexion, if he chanced to come nigh an officious zealot's house, might be set in the stocks only for looking fresh on a frosty morning."—London Standard.

Old Soldier's Experience.

EXPERT SAFE OPENERS.

How They Aid the Salesman With His Burglar Proof Wares.

"When any one of the manufacturers gets out a new type of safe," said a veteran agent, "he can always be certain of half a dozen customers who will fairly tumble over one another in their eagerness to purchase. Strange to say, they are not men who are in need of safes; on the contrary, they have safes to burn. They are his business rivals, who are anxious to lose no time in putting their skilled mechanics to work unraveling the secrets of the new mechanism. You must understand," continued the veteran smiling, "that the strongest card of a safe agent is the point blank assertion that every lock except his own can be opened by an expert, and he must be prepared to make good when the statement is questioned. I don't think I exaggerate when I say that this one claim is the backbone of the safe business and brings about more sales than all other arguments put together.

"To illustrate its effectiveness, suppose I am trying to persuade the officers of a country bank to put new doors in their vault. 'But, my dear man,' they protest, 'these doors we have now are nearly new and are guaranteed burglar proof by —— & Co.' That gives me my cue. I glance at the vault, smile sarcastically and shrug my shoulders. 'Do you really believe that work is the slightest protection against burglars?' I inquire. 'Of course we do,' they chorus anxiously. 'Do you mean to intimate that it isn't?' I don't reply immediately, but affect reluctance, and every director stares at me and breathes hard. 'Well, gentlemen,' I say at last, 'I never like to run down a business rival, but, since you ask me, I don't mind telling you that we have a man at our works who can open those doors any day in less than 15 minutes. That will give you an idea how long they would hold out against a modern burglar.'

"Of course such a speech throws the whole crowd into a cold sweat, but nevertheless they indignantly scout my assertion, and I proceed to jar them again by calmly telegraphing for my man. Next day, let us say, the expert arrives. He is generally a very ordinary looking fellow, which helps the game along, and I take him over to the bank and introduce him to all hands as a workman from our shops. 'Now, then, gentlemen,' I chirp cheerfully, 'get ont your watches and see how long our friend here will be in breaking into yonr burglar proof closet.' At that the expert walks over, lays his ear against the door and begins to manipulate the combination. The chances are he has been studying it for months and months, and every faint click is like so much plain print. Generally it takes from four to six minutes to do the job, and when the door swings open the poor directors look at each other and groan. After that it's dollars to donghnuts I close my contract.

"I have been through this little comedy so often," chuckled the veteran, "that I know it by heart, but you mustn't suppose that every deal is as easy as the one I described. I selected a simple case as an illustration, but often the work is a great deal more complicated. But it all turns on opening the other fellow's door, and what I wanted to make clear was the importance of the professional expert. The moment any novelty is introduced he makes it a study and keeps at it until he has devised some method of exhibiting it to its disadvantage. The touch and hearing of men of that class become so abnormally sensitive in time that they appear to be guided by instinct, and they do things they can't explain themselves. No, I never heard of one turning crooked, and I doubt whether any burglar that ever lived equaled them in skill."

Could not Pull the Throttle

When a reliable gentleman like Mr. Thomas Simmons, of Chaffey's Locks, Ont., steamboat engineer, comes forward on his own account and adds his testimony to the value of a medical cure, the public has assurance that there is something deserving attention. Off and on, for the past two years, he experienced intense pain down the sciatic nerve. So severe was it at times that he was unable to handle the throttle of the engine, and would be obliged to lay off for days. "Before the first bottle of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure had been drained," said Mr. Simmons, "I could feel the beneficial effects; and by the time I had used four I was completely cured. Since last spring I have been entirely free from pain. Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure did it."

Giant Demijohns.

"The giant demijohns that you see occasionally outside of liquor stores?" said the basket maker. "Why, those are made sometimes of willow, oftener of rattan; sometimes over wooden bottle forms, in some cases not over a form, but with the basketwork strengthened and braced by cross braces inside, but they are never made over real bottles.

"This big demijohn is mounted on a low pedestal to raise it from the ground and so help to keep it dry. Whether it is of willow or of rattan, it is always finished painted, because it is a sign that remains out of doors permanently.

"These demijohns are made in various sizes, ranging in height from six feet up to demijohns of truly gigantic proportions measuring ten feet in height. A six footer costs about $25, a ten footer demijohn somewhere about $50. These great demijohns are not kept in stock by anybody, but made only to order. The demand for them is of course limited, but still there is more or less call for them in cities here and in Europe."

His Fault.

"I understand," said Mr. Johnson to Mr. Jackson, "that you used to know the new minister that's coming to our church when you lived in York state."

"I did," said Mr. Jackson.

"Is he a good man?"

"I think he is a very good man."

"Well, what are his faults? He must have some fault."

"Since you press me I know of but one grave fault in your new minister."

"What is that, please?"

"He doesn't know how to sing."

"Hum! Not a very grave fault, is it, not to know how to sing?"

"No, but you see he sings just the same as if he did know."—Exchange.

Cultivate a Sense of Humor.

If you are fortunate enough to have even the germ of a sense of humor, cherish that carefully. It is the very salt and savor of life. Learn to smile over the foibles of your friends, loving them none the less, but more, because of their little weaknesses. Do not take people too seriously, and, above all, do not take yourself too seriously. You are only an atom in an incomprehensible universe, after all. Why find fault during your brief moment with the other atoms by your side? It surely will not pay.—Ada C. Sweet in Woman's Home Companion.

Origin of the Word Sterling.

The origin of the word "sterling" is very curious. Among the early minters of coin in northern Europe were the dwellers of eastern Germany. They were so skillful in their calling that numbers of them were invited to England to manufacture the metal money of the kingdom. The strangers were known as "easterlings." After a time the word became "sterling," and in this abbreviated form it has come to imply what is genuine in money, plate or character.

LULLABY.

We've wandered all about the upland fallows,
We've watched the rabbits at their play,
But now good night, goodby to soaring swallows,
Now good night, goodby, dear day.

Poppy heads are closing fast, pigeons circle home at last;
Sleep, liebchen, sleep, the bats are calling;
Pansies never miss the light, but sweet babes must sleep at night;
Sleep, liebchen, sleep, the dew is falling.

Even wind among the quiet willows
Rests, and the sea is silent too.
See soft white linen, cool, such cool white pillows
Wait in the darkling room for you.

All the little chicks are still; now the moon peeps down the hill;
Sleep, liebchen, sleep, the owls are hooting.
Ships have hung their lanthorns out; little mice dare creep about;
Sleep, liebchen, sleep, the stars are shooting.

Speed and Endurance of Dogs.

Dogs and wild animals of the same family are remarkable for their quickness and staying powers in running, as every one knows. A fox terrior, for example, will follow his master's carriage for hours with no signs of fatigue. Wolves will travel 60 miles in a night. Nansen saw arctic foxes on the ice nearly 500 miles from land and found their tracks in the snow on the parallel of 85 degrees north. Eskimo dogs can travel 45 miles in five hours, according to Hayes, who recites that he once drove his dog team seven miles in half an hour. A Siberian dog on good ice will draw about 80 pounds. Our ordinary dogs at full speed run at the rate of from 33 to 49 feet per second, setters and pointers about 18½ to 21 7-10 miles per hour, and they can maintain this speed for two or even three hours.

LACROSSE.

The good old game of lacrosse appears to be booming in all the towns around about and why should it not be so in Peterborough. There seems to be a misunderstanding between the sports committee for May 24th and the Vaticans. The latter say that they know nothing about the alleged game with Lindsay for the afternoon of Victoria Day. Nor is it likely that Lindsay knows anything about it either, as they have a match arranged with Oshawa for that date.

The Lindsay Post says.—The local team will wear their new uniforms in Oshawa on the 24th May. With McMannus, the star player from Renfrew, and Carruth, at the flags, the boys will fight hard for victory.

The Lindsay Lacrosse Club held a business meeting last Thursday night in the Y.M.C.A. building and completed arrangements for their game in Oshawa on the 24th May. The team that will represent Lindsay against the factory town will be selected from the following.—Messrs. Carruth, McMannus, Ewart, Henders, White, F. Martin, Shannon, Craig, Raynor, Reesor, Forbert, King, Gillogly, Taylor and Pilkie.

In reviewing the lacrosse situation in Port Hope, the Guide says,—Mike Young has been moved out on the field and will likely play defence. He is a nice stick-landler and could also play a good game on the home."

"Our own Jimmie Crowhurst, formerly the crack goal keeper of the Ontarios, is now playing the game at Boston, U. S. He writes that they have a very good team and are going to meet a New York club in that city on May 25th."

"Norman Oliver took his first practice last night and although it is some years since he handled a stick, his work was good. Norm was captain of the old Y.M.C.A. team, and always figured most prominently on the defence. He also played on the home of the Ontarios in '93, when but a kid."

"The Ontarios were out to practice in large numbers last night. A very noticeable improvement in the stick-handling of the boys, was shown their shooting on goal becoming more accurate. They will practice every night next week so as to be in good shape for the game here on Victoria Day with the Young Torontos.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

The local team is practising hard for the game with the famous Scots of Toronto, here on the 24th. The Scots were champions of the West last season. They are getting in some real hard work with the intention of playing football that will surprise the Boroughites. They are fine big fellows and will bring the strongest team that they can muster up, as they are out to win, and with a reputation at stake.

The home team is in pretty fair condition, and may be counted on to do their level best against the 'Great Scots."

The interest taken in the game by quite a number of old timers getting again into shape, and the enthusiasm of the younger players goes to show that the game is fast becoming very popular in our town.

In the West, Association Football is to the front. In Toronto nearly all organizations and High Schools have Football Teams. It is hoped that a League may be organized in our District to further popularize a game that is interesting and easily followed by the spectators who are not familiar with the ins and outs of the game.

Our boys have over twenty men to pick an eleven from to compete with one of the best teams of the country. Every man is requested to be on the field at 6.30 o'clock sharp on Monday night for a good game.

BASEBALL.

Canadians generally, and Kingstonians in particular, will be glad to learn that Pitcher George Sullivan, who performed Thursday, has been signed by the Torontos. Many thought Sullivan, because of his amateur ways, would have been given another chance in the box before receiving an opportunity to attach his name to a Toronto agreement. Manager Barrow had a long talk with the Kingston man and the latter narrated the nervous feeling he had through Thursday's game. Sullivan's debut was by no means displeasing to Mr. Barrow, and he has no doubt but that the Limestone City twirler has the goods, and with some coaching will serve them up to the delectation of the Toronto fans and the disadvantage of opposing batsmen. Manager Barrow declares he will spare no pains to teach the new pitcher what there is to learn. As a result of the decision of the Toronto Baseball Club to keep pitcher Sullivan, a box artist will have to pack up and seek pastures new. Cooper has been selected as the one to walk, and he will go to the Courtland club, in the New York State League, next week. Almost a couple of weeks ago Manager Barrow decided that he would farm the man who did star twirling for the London Club in the Canadian League last year, but he was kept on the salary list until the signing of Sullivan.

SEEMS LIKE A DREAM

To be now entirely free from Asthma after eight years' suffering. That is what a Vancouver lady says, after being cured by Clarke's Kola Compound.

If the person who suffers from Asthma could only see the thousands of letters on file at our different offices he would no longer doubt that Asthma can be cured by Clarke's Kola Compound.

Mrs. J. Wise, Mount Pleasant, Vancouver, B. C., writes: "I have been a most unfortunate sufferer from Bronchial Asthma for the past eight years, and I don't think any person with the disease could have suffered more during that time. Many times for weeks I could not lie down at all. My doctor told me I could never get better. Just then I heard of a Vancouver gentleman who had been cured by Clarke's Kola Compound, so I tried it. The first bottle did not relieve me much, but soon I began to improve, and before I had finished the fourth bottle, the attacks ceased altogether, and during the past six months of damp, cold and foggy weather have not had a single attack. It seems like a dream to be free from this worst of all diseases after so many years of suffering. I have since regained my lost strength and weight, and don't think I ever felt better than now. I consider Clarke's Kola Compound a marvellous remedy, and would urge any person suffering from this disease to try it.

Sold by J. D. Tully, druggist, Peterborough. Dr. Clarke's book on Asthma mailed free. Address the G. & M. Co., Limited, 171 Church St., Toronto, Canada.

Prisoner Stabbed His Guard.

Toronto, May 20.—A murderous assault was committed upon Michael Clancy, guard at the Central Prison, on Saturday afternoon, by Nicholas Clark, a youth who was serving a term of 15 months for till tapping. When Clark made a rush, knife in hand, at the guard, Clancy seized the convict around the waist, whereupon the latter put his hand, in which he clutched the knife, over the guard's shoulder and stabbed him in the neck, inflicting a wound which required several stitches. The men by this time were in a desperate struggle, and Clark was about to bring the knife down again on Clancy's neck, when other convicts interferred and took the weapon away from him. Clark was subsequently overpowered and led away to a dark cell, while his guard, who was in a very weak condition from loss of blood, was removed to his home, at 105 Strachan avenue. This is the third occasion in which Guard Clancy has been the victim of murderous assaults at the Central Prison.

The Druggists are Busy.

Druggists report great demand for the new 25c cent size of Catarrhozone, and to-day's sales almost cleared out their stock. They explain this rapid run on Catarrhozone by the fact that it gives better satisfaction than any other remedy on the market. ECONOMY IN
CARPET BUYING

Carpets run into money, and buyers will find it a safe rule to always see what the Golden Lion shows and offers before placing orders elsewhere.

Why? Because we are "on the ground floor," so to speak, and our high-class Spring Designs for 1901 testify to the fact. The prices are low, not because they are bargain goods, but because care and skill were exercised in buying the patterns. Such values in Carpets did not come knocking at our door. We imported them direct from old country weavers, and once seen, they will be bought for the sound quality of the texture, the touch of art in the design and colorings, and for their beauty.

FOR A NINE-HOUR DAY

General Strike of Machinists and Allied Trades.

50,000 GO OUT ON MONDAY.

Rough Estimate of the Extent of the Movement From Telegraphic Advices to President O'Connell of the National Association of Machinists —Increase of Wages Also Demanded—The Situation.

Washington, May 21.—Approximately 50,000 machinists throughout the country struck yesterday for a nine-hour day, a scale of wages equal to the present 10-hour per day scale, and other demands. This is the rough estimate of President O'Connell of the National Association of Machinists, based on the telegraphic advices that have reached him from the machinists' headquarters in the various cities.

The strike thus far has not extended to the allied trades, save in one or two instances, as at Scranton, Pa., where men in a part of the allied trades are out. No machinists engaged in Government work are affected. This is due to the fact that on such work an eight-hour a day scale already prevails.

Railroad machinists, as a rule, are not involved in the strike, though the men on several roads are out. The Central Vermont shop machinists at St. Albans, numbering probably 200, have struck. The Lehigh Valley Railroad machinists at Buffalo, Sayre, Wilkes-Barre and Elmira are out, aggregating about 500 all told. The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western men at Buffalo, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and intermediate points are out. The Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe men are also out.

Word from other large cities is tardy in reaching here. Telegraphic reports to Mr. O'Connell show the following as the number of firms which signed the agreements yesterday: Kenosha, Wis., all; Milwaukee, 5; Wilmington, Del., 2; Toledo, O., 1; Auburn, N.Y., all firms; Anaconda, Mont., all; Denver, Col., all; St. Louis, all; New Orleans, all; Danbury, Conn., all; Pittsburg, Pa., 90 per cent.; Franklin, Pa., all; Youngstown, O., all; Cleveland., O., 15; Rochester, N. Y., 90 per cent.; Buffalo, 50 per cent.; Niagara Falls, all; Tonawanda, all; Trenton, N. J., 75 per cent.; Baltimore, 11; Philadelphia, 25; New Haven, 8. These establishments have conceded the demands, their men are at work as usual.

Mr. O'Connell said last night that, up to 5 o'clock, reports show that 904 firms, employing approximately 80,000 men, had signed the agreements for the nine-hour day, or made satisfactory arrangements with the local organizations.

St. Petersburg Strike Smashed.

St. Petersburg, May 21.—The strike here is practically crushed. A very large number of arrests have been made, 250 persons having been taken into custody at one factory alone. Over 30, possibly 100, persons were wounded in a street fight, when the mob stoned the police. Several deaths are reported as a result of the strike riots. The agitation among the students is unquestionably partly responsible for the troubles.

THE LOOKED FOR NEW YORK SKIRT WAISTS
ARE TO HAND.

The range this morning as we write is full. The colours and the sizes are complete. Many have been waiting for the thirty-two, four and six sizes. This is the only way we can advise those who are waiting. These are the most popular blouse we ever had. The quantities are limited though in the better qualities. So speak quick.

Prices—75c, $1.00, $1.25, $2.00, $2.25. In Colours.
Prices—90c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.75, 2.00, $2.25—in White.

Ladies' Black Parasols at $
The line is one we can term satisfactorily cheap. The make-up is good, the combination of top and handle is exceptional. They are appealing good value. Just a dollar!

The Two Dollar Quality
is a beautiful silky twill, light but firm, bright but durable. Steel rods and choice sticks daintily mounted.

The Dollar-Fifty Fancy
is a nifty looking smart sunshade—one that does not attract the heat on account of the darkness of it. The airy colours also lend a coolness in appearance. They are the $2.00 and $2.50 sort, but for a trade reason we bought them so that we might sell them at a dollar and a half.

Tortoise Shell Combs
A heap of styles to pick from—styles that are good and qualities that are superior. They consist of Pompadoure, Back Combs, Hair Pins, etc., etc. Their worth is, in many cases, double the price we ask, which is only

Fifteen Cents Each.

TO HELP SCOTCH STUDENTS.

Andrew Carnegie's Princely Gift to Four Universities of His Ain Country.

London, May 21.—Mr. Andrew Carnegie has given £2,000,000 to establish free education in four Scotch Universities—Edinburgh, Glasgow, Aberdeen and St. Andrew's. He stipulates that the beneficiaries be his "Scotch fellow countrymen" only, no English, Irish, Colonials or foreigners. The fund will apply to medical as well as to commercial education, and will be placed in the hands of trustees, who will pay the expenses of Scottish students benefitted under the scheme.

Mr. Carnegie had for some years been considering the plan for helping Scotch students to obtain a university education. He consulted with representative educators, and the result was that he presented the fund referred to, which will produce an income of £50,000. Mr. Carnegie's inquiries show that the total fees paid to the four universities is £49,000 annually. He considers that the £2,000,000 he has donated will give an income sufficient to provide free university education for every boy and girl in Scotland capable of passing the entrance examinations.

Mr. Carnegie is determined that the benefits shall be open to rich and poor alike, so that there shall be nothing suggestive of pauperism connected with the gift. He desires that all Scotchmen and Scotch women shall enter the universities on an equal footing, hence the money is not given to the students to pay their fees, but to the universities themselves. The system is made perpetually free, and will probably be under Government auspices.

An Ontario Man Killed.

Ypsilanti, Mich., May 21. — Fred Douglass of Alvinston, Ont., a member of the Michigan Central bridge gang, was instantly killed by the east-bound passenger train in an effort to avoid a freight which was coming in an opposite direction.

Toronto, May 21.—Nicholas Clark, the Central Prison convict who used a knife on Michael Clancy, guard at the institution, on Saturday last, will be brought into the Police Court this morning and charged with wounding.

Japs Lease Masampho.

Yokohama, May 21.—According to advices from Seoul, the Corean Government has leased to Japan 450 acres of land, to form a settlement at Masampho. The land in question was formerly anxiously sought by Russia.

Crew a Total Wreck.

Cape Race, Ont., May 21.—The steamer Crew is a total wreck at Cape McCly, 25 miles from here. She was bound for Sydney, C. B., having been chartered by the Dominion Steel Co.

CAPE COLONY AGAIN.

Eight Hundred Boers Have Crossed the Orange River.

DEWET HAS ONLY 40 HORSEMEN

"Go South" Is the Instruction to All the Commandoes in the Orange River Colony—British Patrols Ambushed — Armored Train Dynamited—Major Heath of the South Lancashires Killed.

Cape Town, May 20.—Eight hundred Boers have crossed the Orange River from the northwest, and have reinforced the commandoes in the eastern districts.

The latest reliable report locates Dewet near Philippolis, in Orange River Colony, and not far from the Cape line, with 40 horsemen. All the commandoes in the Orange River Colony have instructions to cross the Orange River.

Several British patrols have been ambushed.

More Captures.

London, May 21.—Lord Kitchener also reports that last week 19 Boers were killed, 14 were wounded, 238 were made prisoners and 71 surrendered, and that 212 rifles and 105,000 rounds of ammunition were captured.

English Major Killed.

London, May 21.—Lord Kitchener reports to the War Office, under date of Pretoria, May 18, as follows:

"An armored train has been dynamited south of American Siding. Major Heath of the South Lancashires was killed."

Horses for the Army.

Montreal, May 21.—The steamer Anglo-African will leave the port of Montreal this morning with 750 Canadian horses intended for the British army in South Africa.

MILITARY DISPLAY ON 24TH.

Col. Cotton Points Out That It Would Be Out of Keeping With the Duties of Mourning Period.

Ottawa, May 21.—The citizens of Cornwall will be deprived of seeing the 43rd Regiment in ceremonial manoeuvres on Victoria Day, and they will not hear the fue-de-joie, which is usually fired by troops at noon on this day.

In reference to the matter, the following brigade orders were issued by Col. Cotton, D. O. C., commanding the Ottawa Brigade: Attention is called to M. O. of this date, as follows:

"District officers commanding and commanding officers of units are reminded that, by the King's command, all the military forces of the Empire are still in deep mourning for Her Late Gracious Majesty, Queen Victoria, and that such mourning does not expire until July 24. In these circumstances, ceremonial displays, such as salutes, fue-de-joie, trooping the colors, reviews and other military exercises, except such as are for tactical instruction or for rifle practice, would be an act of serious disrespect to the memory of our late beloved Sovereign."

The Inhibition of Prof. Steen.

Montreal, May 21.—The inhibition of Mr. Steen is the sole topic of conversation in Anglican circles. In some quarters the action of His Grace is approved of, while in others it is condemned. Inhibitions, it may be said, are very rare in the Church of England in Canada, and it is very seldom that a bishop has occasion to resort to such a drastic method of silencing a clergyman. It is prerogative, however, that belongs to an Anglican prelate, and one, it is said, from which there is no appeal, except to the House of Bishops. An Anglican Bishop has also the right to excommunicate.

$50 For Horse Thieves.

Woodstock, May 21.—Horse thieves are still operating in West Zorra. Some time Sunday night the premises of two farmers in that township were visited and a horse, harness and buggy taken. The horse was taken from Charles Barret, lot 2, concession 7, West Zorra, and the buggy and harness from John Parker, lot 6, gravel road. A reward of $20 has been offered.

Derelicts Dot the Atlantic.

New York, May 21.—Two ocean liners, L'Aquitaine, from Havre, and the Mesaba, from London, arriving yesterday, reported derelicts drifting in the steamship lanes now traversed by crowded steamers. The Government will be asked to send out a gunboat to blow up the wrecks.

An Elevator Burned.

Winnipeg, May 21.—A despatch from Indian Head, N.W.T., says: Yesterday morning fire was discovered in the roof of the Lake of the Woods elevator at this place. A strong southerly gale was blowing at the time, and the elevator, along with 23,008 bushels of wheat, were soon consumed.

NURSES' BILL KILLED.

Increased Indemnity to Members Passed by the House.

RAILWAYS AND PUBLIC WORKS.

The Premier Announced in the House That He Understood That the Crow's Nest Southern Railway Bill Is to Be Withdrawn — Mr. Justice Robertson's Infirmity—Railway Commission.

Ottawa, May 21.—The House made usually good progress yesterday, disposing of all the remaining railway estimates, a large portion of the public works and the $1,500 indemnity resolution, in addition to some miscellaneous business. The House rose at 1 a. m.

On the opening of the House yesterday morning the Premier announced that he understood that the Crow's Nest Southern Railway Company's bill was to be withdrawn. The bill stood first on the list of private bills, and was left on the order paper.

Dr. McLennan (Inverness) moved the six months' hoist for the bill to incorporate the Canadian Nurses' Association.

Several members spoke for and against the bill.

Mr. Talbot's motion was then put and carried by 43 to 33. This has the effect of killing the bill for this session.

Mr. Stephens asked—Has the information been given to the Government that one of the judges of the High Court of Justice in Ontario is unfortunately physically incapable of properly hearing the evidence adduced in cases tried before him? In consequence of such physical infirmity, do some barristers arrange to have cases tried by some other judge?

The Premier, in reply, said: Representations have been made to the Minister of Justice from various counsel practising at the bar of Ontario on Mr. Justice Robertson's physical infirmity, and some counsel of eminence have refused to take cases before him, on account of his very great deafness. The truth is, Mr. Justice Robertson is, in the opinion of the bar, no longer fit for his duties, but up to the present time he does not seem to realize what is apparent to the profession and to the public.

In answer to Mr. E. F. Clarke, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said: The Government has not been asked for permission to erect or to have a monument or tablet erected to the memory of Gen. Montgomery. The Government is aware that an application has been made by a committee of the Sons of the Revolution of Boston to the City Council of the City of Quebec for permission to erect a tablet on the spot where Montgomery fell. As the parties who made the application have not addressed any petition to the Government, it is assumed that this memorial will be erected upon municipal property, and in such a case the Government will have no control or authority in the matter. The cliff upon which the board has been erected for a great many years, with the inscription, "Here Montgomery Fell," is upon Government property.

In answer to Mr. E. F. Clarke, Mr. Blair said, giving all the information he could obtain, the mileage of all telephone companies, other than the Bell Telephone Company, in operation in Canada is: Miles of poles, 13,607; miles of wire, 32,541; number of offices in Ontario, 259; in Quebec, 165; Nova Scotia, 152; in New Brunswick, 79; in British Columbia, 38; total 703.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier moved a resolution for the appointment of a second Inspector of Penitentiaries, at a salary of $2,600 a year. Sir Wilfrid explained that the necessity for a second inspector arose from the fact that, in addition to the five regular penitentiaries in Canada, it was found necessary to maintain a penitentiary or long-term prison in Dawson City. "We cannot," he said, "at the present time bring a convict from Dawson to the British Columbia penitentiary except through territory that is in the hands of the United States authorities, and claimed as American territory. The moment we brought a prisoner to Skaguay, for instance, there is no doubt whatever that he would be released from our authority. As soon as the labors of the Joint High Commission are resumed, which, I think, will be this year, we are in hopes of getting the treaty extended so as to cover the transfer of prisoners of one country through the territory of another under the proper surveillance."

Complaints in the House

On motion to go into supply, Mr. Wilson (Lennox) drew attention to a letter by Charles R. Devlin, Immigration Agent in Ireland, printed in The Montreal Herald, in which the writer harshly criticized members of the House. Mr. Wilson submitted that if Mr. Devlin had the right to criticize members of the House, every civil servant in the country had the same right.

Mr. Sifton would say nothing further for the present than to repeat his statement of the other day in supply, that he would see to it that no official in his department would transgress in that way again.

Quebec Elections Act.

Mr. Monk, speaking in French, asked if the Government had taken any steps to disallow the act passed at its last session by the Quebec Legislature in reference to election petitions, in accordance with the petition of Mr. Nantel, an unsuccessful candidate, who has a petition pending in the courts.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in reply, said the petition of Mr. Nantel had not yet reached Council. At the same time, he pointed out, Mr. Nantel could derive no benefit if the act is disallowed, because Mr. Justice Taschereau has set aside Mr. Nantel's petition as null and void. Had he been in the Assembly, however, Sir Wilfrid said, he would certainly have voted against the bill.

Increased Indemnity For Members.

The Premier moved the resolution to increase the sessional indemnity of Senators and members from $1,000 to $1,500, beginning with the present session.

Sir Wilfrid justified the increase by the example of the Australian Commonwealth, which granted $2,000 a session, and the increasing length of sessions at Ottawa, which kept members from their vocations for from four to five months in the year, instead of two or three months, as in 1873.

Mr. R. L. Borden supported the resolution on the same grounds.

The motion was carried.

The item of $5,000 to defray expenses in gathering information and otherwise with reference to a railway commission was passed after an explanation by Mr. Blair that the money is required to cover the cost of the preliminary investigations respecting the operation of railway commissions, and also in employment of specially competent legal men of experience and training to assist in the preparation of the bill to establish a railway commission.

All of the remaining railway and canal estimates were passed.

Public Works Estimates.

Public Works estimates were then taken up. Mr. Tarte explained that in the addition to the Parliament buildings there will be seven rooms, three on the ground floor, three on the second and a large committee room on the third floor. Two elevators would be put in the building, one in the Commons and one in the Senate near the present postoffices.

A preliminary estimate of $50,000 for a new Dominion museum to be erected to the Majors Hill Park, Ottawa, across the Rideau Canal from the Parliament buildings, was passed.

Mr. Tarte explained that he would be quite willing to call for competitive plans.

The greater part of Mr. Tarte's supplementary estimates were passed. The House rose at 1 a. m.

PARKDALE BANK ROBBERY.

Trial of Rutledge, Rice and Jones Commenced at Toronto.

Toronto, May 21.—No time was lost by Judge McDougall in the Criminal Sessions yesterday morning in beginning the trial of Rutledge, Rice and Jones, the three men accused of breaking into the Standard Bank in Parkdale on the morning of May 22 of last year.

Mr. Dewart stated the Crown's case to the jury, outlining the evidence to be presented, identifying the prisoners as the men who tied up Policeman Ward in Parkdale.

The first witness called was Mr. J. H. Hyland, then manager of the Standard Branch Bank at Parkdale, who said he found the window broken open, the vault damaged and the combination broken on May 22 last, and the door knob of the safe bent a little.

The evidence of Policeman Ward (100), told how he had been tied up by the thieves.

Other witnesses were Patrol-Sergt. James Hart, Patrol-Sergt. Robinson, Inspector Stark, Policeman Alexander Ross, Detective William Schubert, William Myers, Andrew Hughes and W. Webster. The court adjourned at 6 o'clock till 10 o'clock this morning. The court will sit daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. until the four charges are disposed of.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

EARTH'S BEST AND SAFEST SPRING MEDICINE.

IT PURIFIES THE BLOOD, FORTIFIES THE SYSTEM AND ESTABLISHES PERFECT HEALTH.

Is your blood impure and poisoned and circulation sluggish? It must be if you have eruptions, blotches, sores, pimples, eczema or salt rheum. With such troubles the blood is fast carrying poison and disease to every part of the system.

To clean, sound, vigorous and healthy you should use Paine's Celery Compound. Its vitalizing and health-giving virtues show at once upon the blood; it is unequalled as a cleanser and health-giver.

The ordinary bitters, nervines, sarsaparillas or pills cannot remove the dangers that lurk in your system at this time of the year. For pure, red blood, rosy cheeks and good digestion you need Paine's Celery Compound that has done such a marvellous work for others in the past.

Beware of the substitutes that are offered for Paine's Celery Compound—those worthless imitations that are foisted on the unsuspecting for the sake of large profits. Insist upon having "PAINE'S," the kind that makes people well.

The Turk Has Yielded.

Constantinople, May 20.—Ahmed Tewfik Pasha, Ottoman Minister of Foreign Affairs, called upon the Ambassadors and notified them of Turkey's desire to re-establish the status quo ante in the postal question, and her intention to send a high functionary, probably the Foreign Minister himself, to apologize for the violations of the foreign mail bags.

Blanche Reynolds Buried.

Harbor Beach, Mich., May 21.—Little Blanche Reynolds, who was beaten to death by one or more of her girl schoolmates on Wednesday last, was buried Sunday. Morse Bates, Blanche's brother, 9 years old, who was also outrageously beaten, is recovering, but his life was saved only by the strenuous efforts of the physicians. The attack upon the two children was most brutal, a club putting an end to Blanche's life, and no one can understand the fiendish impulse that prompted the deed. Hattie Harriman, the 14-year-old girl charged as principal in the affair, is under arrest, and will have an examination to-day. Hattie is reported to be a town terror.

State Owned Cables.

Ottawa, May 21.—The Council of the Ottawa Board of Trade met yesterday afternoon, at the request of Sir Sanford Fleming, to consider the question of state-owned cables. Sir Sanford submitted several important documents bearing on the question, and it was decided to recommend the board to send out a memorial to every Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce in the Empire, asking for co-operation in the agitation in favor of the proposal. A committee was appointed to draft the memorial, which will be submitted for approval at a general meeting of the board on June 3.

The New Challenger Won.

Ryde, Isle of Wight, May 21.—The two Shamrocks started yesterday morning for a race over an open sea course, the first leg of which is a beat from Calshot Castle to a mark outside the Nab lightship. The wind was steady from the east, and was blowing a club topsail breeze. The Shamrock II. won by about a minute.

Memorial to Sir Arthur Sullivan.

DEDICATION OF THE PAN-AM.

Lord Minto Sends Congratulations to the Rainbow City—A Fair Day and a Fair Show.

Buffalo, N.Y., May 21.—In the presence of a vast concourse of people, with ceremonial both conventional and novel, the Pan-American Exposition was yesterday formally dedicated. The day was fair and began with a parade, in which there were men from nearly every country in the world, and ended with an aerial bombardment from flying bombs and a brilliant electrical illumination. Between the two were the formal exercises of the dedication.

The parade that formed at the City Hall and marched by way of the main thoroughfares to the Exposition grounds was an interesting spectacle, and thousands of persons lined the route.

Vice-President Roosevelt was the guest of honor, and when he reached the hall the parade was started with a volley of aerial bombs. Two thousand troops, who got their time from four bands, led the way, and after them were a hundred carriages with officials and guests. Behind them came the concessionaires from the Midway. Western Indians mingled with the children of the tropics, the Orient and the Mediterranean, and gave the procession its truest touch of color. They were in native costume, had a score of artistic floats, and 15 bands furnished them music.

The entry of the procession to the Exhibition grounds at noon was a magnificent spectacle. The crowd in the grounds at that time numbered fully 40,000, and the greater part of it was massed in the esplanade.

The exercises began at 12.45 o'clock with the rendition of Handel's "Alleluia" by the 71st Regiment Band. The venerable bishop, Charles H. Fowler, led in prayer before an audience stilled and bowed.

President Milburn read a series of congratulatory telegrams from Central and South America and Canada, among which was the following: "The Governor-General of Canada directs me to express to you his hearty congratulations on the opening of the Pan-American Exposition, which His Excellency sincerely hopes may be in every way successful. (Signed) Harry Graham, Aide-de-Camp to Governor-General."

Yesterday's total admissions, from 8 a.m. until 11 p.m., were 101,687.

Port Dover Man's Suicide.

Caledonia, Ont., May 20.—James Acker of Port Dover, who has been boarding here at the Campbell House for the last six weeks, shot himself in the head about 6 o'clock Saturday evening, the ball entering just in front of the right ear, lodging over the nose. Acker died at 3.30 a.m. Sunday. The cause is unknown. Current reports say he had intimated to different people that he would do something like this before. He was supposed to have lived happily at home. His wife came from Port Dover on the 13th and remained until the 14th. She wanted him to go home. His children also made two trips on the same errand, but he said he was tired of Port Dover, but told his wife that he would go home Monday some time.

CANADA AT GLASGOW.

Mr. S. McClelland of the Northern Navigation Company, Collingwood, who has just returned from a trip to Glasgow, says the great Exhibition there, which is to be opened on May 2 by the Duchess of Fife, is unique in that everything is practically in place awaiting the opening. This is a condition quite unprecedented in exhibitions of the scope and size of the Glasgow International. Mr. McClelland had a talk with Mr. W. D. Scott, the Canadian commissioner, while in Glasgow. Mr. Scott told him that Canada's display will be one of the best in the whole exhibition. The bulk of the exhibits have been removed from Paris, where, as everyone knows, they gained very high awards and have been distributed between two buildings—the main industrial hall and the special Canadian building. The latter is of Grecian design, the material being of fibre plaster or staff, as it is more commonly called. It is beautifully located on the rising ground in Kelvingrove Park in front of the university. Between it and the university are the Russian buildings, which, with their towers and minarets in Oriental style, form a very effective background. The Canadian building is devoted chiefly to the machinery display of the Dominion, while in the main building manufactures and mining exhibits are shown. In ores and foodstuffs Canada will probably sweep the board. The specimens of gold, copper, silver and other ores are the best the country could send, while the fruit exhibit, Mr. McClelland says, will without doubt be as successful as Canadian fruit was at Paris.

Glasgow is making great preparations for the exhibition, one of the most important being the substitution of electric street cars for the old horse cars. Everything is ready for the new system, which will be started up some day immediately before the opening of the exhibition. The feeling towards Canadians in Glasgow is very warm, and many visitors are expected from the Dominion.

THE QUARTERMASTER.

Importance of the Office Not Fully Measured by Military Men.

In the course of a most interesting lecture upon lessons taught by the South African campaign, recently delivered at Ottawa by Capt. C. F. Winter, Adjutant of the Governor-General's Foot Guards, and a company officer and Assistant Adjutant of the Royal Canadian Regiment, the following interesting passage occurs:

"Referring to the position of Quartermaster, the lecturer contended that we never have in Canada given this appointment the attention, etc., it deserved. On service the Quartermaster was the man, and the post should be made sufficiently attractive to insure getting the very best man in a regiment to fill it. In this connection the Royal Canadians had been very fortunate in the latter part of the campaign, as their Quartermaster had shone as the very best transport officer in the division. His mules and niggers were always in the best of shape, and many a time late at night, when a particularly bad drift had delayed all second line transport in rear, the Canadians were the first to get a warm meal, the only one since daylight that morning, and due to the energy and foresight of their Quartermaster. At this point Col. Cotton, D. O. C., asked Capt. Winter if he would give the officer's name, when he said he referred to Lieut. Lafferty, R. C. A., who had proved such an admirable transport officer. When mentioning names, however, it was only fair to add that of Mr. Lafferty's assistant, Quartermaster-Sergeant Galloway of the permanent corps, London, Ont., as worthy of much praise in his department."

When the Baby Cries at Night.

There is a cause for it. Perhaps it is gas on the stomach, or may be cramps or diarrhœa. Don't lose sleep—anticipate such contigences by always keeping handy a bottle of Polson's Nerviline. Just a few drops in water taken inwardly, then rub the little one's stomach with a little Nerviline, and perfect rest is assured for the night for both mother and baby. You may not need Nerviline often but when you need it you need it badly. Get a 25c bottle to-day.

Population of Ireland Decreased.

London, May 21.—The census of Ireland shows the population to be 4,456,546, a decrease of 5.3 per cent. This is less than during the previous decade.

Scotland's population numbers 4,471,557 persons.

A PRESENTATION.

To Mr. J. E. Emmerson—Was Popular With His Fellow Employees.

Mr. J. E. Emmerson, who for the past sixteen years has been in the employee of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Co., yesterday severed his connection with that concern, intending to move to Western Ontario.

Mr. Emmerson during his long association with the employees of the lock works has become highly esteemed by them and they could not let the occasion of his departure from their midst pass without expressing to him their appreciation of his amiable qualities.

At six o'clock last night the employees assembled and presented Mr. Emmerson with a purse and a suitably worded address. The presentation was made by Mr. E. Morency and the address was read by Mr. Chas. Tabor. It was as follows:

Mr. J. E. Emmerson, Peterborough.

Dear Sir,—We have learned that you are about to sever your connection with the Peterborough Lock Mfg. Co., Ltd., with which you have been connected as an employee, in a responsible position, for sixteen years.

We cannot permit you to take your departure without giving expression to the kindly feelings we entertain towards you, and our appreciation of your many good qualities of heart and hand. During the many years that you have been associated with us, our relations have been most cordial, and friendly, and we cherish your many charitable acts, sympathetic words, and kind deeds.

We beg of you to accept this purse as a slight token of our goodwill towards you, and we, one and all, earnestly hope and pray that good health and prosperity may attend you wherever in the future you may be located.

Signed on behalf of the employees of the Peterborough Lock Mfg. Co., Ltd., M. Reilly, A. C. Corcoran, E. G. Taylor, E. Morency, W. McAulliffe, W. Shelton, M. Weatherhead.

Peterborough, Ontario,
20th May, 1901.

Mr. Emmerson replied in suitable terms expressing the deep thanks he felt for their kindness, and assuring them that he would ever look back with pleasant recollections of his associations with them.

THE COMMON WEAL SOCIETY.

A Public Meeting To be Held on Monday Evening.

His Worship Mayor Denne has kindly consented to allow the Common Weal Society to use the Council Chamber on Monday evening next for the purpose of holding a public meeting. The objects of the society are at present to discourage treating and drinking in business hours, and to discountenance profanity. The officers of the society hope that a large number of citizens and particularly fathers of families will join the society and lend their influence in placing its aims and objects prominently before the community.

IT WILL BE A MONSTER.

The Route of March Has Been Decided Upon.

Procession Will be Over a Mile Long—The Arrangements Most Complete.

As the 24th of May approaches, the activity around the committee rooms of the Celebration Committee, on George street, opposite the Market Hall, becomes greater. It was a wise move, indeed, opening out a committee room, as the arrangements are being conducted in a decidedly business-like manner. It is here that the hard working members of the committee can be found at almost any hour of the day or night, and the apartments are generally crowded in the evenings by people desiring information. The telephone is kept red-hot all day long, and Mr. D. H. Burritt is one of those who is carrying a worried look just now. He is the untiring secretary, and he is ably assisted by Mr. W. B. Bamford, the hustling chairman of the committee. Mayor Denne, too, is doing sledge-hammer work, and as he left last night for Ottawa on civic business, he bade his fellow committeemen an encouraging "So long," only regretting that he had to leave his duties here for a day.

But the committee room is not the only place where there is activity of an unusual nature. The bridge works, where the "floats" are being constructed, re-echoes with the sound of the carpenter's hammer, while the small boy looks on with amazement. "Floats" to no end are being prepared, and when a committeeman last night said that the procession would be more than a mile long, he no doubt showed good judgment.

Everything points to a mammoth procession, and the number of private "floats" representing the various manufacturing establishments of the town, is going to be surprisingly large.

The committee did a big stroke of business last night when they finally determined the route of the procession. It will be good news to the residents of Ashburnham to know that it is the intention to have the procession visit the village. Ashburnham has done nobly in its efforts to make the day a success, and their assistance is not going to be overlooked.

The procession will leave the old bridge works building at ten o'clock and will start up George street. Continuing, the route will be as follows: George street north to Hunter, east to Ashburnham, east on Elizabeth street to Driscoll Terrace, north to Douro street, east to Brown street, south to Elizabeth street, continuing south on Mark street to Robinson street, west to Lake street, north to Elizabeth street, west to Water street, north to London street, west to George street, and then south to the place of beginning.

It will be noticed that Ashburnham is going to see a great deal more of the procession than Peterborough.

The procession will be headed by the committee in carriages.

The Cowboys and Indians are requested to be at the committee rooms at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening.

The Sports Committee have slightly re-arranged the programme of events. It is as follows:—

2nd half football, 3.15 to 4.

100 yards, (final heat).

Bayonet contest.

Pick-a-back wrestling.

1-3 mile, (on track).

120 yards hurdle race.

Squad race.

Menagerie race.

Relay race.

Enteries should be made to the Secretary, Mr. A. W. McPherson, at once.

The lacrosse match between the Vaticans and the Lindsay team has been declared off.

A special train will leave Peterborough at night for Campbellford and intervening points. It is said that half the population of Campbellford and Norwood is coming up.

There will be an important meeting of the Sports Committee and officials in the officer's mess room of the 57th Regiment, on Wednesday night. Members will please attend.

APPLICATION WITHDRAWN

And the Original Order re Gates Will Stand.

His Worship Mayor Denne and Alderman G. M. Roger left on the midnight train last night for Ottawa for the purpose of being present before the Railroad Committee of the Privy Council at the hearing of the request of the Grand Trunk Railway for a re-hearing of the railway gates question which was decided in the town's favour some time ago. The railway company alleges that it has important evidence that it would like to put in.

Later.—Town Clerk Armstrong today received a telegraphic message from Mayor Denne at Ottawa, stating that the application for a re-hearing of the case had been withdrawn and the original order stands. This, then, means that before long the more dangerous crossings will be equipped with railway gates.

THE LATE CAPT. METCALFE.

He Had Been a Resident of Keene for Sixty-Eight Years.

The death of the late Capt. James Metcalfe, of Keene, who was buried in the Keene Cemetery on the 27th of April, removes a familiar figure from the streets of the village of which he had been a resident for the past sixty-eight years.

The deceased was born in the City of Lincoln, Lincolnshire, England, 81 years ago, and at the age of thirteen years, with his father and other members of the family, he emigrated to Canada, in the year 1833. The long time occupied in crossing the ocean in those days; instead of wearying the lad, as it did so many others, only begot in his young mind a love for "A Life on the Ocean Wave," and so, soon after taking up his residence in Keene, on the bank of the Indian River, he took up his profession of a sailor, as his life's work. His promotion was very rapid and early in life he was selected to take command of the "St. George," the first sailing vessel on our inland waters. This boat was replaced by the "Queen," also under command of Captain Metcalfe. The third and last sailing vessel of any size, "The Dolphin," was built by Capt. Metcalfe and his father, the latter being a ship carpenter.

These boats used to make regular trips between Peterborough and Heely's Falls, calling at Gore's Landing, Harwood, Keene, Hastings and other places. The traffic was very large in those days, both in passengers and freight. A great many emigrants were coming into the country with their luggage and as there were no railroads, the boats had not only the emigrant and his effects to handle, but all the freight to the different points as well. Thus Capt. Metcalfe had a large and profitable trade for many years, but the introduction of steam boats, and railways, finally cut out the slower craft and Captain Metcalfe was forced to retire.

The deceased was one of the oldest residents of Keene; kind, generous to a fault, he was highly respected, and his genial smile and hearty greeting, given often in sailor phraseology will long be remembered by a large circle of friends.

An only sister, Miss Sarah Metcalfe, who has lived with her brother for many years, is the last and sole survivor of a family which once numbered eight. Miss Metcalfe intends taking up her residence with a neice in the West.

MR. DOVER GOT DAMAGES.

NON-JURY SITTINGS OF THE HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

A Case That Occupied The Time of the Court All Day Yesterday.

Dover v. Haliburton Lumber Co.—This is an action brought by Fred Dover against the Haliburton Lumber Co. for damages for cutting lumber on lots 18 and 19 on the second concession of Dysart, in the Provisional County of Haliburton. Mr. Dover has owned these lots for about nineteen years, and in the summer of 1900, hearing that the Lumber Company were about to commence operations in that neighbourhood, he sent them notice to the effect that he owned these lots and gave them warning against trespassing. Notwithstanding these notices, the defendents cut the pine, cedar, etc.

The case occupied all yesterday afternoon, with a night sitting until ten o'clock, and was closed at 11.30 this morning. A large number of witnesses, chiefly from the village of Haliburton, were examined. At the conclusion of the case the Judge delivered judgment, finding that a trespass had been committed, and awarded damages to plaintiff for $800 and full costs.

E. B. Edwards for plaintiff. Walter Gow, Blake, Lash, & Cassels, for defendants.

BOOK OF REVELATIONS

Was the Subject of Rev. Mr. Kilgour's Lecture.

"A decided treat," was the unanimous opinion of those who attended the lecture given by Rev. Mr. Kilgour at the Charlotte street church League last night.

The theme of the last lecture was continued at the eleventh chapter of Daniel, and the final passages shown to point to the downfall of Turkey and Mohammedanism, possibly near Jerusalem.

The speaker then passed to the "Man of sin," I John ii, 18, asserting that this was the devil, in whatever form of doctrine or creed he entered the church, and the identifying mark mark of the "Man of sin" was clearly pointed out.

Rev. Mr. Kilgour gave an extremely vivid and interesting introduction to his analysis of the Book of Revelations, showing the circumstances under which it was written, and advanced the idea that perhaps God allowed Daniel to assist John in the work. The book is a clear statement of God's intentions for coming ages.

The book falls into three parts — the first consisting of the first three chapters, and containing Christ's commission to John. The second — chapters iv to x — narrated the enthronement of Deity. The last chapters deal with the Divine Spirit, called the Angel.

The first division required little comment, but the second outlined the struggle between Good and Evil, in which God was bound to triumph. The seals, trumpets and vials were mysteries, proclamations, and good and evil effects of actions. Christ by His sacrifice had acquired the right to open the seals.

In the last division the period during which the church should retain its purity and simplicity was pointed out, the time of its greatest corruption shown, and the period of its evolution from darkness defined.

The lecturer fully explained the references to the Dragon and the Woman, and pointed out very clearly the significance of the Beast, whose number is six hundred and and three score and six.

This profoundly interesting lecture was brought to a close by a convincing exposition of the absurdity of the current notion of the millennium. The millennium is upon us now.

Take a camera whenever you go for an outing. You will enjoy it. We have them at all prices, from $1 up. The Tate Optical Co., 438 George street.

REV. DR. SYMONDS' RESIGNATION

It Was Formally Received at a Congregational Meeting of St. Luke's Congregation Last Night.

A very largely attended congregational meeting of St. Luke's Church was held last evening at which the people's warden, Mr. Frank Adams, presided. He stated that the object of calling the congregation together was to accept the resignation of the rector, Rev. Dr. Symonds, who had accepted the position of headmaster of Trinity College School, Port Hope, and was leaving on the first of July, and also to take measures to select a successor to fill the pulpit.

The rector's resignation was received and referred to a committee with instructions to draft suitable resolutions in connection therewith, expressive of the regret felt by the congregation at losing Dr. Symonds.

Another committee was appointed, consisting of representative pew holders for the purpose of making arrangements to secure an incumbent for the position which Dr. Symonds is vacating.

GEORGE STREET EPWORTH LEAGUE.

A Very Interesting Missionary Evening Last Night—The Programme.

The regular monthly missionary meeting of this society was held last evening, the president, Mr. Stubbs, occupying the chair.

After the usual devotional exercises, a paper on "Missions in China," written by Rev. George Hartville, one of the Canadian Methodist missionaries in China, was read by Miss Ethel Miller. This was followed by a pleasing vocal solo by Mr. Bert Turner. The pastor, Mr. Wilson, then gave an interesting and pointed talk on the subject of "Systematic Giving, and its benefits," and a well executed piano solo by Miss Ida Sanderson, brought the programme to a close.

The officers recently elected are pushing things with a great deal of enthusiasm, and a number of interesting meetings are to be expected. An excellent programme for the summer months has been arranged, and a copy placed in the hands of each member. Next Monday night a social evening will be spent, to which an invitation is extended to all.

LOVE'S WAKING.

Love lies asleep. What dreams be round him thronging
Poets may guess.
But he is tired of hope and fear, of longing,
Of passion's stress—
Tired, through long years, from the world's first beginning;
Too tired to wake
At wealth's loud call, at beauty's whisper, winning
Or answer make,
Though king command and minstrel, in true meter,
Plead, praise and weep—
Than anything on earth, ah, rest is sweeter!
Love lies asleep.

Lo! Two young pilgrims come from woodland closes,
Barefoot, yet gay,
Clothed with scarce else than garland veils of roses,
Sweet beggars, they—
Full of health's bliss, of life, of joy, immortal,
Untouched by sin,
Who know not why they sing beside love's portal
Till love joins in.

MY RIVAL.

HOW HE GOT THE BETTER OF ME IN CONSEQUENCE OF AN ACCIDENT.

I cannot say that I thought much of Mackintosh. He seemed to me a great prig. Good looking? Well, yes, in a barber's block sort of way—curly, oiled hair, pink complexion, white teeth. His teeth were good, I must say, and when he smiled his appearance varied from that of a skull to that of a dog out of temper about bones. In the summer I had met Dr. and Mrs. Cherry, who were friends of mine. We had been at Delhi once together. They were going out again in December and intending to take their daughter Ellen with them. She was an exceptionally nice girl, with light hair and blue eyes and a low, musical voice (I must say I like blondes, and a harsh voice is one of my crosses), and I saw a good deal of her and should have seen more only Mackintosh was rather in the way.

However, I found out that my friends proposed to go to India by the steamer leaving Marseilles on Jan. 2. And that was just the time my leave was up. It was in the days when one steamer started from Southampton and a few days after another from Marseilles, and they met in Egypt. The journey was cheaper by the bay, and I had intended to take that route, but I met Mackintosh at the office and found he was going from Southampton to please a chum. You would scarcely believe it, but it was the case nevertheless, that the Marseilles passengers thought themselves rather more in society than the Southamptons. So I pondered, "If my agents will find the money, I will give Master Mackintosh the go by." I took a Southampton berth, but the clerk said I might change it for a Marseilles one afterward if I liked. And this I did. I started from Dover the day after Christmas day and at Paris went straight to the Hotel Byron, where I knew the Cherrys were staying.

"Friend Mac," I said to myself, "with the brand of Southampton on his brow, will never be able to cope with my continental prestige."

I traveled with my friends in a leisurely way. We gave 24 hours to Lyons and reached Marseilles on the evening of Dec. 31. Our inn, the Du Midi, was on the road to the New Quarter, and I have been told, since the building speculations were not so successful, it has been altered and let out in flats. But at that day it was a high, well like house, having a courtyard in the middle, adorned with pomegranates in green boxes, where we sat after table d'hote and drank coffee and cognac.

Mrs. Cherry had a letter that evening by the post, and I observed that its receipt created interest, and I heard one or two observations which did not, however, in any way interpret themselves to me at the time. "Really, after all?" "But is there time?" "How has it been managed?" and so on.

And when I asked what projects were in view for seeing the place next day Mrs. Cherry only replied, "Something will suggest itself."

Jan. 1 was a general holiday, and from an early hour the streets began to fill, for the peasants came in from the neighborhood, and all the artisans turned out in their gayest costumes. The Cherrys had breakfast in their own apartments, and I on returning from the salle a manger went into my own bedroom, which was high up, and sat at the window smoking a cigarette. Hearing a noise below, I looked out and saw the Cherrys starting, without giving me notice. Ellen, however, observed me.

"Where are you off to?" I called down to her.

"We are going," she said, "to walk in the Canebiere. It will be great fun! Come along!"

Come along? Of course I would! I snatched up my hat and a dustcoat and on rushing from my room observed slight iron gates and within a lift, stationary. There was no gas in it nor any attendant, and I had not noticed it before or heard of people going up or down. But the thought struck me, "I may as well use it, time will be saved." The grating was unlocked. I entered, took a seat and pulled the rope. The lift began to descend. Darkness, but only for a moment or two, and then another grating, and on—into the darkness again. Suddenly I felt that the seat I was occupying was losing its horizontal position. It sunk on one side. There was grievous creaking, scraping, crashing and then stoppage. Half way between two landing places the machine had stuck immovably fast.

Of course it was very awkward, but there was apparently no cause for alarm. I knew I should get out in time, but still it might be a longish job. I did not hear much noise and concluded I was among thick walls and not near a grating. But there was some rumbling and shouts as I thought. In a short time, however, all was still. I had not called out, for I was anxious to show I was cool and not disturbed by a trifling accident of the sort. Indeed I had planned to come out smoking, for I had a fusee and a cigar case with me. As there was no vent, however, I put off lighting up till my release was near at hand. I did not wish the air to be closer than it was.

I had just thought vaguely, "They will get me out, and I will emerge smoking." But two things abruptly occurred to me, "How will they get you out?" and then, "Are you sure they will look for you?" By heaven! This later idea became serious. The lift must have been out of repair, unfit for use. It was careless to leave the grating unlocked. But still there was no attendant, as there would have been if the thing had been in working trim. They might perhaps think the lift passed down of its own accord and that no one was in it.

In point of fact this was so. The Cherrys, it seemed, walked slowly on and, as I did not follow, thought I was engaged and busied themselves about the drama of the streets. No one was near when I entered the machine, and it had sunk away once before, it was said, without any one touching it, and indeed it was disorganized and not employed.

The chambermaids were at the windows, the waiters at the door, the occupants of rooms were among the gay throng on the pavements enjoying the sunshine of the south, which danced in a thousand dimples on the blue expanse of the Mediterranean. I did not wish to seem frightened or frantic and so only called out for help at intervals and in an unexcited voice, and no one heard, or, hearing, failed to localize the sound.

The Cherrys were out for three hours and on returning, finding no trace of me and hearing of the fall of the lift, at last conceived the idea that I might be inside of it. Of course when this suspicion was once set on foot there was great excitement, but it was not very easy to do anything.

In the first place, on account of the fete, there was an unavoidable delay in getting workmen, and when they were procured the part of the wall where the lift had jammed ran down amid the walls of several small apartments and behind cupboards, and to find where the aperture should be begun was no light matter. With a fusee I could see my watch. I entered the lift at 11 and at 5 was still there, though the voices were close at hand, and the pickaxes seemed to be penetrating the framework of my little box. Even then it appeared long before friendly hands helped me down into the chamber, whence I reached the body of the house.

It was pleasant being an object of female kindness and solicitude, but Dr. Cherry was anxious and desirous I should keep quiet. When I went to bed, I found he had had reason for some apprehension. Sleep entirely deserted me, and an access of nervous excitement ensued. Twelve o'clock struck and then 1. It was intolerable. I should be altogether unmanned without rest. I had hydrate of chloral in my portmanteau, but there was no night light. However, I managed to get the bottle and the toilet tumbler and measured with my finger. The fluid seemed a good deal in drinking, but took effect at once.

When I awoke, I heard an exclamation of relief. There were two or three persons in the room. It was broad daylight. A foreign doctor, who spoke English with an accent, felt my pulse. "He will do now," he said to the others, and, turning to me, added, "You have had a squeak."

"I must get up," I said. "The steamer goes at noon."

There was a laugh.

"It is long past noon," said the landlord, who was a polyglot, and a young man, an interpreter who attended the trains, put in, with a grin, "I saw the steamer with my eyes pass Chateau d'If and a long tail of smoke following."

I soon learned that I had taken an overdose of chloral, was discovered in a profound stupor and could not be awakened. Dr. Cherry had done everything for me. The Messengeries steamer was going the next day, and the P. and O. agent had transferred my passage most kindly to the French boat.

Dr. Cherry had called in Bernardo, a local doctor, and intrusted my case to him. My pulse had been carefully watched and suitable measures taken to insure me against fatal effects.

By the way of cheering me the interpreter said: "Your friends have lost one comrade and got another. A gentleman arrived from Paris early this morning. He was aggrieved at your accident and accompanied your good doctor and madam and the young lady on board the steamer."

"What was his name?" I asked.

"I cannot say his name. It will be in the book."

"Do get it."

The book was brought. Behold the entry, "Jan. 2. from London to Bombay, M. Mackintosh, rentier!"

"Confound the fellow!" I bawled out. "He must have changed his plans at the last moment! Bandbox! Prig! Intruder! Oh, that lift!"

"You are better," observed the interpreter, "but you must not overdo."

HOW TO GAIN FLESH

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day by taking an ounce of Scott's emulsion. It is strange, but it often happens.

Somehow the ounce produces the pound; it seems to start the digestive machinery going properly, so that the patient is able to digest and absorb his ordinary food, which he could not do before, and that is the way the gain is made.

A certain amount of flesh is necessary for health; if you have not got it you can get it by taking Scott's Emulsion.

You will find it just as useful in summer as in winter, and if you are thriving upon it don't stop because the weather is warm.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample its agreeable taste will surprise you.

It Makes Weak Women Strong.

"I suffered from female weakness for five months," writes Miss Belle Hedrick, of Nye, Putnam Co., W. Va. "I was treated by a good physician but he did me no good. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for advice, which I received, telling me to take his 'FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION.' When I had used the medicine a month my health was much improved. It has continued to improve until now I can work at almost all kinds of house-work. I had scarcely any appetite, but it is all right now. Have gained several pounds in weight. I would advise all who suffer from chronic diseases to write to Dr. Pierce."

Malt Breakfast Food is recommended by thousands of physicians as the ideal nutriment for persons of weak digestion. Ask your Grocer for it.

ON A JAPANESE RAILROAD.

Much Eating and Smoking Mark the Journeys of the Natives.

The second and third class railroad carriages give the foreigner an opportunity to study life of the Japanese people. On entering the first thing one notices is that white lines are drawn across the glass windows, and upon inquiry the information is elicited that some of the people who travel in the cars are unused to glass, which perhaps they have never seen before, and that they are apt to put their heads through if there is nothing to indicate that a substance bars the way.

In cold weather all Japanese travelers carry rugs, for the cars are heated merely by long steel cylinders filled with hot water and laid on the floor. Since the passengers are always pulling open the windows, Japanese cars in midwinter are a menace to the health of every individual who has become used to an even temperature within doors.

The smallest incident of travel is enough to break the ice, and if a person has a wrong ticket or has lost anything it is a matter of interest and solicitude for everybody else. Many of the passengers are apt to behave with the same unrestrained freedom as in their own homes. If they are starting on a long journey, they at once proceed to make themselves as comfortable as possible. A rug is spread out on the seat, for they are very particular never to sit on anything that is not perfectly clean. Then they shake off their geta, or wooden clogs, and curl their feet up underneath. The next thing is a smoke, in which both men and women indulge, sometimes lighting cigarette after cigarette, but more often they use the tiny pipe, which never contains more tobacco than a wisp the size of a pea and affords one, sometimes two puffs to the smoker. The ash is then knocked out on the floor and another wisp stuffed in and lighted from the smoldering ash which has just been thrown away. This is kept up, off and on, for hours.

When not smoking, eating is going on. At every station there are venders of the little mandarin oranges. Every passenger buys a dozen or more and eats them in a short time, throwing the skins about the floor. Boys pass by with tea in tiny earthen pots, a cup placed over the top, and this may be purchased for 3 sen (a cent and a half), and the teapot is left in the car.

Besides leaning out of the car windows to buy these, the passengers have little wooden boxes filled with lunch. In the upper part is closely packed rice, in the lower are all sorts of little pickles and bits of cake. Attached are two wooden chopsticks.

The Japanese throw all sorts of refuse about, and from the appearance of a car after the passengers have been in it for a little while one would imagine that the people are very untidy in their way of living. Porters enter at some of the stations and brush up whole panfuls of refuse, and on some lines of the road a small boy in a spruce uniform comes to the car door at each stop, with a clothes brush in his hand, makes a deep bow to the occupants and inquires if there is anything that they want.

OUR FIRST NEWSPAPER.

Prospectus of the Upper Canada Gazette or American Oracle on April 18, 1793.

On Thursday, April 18, 1793, appeared at Newark, or Niagara, the first number of the first newspaper published in Upper Canada. As it was designed to fill the double roll of preserving a record of the acts of Government, while chronicling the events of the continent at large, it bore the double title of The Upper Canada Gazette, or American Oracle. It was, as Scadding describes it, a small-sized sheet of folio form, of about 15 by 9½ inches, from ordinary type on a rather coarse but stout and durable paper, by one Louis Roy, a skilled artisan engaged probably from Lower Canada, where printing had been introduced about thirty years previously. The editor's address to the public in the first number is interesting:

"The editor of this paper respectfully informs the public that the flattering prospect which he has of an extensive sale for his how undertaking has enabled him to augment the size originally proposed from a demi-quarto to a folio.

"The encouragement he has met will call forth every exertion he is master of, so as to render the paper useful, entertaining and instructive. He will be very happy in being favored with such communications as may contribute to the information of the public from those who shall be disposed to assist him, and in particular shall be highly flattered in becoming the vehicle of intelligence in this growing province of whatever may tend to its internal benefit and common advantage. In order to preserve the veracity of his paper, which will be the first object of his intention, it will be requisite that all transactions of a domestic nature, such as deaths, marriages, etc., be communicated under real signatures.

"The price of this Gazette will be three dollars per annum. All advertisements inserted in it, and not exceeding twelve lines, will pay 4s, Quebec currency, and for every additional line a proportionate price. Orders for letter-press printing will be executed with neatness, despatch and attention, and on the most reasonable terms."

An advertisement which appears in this initial number is also worth quoting. It announces that a brewery is about to be established, with the sanction of Governor Simcoe:

"Notice is hereby given that there will be a brewery erected here this summer, under the sanction of His Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor, and encouraged by some of the principal gentlemen of this place, and whosoever will sow barley and cultivate their land so that it will produce grain of a good quality, they may be certain of a market in the fall at one dollar a bushel on delivery.—W. Het, Niagara, 18th April, 1793."

Old Soldier's Experience.

M. M. Austix, a civil war veteran, of Winchester, Ind., writes: "My wife was sick a long time in spite of good doctor's treatment, but was wholly cured by Dr King's New Life Pills, which worked wonders for her health." They always do. Try them. Only 25 cents at Jas. Lynch's drug store.

The House Hunter.

She riseth up at the early dawn.
She putteth her street apparel on.
She bolteth her breakfast, hasteth away
And hunteth up houses the livelong day.

She returneth home, worn out and vexed.
'Tis the same next day, and the next and next.
So at last she putteth away her hat
And decideth to live in the same old flat.

A Misunderstanding.

Rube—Yaas, Si is dead. Went inter town ter git a to'th pulled. Dentist feller told him he'd better take gas fust an—

Josh—Dentist gev him too much, eh?

Rube—Oh, no. After the dentist feller told him that he went back ter his hotel an took the gas hisself.

The Colors of Eels.

The eel is very unpopular with many people; but, like many unpopular things, he improves with acquaintance. In form he is long, slender and graceful, in color dark green above and yellowish white below. Many believe that there are two distinct varieties, the salt and the fresh water eel, but I am inclined to think that, like all other fishes, the eel partakes much of the nature of his surroundings. A long summer vacation in a pond or brook renders him darker in color, and daily feasting on landlocked delicacies renders him more corpulent.

Just so codfish take on the color of their habitat, gray when on muddy bottom, bright red when living among kelps and gay colored marine plants. I believe, too, that the eel often forgets to return to salt water, but never breeds elsewhere, for I have never seen baby eels in brooks or ponds. I have known them to be taken every month in the year in the same localities. Some say that half the eels spend the winter in fresh water, coming down in the spring, and that the other half go up for the summer.

Not Given to Squandering.

Justice—You say that you doubt the statement of the previous witness that the defendant squandered his inheritance. Please give the reason for your doubt.

Witness—I tried three or four times to get him to visit a church fair, but it was useless. He always smiled and informed me that he was not born yesterday.

Skill in Throwing Off Mail Bags.

The busiest clerk in any crew or car is the one who is detailed to receive and throw off the sacks and pouches. To lift a heavy mail sack and throw it from a car moving at the rate of a mile a minute is a matter of good target shooting. "Looks easy enough," commented one of the veteran clerks at the letter case, "and it does seem as if a man should be able to hit a station platform without much difficulty, but you see that station is passed and gone in about one second. Then, the suction of a train running at this speed is something terrific, and until the knack of throwing a pouch is learned a man is liable to feed the wheels with a few letters."

Canadian Peerages.

Mr. Henry J. Morgan writes from Ottawa to The Scottish-American Journal: In reference to the statement made in your Canadian notes, that "There are now three Canadian peerages, namely, those of Lord Mountstephen, Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, and the Baroness Macdonald of Ernescliffe," permit me to point out that, in addition thereto, there are no less than three peers and one peeress, whose present titles were obtained for services rendered to the Crown in Canada. These are the Baroness Dorchester, Earl Amherst, the Marquis of Townshend and Baron Seaton. There are also sitting in the House of Lords at the present time six peers who are natives of Canada, namely, the Earl of Erroll (hereditary Lord High Constable of Scotland and knight mareschal of that kingdom), the Earl of Elgin and Kincardine, the Earl of Albemarle, the Earl of Stamford, Baron De Blaquiere, Great Alengar of Ireland, and Baron Hallburton of Windsor, Nova Scotia. The Earl of Carnwarth is the son of a Canadian mother, and Baron Carew and Viscount Hill possess Canadian wives. Viscount Milton, the son and heir of Earl Fitzwilliam, is likewise a Canadian by birth, as is also Colonel the Hon. Matthew Aylmer, so long a resident of Canada. From the above it will be seen that the Dominion is more fully represented in the second branch of the supreme legislature of the Empire than is generally supposed.

The Largest Census District.

The largest census district in the Dominion is New Westminster, with an area of 204,050 square miles. In Ontario the largest census area is Algoma, with 148,517 square miles; and Chicoutimi and Saguenay, with 118,921 square miles, is the largest in the Province of Quebec.

Providing Graves for Soldiers.

The Belleville Cemetery Company has deeded two fine plots in the cemetery for the use of the local regiment, so that a friendless member or ex-member of the regiment, will not be exposed to the risk of being laid in a pauper's grave.

HANDS ACROSS THE SEA.

Plea For the Cultivation of International Correspondence.

The current number of the McMaster University Monthly contains an interesting letter written by an Australian girl in Vienna to a Canadian girl in Woodstock, and the editor of the magazine makes the letter the basis of a suggestion for an extended international correspondence on the part of the young people of the respective countries. He points out that the Review of Reviews long ago inaugurated and has now in successful operation such a system, as a result of which no fewer than 8,000 persons, chiefly pupils at school, carry on a correspondence with as many young friends in France and Germany. Not many Canadians appear to have availed themselves of the opportunity afforded, and the editor of McMaster's strongly advises that they should do so, and thus find an interesting and pleasant means of perfecting themselves in a foreign tongue. No fee is required. All that is necessary is to send one's name, age and address to the Secretary for Languages, Review of Reviews, London, England. The suggestion is an interesting one. Correspondence between two intelligent young people of different nationalities could hardly fail to broaden and elevate the views of each of them.

The Census Man Again.

The Rev. Dr. Morison, pastor of St. David's Church, tells a rather amusing incident of the census taker's plan for deciding his nationality. On calling upon the reverend gentleman for his census, the enumerator asked him the usual question as to nationality, and the prompt reply was "I am a Canadian." This fairly staggered the official. He had evidently never heard of such a nationality, but, nothing daunted, he inquired what nationality Dr. Morison's father was. The answer was "Scotch."

"Then you're Scotch," triumphantly announced the enumerator.

"But my mother was English, and she surely counts as much as my father in settling so momentous a question."

But the census taker was not to be moved. And so Dr. Morison is, officially at least, a Scotchman.—St. John Telegraph.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

GOLF.

The handicaps for the first stroke competition of the season have been announced and the novices will be rather disappointed to ascertain that the most the committee has done for them is to give them about a stroke a hole, twenty strokes being the outside limit. This does not give the beginners much of a chance, as a stroke a hole is nothing for a first team man to give one of the unclassified players. An illustration of this fact can be furnished by an instance which occurred on Thursday last, when a first team player was able to give one of last year's beginners two strokes a hole and beat him rather easily. The defeated player then picked up one of this year's men and was able in going only once around to beat him by eight holes. Now what chance in the world would the last player mentioned have to beat the first team man even if he was given three strokes a hole? There are a number of players who can play around the links in 95 and under, and on the other hand there are a far greater number who cannot do it in less than 140. What would be more reasonable then than to give the new players the benefit of, say 35 or 40 strokes? Would it not encourage them to play in these tournaments instead of letting them go by default?

R. M. Dennistoun vs. R. Granger.
Robert Fair vs. Dr. Grey.

FOOTBALL.

Mr. A. W. McPherson was in Toronto on Saturday, and played in the game of Scots vs. Gorvales, in which the former were victorious by a score of 2 goals to 0. "Mac" was formerly Captain of the Scots, and takes a delight in helping his old team out occasionally.

Captain McPherson was also present at the formation of the Ontario Football League, which was organized in the Walker House on Saturday evening.

Concerning the organization of the same the Globe speaks thus:

A representative meeting of Association Footballers in Ontario, was held at the Walker House on Saturday evening to take the first steps towards the formation of an Ontario League.

There were present the following delegates: W. F. A., D. Forsyth, B. A., Berlin, and J. A. Jackson, B.A., Seaforth; Intercollege Association, H. G. Graham, B. A., and C. McKinnon, Toronto; Toronto League, W. H. Grant and C. F. Bulmer, Toronto; Eastern Football Association, L. F. Kelloran, Cornwall; Peterborough District, A. W. McPherson, B. A., Peterborough; Norwood District, F. Rutherford, Norwood; Toronto Intermediate League, E. C. Wilson, Toronto.

It was decided to organize what is to be called the "Ontario Association Football League," and to admit to membership any club in Ontario on approval by the Executive Committee. The objects of the League were declared to be to encourage and foster Association Football, and to decide the various championships of Ontario.

The meeting then proceeded to the election of officers with the following results:

Hon. Presidents — J. Ross Robertson, J. L. Hughes, W. P. Thompson, M. D., J. R. L. Starr, B.A., LL. B., and W. M. Govenlock, B.A.

President — H. J. Crawford, B.A., Toronto.

Secretary-Treasurer — D. Forsyth, B.A., Berlin.

Vice-Presidents—R. C. Cheswright, Walkerton, W. H. Grant, Toronto, C. McKinnon, Toronto, B. W. Collison, of Cornwall; Mr. Morden, B. A., Picton, Mr. Davidson, Norwood, J. C. Stuart, Windsor, S. H. Armstrong, B.A., Toronto, W. C. Kearns, Orangeville, H. R. H. Kenner, B.A., Peterborough.

The committee elected were: Match Committee—J. R. L. Starr, W. M. Govenlock and H. J. Sims.

Auditing Committee — T. T. Aitken, Galt and D. Brown, Berlin.

Protest Committee — Three neutral persons to be appointed by the president as occasion may arise.

Messrs. C. McKinnon, D. Forsyth and J. A. Jackson were appointed a committee to revise the constitution before the next annual meeting, which will be called some time early next fall by the president. It was decided to use the "Laws of the Game" as expounded by the W. F. A. for the championship matches this spring, but the Ontario League expects ultimately to have the revision of the rules entirely within its own power, so as to insure uniformity throughout the whole province in this respect. It is very probable that the Provincial championship in both the senior series and the intermediate series will be decided in July.

The football men had a splendid practice on the Nicholls Oval last night and are now in the pink of condition for their game with the Scots of Toronto on the afternoon of May 24th. Among those who were last night chasing the pig skin were Messrs. Captain McPherson, Morden, Kenner, McLeod, Simpson, Hal Burnham, Dorris, Andy Scott, Lee, Jack McDonald, Ayers, F. D. Kerr, Rolly McWilliams, Geo. Revell, Doughty and Ross Dobbin.

BASEBALL.

The local baseball team have closed arrangements with the Crawfords, of Toronto, for a game here on May 24th. The game will take place on the P.A.A.A. grounds at 3.30 p.m. and should be largely patronized. The Crawfords are a hustling aggregation and as the local men have been getting in some good practicing, the event should be exciting. Again, this is the first baseball match of the season.

Croup If all mothers only knew how good Griffiths' Menthol Liniment really is for Croup there would not be any anxiety at all when baby has Croup; no, not a bit. A few drops on sugar will relieve Croup in just a few minutes. It is pleasant to take, and wouldn't hurt if the baby swallowed a bottle full. Always keep a bottle handy.

CHANDOS WEDDING BELLS.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Miss Mary McPherson and Mr. Frederick Bullied.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Presbyterian Church May 8th, when Miss Mary McPherson, youngest daughter of John McPherson, of Clydesdale, was united in marriage to Mr. Frederick Bullied of Apsley.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Garbett, of Coe Hill Mines, the bride being given away by her father. Her bridesmaid was Miss M. N. Campbell, of Rochester, N.Y.

The groom was supported by Mr. Thomas Eastland of Apsley.

As the wedding couple entered the church Mrs. Remington played a wedding march.

After the ceremony was performed the trustees of the church, represented by Mr. Shearer, a Presbyterian student, read a beautiful address and presented the bride with a handsome arm chair as a token of esteem and appreciation of services rendered as organist of the church.

Afterwards the wedding party and a host of friends from Clydesdale and surrounding country repaired to the residence of the bride's father where a sumptuous wedding dinner was served.

The guests from out of town were Miss Agnes McPherson and Mr. Duncan McPherson, Malton; Miss Munsey, Toronto; Miss I. and Madge Campbell, Rochester, N.Y.,; Mrs. H. McCaskie, Belleville.

The bride was the recipient of a number of valuable presents.

While Mr. Fontaine was in his tent one of the members of the party was handling a revolver outside, which accidentally discharged, the bullet entering Fontaine's leg, just above the knee. BRITAIN AND CHINA.

Lords Lansdowne and Cranborne State the British Case.

THE JOINT GUARANTEED LOAN.

Government Unalterably Opposed to Raising the Import Duties to 10 Per Cent. and Thought It Would Be Nothing Short of Insanity to Agree to Guarantee the Loan Jointly.

London, May 22.—The Government was questioned in the House of Commons yesterday on the subject of the British tug Ewo incident at Tien Tsin, where two Chinese on board that vessel were fatally shot by Germans guarding a bridge after the tug had fouled it.

The Under Foreign Secretary, Lord Cranborne, in reply said Field Marshal Von Waldersee had expressed his regret, and had promised to take measures to prevent the recurrence of similar incidents.

Lord Cranborne proceeded to make a general statement on the China question, saying the Government's chief concern at present was to moderate the demands for indemnity, and see they did not infringe on commercial interests. The Government, therefore, was unalterably opposed to raising the import duties to 10 per cent. as security for the payment of the indemnity, and in reply to all such suggestions had signified that Great Britain would only consent to such a rise of duties in connection with commercial improvements in the Chinese financial situation, such as the abolition of the Likin taxes.

As to moderating the total indemnity, there were more ways than one of achieving that object, and China's burden might be perceptibly lightened by the method of exacting payment. In regard to the proposal that the indemnity be defrayed by a loan guaranteed by a concert of the powers, undoubtedly China's obligation to pay the indemnity was a joint obligation, and, though he hoped it would not be necessary, if such a loan should be guaranteed, it would have to be by the joint force of all the powers. The objection to a joint guarantee, however, was so obvious that the Government would have nothing to do with it. Considering that British credit stood higher than that of any other power, while Great Britain only claimed a small portion of the indemnity, it would be nothing short of insanity to agree to guarantee the loan jointly.

After mentioning that three high-placed delinquents had been executed, that three had been permitted to commit suicide, that four had been banished, and that the powers had demanded the punishment of 170 Provincial culprits, Lord Cranborne concluded with saying that on the whole the affairs of China were entering on a more pacific phase, and that the Government hoped to soon withdraw a large portion of the British troops from that country.

Lord Lansdowne, the Foreign Secretary, made a statement in the House of Lords similar to the statement made by Lord Cranborne in the House of Commons.

Kaigan Arsenal Explosion.

Berlin, May 22.—A despatch from Field Marshal Von Waldersee, dated Pekin, May 19, says 200 Chinese were killed or wounded as the result of the Kaigan arsenal explosion, May 15, when Lieut. Kummer of the German army and several German soldiers were wounded.

The Boxer movement south of Pao Ting Fu is apparently being speedily quelled by General Bailloud, the French commander.

EMPLOYERS YIELDING.

An Early Settlement of the 9-Hour Day Trouble Likely to Be Effected Between Employers and Men.

Washington, May 22.—President O'Connell said yesterday that advices received up to 6 o'clock at headquarters here indicated that an early settlement of the trouble between the machinists and employers will be effected. Information at hand showed that during the day over 120 firms had settled by granting the nine-hour day.

Mr. O'Connell said that so far as he knew about 6,000 men are out in San Francisco and about 3,000 in Cincinnati. In Chicago nearly all the important shops have settled with the men.

Both the navy and war departments are apprehensive as to the effects of the machinists strike on Government work now in progress. The navy department received word that the strike had spread to large private yards on the Pacific Coast where a number of war vessels are under construction, and it is expected that eastern yards having naval ships to build also will be affected.

Kingston Strike Settled.

Kingston, May 22.—The locomotive works strike was settled at noon yesterday. The company has offered $1.20 per day to 26 men. This rate has been advanced to $1.25 per day, the company having the right to dismiss those they do not think can earn that amount. All the other terms were acceptable. Work will be resumed shortly.

Ottawa Machinists Still Out.

Ottawa, May 22.—The machinists are still on strike at Ottawa and there does not appear to be much prospect of a settlement.

Tied Up the Colliery.

Shamokin, Pa., May 22.—Three hundred men and boys tied up the Corbin Colliery yesterday by striking for the enforcement of the semi-monthly pay law.

EVIDENCE EXCLUDED.

A Gain For the Defence in the Parkdale Bank Robbery Trial—Chief Twiss' Evidence Ruled Out.

Toronto, May 22.—The first witness called yesterday morning in the trial of Rice, Rutledge and Jones, the men accused of breaking into the Standard Bank in Parkdale a year ago, was Miss Cavanaugh, who was in the employ of Rutledge's sister-in-law at the restaurant at 488 Yonge street. She identified the prisoners, saying that they lived at the house for two weeks previous to May 24.

Miss Teaky, who was also employed at the restaurant, said that three or four days after the men left Mrs. Rutledge took their grips away.

His Honor decided not to admit the evidence of Chief Twiss.

At the afternoon session Crown Attorney Dewart tendered the evidence of 20 witnesses which the court ruled out in the morning, so that the rights of the Crown may be preserved.

A despatch from St. Paul, Minn., states that the officials of the Lake and Rail lines have adopted a rate of 19½ cents on flour, both export and domestic.

Plans are being made by the officers of the Pere Marquet line of Milwaukee, Wis., to furnish all the vessels of that line, seven in number, with a system of wireless telegraphy, to enable communication with vessels while on the lake.

T. W. Gibson says the Ontario mining exhibit at the Pan-American Exposition is very attractive. The display is surmounted by a figure representing Canada. The figure stands on a shaft of huge graphite rocks, from the Black Donald claim, Renfrew County.

Hon. E. J. Davis says that if the Temiscaming excursion on May 28 proves successful the department will arrange for similar excursions to other parts of New Ontario. He states that the Ontario and Rainy River Railway is likely to be completed this year, which will stimulate settlement in the Rainy River District. An average of 60 letters of enquiry by intending settlers are received daily by the colonization department.

THE BILL WITHDRAWN

Provincial Charter For the Crow's Nest Southern Railway.

THE LEAD REFINING BOUNTY.

Resolution Passed by the House—Toronto Harbor Not to Get More Money Unless City Disposes of Its Sewage—Shipbuilding in Canada — Purchase of Plains of Abraham.

Ottawa, May 22.—At the opening of the House yesterday morning Mr. Davis (Saskatchewan) moved that the order for the third reading of the bill to incorporate the Crow's Nest Southern Railway Company be discharged, and that the fees be remitted.

Mr. Maclean asked that the reason for the withdrawal of the bill be given.

Mr. Davis replied that the promoters of the bill simply desired to withdraw it.

Mr. Maclean said that the company had come before the House and asked for the measure. There had been a great deal of discussion in the country in reference to the matter, and the House was entitled to a short explanation as to the reasons for its withdrawal.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that when the bill was before the Committee on Railways it was understood by the promoters that they were to sign a certain agreement which was then in possession of the Railway Committee. This agreement has not been signed, therefore the Government could not agree to the passing of the bill, and the promoters have withdrawn it. He understood that a charter had been given to the same company by the Legislature of British Columbia, but as the Government has not yet received a copy of that charter he could not make any statement upon the matter.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Monk stated that he had been informed by the Secretary of State that a petition had been received for the disallowance of the Quebec election law passed last session, and urged that the petition be at once forwarded to the Department of Justice, as there were only six months in which to disallow the bill.

The bill respecting the Ottawa branch of the Royal Mint was put through its final stages. In reply to questions, Mr. Fielding said that the officials of the mint would be nominated by the authorities of the Royal Mint, but he had no doubt representations by the Canadian Government would receive consideration. The salaries of the chief officers of other branches were from £600 to £700. With respect to the denomination of the coins minted, his impression was that the Canadian Government could designate the denominations without coming to Parliament. At present the Royal Mint takes the bullion from Canada at actual cost and makes a charge for coining it, so that whatever profit there may be in the transaction will pass to our Government.

The report of the committee upon the resolution increasing the sessional indemnity was received, and a bill founded upon it was introduced and given a first reading.

Lead Refining Bounty.

Mr. Fielding moved the House into committee upon his resolution granting a bounty to encourage the refining of lead in Canada. He said that about 1895 a law was passed to encourage the smelting of silver-lead ores to the extent of $150,000 a year, but it had ceased to operate. Under that act several smelters were established, and two are at present in existence, one at Nelson and the other at Trail, and there was a fair development until the United States' duty was imposed. Recent events in the United States had placed the Canadian industry at such a great disadvantage that it was doubtful whether it could continue in Canada at all. The lead companies of the United States have been consolidated with a capital of $60,000,000, and it is reported recently that several copper companies of the United States have come in, and that the united companies are working together. Hitherto we have been able to sell our ores or the bullion to the smelters in the United States, but of late the American people have taken it into their heads not to deal with the Canadian mine very fairly. They have an advantage in that if they export 90 per cent. of the foreign ores they refine they are allowed to retain the other 10 per cent. free of duty. Lately they have declined to purchase our ores, which excludes them from the highest market in the world. They will undertake to receive bullion from the smelters and treat it in their refineries, but they will only do so at a very large advance on the cost of treatment, so that by this means the business is being concentrated in the United States. The Government thinks it worth a trial to endeavor to establish the industry in Canada upon a permanent basis, by doing for the refinery business what was done for the smelting industry a few years ago, by giving a moderate bounty for a reasonable period, so that we will have within our own borders all the processes of manufacture from the mines until the finished product is produced upon the market. The refining process is expensive and the enterprise requires a large capital. The Government has decided to give the bounty upon a sliding scale, which is believed to be sufficient to secure the establishment of the industry. It is upon the basis of $5 per ton for the first year, reducing $1 each year, until in the sixth year it ceases. The total bonus to be granted for any one year is $100,000, which amount remains stationary. By this means an encouragement is given to a greater output each year in order to earn the full bonus.

Mr. Borden asked as to the value to the United States refineries of the protection given them by being allowed to export 90 per cent. of the output refined.

Mr. Fielding said the total value of the silver-lead output of Canada from 1888 to 1900 was $20,000,000, but last year the value was $5,000,000.

Mr. W. F. Maclean said he interpreted the bounties as a conversion of the Liberal party to the principle of protection.

Mr. Bourassa advocated a bounty for the phosphate industry, which he said had also suffered from American competition. It needed encouragement as much as the lead industry.

Dr. Sproule approved the bounties, but he condemned the Government for refusing aid to the beet root sugar industry.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said everybody wanted a bonus. For himself, while not objecting to this resolution, he pointed out that the conditions with respect to the phosphate industry were not parallel, but that a bounty upon silver-lead was necessary, because of unfair legislation upon the part of the United States, which placed the Canadian silver-lead industry at a disadvantage. The phosphate industry of Canada had been killed by the discovery of vegetable phosphates in Algeria and Florida, which can be produced much cheaper than in Canada. He had been approached frequently upon the subject, but had never yet been able to obtain a calculation as to the relative cost of production in Florida and in Canada, without which the Government would not be justified in considering the proposition.

Mr. Oliver followed in advocacy of the bonus.

After some further debate the resolution passed, and a bill based thereon was introduced.

The House then passed into Committee of Supply.

The votes for Ontario harbors and rivers were then taken up, aggregating $462,000.

Canada Can Build Steel Ships.

Discussion of steamship subsidies and incidental talk of the fast Atlantic service in supply led to an important debate on the possibilities of steel shipbuilding in Canada. Mr. W. F. Maclean brought the matter up and pointed out the advantages possessed in Canada for the establishment of that important industry. He suggested that the Government might offer to some British firm the contract for constructing the fast Atlantic steamships, with the incentive of a bonus for their construction in Canada. By this means he thought one of the large shipbuilding concerns in Britain might be induced to bring their plant and equipment to this country.

Sir Richard Cartwright discussed the proposal critically, and closed as follows: "I do not desire to throw cold water on any proposition for constructing steamships of the largest capacity and best description on this side, if it can be done, and there is reasonable hope that the work now being started at Sydney will ultimately be so developed, as to bring this within the range of reasonable possibility."

Mr. Maclean followed with a long argument in favor of his suggestion, closing his speech in these words: "All we require is confidence in ourselves, and if we announce a policy of assisting the establishment of such an industry, I have no doubt that some of the great shipbuilding firms will take advantage of our offer."

The Finance Minister agreed most heartily, he said, with all that had been said as to the desirability of our using this great contract, if one was to be made, as an instrument in assisting the establishment of a great shipbuilding industry in this country; "but," continued Mr. Fielding, "while no formal negotiations have taken place, which can be submitted to Parliament, I have taken pains to see that the great shipbuilding companies in the Old Country have been communicated with on the subject. Intimation has been given them that if any one of them would approach the Government with a proposal, they would find the Government ready to give every possible consideration to it."

After short speeches of a favorable nature by Messrs. R. L. Borden and Blair, the discussion closed.

In answer to Mr. Clarke, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the Government had come to no decision about aiding Capt. Bernier in his polar expedition.

In reply to Mr. Haggart, Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that there was no truth in the statement that Canada had withdrawn her objection to the Bond-Blaine treaty, which was negotiated between Newfoundland and the United States ten years ago.

Mr. Tarte made a statement, in supply, of his plans in regard to the Toronto Harbor improvements. He said the harbor was being filled with silt from the Don and the city sewage, 14 miles of city sewers emptying into the harbor. Cribwork would be built to turn the silt from the Don into Ashbridge's Bay, which, it was reckoned, would thus fill up in about ten years. He agreed with Mr. Osler that the $20,000 in the estimates was small, but, until the city found another outlet for the sewerage, no more money would be spent. $1,200,800 had already been spent on Toronto harbor.

The item appropriating $80,000 for the purchase of the Plains of Abraham was passed. The historic battle ground is to remain a national property, and to be made a public park.

Powley's Liquified Ozone Saves the Life of Mrs. Sampson's Baby.

"I had given up hope of raising my darling, but through Ozone she is healthy."—MRS. SAMPSON, 391 Church St., Toronto.

"My baby was nearly a skeleton from indigestion, and I could not get anything to stay on her stomach, and I had given up hope of raising my darling, when by merest chance I was advised to try Powley's Liquified Ozone. I had not given her the Ozone for two days when all vomiting ceased, and in one month I scarcely knew my child, so great was the change. It is now two months since I first started giving her the Ozone, and her picture is proof of the work it has done. Mothers who desire their babies to live would profit by giving them Ozone. Any mother wishing to verify this can do so by calling or writing to my address, 391 Church street, Toronto, and find living proof.

(Signed), MADAME SAMPSON-LIVINSKI, 391 Church Street, Toronto."

You should be so careful of your child's health. You can easily make or mar its future happiness. Don't give drugs or medicines when the little one is sick. They are not the natural way to treat disease. Their action is to either stunt or deform. Now Nature's health-giving element is oxygen. There's not much oxygen in the city air—too many factories belching up carbonic acid gas for that, so you will have to resort to artificial oxygen. This you will get in Powley's Liquified Ozone—the new system of curing disease.

STILL IN MOURNING.

Consequently Ceremonial Military Displays Are Barred

IN CANADA ON VICTORIA DAY.

The King's Command Rules in This Matter—Regulations Announced for the Summer Camps—Order Concerning Vaccination of Militia Units for Camps—Sham Fight at New Hamburg, May 24.

Ottawa, May 22.—Militia orders contain the following:

1. District officers commanding, and commanding officers of units, are reminded that by the King's command all the militia forces of the Empire are still in deep mourning for Her Late Gracious Majesty, Queen Victoria, and that such mourning does not expire until July 24. In these circumstances ceremonial displays, such as salutes, feu-de-joie, trooping the colors, reviews, and other military exercises, except such as are for tactical instruction or for rifle practice, would be an act of serious disrespect to the memory of our late beloved Sovereign.

2. During the summer camps, officers commanding units are authorized to use their discretion in permitting their officers, non-commissioned officers and men, when on regimental parades, to take off their serge frocks while at drill, if the weather is very warm, but it is to be distinctly understood that at one of the drills daily, every officer and man must parade for inspection, properly dressed and equipped. On brigade parades this discretionary power is vested in the brigadier. Non-commissioned officers and men are not, upon any pretense, to be required to provide themselves with any special shirts or other articles of clothing at their own expense, nor are such to be issued to them on repayment, while helmets are to be invariably worn on hot days by all corps that have them in their possession. This order cancels all local district orders.

Following is the result of the examinations of officers of the active militia under instruction at the Royal Military College, Kingston:

6. Owing to the existence of smallpox in certain parts of the Dominion, none but individuals who have good vaccination marks, or who can show evidence of having had smallpox, will be permitted to come into or remain in camp. A strict medical inspection will be held on arrival of corps in camp. Officers commanding units will be held accountable for the return to their homes of individuals found unvaccinated.

Sham Fight Allowable.

New Hamburg, Ont., May 22. — From the daily press reports yesterday the local militia was in doubt as to whether a sham fight on May 24, for which they had made extensive arrangements, would be allowed, but, upon inquiry of the authorities at Ottawa by wire, word was received that all parades, including tactical exercises for instructional purposes, were permissible. Therefore, the proposed sham fight will be carried out.

Not Quite the Same.

A queer sentence closes the inscription on a tombstone in a churchyard in Leigh, England. After announcing the name and other particulars of the woman there buried, these words follow: "A virtuous woman is worth 5s. to her husband." The explanation is that space prevented "a crown" being cut in full, and the stone cutter argued that a crown equals 5s.

EDWARD VII ALMOST KILLED

Was On Shamrock II When Struck By a Squall

The Yacht's Topmast and Main Mast Were Carried Away and She Was Almost Wrecked.

(Special to The Examiner.)

London, May 22.

During the race between the II Shamrock and the Syabrite, in the Solent, to-day, a sudden squall struck the yachts. The top mast of the Shamrock II was carried away and then her main mast went by the board, carrying all her sails with it and leaving her practically a wreck. The top sail of the Shamrock I was also carried away by the squall. No one was injured on board the yachts.

The disaster was witnessed by King Edward, who was the guest of Sir Thomas Lipton, on board the Erin at the time.

It now appears that King Edward was on Shamrock II when she was struck by the squall. His Majesty had a narrow escape from death by being carried away by the wreckage.

TOMMY ATKINS MARCHED.

The Weekly Parade of the 57th Regiment.

Companies Put Through the March Past —The Orders for the Week.

The 57th Regiment had an excellent parade last night, and the spectators numbered several thousand. The streets were packed with men, women and children, who looked proudly on as Tommy Atkins marched past. The Regiment, in command of Lieut.-Colonel E. B. Edwards, and headed by the band, marched down George street to Charlotte street, east on Charlotte to Water street, north on Water street to McDonel, and then over to George street. The band took up its position to the front of Central Park, and the Regiment went through the march past two or three times. They were then put through regimental manoeuvres two or three times.

The following orders were read:

Headquarters, Peterborough, May 21, 1901.

Orders by Lieut.-Colonel E. B. Edwards, Commanding 57th Regiment, P.R.:

No. 1. The following extracts from General Orders are promulgated for the information of the Regiment: 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, Capt. H. Ritchie is transferred to the reserve of officers. To be Captain, Lieut. R. T. Hounsell vice H. Ritchie, transferred.

Attention is called to the following Militia Order: District officers commanding and commanding officers of units are reminded that by the King's command all the military forces of the Empire are still in deep mourning for her late Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, and that such mourning does not expire until July 24th. In these circumstances, ceremonial displays, such as salutes, feu-de-joie, trooping the colours, reviews, and other military exercises, except such as are for tactical instruction or for rifle practice, would be an act of serious disrespect to the memory of our late beloved Sovereign.

No. 3. In accordance with the above order the parade of the Regiment called for Victoria Day, May 24th, is hereby cancelled.

No. 4. Detail of duty for week ending May 28th, Captain for the week, Captain Clegg; next for duty, Captain Bennet. Subaltern for the week, 2nd Lt. VanEvery; next for duty, 2nd Lt. Lt. Complin.

No. 6. Leave of absence from parade is granted to Lt. Matthews.

No. 7. The Regiment will parade with both bands in review order on Sunday, May 26, at 4.05 p.m., for the purpose of attending divine service. The parade will leave the drill shed at 4.15 p.m.

No. 8. All recruits will attend six drills before being dismissed from the recruit class which is being conducted by the Sergt.-Major each Thursday evening in the drill shed.

No. 9. The following instructions are issued regarding Morris Tube practices. 1. The tube must be examined and cleaned after firing fifteen rounds. 2. Care must be taken to see that each bullet has left the barrel after firing. Neglecting to do this may jam the tube. 3. N.C.O's and men should see that each shot is marked before placing another cartridge in the tube. 4. After firing is completed tubes will be cleaned by squads using them.

GORED BY A BULL

William Hope, of Villiers, Received Fatal Injuries and Died Yesterday.

Mr. Richard Hope, of Otonabee, was in town to-day and gave the following particulars concerning the violent death with which his brother William met yesterday morning.

It seems that Mr. Hope was attempting to lead a cross bull from a box-stall in which it was running loose, and neglected to take a pitch fork with him, as was usually done. The bull apparently noticed that the old gentleman had no weapon, as it turned on him as soon as he attempted to lead it out, and throwing him down, gored him frightfully with its horns. A young lad who was with Mr. Hope, bravely entered the stall, drove the bull away and recused him. Though rescued almost immediately, Mr. Hope sank rapidly and expired shortly afterwards, the sharp horns of the bull having been used too effectually to allow of any hopes being entertained of his recovery.

The deceased was seventy-nine years of age and has been a widower for the past twenty years. He leaves two sons and a daughter. He was a son of the late John Hope and was born on the old homestead on which he resided at the time of his death. The surviving brothers and sisters are Thomas and Robert, of Otonabee; Mrs. Short, Alfandale; John, Otonabee; George, Minden; Mrs. West, Oregon; Richard, Otonabee and Mrs. Bateson, of Minden.

The funeral will take place on Thursday at two p.m. from the family residence Lot 20, 3rd Concession, Otonabee.

CHEAP PAVEMENTS.

Peterborough has Reason to be Proud of the Walks.

Ratepayers who think that Peterborough is paying too much for the granolithic pavements should see the result of some of the cheap work which Lindsay has been experimenting in. Mr. P. G. Pinkie, writing to the Lindsay Post in reference to it speaks as follows :—"There is a great many very weak spots in the Kent street walk ; you can break the finish coat with little exertion, and you will find it hollow—the foundation sunk away because of imperfect construction. As to the walks on York, Peel and William streets, constructed by the council on the cheap plan—that is, without cement, when they had to be patched within eight months after their construction, it is not unlikely that the whole section mentioned will have to be shovelled out within three years' time and replaced with patchwork. The majority is ready to go out now, as you can kick the concrete out with your shoes, once the top crust is broken. That shows the absence of cement. When men tell us that No. 1 granolithic walks can be built at 10c and 12c per square foot, they intend to scamp the job or steal their cement. As cement is the prime factor in constructing granolithic, at $2.60 per barrel, it requires 10c per foot for cement alone to make a good job, and any work done with less cement, is not first class."

Easy and agreeable way of handsomely supplementing your income. Send 10 cents for particulars. Full value guaranteed. Write at once. J. H. Spicer, 221 Commissioners street Montreal Post Office. Mention this paper. 2d118

Miss Maud Browne arrived home last night after a three month's absence in Toronto, where she has been taking private lessons on the organ. She will resume her classes in harmony, theory and piano after May 27th.

Lindsay Post.—"Mr. T. E. Bradburn and Mr. Kingan, of Peterborough, were in town yesterday evening for a few hours. They were on their way back from a two weeks' trout fishing trip in Bancroft vicinity, and while they were too modest to give the number of their catch, or the exact weight of the largest trout, the trainmen say they had phenomenal luck. A number of Mr. Bradburn's old friends met him at the Benson House, and had a pleasant hour chatting over old times when 'Evy' was one of our most popular citizens."

PETERBOROUGH CHEESE BOARD.

First Sale of the Season Held Held This Morning.

PRES. DRUMMOND'S REMARKS

Reference Made to the Death of William Cluxton and W. J. Young—Other Matters Concerning the Board.

The first meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board for the season, was held this morning with a large attendance of salesmen. The following buyers were present : Messrs. Wrighton, Whitton, Fitzgerald, Kerr, Squire, Moore, Rollins and Bailey. Eight and a half cents was the ruling price.

Before the bidding began Mr. Drummond, President of the Board, welcomed the members back after the winter months, and regretted the absence of two familiar faces, viz., Messrs. Wm. Cluxton and W. J. Young. Mr. Cluxton had been one of the best members the Board ever possessed, and one of its best friends. He was always anxious to keep the members in the right path. Peterborough had the name of having one of the best boards in the country, and Mr. Cluxton was anxious to see this good reputation sustained. Mr. Flavelle had once said of Warren Taylor of Douro, that he was not only honest but wanted to see everyone else the same ; so it was with Mr. Cluxton. He was straightforward in his dealings, and he wanted to see all the members of the Board straightforward. Of the late Mr. Young, the speaker could say that he was one of the best salesmen who had attended the Board. He could always be counted on for straightforward dealings, and was one of those men who was willing at all times to give and take a little in his business transactions.

Turning his attention to the business before the Board, the President mentioned the fact that at Cowansville, the Board had passed a resolution calling upon all buyers to furnish letters of credit for the amount of their purchase. This was a business way of doing business, and it was for the salesmen to say whether the Peterborough Board should pass a similar resolution. Another matter which he wished to bring to the attention of the Board was the fact that the Town Council had kindly ordered a new set of scales for the weighing of cheese, when it was pointed out to the members that the present ones were inaccurate.

In conclusion Mr. Drummond, on behalf of the buyers, heartily thanked the Ontario Bank for furnishing pass books containing a list of the factories, to be used at the meetings of the Board for recording the sales.

The factories boarded as follows :

Keene	80
Warminster	83
Shearer	80
Central Smith	100
North Smith	79
Villiers	60
Warsaw	79
Westwood	100
Oakdale	75

Trewern	70
Bensfort	50
Stony Lake	32
Cavanville	90
Norwood	92
Oakleaf	20
Darlington Union	45
Buckley	35
Shamrock	36

The bidding was opened by Mr. Whitton at 8 cents. Mr. Wrighton went 1-16 better, and the bids then came in as follows: Mr. Rollins, 8 1-8; Mr. Fitzgerald, 8 1-4; Mr. Bailey, 8 5-16; Mr. Fitzgerald, 8 3-8; Mr. Bailey, 8 7-16; Mr. Fitzgerald, 8 1-2. There being no other offers Mr. Fitzgerald called Central Smith, Westwood, Fraserville, Villiers, Keene, Lakefield and Trewern. All accepted.

Mr. Bailey at 8 1-2 took Shearer, Oakdale, Daisy D., Peterborough, Melrose Abbey, Otonabee Union, Lang, Norwood, Bensfort and Cavanville.

At 8 1-2 Mr. Kerr took Pine Grove, North Smith, Warsaw, Maple Leaf, Young's Point, North Dummer, Indian River, Myrtle and East Emily.

Warminster refused, but accepted 8 9-16.

Mr. Bailey offered 8 7-16 for further selections. He called Oakleaf and Shamrock ; both accepted. Darlington Union refused 8 3-8.

The Board then adjourned for two weeks.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

BASEBALL.

The Baseball Team had an excellent practice last night, there being upwards of 18 men on the diamond. Kehoe, the new man in the box, was in splendid form, while veteran Dan is rounding into first class shape.

It is most likely that Andy Scott will be unable to play on Friday, as he is booked to play Association football. Kehoe will likely take his place.

The game on Friday commences at 3.30 sharp, and as the Toronto aggregation have a good reputation the game should be well worth seeing.

THE Doctor's Advice

Led Mr. W. F. Leflar, of Williamsford Ont., to Use Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills.

More money is spent every year for medicines for these diseases than would buy out half-a-dozen millionares. And yet there is a cure, simple sure, permanent ;one that costs little and produces an effect that is absolutely unparalled in the history of medicine. The medicine is known through the English speaking world as Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills for weak people. It has the effect of permanently cleansing the system of disease, and it has this effect by killing the germs that cause the disease. Besides killing the germs of disease, it counteracts the poisons (toxins) they create in the blood, it braces the nerves, purifies the blood, and revitalizes the whole system. Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills are prescribed by many of the most successful physicians in their private practice.

Here is a case that shows the power of this wonderful medicine over nervous and wasting diseases :—

"I suffered for months with nervousness and general debility. I was utterly miserable, unable to sleep, and continually in the most depressed spirits. My nerves were twitchy. I had splitting headaches, and was as weak as a child. My family physician, Dr. ———, advised me to use Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills. I bought and used three large boxes, which, I am happy to state, cured me completely. I am now hale and hearty, strong and vigorous, sound in every muscle, nerve and limb, thanks to Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills."

W. F. LEFLAR, Merchant.
Williamsport, Ont.

Dr. Arnold's Toxin Pills, the only remedy on earth that cures disease by killing the germs that cause it are sold by all druggists at 75c. a box, sample size 25c. or sent prepaid on receipt of price, by the Arnold Chemical Co., Limited, Canada Life Building, 44 King street West, Toronto. Booklet sent free. For Sale by J. Nugent, Peterborough.

ALL-BRITISH CABLE.

THE GREAT PROJECT OF YEARS IS NOW IN TANGIBLE SHAPE.

IT WILL GIRDLE THE WORLD.

Contractors Must Assume Serious Risks—The Cost Will Be $10,000,000—How the Burden Is to Be Distributed Among the Contributories—Serious Obstacles Were Overcome—May Be Self-Supporting.

After many dangerous delays, and after having overcome almost insuperable obstacles during the past fourteen years since the enterprise first assumed tangible shape, the promoters of the all-British Pacific cable at last have come to see the realization of their great project.

Although it is a comparatively old project, and often suggested since the confederation of the Dominion and the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the agitation for and the completion of it, nevertheless, has largely been the work of the eminent Canadian engineer, Sir Sandford Fleming. That the final consummation of this cable project is now assured is owing, almost wholly, to Canada, which has been foremost in this as in many other Imperial projects.

The bill providing for Canada's share in the financial obligations for the construction of the cable has been passed without opposition in the Dominion Parliament. Details of the contract, which has been let, give some idea of the vastness of the undertaking and its comparatively small cost.

Will Cost $10,000,000.

It is estimated that its total cost, covering all incidentals, will approximate $10,000,000. This sum will be loaned by the Imperial Government and of which Canada guarantees five-eighteenths, the United Kingdom five-eighteenths, and the Australasian colonies the balance.

The cable will be constructed and laid over a total distance of 7,986 nautical miles. The undertaking is a very big one for the contractors, and not without serious risks, as the lengths of submerged cable will be laid over greater distances and at greater depths of ocean than ever before attempted. Moreover, the cable will skirt a sea region in which earthquakes are frequent and very violent.

The cable will connect at a point in British Columbia with the Canadian Pacific telegraph system, which will do its business across the continent, and the Commercial Cable Company, which has all-British cables across the Atlantic, will transmit the messages from Canada to Britain. Thus a wire girdle, with all its points of connection upon British soil, will soon circle the world.

Serious Obstacles Overcome.

It was a wise determination which made this cable a state enterprise, that some of the Australian governments might succeed in their efforts. Fears were at one time entertained to make connection with the Eastern Extension Company's cable system, and in that way alter the basis of the whole Pacific cable scheme. The Eastern Extension has always been the main impediment to the earlier carrying out of the all-British Pacific cable. These fears, however, have all been set at rest, and nothing seems likely to hereafter retard the successful progress of the operations now being put in motion.

To insure the ultimate and permanent success to this cable project the Postmaster-General of Canada, who is now on his way to Australia, favors the expansion of state-owned cable system by the construction of a government cable between Canada and Great Britain; also the acquisition of the line from Australia via Singapore and Hong Kong.

May Be Self-Supporting.

The Parliamentary committee, which investigated the Pacific cable question four years ago, anticipated that the undertaking would require no financial assistance from the governments interested after it had been in operation for three or four years. But, in the meantime, Britain and her Canadian and Australian dependencies believe that the commercial and imperial advantages that will accrue from the operation of this great enterprise will more than compensate for any expenditures for which they may become responsible.

The landing place for the cable in this country has been recently selected on the west coast of Vancouver Island, British Columbia, and the engineer in charge of the construction work has sailed for Australia to select suitable landing places there and in New Zealand. The manufacture of the cable will be commenced very soon.

The first expedition in connection with the laying of it is expected to leave the Thames in January, 1902. This expedition will carry out the laying of sections from Queensland to Norfolk Island, to New Zealand, and Norfolk Island to Fiji Islands. The second expedition will leave about August, 1902, and will lay the stretch of cable from Vancouver to Fanning Island and Fiji. This latter long length of cable, 5,884.5 nautical miles, will be transported and laid by one ship, which is now being specially built for the purpose, and will be the largest cable ship ever launched. The contractors undertake that the whole of the cable shall be laid and working by December, 1902.

A Voice from Collins Bay.

MR. WM. TAIT.

Up early and out in all weathers in pursuance of his daily work, a farmer, of all men, needs a strong and sound constitution, and is least likely to bear with patience the inroads of disease. Mr. Wm. Tait, farmer, Collins' Bay, Ont., was afflicted with scaitic rheumatism in December last. He suffered excruciating pain, and for ten days he tossed on a bed of agony. He tried Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure, and the effect was magical. His pains left him after several doses had been taken, and now Mr. Tait says: "I would strongly urge anyone suffering with rheumatism to use Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure, and I will guarantee the best results."

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

ALONG THE STRAND.

Some Notable Changes in London's Historic Old Street.

Canadians visiting London the coming summer will notice the great changes in the Strand. The old buildings are rapidly disappearing. It may not be known to many who cross the Strand opposite Somerset House that they are actually walking over the site of a famous maypole, one that stood in front of St. Mary's Church, and found patronage from the well-to-do people who then resided in the immediate neighborhood.

Covent Gardens was at one time covered with domiciles for some of the richest and cleverest people in town. Amongst buildings that have disappeared in the process of reconstructing the Strand there is the old Red Lion Tavern. It was a resort for Bohemians—many of whom were in a chronic state of impecuniosity—and, as admirers of the late T. W. Robertson's plays will remember, was utilized as the scene for some very instructive lessons in the art of borrowing half-crowns.

The Hopo Tavern, in Blackmore street, has gone, and, like the old curiosity shop, the graveyard frequented by Lady Deadlock, and so many other places dear to the readers of Dickens, we shall have nothing but a name to remember the old hostelry by. Four theatres will have to come down—two are now partly demolished—to make way for the new street.—London Correspondence Toronto Telegram.

STOMACH TROUBLES.

Few People Ever Escape—Reason Why Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are so Highly Spoken of—Mrs. Eliza Brown's Letter.

Mrs. Eliza Brown, Metcalf street, Strathroy, is one of the vast legion who have found for themselves that Dyspepsia and Stomach troubles must not be trifled with.

The health of the stomach means in all ordinary cases the health of the whole body; the ill-health of that important organ means nothing short of Dyspepsia.

Those who have suffered it do not need to be told what a blight on life Dyspepsia is, and it is to be hoped those who haven't never will.

Now, Mrs. Eliza Brown, of Strathroy, who recommends Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets so highly, for a long time didn't think heartburn after eating, and pain in the chest, anything more than a mere annoyance of no particular importance. She complained of the unpleasantness and inconvenience, but the full meaning as to what these symptoms were was not borne upon her until she felt her general health beginning to suffer.

She began to lose spirits and energy; a feeling of heaviness grew upon hr. Her tongue became coated, she grew pale, nervous and found her daily duties an almost insupportable burden. She had neglected the first warnings of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Pain after eating, sure signs that the stomach is failing and digestion is not going on perfectly.

"I could not get any relief," writes Mrs. Brown. "I didn't know what to do. I was in misery. I heard of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and got a box at Mr. Dyas' drug store to try.

"How delighted I was when I found the very first Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablet I took stopped the heartburn and sour gas that had tormented me so long. I kept on using them regularly after every meal. The distress after eating immediately disappeared and gradually my health improved.

"My digestion is now perfect, my rest sound, and I feel strong and bright.

I am no longer taking the Tablets, for I no longer need them. But I will always own up to the fact that if it hadn't been for Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets I would have been a sickly, sallowfaced woman the rest of my life."

THE WEALTH OF AUSTRALIA

INTERESTING FACTS AND FIGURES ABOUT OUR SISTER COLONY.

ONE-FOURTH OF WORLD'S WOOL

Enormous Output of Canned Mutton for Sale Abroad—The Products of the Mines—Gold and Silver Output—Other Mineral Possibilities—Some Confirmation About Her Natural Resources.

A writer in Ainslee's Magazine furnishes some interesting facts concerning the newly-established Commonwealth of Australia:

Forty years ago the output of wool in Australia amounted to 8,000,000 pounds. Now, with a record of 700,000,000 pounds, Australia furnishes one-fourth of the world's wool, and of such a quality as to make it one-third of the total value. It is recorded that the early colonist used to kill their sheep for the fleece and tallow, leaving the meat for the dogs. Later they began to export canned mutton to the home country, but when cold storage was introduced Australia began her shipments of frozen mutton, which have grown amazingly, until in 1900 these exports amounted to 225,000,000 pounds. Meanwhile, her shipments of tinned meats steadily advanced, reaching last year 45,000,000 pounds. Because of the war in the Transvaal and an immense mining development in West Australia, the new federation in 1899, with $60,000,000 output, led the world in product of gold. By constant gains her silver product has come to equal one-ninth of the world's supply. For the past year her total mineral output amounted to nearly $100,000,000, or $25 to every inhabitant. Her mineral possibilities in copper, tin, lead, antimony, iron, quicksilver and coal cannot be overestimated. As a result of her astonishing fertility Australia shipping has reached the total of 20,000,000 tons. Her first railway—that from Sydney to Parramatta—was opened in 1855. It was only fourteen miles in length. Today she owns 15,000 miles of railways. A curious light on her prosperity is the fact that she has a million items in her daily mail, in proportion to her population the highest average in the world. What is more remarkable is that this colossal national wealth has been built up by only 4,000,000 people. As a consequence, average individual wealth in Australia is the highest in the world. Turn to the picture of Australia as she is to-day. The land in size is nearly five-sixths the area of Canada, containing 2,973,000 square miles. Of her 4,000,000 inhabitants, only 200,000 are aborigines. Two-thirds of the Australian continent is a desert, and yet her productiveness is enormous. This land contains over 100,000,000 sheep, between 30,000,000 and 35,000,000 head of cattle and horses. It has given to the commerce of the world over £400,000,000 in gold, copper, coal and tin. The two Provinces of Ballarat and Bendigo alone have produced £100,000,000 of gold, and as much more has come from the great Tambaroora and Lambing Flat in New South Wales. It sends to England annually over £40,000,000 worth of metals, grains, wool, beef, tallow, hides and mutton.

All Eyes on Texas.

Great is Texas. Her vast cotton crops and marvellous oil discoveries amaze the world. Now follows the startling statement of the wonderful work at Cisco, Tex. of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. "My wife contracted a severe lung trouble," writes editor J. J. Eager, "which caused a most obstinate cough and finally resulted in profuse hemorrhages, but she has been completely cured by Dr. King's New Discovery." It's positively guaranteed for coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles. 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Jas. Lynch's Drug Store.

Parson's Plucky Offer.

Rev. Richard Free, one of the most popular of the East End clergy, wants a little cash to supplement the energy of his flock, and he has made the following spirited offer in The Tropical Times:

"If any West End church will pay us for our work, and allow the payment to go to our little church of St. Cuthbert here in Millwall we will give them a thorough spring cleaning.

"I have thirty men, women and boys and girls who will scrub, sweep, dust and polish to their own hearts' content and that of their wealthier friends in the common faith, and will do it gladly for the sake of their little church.

"And I believe, with the experience I have acquired, I can now beeswax and polish a floor or varnish chairs with anybody, and my wife is A1 at painting and decoration."—London Daily Mail.

Sustaining Power of Ice.

Two-inch ice will sustain a man or properly spaced infantry; four-inch ice will carry a man on horseback, or cavalry, or light guns; six-inch ice, heavy field guns, such as 80-pounders; eight-inch ice, a battery of artillery, with carriages and horses, but not over 1,000 pounds per square foot on sledges, and ten-inch ice sustains an army or an innumerable multitude. On 15-inch ice a railway could be built, and two-foot thick ice will withstand the impact of a loaded railway carriage after a 60-foot fall (or perhaps 1,500 foot tons).

LIFE'S MIRROR.

There are loyal hearts, there are spirits brave,
There are souls that are pure and true;
Then give to the world the best you have,
And the best shall come back to you.

Give love, and love to your heart will flow,
A strength in your utmost need;
Have faith, and a score of hearts will show
Their faith in your word and deed.

For life is the mirror of king and slave;
'Tis just what you are and do;
Then give to the world the best you have,
And the best will come back to you.

A MIXED MENU.

A Story Illustrating an Ingenious Plan For Keeping a Servant.

By Charlotte W. Eastmans.

It was a charming little sitting room in which Mrs. Mason sat sewing dainty stitches. Before her stood the servant girl, who, with a stolid stare, announced that she had found a place down town.

"But, Mary, you surely would not leave me without help," Mrs. Mason answered.

"I got a place where I get t'ree dollar."

"I would give you $3, but you agreed to work for me for $2.50 if I would teach you to talk and do the work."

"I got anoder place down town. I say I go next week."

Entreaty and persuasion were alike in vain. It all ended with, "I go next week."

One year from this time Mrs. Mason was a wiser if not a better woman, and when Lena announced, "I got another place down town," she merely answered, "Very well," for this was the third girl that she had trained for the woman down town.

When Mr. Mason came home to dinner that night, he saw at once that some shadow had clouded the domestic heaven, but when his wife had poured out her tale of woe she proceeded to lay before him plans for her future campaign. When he had fully caught her idea, he laughed long and loud.

"You're a mighty smart little woman, Maria, but if you try that game you'll fall down," he announced when she asked for his opinion of her plans.

"I'll not fall down any harder than I have in my other plans, and I believe I can do it."

"All right, I'll back you," he promised encouragingly.

Assured of her husband's co-operation, Mrs. Mason very willingly agreed to take Lena's cousin, Christina, who had just arrived from the fatherland. In the week which intervened before the advent of the new domestic one might have supposed Mrs. Mason to be a blue stocking of the deepest dye, for she carried a pencil stuck in her hair and stopped to jot down burning thoughts on whatever was most convenient to rest her notebook upon. The baby's back or the bottom of the dish-pan were alike available. When the new Christina appeared, fresh and rosy and clean, she started at her task with vigor. Her former experience taught her the best method of instruction, and, taking up one article after another, she told the names distinctly and encouraged Christina to repeat it until she was sure of it.

The first performance in the domestic act was to fry potatoes for luncheon.

"This, Christina," said Mrs. Mason as she held up the spider, "is a kettle, and these are eggs," pointing to the potatoes.

After this the bread and the meat, the crackers and the raisins, the coffee and the lemons, changed places, and 50 of the commonest utensils in the kitchen and the dining room were in a confusion that had no order except in the fertile brain of Mrs. Mason. But she had her list well memorized, and her mistakes were few. Mr. Mason gave her enthusiastic support, and, though he feared to give an order to Christina without first consulting his wife and his appealing look at the table when he held up the cracker jar to Christina and asked for more raisins was very amusing, he gave his wife unstinted admiration for the glib manner in which she could order a six pound bread, fried rare, or a small piece of roast beef for the water pitcher.

Unsuspecting Christina worked hard at her part of the game, evidently desirous of fitting herself as soon as possible for the "t'ree dollar place" down town. She jabbered in her native tongue gladly with her friends, and her English, that chance might call into use, never intruded on the ground with which Mrs. Mason had tampered. The excitement of her experiment added quite a little interest to the usually monotonous work of training a green girl, and Mrs. Mason taught her many mysteries in salads and soups that she had heretofore kept as strictly private knowledge. Christina had reached that stage in her development when Mrs. Mason could give an order for dinner and go out for an afternoon with some assurance that a palatable, well served dinner would await her return. She knew that the time was near at hand for the inevitable announcement, and so when Christina said, a little more shyly than some of the former girls, "My cousin, she got me place where I see her every day; the woman, she say she glad to get girl what you make; she have your girl anoder time," Mrs. Mason answered cheerily:

"All right, Christina, you can go right along. I'll get along without a girl for awhile, but Mr. Mason is going to bring company home tonight, and I want a very nice dinner."

Christina smiled at so willing an acquiescence to her plans and asked, "What I get for dinner?"

"We'll have some of that nice oatmeal cream, a cabbage fried cake, some souped eggs, a chicken omelet, and you may get some of the best oyster cookies from the pickle. Make some coffee soup, Christina, and make the freezer full. I think we'll have soda pie with it."

"All right. I do it," answered Christina willingly. And Mrs. Mason smiled as she thought of the lady down town. "Now, madam, you're welcome to the fruit of my labor."

If she felt the least bit guilty, the memory of the many hours of care and thought that she had given to the training of green girls came to appease her conscience.

"I only wish I could see the other acts," she said to Mr. Mason. "I expect to be in the fifth myself, but I feel I shall miss the third and fourth."

Christina reported bright and early at Mrs. Bender's, eager to prove herself worthy of her advance. Circumstances compelled Mrs. Bender to leave her entirely to her own devices the first day, but on the morning of the second she came in haste into the kitchen.

"Christina," she said, "get breakfast as quickly as possible. Mr. Bender wants to make that early train. We generally want toast, but we will get along without it this morning, and we like it rare," she said, pointing to the beefsteak.

"Rare!" Christina exclaimed.

"Yes, rare. You understand what that is, don't you?"

"Y-e-s."

"Well, we always take it rare and our coffee strong."

"You take coffee for breakfast?"

"Always. And we would like it as soon as possible, Christina."

Mrs. Bender sailed out of the kitchen and confidentially told Mr. Bender that the new girl seemed exceedingly stupid or else she had a very peculiar manner.

"She is in a constant state of surprise," she added, "and, I declare, I smell bread toasting. I told her not to toast it this morning."

In an incredibly short time the breakfast bell rang, and when the Bender family sat down to the table the look of surprise was transferred from Christina's face to theirs, for on the platter lay a fine steak, fresh from the refrigerator, and in place of the pot of steaming coffee sat a pitcher of ice cold lemonade. Mrs. Bender rang the bell with exceeding energy, and when astonished Christina appeared they each made a frantic effort to convince the other that she was responsible for the mistake. Mrs. Bender grew angry, and Christina resorted to tears, and while Mr. Bender listened to their confusing explanations he made his breakfast on toast and lemonade.

Matters grew worse rapidly, and in spite of repeated and patient explanations Christina's ideas were in a state of hopeless confusion, but neither she nor Mrs. Bender ever thought of the little woman on the hill as the author of all their troubles. At the end of two weeks Mrs. Bender took a street car for Walnut hill and, seeking out Mrs. Mason, asked her if she would not be willing to take Christina back. Mrs. Mason artfully hesitated a moment and then consented.

"I am so relieved," Mrs. Bender said, "for I keep her in tears half of the time, and she seems so anxious to please me. I can't understand how any one can be as stupid as she is."

So Christina came back, and for four years she did faithful service in Mrs. Mason's kitchen, and for the first time in her life that ingenious little woman did not live in constant fear of "anoder place down town."—What to Eat.

The disfiguration caused by skin disease, even more than the tormenting irritation which is so commonly associated with it. The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery generally results in a complete cure of eczema, pimples, eruptions and other forms of disease which have their cause in an impure condition of the blood. "Golden Medical Discovery" absolutely purges the blood of humors and poisons, and so cures the cutaneous diseases which bad blood breeds and feeds.

There is no alcohol in the "Golden Medical Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

"I was troubled with eczema from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet," writes Mrs. Ella Quick, of Cass City, Tuscola Co., Mich. "Could not walk at times, nor wear my shoes. Thought there was no help for me—at least the doctor said there was none. I went to see friends at Christmas time and there heard of the good that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery had done for them, and was advised to try it at once. For fear that I might neglect it my friends sent to the village and got a bottle and made me promise that I would take it. I had been getting worse all the time. I took thirteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and ten vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and used the 'All Healing Salve,' which made a complete cure. It was slow, but sure. I was taking the medicine about eight months.

"I would say to all who read this: Try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery before wasting time and money."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets assist the action of the "Discovery."

The History of Etiquette.

Etiquette is a form of fashion more important than style in dress, for the reason that the varying codes of manners have influenced morals, something changing the cut of a coat cannot be said to have done. When etiquette demanded that a gentleman accept a challenge or acknowledge himself a coward in the minds of his fellow citizens, it encroached sharply upon ethics. Now that it has gone out of fashion to kill, gentlemen find small difficulty in keeping the sixth commandment. The less formal etiquette becomes the less wanton taking of life there is among those who consider good breeding of consequence.

As the civilized race now stands either man or woman can be refined, regardless of shape of hat he or she wears. This was true in any century, but 200 years ago and back of that period a gentleman and lady could, according to approved etiquette, gobble food with their hands from a common dish set in the center of the dining table and filled with the entire fashionable bill of fare prepared for the occasion. Gratefully we now acknowledge such proceedings to be "bad form" and in so doing pronounce ourselves two centuries removed from the table manners of swine and one point away from that brute, no matter how similar to him our turn of mind may remain in some other respects.—National Magazine.

Salt Water Fish.

The number of species of fishes living habitually in the salt waters of the world can only be approximately estimated, probably about 10,000. Those classed as "shore fishes" live, as a rule, close to the surface and near the land and are well known to the salt water angler in his outings as the weakfish, striped bass, kingfish, etc. Of the shore fishes there are about 4,000 species. The "pelagic fishes," or those which inhabit the upper waters of the seas, are relatively few in number. The "deep sea fishes," which live in depths varying from 200 to 2,500 fathoms, cannot be even approximately estimated, as new species are being constantly discovered.—Field and Stream.

BRITISH CHEESE DEALERS.

They Lost Heavily Last Year—The Prospects.

The Montreal Star says:—"Mr. P. W. McLagan, president of the Montreal Butter and Cheese Association, was on the board of trade this morning. He, in company with Mr. A. W. Grant, of the same association, returned to New York at the end of last week by the steamship Umbria, after an absence of six weeks in England.

Mr. McLagan says that the losses sustained by the British cheese importers last year was very heavy, the stocks having been large and purchased at an unusually high price. They are taking their misfortunes bravely, however, and have determined not to get caught the same way this season. White cheese is not much too plentiful, but there is still a lot of coloured, and it will be well on toward the end of June before stocks are fully cleared out.

The market was in good condition for butter when Mr. McLagan left. Stocks were well cleared up and there was an outlook for a fair trade. Canadian makes lost a little in the estimation of buyers last year owing to the somewhat doubtfull qualities sent over at times during the season, yet there was probably as good sale for fine goods as ever. Siberian makes are now coming into prominence, and though probably not as good as fine Canadian creameries, are bound to be active competitors during the coming summer.

WHAT BAD ROADS COST.

Ontario has Spent Eighteen Millions in the Last Ten Years.

The importance roads in the economy of the country is well shown in the fifth annual report of the Commissioner of Highways, just issued, which states that during the ten years from 1889 to 1898, inclusive, $18,449,561 in money and statute labour was expended on the highways of Ontario. The report shows in detail the amount spent in each municipality, and goes on to argue that the results are by no means commensuated with the expenditure. Mr. A. W. Campbell, the Commissioner, devotes a number of chapters of the report to suggestions on road-making, and points out the close relation which good roads bear to the progress of the country. The educational campaign of the past few years has borne fruit, and already 45 municipalities have abolished statute labour and substituted more businesslike methods of improving the highways. The report is an interesting one throughout, and will doubtless be much consulted during the movement for good roads, which is now taking more definite shape.

SHAMROCK II. A WRECK

King Edward on Board and His Life Was in Danger.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON STUNNED.

Sir Thomas Asks the New York Yacht Club for Time—Is Anxious to Race—Still Confident the Boat Can Win—The Accident Described—His Majesty's Bravery Told by the Challenger.

Southampton, May 23.—The most dramatic incident in the history of the America's Cup occurred yesterday, when a sudden squall on the Solent completely wrecked the new challenger and endangered the life of King Edward and several distinguished persons, including Sir Thomas Lipton. The results of this disaster, which could scarcely recur without great loss of life, can best be judged by the written statement made late last night by Sir Thomas Lipton to the Associated Press:

"My deepest regret is that to-day's accident prevents me from toeing the mark at the appointed hour, and compels me to ask the New York Yacht Club to grant me an extension of time.

"If they will be good enough to do that I shall race, even if I have to build a boat between now and the date agreed upon. I still believe the Shamrock II, a boat worthy to be the challenger, and that when this unfortunate chapter of accidents comes to an end she will still stand a good chance of lifting the cup. I have not a single complaint to make against my boat.

"For the many telegrams of sympathy received from America to-day I am deeply grateful. No one is more thankful than I am that the catastrophe ended without fatality, and I may perhaps say that throughout the trying moments His Majesty was as brave as a lion. His first thought was to inquire if anyone was injured.

"(Signed). Thomas Lipton."

The Story of Sir Thomas.

Circumstances have reduced the Shamrock II, to a pitiful, spariess wreck. She low lies off Hythe. The story of the catastrophe is best told by Sir Thomas Lipton himself. After seeing his royal guest off to London, Sir Thomas gave the following interview to a representative of the Associated Press:

"We had just begun to make for the starting line, when a fierce breeze sprang up. King Edward, Lady Londonderry, Mrs. Jameson, Mr. Watson, Mr. Jameson and myself were on deck, hanging on as best we might, for the challenger was almost at an angle of 45 degrees. The King started to go below. Just as he did so, everything collapsed. A heavy block fell between the two ladies, and a wire rope struck me on the head and momentarily stunned me. A sudden squall, an unexpected strain, and everything had given way. King Edward was half in and half out of the companionway. What happened, how all the falling spars and sweeping sails did not kill or sweep someone overboard, is more than I know. When I came to, I saw the King clambering over the wreckage, trying to discover the extent of the damage, and asking, 'Is anyone hurt?'"

When the distinguished participators in the mishap had been transferred to the Erin, the King's first remark was: "When shall we sail again, Lipton?" And before His Majesty started for London, his last words to Sir Thomas were: "When you next sail, I am going with you."

In fact the ruler of the British Empire seemed keenly to enjoy the unusual spice of danger into which his love of sport had led him.

Heartfelt expressions of gratitude that the King escaped are heard upon all sides. Many people say he was foolish to go aboard the challenger, but, as Sir Thomas Lipton says: "If I did not think everything was perfectly safe, you may be sure I would never have invited His Majesty."

King Returned to London.

King Edward dined aboard the Erin in Southampton waters, and arrived at Southampton pier in the Erin's launch shortly after 10 o'clock in the morning. He was accompanied to the train by Sir Thos. Lipton. He received a cordial reception from the assembled crowd. The Mayor of Southampton and wife were introduced to His Majesty when he landed. The King was in admirable spirits, and none the worse for his adventure.

Accompanied by the Marchioness of Londonderry and Sir Stanley Clarke, King Edward left Southampton at 10.15 p. m., and arrived in London at midnight. The King drove to Marlborough House, where he was cheered by a small crowd awaiting his arrival. Numerous telegrams were awaiting him from Emperor William, the crowned heads of Europe and others, congratulating him upon his escape.

BANK ROBBERS' TRIAL.

Toronto, May 23.—The trial in the Criminal Sessions of Rutledge, Rice and Jones, charged with attempting to break into the Standard Bank, in Parkdale, a year ago, is drawing to a close. Yesterday, the third day of the trial was occupied in hearing the remainder of the evidence for the Crown, alibi evidence for the defence and the greater part of the address to the jury of E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., who appears in the interests of the prisoners.

Mr. Johnston spoke for two hours yesterday afternoon. The court rose at 6 o'clock, and Mr. Johnston, who was still speaking, announced that he has still something to say to the jury when the case is resumed this morning.

The counsel for the defence will be followed by W. H. Dewart, K.C., for the Crown, after which Judge McDougall will charge the jury. A verdict will probably be reached this morning.

LEAVING PEKIN.

Farewell to the Last of the United States Troops.

Pekin, May 22.—The last of the American troops here, with the exception of the Legation Guard, left Pekin at 7 o'clock this morning. In spite of the early hour and the long distances they had to march, all the bands of the British troops escorted the 9th United States Infantry from the Temple of Agriculture to the depot, where a Japanese band awaited the troops. All the British generals and their staffs, and all the officers off duty, were present. The scene was one of great enthusiasm.

Meeting Very Unsatisfactory.

Pekin, May 22.—The Foreign Ministers' meeting to-day was very unsatisfactory. No power was willing to accede to the Americans' idea of a reduction of the Chinese indemnity to forty million pounds, though Great Britain recognizes the advisability of some reduction. There will be another meeting to-morrow.

Canadians Dead in Africa.

On May 15 at De Aar, Constable A. G. [illegible] of enteric fever, and [illegible] H. Cameron [illegible] at Bloemfontein.

SHAMROCK II. A WRECK

King Edward on Board and His Life Was in Danger.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON STUNNED.

Sir Thomas Asks the New York Yacht Club for Time—Is Anxious to Race—Still Confident the Boat Can Win—The Accident Described—His Majesty's Bravery Told by the Challenger.

Southampton, May 23.—The most dramatic incident in the history of the America's Cup occurred yesterday, when a sudden squall on the Solent completely wrecked the new challenger and endangered the life of King Edward and several distinguished persons, including Sir Thomas Lipton. The results of this disaster, which could scarcely recur without great loss of life, can best be judged by the written statement made late last night by Sir Thomas Lipton to the Associated Press:

"My deepest regret is that to-day's accident prevents me from toeing the mark at the appointed hour, and compels me to ask the New York Yacht Club to grant me an extension of time.

"If they will be good enough to do that I shall race, even if I have to build a boat between now and the date agreed upon. I still believe the Shamrock II, a boat worthy to be the challenger, and that when this unfortunate chapter of accidents comes to an end she will still stand a good chance of lifting the cup. I have not a single complaint to make against my boat.

"For the many telegrams of sympathy received from America to-day I am deeply grateful. No one is more thankful than I am that the catastrophe ended without fatality, and I may perhaps say that throughout the trying moments His Majesty was as brave as a lion. His first thought was to inquire if anyone was injured.

"(Signed), Thomas Lipton."

The Story of Sir Thomas.

Circumstances have reduced the Shamrock II, to a pitiful, spariess wreck. She low lies off Hythe. The story of the catastrophe is best told by Sir Thomas Lipton himself. After seeing his royal guest off to London, Sir Thomas gave the following interview to a representative of the Associated Press:

"We had just begun to make for the starting line, when a fierce breeze sprang up. King Edward, Lady Londonderry, Mrs. Jameson, Mr. Watson, Mr. Jameson and myself were on deck, hanging on as best we might, for the challenger was almost at an angle of 45 degrees. The King started to go below. Just as he did so, everything collapsed. A heavy block fell between the two ladies, and a wire rope struck me on the head and momentarily stunned me. A sudden squall, an unexpected strain, and everything had given way. King Edward was half in and half out of the companionway. What happened, how all the falling spars and sweeping sails did not kill or sweep someone overboard, is more than I know. When I came to, I saw the King clambering over the wreckage, trying to discover the extent of the damage, and asking, 'Is anyone hurt?'"

When the distinguished participators in the mishap had been transferred to the Erin, the King's first remark was: "When shall we sail again, Lipton?" And before His Majesty started for London, his last words to Sir Thomas were: "When you next sail, I am going with you."

In fact the ruler of the British Empire seemed keenly to enjoy the unusual spice of danger into which his love of sport had led him.

Heartfelt expressions of gratitude that the King escaped are heard upon all sides. Many people say he was foolish to go aboard the challenger, but, as Sir Thomas Lipton says: "If I did not think everything was perfectly safe, you may be sure I would never have invited His Majesty."

King Returned to London.

King Edward dined aboard the Erin in Southampton waters, and arrived at Southampton pier in the Erin's launch shortly after 10 o'clock in the morning. He was accompanied to the train by Sir Thos. Lipton. He received a cordial reception from the assembled crowd. The Mayor of Southampton and wife were introduced to His Majesty when he landed. The King was in admirable spirits, and none the worse for his adventure.

Accompanied by the Marchioness of Londonderry and Sir Stanley Clarke, King Edward left Southampton at 10.15 p. m., and arrived in London at midnight. The King drove to Marlborough House, where he was cheered by a small crowd awaiting his arrival. Numerous telegrams were awaiting him from Emperor William, the crowned heads of Europe and others, congratulating him upon his escape.

BANK ROBBERS' TRIAL.

Toronto, May 23.—The trial in the Criminal Sessions of Rutledge, Rice and Jones, charged with attempting to break into the Standard Bank, in Parkdale, a year ago, is drawing to a close. Yesterday, the third day of the trial was occupied in hearing the remainder of the evidence for the Crown, alibi evidence for the defence and the greater part of the address to the jury of E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., who appears in the interests of the prisoners.

Mr. Johnston spoke for two hours yesterday afternoon. The court rose at 6 o'clock, and Mr. Johnston, who was still speaking, announced that he has still something to say to the jury when the case is resumed this morning.

LEAVING PEKIN.

Farewell to the Last of the United States Troops.

Pekin, May 22.—The last of the American troops here, with the exception of the Legation Guard, left Pekin at 7 o'clock this morning. In spite of the early hour and the long distances they had to march, all the bands of the British troops escorted the 9th United States Infantry from the Temple of Agriculture to the depot, where a Japanese band awaited the troops. All the British generals and their staffs, and all the officers off duty, were present. The scene was one of great enthusiasm.

Meeting Very Unsatisfactory.

Pekin, May 22.—The Foreign Ministers' meeting to-day was very unsatisfactory. No power was willing to accede to the Americans' idea of a reduction of the Chinese indemnity to forty million pounds, though Great Britain recognizes the advisability of some reduction. There will be another meeting to-morrow.

Canadians Dead in Africa.

London, May 23.—The War Office reports two more deaths among Canadain recruits to Baden-Powell Constabulary force.

On May 15, at De Aar, Constable A. G. Burrell died of enteric fever, and on May 14, J. H. Cameron succumbed to dysentery at Bloemfontein.

READY TO PROROGUE.

House of Commons Finishes Its Business at Midnight.

AN OPPOSITION AMENDMENT.

Mr. Borden, the Opposition Leader, Moves an Economy Motion and Condemns the Expenditures—Mr. Fielding's Reply Conclusive in Its Reasoning and Facts—Mr. Bourassa Called Down.

Ottawa, May 23.—The order paper of the Commons was cleared at midnight last night, and nothing remains to be done except concurrence, which will be completed to-day. The House will prorogue this afternoon.

A number of Government bills were passed, among them being the bills to amend the Railway Act, the Inland Revenue Act, the Penitentiary Act and the Senate and House of Commons Act. The last is the bill providing for an increase of the indemnity.

The bills to provide lead bounties and to put beet root sugar on the free list were read a third time.

In answer to Mr. Fortin, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that the deputy warden of a penitentiary was required to assume the duties of warden in the latter's absence.

After some time had been spent in concurrence, a motion was made to go into supply. Mr. Kaulbach brought up the question of the Bond-Blaine treaty, dwelling at some length on the injury it would do to Canadian fishing interests. He suggested that the Minister of Marine should appeal to the Secretary of State at home and ask that he approach the American Government, with a view to having them understand that England cannot allow the American flag to be planted at Porto Rico unless there was an arrangement between them that there shall be no hostile tariff between the United States and Great Britain and her colonies respecting the trade in fish.

Mr. Borden's Amendment.

Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Opposition, expressed the hope that the Government would take such steps as might be necessary to protect the interests of Canada. He had, however, risen to move an amendment to supply, referring to the expenditure for the past and current years. He said that there had been a change in the attitude of the Liberal press and Liberal members in connection with expenditure. Formerly they said that a smaller expenditure was extravagant and scandalous. Now the larger expenditure was said to be "generous." In 1896 the people of Canada paid in customs, or excise duties, $27,759,285, and in 1900 $38,242,222. The total consolidated revenue was in 1896 $36,316,580, and in 1900 $51,029,949.

This increase was partly due to the increased business of the country, but partly also to the increase in prices

For the past five years the Government claimed a surplus of $20,445,194, but in the same time the debt of the country had increased over $8,000,000, notwithstanding the increase in trade and in revenue. This had come about by reason of an extraordinary system of expenditure. A good deal of this enormous expenditure was owing to the fact that the Government made ante-election pledges, and could not hold off those who made demands on them. Taking the supplementary estimates for 1902 under the one head of public works, harbors and rivers there were 269 items, involving an expenditure of between one and two million dollars. The total expenditure would be between fifty-nine and sixty million dollars. He asked if it was possible for an Opposition to get sufficient information on those items to discuss them as they should be discussed. To obtain that information would keep the House in session for months more. All the Opposition could do was to enter a general protest against this expenditure.

The Resolution.

Mr. Borden moved in amendment that all the words after the word "that" in the motion be omitted, and the following substituted therefor:

The total expenditure, as shown by the public accounts during each fiscal year, for 1892 to 1900, both inclusive, was as follows:

1892—$42,272,136.	1897—$42,972,755.
1896—$44,000,385.

That the Finance Minister estimates that the total revenue for the current year, ending June 30, 1901, will be $55,750,000.

That, notwithstanding this very large revenue, the Minister of Finance estimates that the public debt will be increased during the current year by about $1,500,000.

That the total amounts which the House has been asked to vote during the present session, together with items of expenditure authorized by statute are substantially as follows:

Supplementary estimates, 1901, $3,729,711.

Supplementary estimates, 1902, $30,000.

Supplementary estimates, 1902, $1,240,478.

Railway subsidies, 1902, $3,462,472.

Further railway subsidies, 1902, $96,000.

Total, $67,426,723.

That the Finance Minister estimates that, during the ensuing year, at least one million dollars will be required to pay the bounties on iron and steel, and that the sum may be somewhat larger.

That this House desires to place on record its opinion that the expenditure for the year ending June 30, 1901, and the proposed expenditure for the year ending June 30, 1902, are excessive and extravagant, and its regret that the Government, with the exceptionaly large revenues at its command, has not only failed to reduce, but has largely increased, the public debt, and has not shown proper appreciation of the extreme difficulty, if not impossibility, of reducing in future years the very high standard of expenditure which is being fixed during the period of great prosperity.

Mr. Fielding's Reply.

At the afternoon session Mr. Fielding replied to Mr. Borden. He said that in so far as Mr. Borden gave a word of warning he was in sympathy with him, as owing to the temptation to increased expenditure in days of prosperity there was necessity that someone should call attention to the desirability of caution. Mr. Fielding said he had himself called attention to the need of caution, but while doing so he did not mean that we should stand still. Every man in business to-day is doing a larger business than in years gone by, but it did not follow by any means that his expenditure had not increased. So with the Government expenditure. As he had said in his budget speech, Canada had made great strides, but should a cessation in progress and a time of stagnation come, Canada will be bound to be in a sound financial position. Mr. Fielding spoke of the development since 1896, and argued that the Government was as much justified in increasing its expenditure as a merchant is in times of progress, because the Government is, after all, a large business concern, transacting the business of the country. One cause of increased expenditure has been the opening up of the Yukon, which largely increased the expenditure, but the increase has been more than offset by the revenue, and instead of being a burden to the Dominion, the balance is on the other side of the ledger. The same argument applied to the Intercolonail Railway, where, although the expenditure has largely increased, the receipts have also grown. It is the increased expenditures between the increased revenues which balance them to which the Opposition call the attention of the country. He denied that the expenditure for new railways, for wharves to enable the fishermen to carry on their business in safety, and for other purposes in the public good, was any evidence of extravagance, but regarded it rather in the light of a wise and judicious outlay calculated to promote the general welfare, and giving good return in increased trade. Although the customs receipts are smaller than a year ago, the other receips are larger and the whole financial situation is very satisfactory. The report of trade is also very satisfactory. The domestic exports of Canada for the ten months ending April 30 last year amounted to $127,461,000, and this year for a like period the amount is $144,580,000, so that with regard to this most vital feature of our country's prosperity the showing is very satisfactory indeed. At the close of the current year he expected to find a handsome surplus, not as large as last year, but still of a very considerable amount.

Mr. Fielding said the totaling of all the votes this session at $67,000,000, was misleading. There was a difference between appropriation and expenditure; in fact it was impossible to expend all the money voted in one year. Besides, many of the estimates were revotes, and so with the railway subsidies, which would not be paid for years. He denied that, in view of the growth of the country since 1896, the standard of

Mr. A. Carveth is now in the employ of Mr. R. C. McCracken, of Stony Lake.

The Zion Sabbath school executive have arranged to run their excursion on the lake about the middle of June.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Little were visiting friends in South Dummer on Sunday.

Mr. E. Bickell has been very busily engaged this spring preparing to build a large frame house which he expects to erect in a few days, Mr. W. J. Little having successfully completed the framing of the same.

Mr. L. Cameron, of Stony Lake, was visiting here last week.

The few remaining islands of the lake are being rapidly taken up by the various camping parties. A beautiful and picturesque one was located a few weeks ago near the head of the lake and was named How Island. The various kinds of evergreen trees afford this spot a cool and pleasing site for a summer cottage, which may be build very soon.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. F. Jory, a prominent farmer of this place, has been ill for some time and his employee, Mr. D. Hatton, has taken charge of his extensive milk route and various other responsible duties.

On Thursday evening of last week the trustees of school section No. 4 held their regular meeting in the school at which some very important business was transacted.

Master Johny Crowe made a tour through the neighbourhood last week.

TWO WEEKS WITHOUT FOOD.

Mrs. Dew Lost Her Bearings in the Woods of New Ontario.

Bonheur, Ont., May 22.—Mrs. Dew, who was reported lost in the woods in the vicinity of Sawbill Lake, was found by Provincial Constable Geurard Monday afternoon. The woman was in a pitiable condition, having wandered through the bush day and night for two weeks without any food. Her clothing was almost entirely worn or torn away by coming in contact with the dense underbrush. Her mind was in a wandering condition when found, but after light food had been given her she told her experience in a rational manner. Water was her salvation. If she had been unable to find water she would undoubtedly have perished. As it was, she was unable to stand up when found.

READY TO PROROGUE.

expenditure was excessively high. In 1896 the expenditure was $15.47 per head; last year it was $9.80, as against an average yearly debt increase of $1,700,000 during the past four years, during 18 years of Tory rule the debt increase averaged $6,500,000 a year. As for the $66,000,000 already voted this session, the Opposition proposed to strike out but one item of $16,000 (Cheers.) If the proposed expenditures in Halifax, N. S., were excessive, why did not Mr. Borden move to strike them out. That was probably because Mr. Barden knew the expenditures were necessary; and so it was with all the others.

Mr. Barker, in supporting the motion, charged that the Minister of Railways had added $13,000,000 to the debt on account of the Government Railways since coming into office.

Mr. Robinson thought there were only six members, including himself, entitled to vote for the resolution.

While the members were being called in, the House whiled the minutes away with song. Mr. Archambault leading in "The Brigadier." The division resulted in the amendment of Mr. Borden being defeated by 100 to 51 on a straight party vote.

Imperial Army Commissions.

In the House Mr. Bourassa complained of the withholding of documents bearing upon the offer of commissions to Canadians in the Imperial service. The member for Labelle complained that the papers brought down indicated that Lord Minto had suppressed some of the correspondence, and they indicated also a condition that led him (Mr. Bourassa) to remark that Canada was no longer governed from Downing street. He denounced the enticing of young Canadians to South Africa to settle there.

Mr. Bourassa was directed by the Speaker to withdraw his disrespectful remarks towards His Excellency.

"Well," added the member for Labelle, "if I were in the German Parliament I would be allowed to criticize the action of the Emperor as it is done there (cries of "Order"); but in this country we have not the same privilege, and I therefore withdraw anything that you, Mr. Speaker, think is disrespectful to His Excellency."

Sir Richard Cartwright reminded the last speaker that the Governor-General's advisers were fully prepared to take the responsibility for the acts of His Excellency. It was no insult to the people of Canada that they should be offered commissions in the Imperial army: it was, on the contrary, a great compliment to our officers and soldiers. The men who have gone from the Royal Military College to serve in the British army have served Canada well by so doing. (Cheers.)

Mr. R. L. Borden said it was the duty of His Excellency's advisers to assume responsibility in every way for him. Criticisms should be directed against them, and to them, and not to the Governor-General. He entirely agreed with what has been said by Sir Richard Cartwright in regard to the value to this country of the services of the men who have so distinguished themselves in South Africa.

The House then went into Committee of Supply.

House Prorogues To-Day.

The bill respecting the Montreal and Southern Counties Railway Company, after being amended to restrict the company to the use of electricity, was read a third time and passed.

The bill to incorporate the Qu'Appelle Railway Company was also passed and the House took up consideration of the vote of $671,836 to pay the Province of Nova Scotia, in terms of the award of the arbitration on the Eastern Extension Railway claim. The debate on this and the New Brunswick claim of $280,692 was continued until midnight.

This finished up the estimates and cleared the order paper, so that Parliament will prorogue this afternoon.

THORNTON CLAIMS ELECTION

And Beith Claims the Seat—West Durham Election Trial

Bowmanville, May 23.—Much interest and speculation centres around the West Durham election trial now pending. The date now fixed for the hearing is Friday, June 7, to begin at 10.30 a. m., in the Court House, at Cobourg. Two cases are to be tried, viz:

1. Charles Jonas Thornton, petitioner, v. Thomas Bingham, returning officer, respondent.

2. Charles Burnham, petitioner, v. Chas. Jonas Thornton and Thomas Bingham, respondent.

The first case is entered by Mr. Thornton, the Conservative candidate at the last general election, Nov. 7, to compel Thomas Bingham, returning officer, to declare him elected, claiming a majority of 41 votes.

The petitioner, Charles Burnham, a West Durham voter, in the second case claims the seat for Robert Beith, on the ground of corruption, and that the respondent, Thornton, was not legally a candidate, owing to the irregularity of his deposit by cheque instead of bank bills or currency of the realm.

A HASTINGS WEDDING.

Mr. L. F. Clarry, Barrister-at-Law Wedded to Miss Winifred Johnson.

The Parsonage, Hastings, was the scene of a very interesting event at noon yesterday, it being the occasion of the marriage of Miss Winifred A. Johnson, only daughter of Rev. F. Johnson, to Mr. Lewis Frederick Clarry, barrister-at-law, of the same place.

The ceremony was performed by the bride's father in the presence of a number of the relatives of the contracting parties.

The bride was gowned in white duchesse, made en traine, with point lace bodice and accordion pleated, chiffon trimming. She carried a beautiful bouquet of white rose sand lilies of the valley. Miss Florence Mabel Clarry, sister of the groom, attended the bride, and was attired in a gown of white tucked mousseline-de-soie with accordion pleated frills, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

The groom was supported by Mr. Percy R. Johnson, of Boston, Mass., brother of the bride.

The wedding dinner was served in the dining room and library, which were decorated in pink and white.

Guests were present from New York, Peterborough, Lindsay, Brockville, Boston, Mass., Millbrook, Port Hope and Montreal.

The bride's going-away gown was tobac brown, tailor-made, and blue panne velvet blouse, and hat to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarry drove to Norwood, and left on the afternoon C.P.R. train for New York, and other American centres. They will on their return take up their residence in Hastings.

EXAMINATION COMMENCED.

Of the Non-Coms' Class Under Sgt.-Major Brittain—Major Miller's Remarks.

The first part of the examination for non-commissioned officers took place at the drill shed last night. Each candidate was required to put a squad through the movements of squad drill in single file with detail for movement, and act as guide and marker in company drill. The men were then divided into three squads and each man was asked to put his squad through the manual exercises giving the detail for one or two motions.

At the close of the drill Major Miller complimented the squad on the excellent showing they had made, especially in regard to the giving of detail, for which the men were not prepared. He also said that much credit was due Sergeant Major Brittain for getting the squad into such excellent shape in the short time at his disposal. The second part of the examination which will consist of firing exercises, extended order, battalion drill, and written work will take place next Wednesday night.

There are about eighteen members in the class.

The course will be from Ashburnham to Lakefield and return, and so on till the eleven hours are up. The owner of the horse winning the race shall be declared the owner of both animals.

Mr. Clancy has been given until next Saturday to take up the challenge, and should he do so the event will be pulled off at once.

A DRUNKEN INDIAN.

He is Sleeping off a "Jag" this Afternoon

A couple of Indians arrived in town this morning, having come down from the shanties in the north country. They were on their way to Birdsall's, and intended crossing over to the Roseneath Reserve. However, one of them got badly the worse of liquor, and commenced giving a step dance, and making a fool of himself generally at the Grand Trunk station. The Chief was telephoned for, and when that official arrived on the scene the Indian was stretched out on a baggage truck in a pretended sleep. He was put into a wagon and carted to the police station, where he is now sobering up.

TOMORROW'S ATTRACTIONS.

The Morning Parade will be a Monster.

The Events in the Afternoon on the Nicholls' Oval.

The committee in charge of the Victoria Day celebration has decided to make a change in the route of the procession. This was finally arranged last night, when the following route was laid out. The procession will start from the Bridge Works and proceed up George to Charlotte then west to Aylmer street, north to Hunter, east to George, north to McDonel, east to Water street, south to Hunter, east to Ashburnham, up Elizabeth to Driscoll Terrace, north to Douro, east to Brown and Mark, south to Robinson, west to Lake, north to Elizabeth, to George, south to place of beginning.

It will be much regretted that owing to general orders the regiment will be unable to take part in the celebration to-morrow, of course Peterborough is not the only town that is effected in this manner, as throughout the British Empire the troops of His Majesty King Edward VII. are supposed to be in mourning for Her Most Gracious Majesty the late Queen. It is asked that as many of the members of the 57th Regiment as possible, attend in uniform for the purpose of keeping the crowd in check.

The militia general order is as follows:—"District officers commanding, and commanding officers of units, are reminded that by the King's command all the military forces of the Empire are still in deep mourning for Her late Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, and that such mourning does not expire until July 24. In these circumstances ceremonial displays, such as salutes feu de joie, trooping the colours, reviews, and other military exercises, except such as are for tactical instruction or for rifle practice, would be an act of serious disrespect to the memory of our late beloved sovereign.

Arrangements have been made with the Grand Trunk Railway Co. whereby the night train to Lindsay will be held until 10 o'clock.

The Cowboys are asked to be at the Bridge Works not later than 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Entries for the events may be made at the Review office and at the Examiner office this evening.

The prizes for the events in the afternoon are now on exhibition in the window of E. B. Clegg & Co.

The Peterborough Football Team will be represented by the following: Goal, P. McFadden; Backs, Hal. Burnham, and Jas. Dorris; Half Backs, McPherson, Gordon Lee, and Benj. Simpson; Left Wing, Percy Campbell, F. D. Kerr; centre, J. McDonald; Right Wing, Andy Scott, Morden.

FOURTH ANNUAL BOY'S CAMP.

The boys committee of the Y.M.C.A. met Tuesday to discuss plans for the fourth annual camp of the boys department of the association. It was decided to hold it from July 17 to 31st at Kawartha Park. The plans for this year are such that this camp will certainly be the best yet.

The age will be limited to those from ten to sixteen, although a goodly number of older members will go with the boys as camp leaders to see that the boys have a good time. Their presence will also be a guarantee to their safety. The cost will be the same as last year, $3.50 for the two weeks trip, including boats, board, transport and everything else. A cook will accompany the party and a dining room tent secured. The camp Bible class, which was a most popular feature last year, will be held and Mr. E. Elcome is preparing a series of nature Bible studies for this work.

THEIR ANNUAL MEETING.

The Women's Missionary Society of this District.

Met at Bridgenorth Yesterday—Report of What Was Done—Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough District Woman's Missionary Society was held in the Bridgenorth Methodist Church on Wednesday, May 22nd.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather, it was very late when the delegates reached the church. The morning session took the form of a Prayer Service, conducted by Mrs. Leonard of Lakefield, assisted by Mrs (Rev.) McCamus, and Mrs. (Rev.) Kilgour.

The afternoon session opened at 2 o'clock, Mrs. Kendry, District Organizer, in the chair.

Roll call was the first order of business; the following Auxiliaries responding: Lakefield sending six, Bridgenorth seven, Peterborough, Charlotte street, three, George street fourteen, Mark street five; Lakefield Mission Band had one representative and Peterborough, George street, one.

Mrs. Turner was then appointed secretary for the convention.

Reports were then received from the different auxiliaries and bands, showing an increase, both financially and in numbers.

Miss Udy sang a solo, "The Cross is not greater."

At this stage Miss Brooks of China, Miss Munro, Japan, and Mrs. Morrow were introduced to the convention.

Reports on Field Work followed, the Japan work being presented by Mrs. Lightfoot, Charlotte street Auxiliary, and the Indian work in British Columbia by Miss Smith of the Mark street Auxiliary.

Mrs. Moore of the George street Auxiliary, then gave a recitation, — "There's Enough to do at Home," after which a hymn was sung.

Mrs. (Rev.) Wilson then moved that messages of condolence be forwarded to Mrs. J. C. Sherin, Lakefield, formerly District Organizer, in her late bereavement. This was seconded by Mrs. Wand of Mark street.

Mrs. Morrow then gave a very instructive talk on "The Present Outlook and Future Possibilities of Missions."

A collection was then taken, and a testimony meeting followed, led by Mrs. (Dr.) Fife.

Business being resumed, it was moved by Mrs. McCamus, seconded by Mrs. Sherin, that the next convention be held in Lakefield.—Carried.

Mrs. Kendry was unanimously re-elected District Organizer.

Rev. Mr. Nichol, the pastor of the church, then spoke a few words to those assembled.

The ladies of the church had very kindly prepared dinner and tea for us at the church, which was very acceptable.

The evening session opened at 7.30 with devotional exercises led by the pastor.

Mrs. (Rev.) Nichol then gave an address of welcome, responded to by Mrs. Turner.

The choir favoured us with a chorus, "Room for All," and the secretary presented the report for the year.

Miss Munro, of Japan, then gave a talk on some phases of the work in that country.

Miss Bickle, of Lakefield, sang a solo, "I'll go where You Want me to go," and Mrs. Moore a recitation, "The Man Who Died for me."

The collection was then taken up.

Mrs. Dr. Morgan, of Bridgenorth, rendered a solo, "To have done it unto me."

Miss Brooks, from China, then gave us some very interesting information in regard to that country. At the close of which a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to all who had taken part in the programme and also to the ladies of the Bridgenorth who had treated us right royally. The meeting closed with the doxology and benediction, and all felt that a most successful convention had been held.—Com.

THE RURAL DEANERY MET IN GRAFTON.

Subjects Under Discussion During Its Session.

The Next Meeting Will Be Held In Peterborough Next February. The Programme.

The quarterly meeting of the Rural Deanery of Northumberland was held in Grafton during the week. There was a fair attendance of the clergy and all took a lively interest in the proceedings. Amongst those present were Rev. Rural Dean Warren, Lakefield; Rev. Dr. Symonds, Ashburnham; Rev. J. C. Davidson, Peterborough; Rev. W. E. Cooper, Campbellford; Rev. A. G. Westmacott, Brighton; Rev. A. J. Fidler, Colborne; Rev. G. A. Field, Gore's Landing; Rev. Mr. Fathergil, Travelling Secretary S. P. C. K.; Rev. W. H. A. French, Grafton, and Rev. W. L. Armitage, Peterborough, Secretary. The laymen present were Lt.-Col. Rogers, Grafton; Mr. Fitzgerald, Brighton, and Mr. Clitheroe, Grafton.

The meeting opened with a service on Monday evening, at which Rev. Mr. Armitage preached, taking as his text, "And a vision appeared to Paul in the night; there stood a man of Macedonia and prayed him, saying, 'Come over and help us.'" Acts XVI., 9, the topic being "The Vision of Humanity."

On Thursday morning there was a celebration of the Holy Communion at eight a.m. and at ten o'clock Rev. W. E. Cooper conducted a "quiet hour" for the clergy, after which the deanery was called to order in the rectory for the discussion of several subjects of the programme.

There was a lengthy discussion on the notice of motion by Rev. J. C. Davidson, "That the Synod meet biannually," which was withdrawn and instead of it the following resolution was adopted as moved by Rev. Dr. Symonds and Rev. Mr. Davidson, "That this meeting of the Deanery of Northumberland hereby request the Executive Committee to endeavour to make provision for the holding of a special public meeting on Thursday evening in connection with the forthcoming Synod of Toronto, to advocate the cause of Biblical instruction in the Primary School, and that special speakers be appointed for the purpose."

Thursday afternoon was largely devoted to the discussion of "Financial methods of the Church" as introduced by Rev. W. L. Armitage.

A resolution was passed regretting the removal of Rev. Dr. Symonds from the Deanery, but congratulating him on the honours that had fallen to him and wishing him every success in his work at Trinity College School.

Dr. Symonds replied, thanking the members for their resolution and spoke at length on the high standing of the Deanery of Northumberland in the Diocese. He also referred in hopeful terms to the future of Trinity College School.

A motion was passed asking that the readjustment of the Deaneries of Durham and Northumberland be a subject for discussion at the next archiediaconal conference.

The next meeting will be held in Peterborough next February, when the following subjects will come before the deanery:

1.—A study in Greek Testament, St. John III., by Rural Dean Warren.

2.—Lyman Abbott's articles on the "Rights of Man," in the Outlook by Mr. DelaFosse of Lakefield.

3.—The present state of Temperance in Canada by Mr. Fitzgerald, of Brighton.

4.—General discussion.

The thanks of the Deanery were tendered to Rev. W. H. A. French and Mrs. French and the congregation of St. George's Church for their kind hospitality.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

BASEBALL.

Whilst there are many attractions that are free of admission fee tomorrow, still there is no doubt that the baseball match between the Crawfords of Toronto, and the local team should be largely patronized, there are several reasons why it should be. The Crawfords are one of the best amateur teams in Toronto and the locals are in the pink of condition, therefore the match should be very exciting. Secondly, it is the opening game of the season, and again the boys have had a little difficulty in floating the game this season so far, and should there be a large turn out, it will be an encouragement to the management and to the players. The game is called for 3.30 o'clock. The Peterborough team will likely be as follows: McCabe and Kehoe, p.; Graham, c.; Connors, 1b.; Scott, 2b.; Sheridan, 3b.; Parnell, ss.; Grady, Earls and Craig, outfield.

LACROSSE.

The Y.M.C.A. lacrosse team will practice on the Nicholls oval tonight.

Port Hope Guide:—"Cobourg has only three "ringers" on their team at present, but expect another bumper load on most any freight."

BOWLING.

There will be a meeting of the Peterborough Bowling Club on Tuesday night for the purpose of arranging as to the appointment of skips. The green is likely to be opened within the next ten days and a match between the president and the vice-president, the rinks to be chosen on the ground, will be arranged. Those desiring to join the club should hand in their names to the Secretary, Mr. Terrill, at once. The ground is in excellent condition.

WEAKNESS
OF MEN AND WOMEN

Could we read the hearts of every man we meet, what a load of sorrow and despair would be disclosed. Indiscretions and Blood Diseases have caused more physical and mental wrecks than all other causes combined. They strike at the foundation of manhood; they sap the vital forces; they undermine the system, and not only do they often disrupt the family circle, but they may even extend their poisonous fangs into the next generation. If you have been a victim of early sinful habits, remember the seed is sown, and sooner or later you will reap a harvest. If your blood has been diseased from any cause do not risk a return later on. Our New Method Treatment will positively cure you and you need never fear any return of the disease. We will give you a guarantee bond to that effect. We would warn you sincerely against the promiscuous use of mercury, which does not cure blood poison but simply suppresses the symptoms.

WE CURE OR NO PAY.

Don't Let your Life be Drained Away, which weakens the intellect as well as the body. There is no room in this world for mental, physical or sexual dwarfs. Our New Method Treatment will Stop all Unnatural Losses, Purify the Blood, Strengthen the Nerves, Restore Vitality, and make a man of you. If you are in trouble, call and consult us. Consultation is Free. We treat and cure Drains, Blood Diseases, Varicocele, Stricture, Unnatural Discharges, Kidney and Bladder Diseases. No cutting or operations. No detention from business. ON THE BANKS OF THE CLYDE

CENTRE OF THE WORLD'S GREAT SHIPBUILDING INDUSTRY.

A MARVELLOUS YEARLY OUTPUT

The Shipbuilding Trade on the Clyde Is Carried on by About Forty Firms, But More Than Half the Tonnage Comes From Six or Eight Yards.

Frederick Dalmon had an illustrated article on Clyde shipbuilding in a recent issue of The Pall Mall Magazine. He recalls the fact that in 1770 an engineer consulted by the authorities deepened the River Clyde to four or five feet right up to Glasgow at low water, in place of the depth of 14 inches, which was its natural depth. To-day the Clyde has a uniform depth of about 30 feet, and the biggest liners can be taken to the centre of the big city. This much, without which Glasgow could have become neither the shipping nor shipbuilding centre it now is, has been achieved at a cost of something like fifteen millions sterling. Two millions have been spent simply in dredging during the last fifty years, and there is now a large fleet of steamboats with very ingenious machinery, employed in this service.

Clyde shipbuilding is now carried on by about forty firms, but more than half the tonnage comes from six or eight yards. These firms have each a special reputation in their trade, one yard being noted for its huge warships and liners, another for its huge cargo boats, a third for large light pleasure craft. Beginning a little below the Customs station at Mavisbank, the yards extend on the right bank of the river to Dumbarton, and on the left to Port Glasgow and Greenock. At Govan and Patrick we are in the heart of the industry; on the lower reaches of the river there are, of course, breaks in the fusilade of riveting which sounds so sweetly to the ears of Glasgow people as the unmistakable token of "good times." According to weight of output, Russell's yard at Port Glasgow is easily first; according to value, which now-a-days with so much competition in speed is quite a different thing, the Fairfield and Clydebank yards dispute precedence. Dennys' of Dumbarton, are famous for their pleasure steamers, and Hendersons', of Meadowside, for their yachts—the Brittania, the Meteor, and other famous craft, were built there—although both yards produce a good number of fine ocean-going vessels.

All that most people see of Clyde shipbuilding is seen from the river. The view of Fairfield or Clydebank from the deck of a passenger steamer is impressive enough. Along a frontage of little less than half a mile there may be resting upon the stocks in various stages of construction the frames of nine or ten first-class cruisers and liners, with several smaller craft of a miscellaneous kind. Upon one single ship alone there will, perhaps, be a thousand men at work—for now-a-days a 10,000 tonner is built within twelve months—their moving figures in comparison with the mammoth skeleton of iron or steel looking like myriads of tiny marionettes. But of the vast amount of varied work for the equipment of ships which is going on over acres of ground behind the "slips," there is little more than a suggestion in the background of enormous sheds and tall chimneys.

There is one feature at Dumbarton which is, I believe, unique on the Clyde, if not in shipbuilding generally. This is an experimental tank, in which paraffin driven models of the ships to be built are tested for their stability, speed and resistance to the pressure of water. The tank is three hundred feet long and twenty-two feet wide, and contains nine feet of water. It is said that valuable results in hydrodynamics have been obtained from these experiments, which are carried on by a specially trained staff. Another interesting feature of Messrs. Dennys' works is the award of premiums to the workmen for any improvement, however small, they may be able to suggest or effect in tools, machinery or method.

In 1661—fifty years after the launch of the Comet—the output on the Clyde was nearly 67,000 tons. In 1898 it reached a total of 466,832 tons, comprising 328 vessels. Enormous as these figures seem, they nevertheless represent a decline in Clyde shipbuilding relative to the rest of the country which has taken place during the last few years. In 1898 the tonnage launched on the Clyde was considerably less than a third of the total launched in British waters; in 1880 it actually exceeded one-half. But an examination of the figures clearly shows that the change in the percentage has been brought about by the advance of Newcastle, Hartlepool, Sunderland, Belfast, rather than by falling-off on the part of Glasgow. When steel was first introduced in 1878, the prestige of the Clyde for ocean liners was at its height. According to data given by Mr. David Pollock, the naval architect, 79 of 138 vessels of 4,000 tons and upwards which were built between 1858 (the Great Eastern's year) and 1884 came from yards between Glasgow and Greenock. The superiority of steel once demonstrated it was at once made auxiliary to skillful engineering as a means of maintaining this prestige, and in the Clyde returns the iron tonnage is not quite insignificant. Belfast and the northeast coast of England have shown that they can build of the best other than heavy iron cargo boats; but to traveling mankind generally "Clyde-built" continues to spell most surely speed and safety in navigation. The Clyde may not again produce in a year more shipping than all other British rivers combined, but it is still less likely that its leadership will be lost.

THE JEWEL CASKET.

The long handle is now the grand vogue for mother of pearl and gold opera glasses.

Bracelets in odd and original variations of the curb chain pattern have turquoises set in the large open links.

Shades now achieved in gold are so many and various as to outrun description. A remarkable instance noted is a buckle in gold of a dull orange tint, and this is adorned with a large yellow topaz.

Among the "new art" novelties is the use of jasper in brooches of Egyptian design. A center stone of dull red jasper, which is about identical in color with the rust of iron, is engraved as a scarab and set in dull gold.

A handsome attachment for the chatelaine is an arrangement almost in the shape of an English walnut, which opens midway and discloses in one half a pair of folding scissors and in the other a thimble and other trifles.—Jewelers' Circular-Weekly.

A MINISTER OF RICHMOND HILL.

Rev. F. Elliott Frankly and Strongly Endorses Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The Great Kidney Remedy Inspires Gratitude Wherever it Goes—No Medicine so Highly Endorsed—What a Minister of the Gospel has to Say About Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Richmond Hill, May 22, (Special).—A sensation was caused in this township when it was reported that the Rev. F. Elliott had published a strong letter in the papers endorsing a patent medicine. This happened some little time ago, but the matter has not been forgotten. The medicine in question was the famous Dodd's Kidney Pills and the Rev. Mr. Elliott is still in the receipt of frequent enquiries about his experience with them.

To a recent questioner who asked him about Dodd's Kidney Pills, Mr. Elliott was quite outspoken.

"I believe Dodd's Kidney Pills to be an excellent remedy," said he. "I see no reason whatever why I should not recommend them; they have helped me and I believe they will help others. If they were not a strictly honest, meritorious, reliable cure for everything they are claimed to be, nothing would be more objectionable or further from my thoughts than for me to endorse them to anyone, much less lend my name to a printed statement. But as the facts stand I hold by my former course and shall always be happy to recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills by any means in my power."

The letter referred to in which Mr. Elliott endorses Dodd's Kidney Pills, was published in this paper some time ago. It reads as follows:

"I feel it my duty to inform you of the great benefit I have derived from using Dodd's Kidney Pills. Last spring in particular, when suffering from lame back, the pain and weakness was so great I could hardly turn or get out of bed. Knowing it all came from disordered kidneys, I began to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and my pain and lameness soon disappeared. I consider Dodd's Kidney Pills a good reliable medicine for the diseases for which they are recommended.

"When I hear people complain of Lame Back or Rheumatism, I always say, 'Why don't you take Dodd's Kidney Pills.' I wish to add that this testimonial is entirely unsolicited and only 'good will to men' would induce me to allow my name to be published in this connection.—Rev. F. Elliott."

LATEST EDUCATIONAL IDEA.

Sight Seeing for the Juveniles—A New Way to Develop the Budding Intellect.

Intellectual inertia will disappear from among England's school children if certain reformers, now active, bring about the successful application of their ideas. These persons started with the proposition that English school children do not think, and from this argue a lower intelligence for the coming men and women. They would avert this result by taking children about the country on tours of sight-seeing and investigation calculated to stimulate the mind.

This idea comes from Germany, where teachers regularly take their pupils on knowledge expeditions, all traveling afoot and camping by the way. It has been tried in Buckinghamshire with results which the experimenters have reported to the National Education Department. From three schools twenty children were selected to make a journey among industrial establishments and scenes of historical interest. Each was subsequently required to write what he or she saw, prizes being given for these stories. It is said that there were developed in some cases remarkable powers of observation where they were not before suspected. This has excited the hopes of educational authorities of evolving a scheme to give all pupils opportunities of this kind.

The Greatest Ship Afloat.

The Celtic weighs 36,700 tons.

She is 700 feet long and 75 feet beam.

Her plates are 1⅛ inches thick, and some weigh four tons apiece.

There were put into her 1,704,000 rivets by hydraulic machinery.

She will carry 62,000 pounds of meat and 89,208 pounds of flour.

She will carry 2,742 passengers and crew and 12,000 tons of cargo.

She has 12 decks, and the captain's bridge is 100 feet above the keel.

She will carry 22,000 bottles of ale and a quarter of a ton of tobacco.

She is one-fourth larger than the Oceanic, hitherto the biggest ship.

She will draw too much water to come into New York harbor when loaded to the mark.

She measures 700 feet long, only nine feet longer than the Great Eastern, but will draw 11 feet more water.

The Celtic, the greatest ship in the world, has been launched. The event took place at Belfast on April 4. She is almost a fourth larger than the Oceanic, previously the largest. Both these ships completely surpass the Great Eastern, which was regarded for nearly 50 years as beyond all practical size.

Big Price for Rare Stamps.

At Messrs. Puttick & Simpson's, London, recently, a blue 1d. Cape of Good Hope stamp showing an error fetched £40; an English V.R. black 1d., unused, was knocked down for eight guineas; and a 2d. blue, without lines, £3 15s. The half-anna red of India found a buyer at £5 12s. 6d., and a Buluwayo provisional 1d, on 3d., four guineas. Most interesting were the postmaster's provisionals for British East Africa, which were initialled by him after being produced by a hand-stamp. The half-anna fetched £6 18s., and the one anna £5 10s. A 10s. of the Niger Coast, surcharged on a 5d., sold for £7 5s.

The municipal telephones established at Tunbridge Wells, England—the first in the country—have been warmly supported. IF LIVING IS BUT WARFARE.

If living is but warfare, a fierce and vast campaign,
Let's be good soldiers in our day, the kind that don't complain;
The cheerful breed that on the march so steady strides along
And gathers round the bivouac of night with heartening song,
That bears the brunt of battle as bravely as may be
And cultivates a laughing eye, the brighter side to see,
For self respect's a steadfast mark to guide your marching by,
And the world loves its good soldiers that bear them straight and high.

If living is but warfare, let's make it splendid war.
Till of some noble purpose tells each honorable scar
And vanquishment shall only mean a worthy deed deferred
And victory's cry as that of right triumphant shall be heard
So glorious that when the grand Te Deum strains arise
God's angels shall lift up the chant and choir it through the skies,
And the trumpets of archangels shall sound the proud release
That signals to good soldiers God's ultimate of peace!

Dr. John's Patients

The Story of How the Doctor's Practice Was Secured.

BY KEZIAH SHELTON.

Copyright, 1901, by Keziah Shelton.

"Philanthropic clubwomen, indeed! So they claim to be. I'd like to see a bit of their practical assistance given to some struggling man or woman!" exclaimed Dr. John as his betrothed come home from her club and found that he had been waiting 15 minutes for her return. Poor man, he felt justified in speaking harshly, for she, of course, must know that he was liable to call! But his affianced, though she loved Dr. John, did not feel it her duty to encourage by unwise indulgence his "inherited tendency" to tyrannize over her in small things.

"Now, dear John," said his fiancee, "your criticism is uncalled for and unkind. Many of the women's clubs do interest themselves in 'practical kindnesses,' seeking work for the needy, finding an opening for the man or woman of talent. Were it not in the nature of family matters I could prove it by the works of our own club, the Whensoevers. What an uncomfortable mood you are in tonight, John!"

"Pshaw! But perhaps I am feeling a bit off, for I'm utterly discouraged, Marion. I wish that I had spent half the time at an 'industrial' studying mechanics that was wasted at Harvard, Berlin, Heidelberg and 'others too numerous to mention,' as is said of other unmarketables. A shovel holds a market value; my 'learning' does not, it seems.

"Now, dear, you are not only in a pessimistic but also in a cruel mood. You can succeed. I feel that success is only deferred. Look at Dr. Hugh Winthrop's success, both as a physician and bookmaker. Though today it seems phenomenal, it was slow coming. Brighten, up, my dear; the tide will turn your way some day, and now let's go for a walk and make our wedding call upon Mamie and Joe."

During the call Marion and Mamie, the talented and noble hearted president of the Whensoevers, carried on an earnest conversation. Now and then their low but merry laughter caused two men to look across the room with aroused curiosity.

"By the way, Dr. John," said Mamie when the callers arose to leave, "I am coming to your office tomorrow with mamma. Nothing particular the matter, but she's always ailing, you know, and a change of doctors helps her greatly."

"The tide is turning, John, dear," said Marion as they strolled away. Mrs. Mason will prove a bonanza and a mascot both for you if you please her. Why, within a month she will have 'talked over to your office' more than a score of her friends, who, like herself, enjoy making a fad of a good looking doctor with a foreign diploma and manners sufficient to make him presentable at high teas."

"Marion, did you ask Mamie to bring her mother to me professionally?" asked Dr. John sternly.

"Postitively no." But she did not tell him the plot she had concocted with Mamie's help and which she expected the club members to enter into with spirit.

Promptly at 9:30 the next morning Mrs. Mason's elegant footman was opening her carriage door in front of Dr. John's office, and she and her daughter descended, and, after instructing the coachman not to go out of sight of the office, but to drive slowly back and forth, Mamie very deliberately ascended the steps, followed by her mother. Mrs. Joe knew that curious eyes would follow them and speculate upon the probable number of "swell patients" the new doctor had upon his books.

While her unsuspecting—having been once a young woman, did she see through the plan and become a silent accomplice—mother was consulting Dr. John in the inner room the president of the Whensoevers sat in the waiting room, greeting with merry words her fellow club workers, whose practical philanthropy Dr. John had so bitterly doubted. "Would he be convinced, or would he just be an old growly wowly sort of fellow that would scowl and refuse help?"

"It's great fun, isn't it? And will quite impress the neighborhood, especially when Mme. Dumonte drives up with her milk white ponies and her natty tiger in the rumble."

"I only hope that Dr. John will not be angry at our friendly strategies. There comes Mme. Dumonte now, clothed in all her usual dignity and impressive style, and here comes mamma. I must get her away before she suspects anything out of the ordinary, for I mean her to be a real patient, the nucleus of many other genuines to displace us, the impostors. Keep up this fiction, girls, twice a week, until we are crowded out by 'truly' patients. You go in now, Kate, and use all your persuasive powers to keep Dr. John from ordering us to mind our own business. Goodby, girls, and success to your good intentions."

Dr. John looked at the gathering of familiar faces in amazement. "Really, this looks like a bachelor's 'at home.' I have not sent out cards while in a dream, have I?" he asked in a puzzled manner.

Kate came readily to the front. "Your 'from 9 to 11' at the door is sufficient, sir. I think that I am 'next,' Dr. John." And she turned toward the door opening into the consulting room.

Dr. John followed, not half believing and not at all understanding.

"Now, Dr. John, for the sake of our lifelong friendship, don't be angry, please, at our club's little strategy! You can't lock us out, and we are women of determination. If only 'dummy' patients,' we have lots of patience and are resolved to visit you as long as there is room for us."

Dr. John's face flushed ominously, but Kate sat down as if perfectly at her ease.

"Sit down, Dr. John, and accept the facts. It's no use to air your high principles just now, for all is fair in business, as in love or war, or ought to be, and surely one may do as little as this for one's friend. Harry is going to drop in tomorrow. It will look well, if 'tis only for a talk. The women of today all have some pet 'philanthropy.' At present we have taken up our work in your office, and, willy nilly, we shall accomplish our end: Don't be proud, Dr. John. There's the great surgeon, Gilliat, boasts that he secured his first patients by riding daily at great speed from his office on a horse borrowed from a friend because he had no money to hire with. Now I'll peep out. Perhaps our arrival may already have drawn in some one who was halting doubtfully before the unknown sign. Ah, there is a pale faced stranger there. Put on your most professional air now and make her wait till each and every impostor has been attended to. Let her see that you are a busy man, with no time to waste. Call 'Next!' solemnly till all the girls have been in to congratulate you upon the pale faced waiter. Good day, doctor. So you really think that I am so much better that I needn't come so soon again? When did you say—next Thursday? So glad, and I never can be thankful enough that I heard of your skillful treatment in cases like mine."

The pale faced woman listened eagerly and with a dawning hope that she, too, might find the long looked for help.

Daily, morning and afternoon, fine carriages were seen before Dr. John's office door, and finely dressed old ladies, young women with their children and young girls in couples were seen going into the "popular young doctor's," and not infrequently a kindly disposed father, husband or brother, having a leisure hour, joined the waiting ranks and hugely enjoyed it, and the inner office heard many a good story, and its walls deadened many a merry laugh, so that it should not reach the ears of the "genuines" without.

The real patients followed the "false lead" so rapidly that even pessimistic Dr. John saw that an Easter wedding would not be a "financial imprudence."

Grasping at a Sunbeam.

It's a common enough thing for children to try to pick up sunbeams, but the earnestness with which this attempt was made by a small boy in an elevated car attracted the attention of the other passengers.

He was a very small boy, not more than 2½ years old and still in dresses. The seats in the car were all taken, and the small boy stood up with his mother.

There came into the car over one of the blinds a slender sunbeam, which fell diagonally downward across the little fellow's dress, and when his eye fell upon this he reached down and carefully closed his hand over it and then raised his hand to his face and opened his fingers. But there wasn't any sunbeam there.

The passengers who saw this were as much interested in it all, in their way, as the small boy was in his, and presently they saw him try it again. Looking down, he saw the sunbeam still there, just where it had been before when he had tried to grasp it, and he made that effort again.

Reaching down, he closed his fingers around it once more, and once more he raised his hand and opened it and looked inside for the sunbeam, once more to find—nothing there.

Then taller buildings cut off the ray, and the small boy's mind was diverted into some other channel.—New York Sun.

The Nick In the Lapel.

You who have been wearing coats and vests since childhood have perhaps never stopped to consider the nick in the lapel. A controversy is now in progress on the other side of the Atlantic as to how this originated. The following ingenious explanation has at length been offered:

It is said that when Napoleon first felt the sway of ambition he tried to implicate General Moreau in Pichegru's conspiracy. Moreau had been Napoleon's superior and was exceedingly popular, but under the circumstances, with the man of destiny in power, it was not safe to express publicly sympathy with Moreau. His admirers and supporters quietly agreed to nick their coat lapels to show their fellowship, the outlines of the coat, after the nick was made, forming the letter M. Moreau was exiled by Napoleon and lived in Morrisville, Pa.

Won Without Trying.

A traveling circus recently paid a visit to a Lancashire town, and, as an attraction, offered a prize to the man who could as the natives term it, "pull th' ugliest mug." The rules laid down were that each person should have three tries. Consequently competition ran high, some of the contortions being terrible to behold. After all had done their level best to win the prize the clown who acted as judge for the competitors coolly confronted a man sitting among the audience, who was noted for his ugliness, and said:

"Tha's won th' prize, owd mon."

"Me!" said the astonished individual; "wha, aw, worn't try' for't."

"Tha's non need to try; tha's won it wi'out."—Tit-Bits.

BRONCHITIS

may mean a mere cold or a chronic incurable inflammation of wind-pipes.

The quickest relief, for a cold, is also the most effectual balm for the worst condition of wind-pipes and lungs.

It takes the edge off a cold in a night, and relieves it progressively—one forgets it after a little.

An old bronchitis, however, is obstinate. Nothing restores the tissues, when once destroyed; and an old bronchitis has gradually impared and partly destroyed the lining of those small pipes between throat and lungs.

Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil is the balm; it sooths if it cannot restore.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

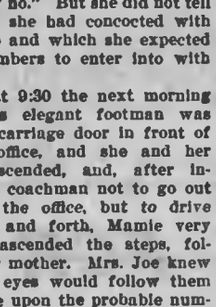
"Played Out"

Is one of the curious expressions used for worked out. Many a woman drops into a chair, in utter weariness "all played out," and wonders why she feels so weak. She has not yet realized that the general health is so intimately related to the local health of the womanly organism, that weakness must follow womanly diseases.



Restoration of the general health invariably follows the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates the periods, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces refreshing sleep.

There is no substitute for "Favorite Prescription," for there is nothing "just as good" for womanly ills.

"I wish to advise the suffering women of this great land, of the good I have received from Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. Mary Shappell, of Columbus Grove, Putnam Co., Ohio. "For four years I had been a sufferer from female troubles, and at times was unable to do even the housework for three in the family. I had such pains that I suffered almost death dozens of times, but after taking five bottles of your medicines I can truthfully say that my health was greatly improved. I have a good appetite and am gaining in flesh right along. This spring is the first time in five years that I have done my house cleaning all by myself and without the least fatigue whatever. I hope all suffering women may find relief as I have done.

"My gain in weight has been just ten pounds, and I am still gaining."

IF LIVING IS BUT WARFARE.

If living is but warfare, a fierce and vast campaign,
Let's be good soldiers in our day, the kind that don't complain;
The cheerful breed that on the march so steady strides along
And gathers round the bivouac of night with heartening song,
That bears the brunt of battle as bravely as may be
And cultivates a laughing eye, the brighter side to see,
For self respect's a steadfast mark to guide your marching by,
And the world loves its good soldiers that bear them straight and high.

If living is but warfare, let's make it splendid war,
Till of some noble purpose tells each honorable scar
And vanquishment shall only mean a worthy deed deferred
And victory's cry as that of right triumphant shall be heard
So glorious that when the grand Te Deum strains arise
God's angels shall lift up the chant and choir it through the skies,
And the trumpets of archangels shall sound the proud release
That signals to good soldiers God's ultimate of peace!

Dr. John's Patients

The Story of How the Doctor's Practice Was Secured.

BY KEZIAH SHELTON.

Copyright, 1901, by Keziah Shelton.

"Philanthropic clubwomen, indeed! So they claim to be. I'd like to see a bit of their practical assistance given to some struggling man or woman!" exclaimed Dr. John as his betrothed come home from her club and found that he had been waiting 15 minutes for her return. Poor man, he felt justified in speaking harshly, for she, of course, must know that he was liable to call! But his affianced, though she loved Dr. John, did not feel it her duty to encourage by unwise indulgence his "inherited tendency" to tyrannize over her in small things.

"Now, dear John," said his fiancee, "your criticism is uncalled for and unkind. Many of the women's clubs do interest themselves in 'practical kindnesses,' seeking work for the needy, finding an opening for the man or woman of talent. Were it not in the nature of family matters I could prove it by the works of our own club, the Whensoevers. What an uncomfortable mood you are in tonight, John!"

"Pshaw?! But perhaps I am feeling a bit off, for I'm utterly discouraged, Marion. I wish that I had spent half the time at an 'industrial' studying mechanics that was wasted at Harvard, Berlin, Heidelberg and 'others too numerous to mention,' as is said of other unmarketables. A shovel holds a market value; my 'learning' does not, it seems.

"Now, dear, you are not only in a pessimistic but also in a cruel mood. You can succeed. I feel that success is only deferred. Look at Dr. Hugh Winthrop's success, both as a physician and bookmaker. Though today it seems phenomenal, it was slow coming. Brighten, up, my dear; the tide will turn your way some day, and now let's go for a walk and make our wedding call upon Mamie and Joe."

During the call Marion and Mamie, the talented and noble hearted president of the Whensoevers, carried on an earnest conversation. Now and then their low but merry laughter caused two men to look across the room with aroused curiosity.

"By the way, Dr. John," said Mamie when the callers arose to leave, "I am coming to your office tomorrow with mamma. Nothing particular the matter, but she's always ailing, you know, and a change of doctors helps her greatly."

"The tide is turning, John, dear," said Marion as they strolled away. Mrs. Mason will prove a bonanza and a mascot both for you if you please her. Why, within a month she will have 'talked over to your office' more than a score of her friends, who, like herself, enjoy making a fad of a good looking doctor with a foreign diploma and manners sufficient to make him presentable at high teas."

"Marion, did you ask Mamie to bring her mother to me professionally?" asked Dr. John sternly.

"Postitively no." But she did not tell him the plot she had concocted with Mamie's help and which she expected the club members to enter into with spirit.

Promptly at 9:30 the next morning Mrs. Mason's elegant footman was opening her carriage door in front of Dr. John's office, and she and her daughter descended, and, after instructing the coachman not to go out of sight of the office, but to drive slowly back and forth, Mamie very deliberately ascended the steps, followed by her mother. Mrs. Joe knew that curious eyes would follow them and speculate upon the probable number of "swell patients" the new doctor had upon his books.

While her unsuspecting—having been once a young woman, did she see through the plan and become a silent accomplice—mother was consulting Dr. John in the inner room the president of the Whensoevers sat in the waiting room, greeting with merry words her fellow club workers, whose practical philanthropy Dr. John had so bitterly doubted. "Would he be convinced, or would he just be an old growly wowly sort of fellow that would scowl and refuse help?"

"It's great fun, isn't it? And will quite impress the neighborhood, especially when Mme. Dumonte drives up with her milk white ponies and her natty tiger in the rumble."

"I only hope that Dr. John will not be angry at our friendly strategies. There comes Mme. Dumonte now, clothed in all her usual dignity and impressive style, and here comes mamma. I must get her away before she suspects anything out of the ordinary, for I mean her to be a real patient, the nucleus of many other genuines to displace us, the impostors. Keep up this fiction, girls, twice a week, until we are crowded out by 'truly' patients. You go in now, Kate, and use all your persuasive powers to keep Dr. John from ordering us to mind our own business. Goodby, girls, and success to your good intentions."

Dr. John looked at the gathering of familiar faces in amazement. "Really, this looks like a bachelor's 'at home.' I have not sent out cards while in a dream, have I?" he asked in a puzzled manner.

Kate came readily to the front. "Your 'from 9 to 11' at the door is sufficient, sir. I think that I am 'next,' Dr. John." And she turned toward the door opening into the consulting room.

Dr. John followed, not half believing and not at all understanding.

"Now, Dr. John, for the sake of our lifelong friendship, don't be angry, please, at our club's little strategy! You can't lock us out, and we are women of determination. If only 'dummy' patients,' we have lots of patience and are resolved to visit you as long as there is room for us."

Dr. John's face flushed ominously, but Kate sat down as if perfectly at her ease.

"Sit down, Dr. John, and accept the facts. It's no use to air your high principles just now, for all is fair in business, as in love or war, or ought to be, and surely one may do as little as this for one's friend. Harry is going to drop in tomorrow. It will look well, if 'tis only for a talk. The women of today all have some pet 'philanthropy.' At present we have taken up our work in your office, and, willy nilly, we shall accomplish our end. Don't be proud, Dr. John. There's the great surgeon, Gilliat, boasts that he secured his first patients by riding daily at great speed from his office on a horse borrowed from a friend because he had no money to hire with. Now I'll peep out. Perhaps our arrival may already have drawn in some one who was halting doubtfully before the unknown sign. Ah, there is a pale faced stranger there. Put on your most professional air now and make her wait till each and every impostor has been attended to. Let her see that you are a busy man, with no time to waste. Call 'Next!' solemnly till all the girls have been in to congratulate you upon the pale faced waiter. Good day, doctor. So you really think that I am so much better that I needn't come so soon again? When did you say—next Thursday? So glad, and I never can be thankful enough that I heard of your skillful treatment in cases like mine."

The pale faced woman listened eagerly and with a dawning hope that she, too, might find the long looked for help.

Daily, morning and afternoon, fine carriages were seen before Dr. John's office door, and finely dressed old ladies, young women with their children and young girls in couples were seen going into the "popular young doctor's," and not infrequently a kindly disposed father, husband or brother, having a leisure hour, joined the waiting ranks and hugely enjoyed it, and the inner office heard many a good story, and its walls deadened many a merry laugh, so that it should not reach the ears of the "genuines" without.

The real patients followed the "false lead" so rapidly that even pessimistic Dr. John saw that an Easter wedding would not be a "financial imprudence."

Grasping at a Sunbeam.

It's a common enough thing for children to try to pick up sunbeams, but the earnestness with which this attempt was made by a small boy in an elevated car attracted the attention of the other passengers.

He was a very small boy, not more than 2½ years old and still in dresses. The seats in the car were all taken, and the small boy stood up with his mother.

There came into the car over one of the blinds a slender sunbeam, which fell diagonally downward across the little fellow's dress, and when his eye fell upon this he reached down and carefully closed his hand over it and then raised his hand to his face and opened his fingers. But there wasn't any sunbeam there.

The passengers who saw this were as much interested in it all, in their way, as the small boy was in his, and presently they saw him try it again. Looking down, he saw the sunbeam still there, just where it had been before when he had tried to grasp it, and he made that effort again.

Reaching down, he closed his fingers around it once more, and once more he raised his hand and opened it and looked inside for the sunbeam, once more to find—nothing there.

Then taller buildings cut off the ray, and the small boy's mind was diverted into some other channel.—New York Sun.

The Nick In the Lapel.

You who have been wearing coats and vests since childhood have perhaps never stopped to consider the nick in the lapel. A controversy is now in progress on the other side of the Atlantic as to how this originated. The following ingenious explanation has at length been offered:

It is said that when Napoleon first felt the sway of ambition he tried to implicate General Moreau in Pichegru's conspiracy. Moreau had been Napoleon's superior and was exceedingly popular, but under the circumstances, with the man of destiny in power, it was not safe to express publicly sympathy with Moreau. His admirers and supporters quietly agreed to nick their coat lapels to show their fellowship, the outlines of the coat, after the nick was made, forming the letter M. Moreau was exiled by Napoleon and lived in Morrisville, Pa.

Won Without Trying.

A traveling circus recently paid a visit to a Lancashire town, and, as an attraction, offered a prize to the man who could as the natives term it, "pull th' ugliest mug." The rules laid down were that each person should have three tries. Consequently competition ran high, some of the contortions being terrible to behold. After all had done their level best to win the prize the clown who acted as judge for the competitors coolly confronted a man sitting among the audience, who was noted for his ugliness, and said:

"Tha's won th' prize, owd mon."

"Me!" said the astonished individual; "wha, aw, worn't try' for't."

"Tha's non need to try; tha's won it wi'out."—Tit-Bits.

BRONCHITIS

may mean a mere cold or a chronic incurable inflammation of wind-pipes.

The quickest relief, for a cold, is also the most effectual balm for the worst condition of wind-pipes and lungs.

It takes the edge off a cold in a night, and relieves it progressively—one forgets it after a little.

An old bronchitis, however, is obstinate. Nothing restores the tissues, when once destroyed; and an old bronchitis has gradually impared and partly destroyed the lining of those small pipes between throat and lungs.

Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil is the balm; it sooths if it cannot restore.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

A SMALLPOX SCARE.

Two Cases Reported in Campbellford Which can Hardly be Called by That Name.

(Campbellford Herald.)

During the past few days many rumours have been afloat as to the prevalence of smallpox in Campbellford, but the condition of things creates little alarm, although the necessary precautions are being taken by the Board of Health to prevent the disease from spreading.

The alarm was sounded as the result of a visit from Dr. Bryce, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, who came here from Hastings on Sunday last in search of a person who was suspected of being affected with the disease.

There is only one case, however, that of the little daughter of Mr. G. Holmes, residing on Rear street, which Dr. Bryce pronounced to be of a very mild type. The family have been quarantined and six other families, neighbours of the Holmes family, are isolated, only the wage earners being allowed to leave the house.

A short time ago Mrs. Hubble, of Havelock, came to Campbellford to attend her daughter, Mrs. Richard Cole, who was ill. On returning home, Mrs. Hubble became ill, it is said with smallpox, so the supposition was that she contracted the disease from her daughter. Dr. Loucks treated Mrs. Cole, and he noticed a few eruptions on her face, but he was not of the opinion that it was smallpox. It has been said that she contracted the disease from her husband, who has lately returned from the shanty. This does not appear to be reasonable, however, as Mr. Cole was not ill, and as far as he knows he did not come in contact with any one affected in this way.

Before the camp broke up on Black Creek, near Coe Hill, where Mr. Cole was employed, sickness broke out among the men, and fearing the danger of smallpox, which was prevalent in western camps, the Rathbun Co. sent for Dr. Macoun, of Campbellford, to visit the camp. Upon his arrival the only illness he found was grippe and mumps.

Mrs. Cole recovered in a short time and is now at Havelock quarantined with her mother.

We have already said everything is being done by the Board of Health to confine the disease to the one family. On Sunday a meeting of the Board was held and a telegram was sent to Toronto for vaccine, which arrived here Monday morning. With this they ordered the vaccination of thirty-seven persons in seven families near the Holmes family, which was done. The four physicians of the town were instructed by the Board of Health to visit the schools and vaccinate every pupil who had not been previously vaccinated, and this was done on Tuesday and yesterday.

As yet there is no cause to be alarmed, and it is hoped no other case will develop; but at the same time it will be wise to use every precaution in guarding against an outbreak of the disease.

GRAND TRUNK'S BROCHURE.

Company's Latest Publication Shows Art in Advertising.

Art in advertising is a feature that the Grand Trunk Railway Company does not lose sight of when issuing any of its advertising matter, and it can be safely said that the publications issued are second to none. The best of printing material that goes to make up a handsome tout-ensemble is used, and every particular as regards the execution of the work is carefully looked after. This is practically demonstrated in the new publication issued by the advertising department relative to the unrivalled service from the west to Portland, Me., in connection with the trans-atlantic service given by the Dominion Line of steamships to Europe. The brochure is entitled "Across the Atlantic via Portland, Maine," it is printed in five colours on enamelled coated paper and gives an exhaustive and accurate description of the trip from Chicago and other western points over the Grand Trunk to its present eastern terminus at Portland.

The cover is a very fine piece of half-tone engraving depicting a scene in the harbour of Portland, reproduced from a view taken from the shore of South Portland, and showing one of the Dominion Line steamers leaving port. The large elevators belonging to the Grand Trunk show up prominently in the design, and with Mountjoy Hill looming up on the left a realistic picture is presented. The text is printed in two colours and profusely illustrated with scenes along the route. The illustrations are printed in the luxotype process, a unique style of printing introduced by the Grand Trunk, and which has been found most effective in enhancing the lights and shadows of the half-tones. An engraving in colours of the funnel marks and house flags of the principal trans-atlantic steamship lines is also shown.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CENTURY FUND.

Five Hundred and Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars Subscribed.

Special Appeal for an Additional Contribution on the 26th.

The executive of the Century Fund Committee met in Toronto on Friday, May 3rd, and carefully went over the reports received from congregations of the church. These indicated that the sum of $525,000 was actually subscribed for the Common Fund, including estimates of subscriptions yet to to be got in a number of congregations in the Northwest. There is thus lacking $75,000 of the $600,000 asked for.

The time fixed for the completion of the effort, according to the action of the General Assembly was May 1. The Committee prolonged the date to May 28th, and resolved to make an earnest appeal to every congregation and mission station in the church for a special additional contribution on Sabbath, 19th May, or where this is not convenient, on Sabbath, 26th of May. Envelopes have been prepared containing a brief appeal, with blanks for the name of the contributor and the amount of the offering. These have been sent out in parcels to every minister, and it is hoped that, without a single exception, the people in every congregation, members and adherants, will have the envelopes distributed among them, and the opportunity given to contribute on one or other of the Sabbaths named. The committee are most anxious that the effort should prove an entire success, as they are confident it will, if the people in every congregation have the opportunity given them to subscribe. During the past year nearly $100,000 was got from the church upon behalf of the Indian Famine Fund, without much effort, and considering the prosperous condition of the country, and the great benefit to be derived to the church in all its departments by the Century Fund scheme, the fullest confidence is entertained regarding the result. Attention is called to the following points:

1.—That the envelopes be immediately distributed so that every member and adherent in each congregation may receive one.

2.—That if, from any cause, envelopes have not reached the ministry or missionary in any district, application be made immediately for them to Rev. Dr. Warden, Toronto.

3.—That ministers bring the matter from the pulpit before their congregations on the Sabbath preceding the return of the envelopes.

4.—That the contributions from the envelopes, together with all other moneys for the common fund, be forwarded so as to reach the Treasurers on or before Wednesday, 29th May. This is specially important, because the report for the General Assembly requires to be printed that afternoon so that it may be stitched with the other reports to be submitted to the assembly. In the memorial volume to be published will appear the names of all who contribute by means of these envelopes, together with the amount of their contribution, as well as the names of those who have already subscribed in connection with the canvass of individual congregations.

5.—This Sabbath envelope collection it should be distinctly understood, is special and additional to any contribution previously made.

6.—That if, from any cause, any one desiring to respond to this appeal may not receive an envelope, their contribution may be sent direct, before May 26th, to either of the treasurers of the fund,—Rev. E. A. McCurdy, Halifax, (for the Maritime Provinces) or Rev. Dr. Warden, Toronto, (for Quebec, Ontario and the North West).

Of the amount subscribed for the Common Fund $265,000 have already been received by the treasurers. Nearly $800,000 have, in connection with the Century Fund movement, been raised for church debts over and above the amount subscribed for the Common Fund.

COMPROMISE OR ARBITRATION.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Speaks of the Alaska Boundary Dispute.

PROROGATION OF PARLIAMENT.

The Premier Makes a Statement Concerning the Claim of Messrs. McKenzie & Mann, and of Its Being Sent for Judicial Audit to the Courts—The Governor's Speech.

Ottawa, May 25.—When the last business of the session had been put through on Thursday in the Commons Mr. Borden arose and asked for a statement relating to the position regarding the Alaskan boundary. The present condition was unsatisfactory, he said, because the United States, which occupies territory that belongs to Canada, was unwilling to admit the question to arbitration, as Great Britain had done regarding the Venezuelan boundary. The longer the United States is allowed to hold the territory the more difficult it will be to obtain a satisfactory settlement.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replitd: "It is our expectation that the High Commission will resume its sitting at an early date. We must do something to bring this commission to an issue of some kind. If we cannot agree with friends on the other side of the line with regard to the question that has been referred to (the Alaskan boundary) we must know it and see what action we shall adopt otherwise, and I have reason to believe that the commission will resume its sittings at an early day. One of the questions to be taken up (the most important perhaps) is the question of the Alaskan boundary. The leader of the Opposition asked if this question had been eliminated from the program of the commission. Far from it; it is in the very forefront of the commission. I may say, before I proceed any further, that in justice to ourselves and to the sister colony of Newfoundland, which is represented, as we are, on the commission, it is necessary the commission should resume its sitting and that there should be a conclusion. If we fail to reach any conclusion, if we fail to settle the questions which are referred to the commission, or some of them at all events, then we shall have to revise our relations with our sister colony of Newfoundland. That is all the more reason why the commission should be asked to meet at an early date. With regard to the Alaskan boundary, I have nothing more to say than I have already stated many and many a time. It is a question which ought to be settled and settled promptly. It is of the greatest moment, not only for Canada, but for the United States and Great Britain as well, that the question should be indefinitely settled as to what the boundary is between Alaska and Canada, and the House is aware that we have not been able to come to any understanding on that, and that there is only one thing that can be done under such circumstances between two such civilized nations as Great Britain and the United States, and especially between two such nations, related as they are to each other by so many ties, not only of interest, but of blood. It is of the greatest moment, that this question should be settled promptly. I am sorry to say that the contentions of the United States and our contentions are so far apart that it may not be possible that each party may succeed in upholding its own pretensions. If we cannot succeed in that we must succeed in some other. There are two other ways which are always open to honorable nations, such as Great Britain and the United States and Canada, and if we cannot succeed in the first way by a fair compromise, then we must succeed in the other way by arbitration. If we cannot settle the question between ourselves we must hope that our friends, the American nation, will agree to call a third party, who will give us the best judgment he can under the circumstances.

MACKENZIE & MANN'S CLAIM.

Ottawa, May 25.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier on Thursday morning laid upon the table of the House the papers connected with the Mackenzie & Mann claim for compensation in connection with their contract for the Yukon Railway. Sir Wilfrid said: "As I explained at a former sitting of the House that I would present this claim and make at the same time a statement concerning it, I beg to say that Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann have presented their claim on equitable grounds to be recouped the expenditure they were led to incur in consequence of having entered into a contract with the Government to build the railway in the Yukon. Their claim as presented at first amounted to $510,000. It has been reduced from time to time. Two hundred thousand dollars have been taken off for the saving these gentlemen were able to make by using the material in other work. There are still some further deductions to be made. There is one part of the claim which will have to be deducted, namely, their claim of 15 per cent. profit on the expenditure. If their claim is to be considered on equitable grounds this, of course, cannot be allowed. But before coming to any conclusion the Government consider that the matter should first be subjected to a judicial audit."

Mr. Borden (Halifax)—I would like to know whether it is the intention of the Premier to have the papers printed.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied in the affirmative, and in reply to a further question by Dr. Sproule, said that when he spoke of a judicial audit he meant that it should be referred to the courts.

In reply to Lieut.-Col. Hughes, Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated that the act passed by the Ontario Legislature extending the duration of the Legislative Assembly has been received, but the question of its constitutionality has not been considered.

The supply bill was introduced by Mr. Fielding, and, after slight discussion, sent on to the Senate.

THE HOUSE PROROGUED.

Ottawa, May 25.—At 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon His Excellency the Governor-General proceeded to the Chamber of the Senate, in the Parliament Buildings, and took his seat upon the throne. The members of the Senate being present and the members of the House of Commons having been summoned to the bar of the Senate. His Excellency was pleased to prorogue the first session of the ninth Parliament of the Dominion of Canada with the following speech:

The Governor's Speech.

Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In relieving you from further attendance in Parliament I desire to thank you for the assiduity and zeal with which you have considered the many important subjects that have been brought before you.

It has been pleasing to note that the act making the 24th of May a legal holiday has met with such general approval, evincing as it does a desire to pay a worthy tribute to the memory of a sovereign who was so endeared to her subjects.

The establishment of a branch of the Royal Mint in Canada makes a new departure in our monetary system, and is gratifying to the pride of the people, evidencing as it does the increasing wealth and prosperity of the Dominion.

I am glad to observe the interest shown in so many cities and towns throughout Canada in the approaching visit of the Duke and Duchess of York. It affords an assurance that they will receive a hearty welcome.

The subsidy granted for the establishment of a line of steamers between Canada and France will, I am confident, aid materially in developing and increasing a trade with France that will prove advantageous to both countries.

The act providing for a further allowance to the Province of Prince Edward Island removes from controversy a long-pending claim against the Dominion, and has been accepted in full satisfaction for all damages arising out of the alleged non-fulfilment of the terms of union in respect to intercommunication between the island and the mainland during the winter season.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I thank you for the liberal supplies you have granted toward the development of our resources. This action is amply justified owing to the expanding revenue of the last two years.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I congratulate you upon the adoption of many important measures in addition to those named, and I do not doubt that they will contribute to the general advancement and prosperity of the Dominion.

The Americans Right.

Vancouver, B. C., May 25.—McArthur, the Canadian representative on the joint survey of the international boundary at Mount Baker between British Columbia and the State of Washington, says the Americans were right in the contention last year regarding the line, owing to an error in the original survey.

A MINE EXPLOSION.

Miners Are Imprisoned and Probably Dead in the Pit.

London, May 25.—An explosion occurred yesterday morning at the Universal Colliery at Senghenydd, in the Rhondda Valley. About a hundred men were in the pit at the time of the disaster, and there is little hope of saving the lives of any of them.

The rescuers at the Universal Colliery are working with the greatest difficulty, owing to lack of air. Five bodies have been recovered. The wreckage of the pit is complete, almost precluding hope that the imprisoned men can have survived. There are seventy-eight miners missing.

American Proposal Rejected.

London, May 25.—Dr. Morrison, wiring to The Times from Pekin Thursday, says: "The Ministers of the powers, including Sir Ernest Satow, have unanimously rejected the American proposal for the reduction of the indemnity, and have agreed, Mr. Rockhill alone dissenting, to increase import duties to an effective 5 per cent., waiving claim for compensatory commercial facilities. Germany approves the British proposal for payment by a bond issue."

Col. Steele's Territory.

Ottawa, May 25.—Col. Steele will leave Ottawa for South Africa next week. He states he is to take command on his arrival there of a district with headquarters at Pietersburg. This territory extends from the Portuguese border to Rhodesia and the German possessions, and in it is located the important town of Lydenburg. Col. Steele will have command of 2,000 men, including the Canadians who enlisted in Canada and sailed for South Africa in March. He will be one of five colonels serving under Baden-Powell. He is well acquainted with his new territory, and should be in a position to handle it well.

CANADA'S ACQUIESCENCE.

U. S. Navy Send Gunboats, Without Guns, on the Inland Lakes.

Washington, May 25.—Any doubt that may have existed as to the right of the United States Government to send small auxiliary gunboats into the great lakes for the training of the naval militia has been dissipated so far as the cases of the Dorothea and the Haw are concerned by the graceful acquiescence of the Canadian Government in the movement. It being represented that the little gunboats would traverse the St. Lawrence and the lakes without guns aboard, and it also being understood that they are to be used solely for purposes of drill, the Canadian Government, through the British Government, has waived any objection to the entrance of [illegible]

MILNER MADE A PEER

Greeted by Lord Salisbury and Government in London.

LIBERALS WILL NOT MEET HIM.

Although Much Benefited by the Sea Voyage, He Declined to Make a Speech at Southampton, Where Members of the Cabinet Were Present to Greet Him—Goes to See the King.

London, May 25.—Sir Alfred Milner has arrived in England from South Africa. Mr. Chamberlain has spared neither time nor trouble in organizing a greeting for the High Commissioner, and succeeded in inducing a number of Cabinet Ministers to take the most unusual course of going to Southampton to welcome the home-coming of the politician. Mr. Chamberlain is giving a luncheon to Sir Alfred Milner, to which a number of leading Liberals have declined invitations.

Sir Alfred Milner, when he arrived at Southampton yesterday, was formally welcomed by the mayor and the corporation. In a brief reply the High Commissioner said he had been greatly benefited by the voyage. He had come home for rest and not to make speeches. He then proceeded to London.

When Sir Alfred arrived in London an unusually distinguished crowd greeted him on the platform. The first person to seize his hand was Lord Salisbury, who warmly welcomed him. Then in quick rotation came Mr. Chamberlain, Lord Roberts, A. J. Balfour, Lord Halsbury, Mr. Brodrick, Lord Cranborne, and other Cabinet Ministers, and half a hundred Dukes and Earls, and other personal friends of lower degree pressed forward to shake the High Commissioner's hand. All remarked how well Sir Alfred was looking. He chatted with Lord Salisbury and Mr. Chamberlain and then went out of the station. A fair sized crowd cheered him heartily.

Sir Alfred left the railroad station in a carriage and went to see the King. Later it was announced that King Edward had elevated Sir Alfred Milner to the peerage.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CREED.

The General Assembly at Philadelphia Determines on a Strong Vote to Continue the Discussion Thereon.

Philadelphia, May 25.—The Presbyterian General Assembly, by a vote which showed conclusively that a revision of the Confession of Faith is is desired by the church, yesterday defeated the amendment dismissing the whole subject offered on Thursday by Rev. George D. Baker of Philadelphia. The assembly decided by an overwhelming majority, by a rising vote, to continue consideration of the great question after two days of debate, during which leading exponents of the Presbyterian doctrine throughout the country thoroughly analyzed the creed and gave their reasons for their positions regarding the subject. At tht opening of the afternoon session the assembly decided to vote on the amendment at 4.30 o'clock, and speeches were limited to 10 minutes. The time, however, was extended in order to give a number of commissioners who wished to be heard an opportunity of speaking.

The principal address of the day was made by Rev. Dr. John Dewitt in the morning and Rev. Dr. Charles A. Dickey closing the debate. Dr. Dewitt favored dismissal, declaring that, though there might be slight divergency of opinion on the confession, the church was united on the Word of God.

Dr. Dickey took a decided stand against dismissal. He said, as the question of revision was now before the assembly, no evil could result from a further consideration of the committee's report.

Dr. W. H. Roberts made a plea for a declarative statement asserting the supremacy of the Holy Scripture as the only source of doctrine; that the system of the Confession is the same as Holy Scripture teaches, and that infants are saved by God's electing grace.

The discussion at times was lively, but without bitterness.

A RAILWAY 9-HOUR DAY.

Washington, May 25.—President James O'Connell of the International Association of Machinists, announced yesterday afternoon that he would recommend to the next annual convention of machinists at Toronto, beginning June 3, that a date be set for a nine-hour day, without reduction in wages, on all the railroads of the country. On railways which fail to comply with this demand a strike will be ordered. This recommendation will be made in Mr. O'Connell's annual report.

Mr. O'Connell says that a railroad strike would probably involve 100,000 men, including 40,000 machinists, the others being boilermakers, patternmakers and skilled workmen who work with the machinists at the various shops.

At 5 O'clock yesterday afternoon, Mr. O'Connell said the outlook in the present strike was very gratifying.

Bishop Moreau Dead.

St. Hyacinthe, Que., May 25.—His Lordship Bishop Moreau died at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The Rt. Rev. Louis Tephirin Moreau, was born at Becancour, April 1, 1824, and had, therefore, reached his 77th year. His early education was obtained at the Seminary Nicolet, where he studied under the historian, [illegible] and the present Bishop

THE WEATHER WAS BAD.

Conditions Prevailing in Ontario at the Celebrations of the First Victoria Day—Some of the Events.

All over the Province the weather failed to be propitious, but in every city, town and hamlet, the memory of the late Queen was kept green and citizens participated in sports and were merry in spite of dampness. Though no special references were made to the late Queen, there was doubtless scarcely a man, a woman or a child who did not think of her who, though now gone, yet will never be forgotten, and whose name will live forever in Victoria Day, that comes every twenty-fourth of May.

Lacrosse in the Rain.

Toronto, May 25.—In miserable weather and on a field saturated with water, the opening match of the championship lacrosse series was played yesterday afternoon on the Rosedale grounds. Despite the unfavorable weather conditions, however, about 1,500 people witnessed the game, which was fast and closely contested throughout. The Torontos won by 3 to 1. The Capitals was the opposing team.

Hand Blown to Pieces.

While celebrating the holiday Arthur Ecclestone, aged 18 years, who lives at 86 Macdonnell avenue, set fire to a display of fireworks, when a large cracker exploded, frightfully mangling his right hand.

At the Pan-American.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 25.—Yesterday was Victoria Day at the Pan-American Exposition. The bands at the grounds played the national airs of England almost entirely.

As is usual on the 24th of May, excursions were run to Buffalo from Canadian points.

On the flagstaffs of the buildings and the pennon poles of the courts and Triumphal Causeway the Cross of St. George and the royal colors of the Empire, quartered in the Thistle of Scotland, the Castle of Wales, the Harp of Ireland and the Leopards of England, were in unusual evidence.

Canadian exhibits, which in the mines and horticultural buildings are particularly fine, are in a finished state and the Canadian visitors naturally spent much time about these exhibits.

Besides the exhibit in the Horticultural Building, Canada is well represented in agriculture, mines, model dairy, forestry, and machinery and transportation.

Another picturesque feature of yesterday's crowd was the Alpha Delta Phi men. A large concourse of them gathered in the Agricultural Building about Manitoba's exhibit, and, joining hands, solemnly sang "God Save the Queen." The Canadians cheered them heartily.

How a Little Girl Made Her Home Happier.

The following extracts are taken from a letter written by a well-known lady of London, Ont., to the Malted Cereals Company, Montreal:

"My little girl, aged twelve years came home recently after a visit of ten weeks in Toronto. She got home looking so plump and hearty that I came to the conclusion that she had been well fed. I found that while her diet morning, noon and night was very much the same as she had been accustomed to at home, she had been using what she called Malt Breakfast Food at her aunt's, and that it was this food that had given her extra flesh and such a robust appearance. I got no peace from her till I ordered some from my Grocer, so that we might try the food that she had thrived so well on. We now use Malt Breakfast Food every morning and I am pleased to say that we all love it, and would not be without it for any consideration. We think it the most delicious and healthiest food we have ever used, and wish you every success with your healthful Malt Breakfast Food."

All first-class Grocers sell it.

For the Echequer Court.

Ottawa, May 23.—The claim of Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann in connection with the proposed Yukon Railway, which was thrown out by the Senate, will be referred to the Exchequer Court. It is understood that the amount is $300,000, but the contractors will have to prove the amount and justice of their claim in court. The claim has been before the Government in one form or another for three years. It has been decided to give the contractors a fiat, so that they can take their case to the courts and establish it.

Killed by a Horse.

Brantford, May 23.—John Joseph Hardigan, the 17-months'-old child of Owen Hardigan, West Brantford, was fatally injured while playing on the street Tuesday afternoon, and died a few hours afterwards as the result of the injuries received. The little one was playing on the street with a couple of other children, and, unobserved by them, wandered onto the road. Some unknown persons was driving past in a buggy at the time, and ran into the baby. The driver did not stop to give assistance.

A Slight Misprint.

"Well, that's enough to try the patience of Job," exclaimed the village minister as he threw aside the local paper.

"Why, what's the matter, dear?" asked his wife.

"Last Sunday I preached from the text, 'Be ye therefore steadfast,'" answered the good man, "but the printer makes it read, 'Be ye there for breakfast.'"—Glasgow Times.

THE BOOKS ON CANADA

Review of the Publications Relating to This Country in 1900.

SEVEN PAGES OF BRIEF TITLES.

It Was Edited by the Professor of History (Prof. Wrong) of Toronto University, and Published by That Institution of Learning—Canada's Relations to the Empire—Other Sections of the Review.

The fifth volume of "The Review of Historical Publications Relating to Canada," published by the University of Toronto, and edited by the professor of history (Professor Wrong) and the librarian of the university (Mr. H. H. Langton), has just appeared, and embodies a review of all the publications of 1900 relating to Canada. It is sumptuously printed. Annually for five years a volume such as this has been issued. It seemed at first hardly possible that each year a book of more than two hundred pages could be filled with review of the publications relating to Canada appearing in a single year. Yet here it is. Nearly seven pages are taken up with the brief titles alone of these publications.

The contents are divided conveniently into groups, of which "Canada's Relations to the Empire" stands first. Nothing very important under this head appeared in 1900, if we except the able book on "Commercial Federation and Colonial Trade Policy," written by Professor Davidson of the University of New Brunswick. He proposes, in lieu of preferential trade, that subsidies should be paid in order to cheapen transportation within the Empire. This would amount to a practical preference, and would do good all round. Anything more than this is unlikely, he thinks, to be effected.

The second section in The Review is "The History of Canada," and a large number of works appeared in 1900. There are some learned reviews on the Cabot question. The great edition of the "Jesuit Relations," just completed, calls for a long article. A new and scholarly life of Champlain, by M. Gravier, has appeared, and some attention is paid to works on the diplomatic relations between Great Britain and the United States affecting Canada. A good many inaccuracies and omissions in the articles on Canadians in the "Dictionary of National Biography" are pointed out.

In the third section, "Provincial and Local History," the French shore question as it affects Newfoundland is reviewed, the "tenth island" being treated as really a part of Canada. The Nova Scotia Government has published a new volume of archives throwing more light upon the Acadian question. Judge Routhier has written an interesting history of the City of Quebec, and Mr. John Ross Robertson's "Landmarks of Toronto" is noted. The Northwest and British Columbia are much in evidence, Mr. Beckles Willson's and Dr. Bryce's histories of the Hudson Bay Company being the most important works in the year. Mr. Baillie-Grohman gives an amusing account of sport and life in British Columbia.

In the fourth section, "Geography, Economics and Statistics," numerous works on the Klondike are noticed. This review is the best guide to the enormous literature upon this subject. In an earlier volume Dr. G. M. Dawson, the late Director of the Geological Survey of Canada, described the Klondike literature up to the time of writing. The publications of 1900 have not lost the former sensational character. The Klondike miners are, it appears, admirers of Shakespeare. "Nearly everywhere Shakespeare seems to be the favorite author. . . . A gulch that had a full set of Shakespeare considered itself in for rather a cosy winter, and there were regular Shakespeare clubs, where each miner took a certain character to read.

The reviewer of the Statistical Year-book of Canada, edited by Mr. George Johnson, rebukes what he calls its tone of narrow patriotism.

The progress of mining in Canada and the work of the Geological Survey are described, and we have a record of travel in Canada, extending from Labrador to the Pacific Coast. Perhaps the most breezy book reviewed is "Buffalo Jones' Forty Years' of Adventure." "Archaeology, Ethnology and Folk-lore" and "Education" complete the volume. Many publications relating to the Indians in Canada appeared during the year. In connection with education, readers are pleased to see a sketch of the career and a complete bibliography of Sir Daniel Wilson.

On the whole, the contents of the review are most varied and interesting. Nowhere else is there to be found such a repertoire of information regarding works on Canada. Professor Wrong and his collaborateurs criticize frankly. The tone is fair, however, and frank criticism is still so rare in this country as to deserve a special meed of praise.

Whelps of the Lion.

Of all the colonies New Zealand sent the largest proportion of its strong youth to fight on the African veldt. While Canada has sent one in every 1,228 of its population, and Australia one in every 880, New Zealand has sent one in every 335.

He Was It.

Augustus Hare told an amusing story of one of his charming peripatetic lectures in Rome. He had convoyed his little flock, which included at least one live prince, through the palace of the Cæsars and had gathered them near the Forum, when he observed a mysterious stranger who had attached himself to the party "looking more and more angry every minute." At length this interloper could stand Mr. Hare no longer. He burst forth in denunciations. "All that this person has been telling you," he informed the party in a loud voice, "about the palace of the Cæsars he has had the effrontery to relate to you as if it were his own. You will be astonished, gentlemen and ladies, to hear that it is taken word for word—word for word, without the slightest acknowledgment—from Mr. Hare's 'Walks In Rome.'" "All I said," says Mr. Hare, "was: 'Oh, I am so much obliged to you. I did not know there was anybody in the world who would defend my interests so kindly. I am Augustus Hare.'" It was a magnificent moment.

Cinders in the Eye.

Persons traveling by railway are subject to continued annoyance from the flying cinders. On getting into the eyes, they are not only painful for the moment, but are often the cause of long suffering that ends in a total loss of sight. A very simple and effective cure is within the reach of every one and would prevent much suffering and expense were it generally known. It is simply one or two grains of flaxseed. These may be placed in the eye without injury or pain to that delicate organ, and shortly they begin to swell and dissolve a glutinous substance that covers the ball of the eye, enveloping any foreign substance that may be in it. The irritation of cutting the membrane is thus prevented, and the annoyance may soon be washed out. A dozen of these grains stowed away in the vest pocket may prove in an emergency worth their number in gold.

Beecher Luck.

One day in a town where he was to lecture Rev. Henry Ward Beecher went into a barber shop to be shaved. The barber, not knowing him, asked him if he was going to hear Beecher lecture.

"I guess so," was the reply.

"Well," continued the barber, "if you haven't got a ticket you can't get one. They're all sold, and you'll have to stand."

"That's just my luck," said Mr. Beecher. "I always did have to stand when ever I've heard that man talk."—Ladies Home Journal.

"Solid Beer."

One of the recent inventions tried on the British soldiers in South Africa is called "solid beer." It is a jelly made from malt and hops, from which beer can be made anywhere and fermented. It is said to make excellent beer and to work equally well in hot or cold climates, the process being very simple. The military authorities have reported favorably upon it.

CONSUMPTION CURED

—BY—

Powley's Liquified Ozone

Mrs. Banks Had Three Hemorrhages of the Lungs—Ozone Gave Her a Permanent Cure.

I was afflicted with bronchial and lung trouble for three years. The disease became firmly seated in my system, and I began to despair of ever being well. I had the best medical advice in the city, and spent a lot of money in medicine. I became a complete wreck, physically, at the end of three years, and at night had to be propped up in bed with pillows so that I could breathe. I had three hemorrhages of the lungs. My system was entirely run down, and I suffered exceedingly from female troubles. A friend of mine living in Muskoka told me to try Ozone, the new system of treatment, as she had been greatly benefited by it. I purchased one bottle, but did not get much relief. At the end of the second bottle I felt much improved, and when I had taken nine bottles I had quite recovered.

My husband did not know that I had taken Ozone, and thought I had stopped the doctoring altogether. He said to me:—"Didn't I tell you that you would get well when you stopped taking medicine?" When I told him about Ozone he was surprised, and thought that it would do his eczema good. He took some, with the result that it cured him.

We are both very thankful for Powley's Liquified Ozone, and consider it the best household remedy to be obtained. I have never yet been troubled with a return of my old complaint, and feel wonderfully well.

(Signed) (Mrs.) IRENA J. BANKS, 787 Queen street west, Toronto.

This case is like that of Mr. Wm. McKay, of Sutton, a most remarkable one. It shows the wonderful power of Powley's Liquified Ozone to create a healthy condition of the blood and tissues, in which diseased germs cannot live. If you know of anyone who has lung trouble or consumption draw their attention to these cases. You may be the means of saving life. Write for our Literature; we can interest you.

A NERVOUS WRECK.

WAS THE CONDITION OF MISS GILLIS FOR EIGHT YEARS.

The Best Doctors' and Hospital Treatment Failed to Help Her, and She Had Almost Lost Hope of Ever Being Well Again—Her Earnest Advice to Other Sufferers.

One of the most common, and at the same time one of the most to be dreaded ailments which afflicts the people of this country is nervous debility. The causes leading to the trouble are various, overwork or worry being among the most prominent. But whatever the cause, the affliction is one that makes life a burden. Such a sufferer for years was Miss Margaret Gillis, of Whim Road Cross, P. E. I. Her life was one of almost incessant misery, and she had come to look upon her condition as incurable, when Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were brought to her notice, and to this life-giving, nerve restoring medicine she now owes health and happiness. Miss Gillis tells of her illness and cure as follows: For the past eight years my life has been one of constant misery. My nervous system was shattered and I was reduced to a mere physical wreck. My trouble began in one of the ailments that so frequently afflict my sex. I was irritable and discouraged all the time, and life did not seem worth living. For seven years I was under treatment by doctors. I even went to Boston and entered a hospital where I remained for some time. there the treatment temporarily benefitted me but soon my condition was worse than ever. Finally my nervous trouble took the form of spasms, which caused more suffering than words can tell. When thus attacked, I felt as though I was literly being torn apart. I would frequently become unconscious and sometimes would remain in that condition for half an hour. I have sometimes had as many as six of these spasms in a week, and no one who has not similarly suffered can imagine the tired, wornout, depressed feeling which followed. Doctors seemed utterly unable to do anything for me, and those years of misery can never be forgotten. Then I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and in a short while found them helping me. Then another doctor told me he could cure me. I stopped taking the pills, and like the dog in the fable, while grasping at the shadow I lost the substance. I was soon in as wrecked condition as ever. The pills were the only thing that had ever helped me and I determined to take them for nearly nine months, the trouble gradually but surely leaving me, until I am now in almost perfect health and fully released from what I at one time thought would prove a life of constant misery. I cannot praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too highly, nor can I too strongly urge those who are ailing to test their wonderful health restoring virtues."

In thousands and thousands of cases it has been proved that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the greatest blood builders and nerve restorer medical science has yet discovered. The pills act speedily and directly upon the blood and the nerves and thus reach the root of the trouble, effecting thorough and permanent cures. Other medicines merely act upon the symptoms, and when the patient ceases using them they soon relapse into a condition as bad as before. There is no trouble due to poor blood or weak nerves which these pills will not cure. Those who are sick or ailing are urged to give this medicine a fair trial, and are cautioned against the numerous imitations which some dealers offer. The genuine pills always bear the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around every box.

Our Empire.

It may surprise most persons to know that the British possessions in North America and the West Indies are larger than the territory of the United States in America, even including Porto Rico and Alaska. King Edward's possessions are nearly 100,000 square miles larger than those of the United States, and, taking the West Indies and Newfoundland, more than 200,000 square miles larger.

No man ever before reigned over an empire so great as King Edward's. The empire to which Victoria succeeded in 1837 covered one-sixth of the land surface of the globe; the empire to which King Edward has succeeded covers nearly one-fourth. It is 53 times as big as France, 52 times as big as Germany, three and a half times as big as the United States, without Alaska and the island possessions, and three times as big as Continental Europe. —New York Press.

Bishop Stubbs.

Bishop Stubbs of Oxford was a man who rendered distinguished service in the editorship of historical documents, charters, chronicles, etc. His Select Charters and Constitutional History of England are the best known of his works, but by his painstaking researches he placed an immense amount of material at the service of other historians. While there has been a general falling off in the character of English literature of an imaginative kind, the workers in history, biography and the historical essays have held their ground well, as the names of Gardner, Lecky, Morley, Goldwin Smith, McCarthy, Harrison, Bryce and others indicate.

The Daily Mail of Big Men.

The Pope (who at one time was a reigning monarch over the papal states) is credited with receiving no fewer than 20,000 letters and newspapers every day. The German Emperor receives more than 700 letters a day. The Prince of Wales, before his accession to the throne as Edward VII., was not very far behind that number, and as King he will in all probability exceed it. Among presidents, the United States president stands at the head with 1,200 letters a day, the president of the French republic coming next with 700 a day.

The Indian Famine.

The famine has depopulated India to an alarming extent. The census for 1901 shows a decrease since 1891 of one million, when under normal conditions there should have been an increase of at least a million and a half. In some localities the decrease has been at the rate of 45 per cent.

NORTHWEST CANADA.

Interesting Lecture Before the Canadian Institute—Lord Strathcona and the Vanished Buffalo—The Gem of the Dominion.

The London Times of April 3 contains the following report of a paper on "Northwest Canada," by Rev. John MacDougall of Morley, Alberta, before the Royal Colonial Institute:

Lord Strathcona presided, and, in introducing Mr. MacDougall, said there was no one who knew more about Northwest Canada than that gentleman did, for his father was one of the first missionaries to the Indians, and the lecturer himself had for more than thiry years been doing excellent work there, not only as a clergyman, but as a teacher. Looking back to his own experience of forty years, he could recall the time when the Northwest was indeed a wilderness, for at that time, instead of comfortable farms now to be found everywhere, there were practically none except a few at the Hudson Bay Company's posts, while the country for enormous distances was black with buffalo, of which none now remained.

In the course of his paper Mr. MacDougall said that while the Great Dominion of Canada as a whole might be said to be one of the brightest gems in the diadem of the British Empire, Northwest Canada might be called the gem of the Dominion. It represented a block of territory 1,000 miles square, or 640,000,000 acres, and was possibly the largest consecutive acreage of arable land in the world. Not only was the soil prolific under cultivation, but even without cultivation the whole area had been richly endowed by nature as one of the greatest pasture lands in the world, while everywhere the moisture was sufficient. The settlement that had gone on during the last quarter of a century had been but the beginning of the exploiting of tremendous possibilities, which continued dormant because of the lack of population. Contiguous to and underlying these great agricultural and pastoral advantages were immense coal fields, possibly the largest as yet discovered in the world. Gold was found in the sands of the streams, and gold, silver and copper were in the quartz ledges of the mountains, though the area of the prospecting and discovery of these mineral deposits was so great that as yet comparatively little had been done. Almost everywhere, too, was abundance of water-power. It might, also, be regarded as an excellent field for the tourist, inasmuch as the scenery within the foothills and the mountains was surpassingly grand. Another important consideration was that all this rich country was in touch with the home markets through British routes.

Weary Brain Workers

Fagged out, ideas come as slowly as molasses. You think of things just a minute or two too late. Snap's gone! The buoyancy that made work a pleasure—that's gone too. The doctor would tell you that you are run down, not eating enough nor digesting enough. Your blood needs aid, your digestion needs a bracer too. Your blood requires Phosphorus and Iron that it may be formed readily. Now Ferrozone is a wonderful nerve bracer and blood maker. It's food for the blood and nerves, it will make you strong quickly and permanently.—Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

THURSDAY'S CONCERT.

Most Successful Night in St. Andrew's at Miss Flora Kays Entertainment.

For perfection of platform attire, and pleasantness and naturalness in expression, Miss Flora Kays, the brilliant and eloquent Chicagoan, who visited Peterborough on Thursday night, surpasses all her predecessors.

Such a marvellous display of elocutionary power as she revealed in her delivery of "The Revenge," has scrcely even been seen in one of more powerful physique and yet given in a form that was in no sense coarse, nut on the contrary showed a well cultured voice.

Her rendition of "Patsy" was most excellent, and brought tears and laughter in quick succession to the faces of members in the audience. Whetcomb Riley's "Knee Deep in June" was intensely captivating and manifested her ability as an impersonator.

Mrs. P. Kerr and Misses M. McFarlane, M. Weddell, Ethel Tully, A. Van Every and C. Belleghem contributed very much to the success of the evening by their musical numbers.

I.O.O.F. NOTES.

Annual Elections of Local Lodges Takes Place Next Week.

Under the new constitution, the election of officers, representives to the Grand Lodge, members of the District Committee, takes place at the last meeting in May, instead of in June. The object is to allow the new officers to prepare their work before being installed. In reference to Grand Lodge Representatives, the object is to have some of them attend the Committee Meetings the day before the Grand Lodge proper opens, and thus reduce the Grand Lodge session to two days instead of three.

Hence, Otonabee Lodge No. 13, will hold their election on Monday evening, May 27, and Peterborough Lodge No. 111, on Thursday evening, May 30. It is hoped there will be a good attendance.

A High Old Order.

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons have received an order from Mr. W. J. Robinson, Deputy Sheriff, Rossland, B.C., for two large British Ensigns 12x24. These flags will fly from the highest point in the Dominion of Canada, where a flag floats. They will be hoisted on Mount Roberts, 5,500 feet above the sea. Accompanying the order was a photograph of the peak on which the flags will be placed, and on which, at the time the photo was taken, the snow was 12 feet deep. An order for flags for such an elevated point is literally a high tribute to the merit of the work of Messrs. Turner & Sons.

THE CELEBRATION WAS CALLED OFF.

The Rainy Weather Disappoints Many.

POSTPONED TILL JULY 1ST.

The People came in Hundreds to Town Notwithstanding the Weather—The Amusements.

Yesterday's weather brought disappointment to many throughout the country, but, perhaps, to none more than it did to the people of Peterborough, and the many hundreds of visitors, who notwithstanding the inclement weather, visited the town.

The arrangements for a mammoth celebration in Peterborough, to mark the inauguration of Victoria Day were as complete as they were extensive, and had "Queen's weather" of bygone years favoured the occasion, there is no doubt that the event in Peterborough would have eclipsed all previous local demonstrations, and would have proved a source of delight to every person. The town and village councils readily voted money, which was as readily doubled by subscriptions from private citizens and local industrial establishments; the organization work was perfect, and every person identified with the undertaking, from His Worship Mayor Denne, Chairman W. B. Bamford, and General Secretary D. H. Burrett, to the small boy who was engaged in catching cats for the menagerie float, laboured most faithfully, but fate was against it. The threatening weather of the last few days put many in a state of anxiety, but it was hoped that it would clear off by Friday, and that the celebration would pass off unmarred in the slightest manner. However, it was not so to be, and when day broke and the rain was coming down in torrents the management knew that they were up against the real thing. The sky did not clear all morning, and everyone wore a look of disappointment. The members of the General Committee were besieged all morning with enquiries from owners of floats as to whether they would turn out, and for some time there was a season of perplexity. The old bridge works, which was the scene of preparation for the floats, contained little groups of men and boys "blessing" the weather, and looking sadly at their respective floats, which, owing to the leaky condition of the roof were liable to "float" out themselves.

The Central Committee Room, too, was stormed for information, and the telephone was kept busy. It was about ten o'clock when a small lead pencil notice, written in the secretary's handwriting, and mucilaged to the front window announced that the kalithumpian procession had been indefinitely postponed. This to a great extent eased the anxiety of the multitude, all of whom commenced to amuse themselves and their friends as best they could. An occasional float, the owners of which were determined to have some sort of satisfaction, would once in a while make its appearance on the street, and would be a mark for the cannon cracker, the fire cracker, or any other kind of explosive. The crowds of visitors promenaded up and down both sides of the streets endeavouring to make the best of a bad day.

The sports which were to have been held in the afternoon on the Nicholls Park Oval, were also declared off, although it was thought that the football match between the Scots of Toronto, and the local aggregation might be put on on the P. A. A. A. grounds. Arrangements to this end could not be made, however, and the Scots returned to the city sorely disappointed.

The baseball men were more determined. Their's was the only event that was in any way carried out, and they managed in some manner to play a six innings game with the Crawfords of Toronto, on the P. A. A. A. grounds. It cleared up for a brief space of time in the afternoon, and three or four of the kalithumpian bands made their appearance on the streets. They proved very amusing, and kept the spectators in good spirits while they performed. The 57th Band, it might be mentioned, was divided into three or four bands, each of which was costumed in a decidedly comical style. They paraded up and down George street, passed each other, followed each other, and clashed with each other, while the crowd laughed right heartily.

In the evening the "Kilties" made their appearance. They could not suppress their desire to show off the outfit they have spent so much time, trouble and expense in getting up, and, rain or shine, they were determined to do up the town, and they certainly made quite a hit. The "Kilties" are recruited from No. 4 Company of the 57th Regiment, and above all other companies are noted for their enterprise in affairs of this kind. They were loudly applauded in the evening as they paraded up and down, with their Highland costume, and having with them "Peterborough Ben," of South African fame, who was led by Sergt. Percy Price.

A meeting of the Committee was held in the Central Committee rooms last night, at which general regret was expressed over the unfortunate manner in which the proceedings turned out. It was decided to put on the event on July 1st, providing the owners of the floats are agreeable and a public meeting of all those interested in the celebration is called for on Monday night, in the Market Hall, at which an expression of opinion will be taken regarding the matter.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee which was held last night, it was moved by Mr. T. E. Bradburn, and seconded by Mr. Myles Henry:

"That in the opinion of this committee, the celebration should be held on Dominion Day next, and that a public meeting be called for Monday evening in the Market Hall for the endorsation of this proposition by those having floats, and the approval in general of those interested."

THE CHURCH PARADE

Of the Local Garrison to St. Paul's Church To-morrow Afternoon.

As before mentioned, there will be a garrison church parade, leaving the Drill Shed at 4.15 o'clock to-morrow afternoon to St. Paul's Church. The hour has been set later than heretofore so as to not interfere with any of the Sunday schools of the town, which will have ample time to conclude before the regiment leaves the drill shed. The services will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Yule and a short address given by Rev. J. Bastow. It is the desire of the commanding officer that there should be as large a turnout as possible and every man should make it a point to be at the Drill Shed not later than four o'clock This will be the first church parade of the season and will no doubt prove quite an attraction.

She was a devout member of St. Thomas' church, and a generous-hearted lady. A family of one son, and two daughters survive. The son is Mr. R. M. Roy of Peterborough, and the daughters are Mrs. A. BROKE HIS LEG.

Little Charlie Pogue, While Attempting to Have a Ride Meets With An Accident.

Charlie Pogue, the little eight-year-old son of Mr. John S. Pogue, Murray street, had one of his legs broken last night while taking in the fun at the merry-go-round which is stationed on the vacant lot at the corner of McDonel and George streets.

The manager of the merry-go-round, it is said, was giving a free ride to the public, and there was of course quite a rush of little ones to take advantage of the opportunity.

Young Pogue was a little late in getting on, and fell, breaking his right leg in the middle of the thigh. Dr. Brown attended him and he was removed to the Nicholls Hospital.

BACK FROM THE WEST.

High County Constable Cochrane's Big Trip.

He Brought Prisoner Abbot with Him—He is Charged with Forgery.

High County Constable Cochrane arrived home from British Columbia on Thursday night, having with him as a prisoner W. T. Abbott, who is wanted here on a charge of forgery.

It will be remembered that two weeks ago Saturday Mr. Cochrane left for the Pacific Coast to bring back his man, who was arrested there on the strength of a warrant which had been sent out for execution.

Mr. Cochrane arrived at his destination on Thursday and left again on Saturday, having only one full day on which he was not travelling.

Abbott, until last fall, resided on a fifty acre farm in Smith, just opposite Mr. John Carnegie's place, and owned by Mrs. James Brumwell. He quit the farm and left this part of the country. Shortly afterwards Mrs. Brumwell received a notice from the Ontario Bank that her note of $80 in favour of Abbott would fall due on a certain date. She was naturally much surprised, as she could not recollect having ever signed such a document. It was upon further investigation decided to be a forgery. The note in question was dated Nov. 26th, 1900, was drawn for $80 in favour of Abbott, and for three months.

He was brought before County Magistrate Edmison on Thursday night, and remanded until Tuesday.

Smallpox Near Hastings.

A case of smallpox has now been discovered at the home of Mr. Jas. Morrow, Percy, three miles west of Hastings. On Monday evening, Dr. Berry received a call from that gentleman to proceed at once to his home to vaccinate his family. On arriving he found that a member of the family, the eldest daughter, was already afflicted, and he believes very badly. Dr. Berry at once advised the Percy Health Board and wired Dr. Bryce. This case has originated from the same source as those in Havelock. The young man, Morrow, of Havelock, was in this district last week visiting friends, and called at the house of his cousin, Mr. James Morrow, and had dinner. If Dr. Bryce pronounces it smallpox every precaution will be taken to check its spread, and at present no one is allowed in or out of Mr. Morrow's house.

FINED FIVE DOLLARS.

His Worship Mayor Denne occupied the Bench.

His Worship Mayor Denne, on Thursday afternoon, performed his first duties as Chief Magistrate on the bench at the Police Court. Mr. D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate, was up the lakes and Mr. R. S. Davidson, J.P., who invariably officiates in his absence, has not quite recovered from his recent sudden illness; therefore Mayor Denne was brought into action. The prisoner in the box was an Indian who had just returned from the back shanties, and who had imbibed a little too freely while in town, waiting for train connections. He slept off his "jag" to a great extent, in one of the cells, but had not quite recovered when he was asked to answer to the charge of being drunk and disorderly. He was fined $5 by His Worship and given a timely little lecture, for all of which he was apparently thankful. More than once he thanked the court for letting him down so easily.

HAS BEGUN HIS NEW WORK

Rev. Mr. Gilmour's First Day at Olivet Church.

He Made a Good Impression on His Montreal Congregation.

Rev. J. L. Gilmour, B. A., the newly appointed pastor of Olivet Baptist church of Montreal, formerly of the James street Baptist church, Hamilton, has entered upon his new duties, and occupied the pulpit of Olivet church, where he preached his first sermon on Sabbath morning. Owing to the rain and unfavourable weather, the attendance was not as large as it would otherwise have been, but the families of the congregation were well represented, and there were few seats vacant. The first words of the pastor's opening address were spoken to the children. He was glad to see so many of them present and promised to have something in each of his Sabbath discourses especially for them. He made an impressive address, and his words were listened to with earnest attention as he unfolded to his hearers some object lessons taken from the narrative contained in the opening verses of the Acts of the Apostles, chapter 13, in reference to the Church of Antioch. In the course of his remarks he said that for the purpose of comparison the conditions were somewhat similar between the two cities, Antioch and Montreal, the latter with its vast opportunities for commercial activity. Antioch had diverted the trade from Damascus and was also an important trading centre, and in its religious influence was only exceeded by Rome and Alexandria. Much more could be done by a church collectively than by the individual, and an example of this was clearly seen at the recent union services of the Baptist churches in Hamilton. As Antioch was a city church he gave an outline of what might be accomplished with the talent and possibilities of a congregation like the Olivet church. The rural church had its mission [illegible] the beauties of nature [illegible] the field had furnished an inspiration to the Gospel message, but it had been left to the city churches with their active impulses to press forward in the march of the progress of Christianity. A city church was like a cloud that drew the rain and showered it upon waiting thirsty souls.

The church at Antioch was an organized church, and its worshippers were the first to be called Christians. It was also a missionary church, where its teachers were sent abroad to preach the Gospel. The best feature of the Church of Antioch was that it was devout. Its followers knew how to pray, to fast and to worship.

The pastor here made an initial request that for a year at least everyone connected with Olivet Church would offer a few moments of silent prayer each day at 12 o'clock at the time when the wheels of the busy workshop ceased, that the work of Olivet church might receive a spiritual blessing.

At the conclusion of the service, many of the congregation went forward to meet their new pastor. The congregational singing was exceedingly hearty, and during the offertory the large choir present sang "Angels of Jesus, Angels of Light," with good effect.

Evidently Mr. Gilmour believes in short sermons as he preached only 17 minutes. While retiring from the church your correspondent heard a number of favourably commen's about the sermon and the new pastor, and a group of elderly Scotchmen at the street corner unanimously agreed that he was one of themselves by birth, and that it was a thoughtful sermon with a good deal of truth in it.

REV. FATHER FITZPATRICK'S SEVENTH ANNUAL PICNIC.

THE RAIN COULD NOT WASH OUT THE DATE.

Plucking Fair Success Out of Apparent Failure—Visiting Ministers of the Crown—Hon. F. R. Latchford and Hon. J. R. Stratton Give Addresses—Other Addresses.

It is worthy of remark that with the passing of good Queen Victoria, the "Queen's weather," which has for half a century been associated with the Queen's birthday, seems also to pass away. Yesterday, the first anniversary of her late Majesty's birth since her demise, was the most dreary, dismal, depressing day that ever dawned, or, rather, tried to dawn, through the black, rain-sodden clouds, which lowered over the equally sodden earth.

The industrious and almost unceasing rain, put a decided veto upon the ambitious programme of celebration of Victoria Day in Peterborough, but it could not put a quietus upon Rev. Father Fitzpatrick's picnic, though, it must be admitted, it rather put a damper upon it. The picnic was advertised to take place in the Agricultural Park, Lakefield, and it did take place.

In spite of the alternate dreary drizzle and downpour of the morning, a considerable number had gathered and literally taken shelter in the pavilion, for the grounds outside were flooded, the rank, green grass seeming to grow through a sheet of water. Outside the only evidence of life was a merry-go-round, under a tent, where a few boys enjoyed the combined whirling and wetting they got. But inside, the long tables were stretched, laid, and piled high with the excellent food the hospitable ladies of Young's Point and Lakefield provided in the customary profusion. Though the multitudes of the scriptural miracle were not fed, there seemed to be enough food in evidence to have fed the five thousand, and to have left the twelve baskets. If the small company of three hundred — under the weather conditions, a multitude—had eaten the food provided, they would have committed the sin of gluttony to a degree that would render their title to spiritual absolution or their chances of physical repair, problematical or impossible.

MUSIC AND SPEECHES.

But the presence of music, in the form of the Lakefield band, went far to take the dismal edge off the occasion. The dancing platform, erected in one corner of the pavilion, in combination with a sprightly fiddle and twinkling feet, furnished keen enjoyment to the youngsters, while the elders, grouped around, enjoyed their enjoyment.

But if there was no feast of food, in proportion to the supply, there was a "feast of reason and a flow of soul." Mr. J. H. McClellan, of Peterborough, performed the duties of chairman, and introduced a programme of speeches, among which those of Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., West Peterborough, and Hon. F. R. Latchford, Commissioner of Public Works, were especially listened to with pleasure, if the liberal applause bestowed was an indication.

After brief, appropriate remarks from Mr. W. Rudkins, Peterborough, Mr. G. E. Elliott, and Mr. R. C. Strickland, Ven. Archdeacon Casey, of the Cathedral, who, by the way, was the only visiting clergyman present, made a few remarks, regretting that the first Victoria Day had brought with it such disagreeable weather, but the presence of so many on such a day testified to the high esteem which Rev. Father Fitzpatrick was held, and the strong sympathy his flock had with him in his endeavours to promote the good work to which he was so successfully devoted.

HON. J. R. STRATTON

was next called upon, and was very cordially received. He expressed the great pleasure it was to him to meet so many of his friends, who had given him so many and repeated evidences of their good will, and whose help in placing him in the position he occupied, he so highly appreciated. He regretted, especially for Rev. Father Fitzpatrick's sake, the wet weather that so seriously interfered with the usual success of his annual picnic, but he hoped that compensation would come in improved crops for the farmers. The presence of Hon. Mr. Latchford was referred to as an opportunity for the people of this vicinity to meet the Commissioner of Public Works, and one of the representatives of Eastern Ontario in the Cabinet. A warm tribute was paid to the zeal, energy and fidelity of Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, whose good qualities, both as a clergyman and a man, accounted for the esteem and love he received at the hands of his flock, and the esteem he enjoyed of the community at large. The benefit of these gatherings was pointed out, and the work of the Church they promoted contributed to good citizenship, the only sound foundation of a country's greatness. The mixture of all denominations in these gatherings showed a spirit of harmony that was essential to real progress. We had a great Province, of immense capabilities, and it was the desire of the Government to make the most of its resources. Reference was also made to the absence from these gatherings of prominent persons, mention being made of Mr. Hoolihan of Selwyn, and Mr. J. C. Sherin of Lakefield. Her Majesty had also passed away, to be succeeded by her son, who would, he believed, live and reign closely up to the exalted standard his illustrious mother had established.

HON. F. R. LATCHFORD

on rising to briefly address the company, was most heartily applauded. He at once put himself on good terms with his hearers by expressing the very great pleasure it afforded him to be present, in response to the invitation of Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, who was an old friend, and by capitally recounting a couple of humourous stories in illustration of his position. He had known Father Fitzpatrick for years, and he was proud to say that he was a man whom to know was to love, and the better he was known the more highly he was esteemed. Mr. Latchford referred to Father Fitzpatrick's prowess on the football field in his college days, and pointed out that the energy, activity, and manly spirit of sport that made him the foremost member of his fifteen, carried, in a modified form into his priestly office, had contributed to make him the successful, faithful and esteemed pastor he was to-day. Hon. Mr. Stratton had invited Peterborough people to prefer their wants to him (Mr. Latchford) for public works. But it was no fault of Mr. Stratton if these wants had not been supplied. He asks for what he wants for his constituents, and seems to have a faculty of getting it. (Applause.) Mr. Latchford spoke in eloquent terms of the greatness of the resources of the Province of Ontario, and with a people, active, energetic and progressive, a people united in harmonious co-operation, there was no doubt of a great future for this great country. Mr. Latchford concluded his happy address amidst very hearty applause.

REV. FATHER FITZPATRICK

expressed his gratitude for the presence of so many on such a day, which was but another of the many tokens of esteem and good will he had received from the people of Young's Pt., Lakefield and vicinity, and Peterborough. His gratitude was specially due to Hon. Mr. Latchford, an old, tried and true friend, and to Hon. Mr. Stratton, who had been a friend to him in respect of his picnics, and in other things, since his first picnic, six years ago. He was also very grateful to his Protestant friends for the many evidences of their good will he had enjoyed.

Mr. De la Fosse, editor of the Lakefield News, favoured the company with a capitally sung humorous song, and Miss Gertie McClellan, daughter of Mr. J. H. McClellan, gave the Highland fling, and the sword dance, with a delicate deftness and neatness that literally captured the crowd, and won for her most enthusiastic applause.

While Rev. Father Fitzpatrick's first of the century Victoria Day picnic was not an embarassing financial success, those who were present very thoroughly enjoyed themselves, and in this respect and for them, the picnic was a great success.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

BASEBALL.

Local baseball enthusiasts had a chance yesterday to see six innings played on the P.A.A.A. Grounds, between the Peterboroughs and the Crawfords, of Toronto. The grounds were wet and the ball, in consequence very slippery, and hard to control, but enough was seen of the game to show that Peterborough's team will play as snappy ball this season, as last, and will be able to give a good account of themselves no matter what kind of a combination they run up against.

The visitors yesterday were defeated by 13 runs to 7, the detailed score being as follows:

GREAT ARENIC EVENT.

Ringling Bros.' Famous Circus, Menagerie and Hypodrome Coming.

It is definitely announced that Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows will exhibit in Peterborough on Friday, June 14th. The show has been tremendously enlarged in every department, while the discriminating work of the show's army of foreign agents is evidenced by the assembling of the most remarkable company of high-salaried sensational artists ever seen with an arenic exhibition. Among the world-famous aerialists are the wonderful Feeley Family, imported by Ringling Brothers especially for their great exhibition this season; the Holloway Trio of high-wire artists; Alvo, Boise and Picard, emperors of the aerial bars, the Flying Fishers; Mlle. Turnour, the world-famous aerial poseur, and an entire troupe of Japanese aerial gymnasts and high wire bicyclists; the marvelous Garcinetti Troupe, direct from Italy, head the list of unequalled acrobats, which also includes the French Family De Coma, the Three Marvelles, the Wartenburg Brothers, the Alpine Sisters and nearly 60 others. Madame Noble and her trained horse, Jupiter, are striking features of the international display of high class horses. In the riding section, which is remarkable for the unusual number of equestrians of international reputation, Miss Amelia Feeley, declared by all who have seen her to be the greatest lady rider that the world has ever produced; John Rooney, the undisputed champion rider of Europe and America, and Albert Crandall, who gives a laughable exhibition of burlesque riding upon the back of a mule, are seen in company with twenty-seven other skilled horsemen and horsewomen. The trained animal portion of the programme is a complete show in itself. Ringling Brothers' latest trained animal sensation introduces twenty huge elephants in a single act, in one ring, under the direction of one man. Nothing like this great act has ever before been presented to an American audience. Lockhart's comedy elephants, and O'Brien's sixty-one horse act are also features of surpassing interest. Many other trained animal features add to the value of this part of the performance. Ringling Brothers have given special attention to the menagerie this season, and the zoological display embraces almost every known wild animal. There are thirty elephants, twenty desert camels, a mammoth bi-horned rhinoceros, a pair of Nile hippopotami, a half dozen zebras, an equal number of monster tigers, a pair of horned horses or gnus, thirty lions, the only giraffe known to exist, and scores of other interesting wild animals. The children's menagerie, with its miniature cages of monkeys, birds and other attractive features, is a constant source of delight to the little folks. Seats have been provided in the big hippodrome pavilion this year for 18,000 persons; new ticket office and several additional entrances add to the expeditiousness with which great crowds can be handled; toilet rooms, provided with lavatories, have been provided for patrons, and everything has been done to make a visit to the show attractive from the standpoint of comfort as well as because of the high character of the performance. This year's street parade is entirely new and surpasses anything in the spectacular line ever seen in this country.

ABOUT BRITISH HALL MARKS

THEY HAVE A REPUTATION WHICH IN THE MAIN THEY DESERVE.

SEVERITY OF SOME OLD LAWS.

Various Marks Used in England, Scotland, and Ireland—The Maker's Mark, the Standard Mark, the Hall Mark, the Duty Mark, and the Date Mark—The Public Often Much Puzzled Over Them All.

The British Lion, even in his heraldic form, commands one's respect, if not one's admiration. Yet it is curious that little or nothing should be known about the regulations governing him. There is a vague idea that the Lion and, for the matter of that, most of the other marks so liberally impressed upon both gold and silverware and electro-plated goods, are a guarantee of something or other, and British housewives are content to count their spoons, secure in the belief that they are of "sterling alloy." British hall marks certainly possess a reputation of their own which, in the main, they deserve. They are not, it is true, infallible. Cases are constantly cropping up in which they have been so ingeniously imitated as to deceive any one but a connoisseur or a burglar. Against the counterfeiting of ancient marks, of which there are examples enough and to spare preserved in the archives of the Goldsmiths' Companies, there is, of course, little or no protection. Experts, it has been said, can detect spurious goods by touch alone; but the public certainly are not experts in assaying gold and silver. Electrotyped copies, too, in which are reproduced, with a marvellous exactitude, almost every scratch upon the original, and even the marks left by the maker's hammer, as well as the hall marks themselves, are extremely difficult of detection, even by the initiated. But more ingenious still is the deception practiced by the transformation of old-fashioned articles, and the transposition of genuine marks from one article to another. The Beefeaters of the Tower formerly wore upon their arms large silver badges bearing the arms of three mounted cannon surrounded with a scroll. In a fit of economy these were confiscated and sold, and, as the story runs, the purchaser of about a score of them, instead of consigning them to the melting pot, or disposing of them as curios, converted them into sconces, and pointed triumphantly to the hall marks as a guarantee for their antiquity. For anything we know to the contrary, these chefs-d'oeuvre are still going the round of the market. They would, no doubt, be highly prized by many people in the present rage for ornamenting reception rooms with antique silver.

Severity of Old Laws.

It is not perhaps generally known that, although it is permissible to add to any piece of silver a quantity which does not exceed one-third of the whole, the change must be made in such a manner that the original use of the article is not altered. A tankard, for example, may, it is said, have a lip attached, but not a spout; but we doubt whether these statutory conditions are complied with with any great regularity. When we remember the extreme severity of the old laws against fraud and abuse, it is easier to understand the exaggerated value which attaches to old gold and silverware. At the present time the penalty of ten pounds for each article, imposed by the act of 1844, is often cheerfully risked; but in days when the same offence was punished by death or transportation men were more careful. It must, however, be confessed that at the present time the laws as to hall marking are in a very chaotic condition, for they are scattered through statutes innumerable, and are not sufficiently known to afford adequate protection to the purchaser. Their history, too, is not very complimentary to the craft. The Lion, for example, remained for nearly three centuries the standard mark both for gold and silver; but in 1845 the crown was substituted for gold of both eighteen and twenty-two carats, in order to prevent a practice which had, it is said, come into vogue of guilding silverware and selling it as gold, and the fact is worthy the attention of the collectors of old plate.

Various Hall Marks.

The various hall marks are rather complicated, and, for the better understanding of our marks, may be briefly described. There are:

(1) The maker's mark, the initials of his name or firm; used since 1739.

(2) The standard mark. In England for gold of 22 and 18 carats, a crown and 22 and 18 respectively. In Edinburgh a thistle and in Glasgow a lion rampant are used in place of the crown. In Ireland 22-carat gold has a harp crowned and 22; 20 carats—an extra standard used in Ireland only—a plume of feathers and 20; for 18 carats, a unicorn's head and 18. Gold of 15, 12 and 9 carats has in most cases those numbers only. In England, for silver of 11 oz. and 2 dwt. standard the mark is a lion passant, and for 11 oz. and 10 dwt. a Britannia. In Edinburgh a thistle and a thistle and a Britannia, and in Glasgow a lion rampant and a Britannia are used respectively. In Ireland a crowned harp is used for 11 oz. 2 dwt. standard, the new standard not being used there. The figures in the gold standard denote the number of carats of pure gold in 24; so that 18-carat gold means that there are 18 parts of pure gold to six of alloy.

(3) The hall marks of the assay towns—London, leopard's head; Birmingham, an anchor; Chester, a dagger and three wheat sheaves; Sheffield, a crown; Newcastle, three castles; Exeter, a castle with three towers; Edinburgh, a castle; Glasgow, a tree, fish and bell; Dublin, Hibernia.

(4) The duty mark, stamped only on those articles which pay duty; the head of the reigning sovereign; introduced in 1784.

(5) The date mark; each assay office has now its letter or date mark; changed every year; twenty to twenty-six letters of the alphabet being used in rotation, and repeated in different styles of letters. In London the assay year commences on 30th May, and is indicated by one of twenty letters of the alphabet, A to U, omitting the letter J.

Puzzles the Public.

As an example, we give a Birmingham silver plate mark: (1) The maker's initials; (2) the standard mark; (3) the hall mark of Birmingham; (4) the duty mark; (5) the Birmingham date letter for the year 1889.

Amid all these multitudinous symbols, it is not to be wondered at that the public should be a little confused as to their respective meanings. And as all these have undergone many transformations, the history of hall marks can almost claim to rank as a science. There can, however, be little doubt that, although there are some objections to the compulsory assaying and marking of plate, it is to the system which has been in vogue in this country for nearly six hundred years that the superior reputation of British gold and silver ware to that of, perhaps, every other country in the world is mainly due. Our hall marks afford a guarantee of value, to which it is not to be wondered at that considerable importance attaches, since these goods may be safely regarded as an investment. We doubt whether the assertion that no importance is attached to British hall marks abroad is borne out by the facts; but if only sentimental reasons remain, these are enough to give pause to any rash changes in a custom that can claim so high a prospective right.

The assaying of the precious metals is a science which has been more exactly practiced in this than in any other country. When a piece of plate is sent in to an assay office, a little of the metal is scraped off it, and this "diet," as it is called, is tested in various ways, so as to ascertain its fineness, which must correspond with that of the standard plates kept by the Warden of the Standards at the Mint. Sheffield and Birmingham have to send up their "diet boxes" to be proved by the Queen's Assay Master twice a year—a somewhat invidious distinction, since the other assay offices have only to do so as required. From this it appears that the guardians of the standard of wrought plate of Birmingham and of Sheffield have always labored under the disadvantages attaching to the reputation of those towns, and the fact serves to indicate the necessity for retaining a system of guarantee.

Two Standards of Silver.

There are only two standards of silver — the old one of eleven oz. two pennyweights, and that of eleven oz. and ten pennyweights, in the pound Troy; so here there is not much room for fraud. But the laws of hall marking, scattered as they are over a multitude of statutes, are highly technical, and not the least necessary reform is their consolidation. This was urgently recommended by the committee of 1856, and a bill for the purpose was prepared by the Commissioners of Inland Revenue in 1857; but although its necessity was again emphasized by the Select Committee of 1879, no measure of the kind has ever been laid before Parliament. But we need hardly insist that the tendency of legislation should certainly not be in favor of greater laxity. There is much to say for the old demand of the Goldsmiths' Company for further powers of enforcing the law than the mere right to sue for penalties. Sales by auction now take place with practical impugnity, no matter how spurious and debased the goods may be, and there is evidence and to spare to show that the general sense of the trade and the public is in favor of the preservation of the old guarantees.—Pearson's Magazine.

Sir Henry Irving's Hint.

During Sir Henry Irving's recent performance of "The Merchant of Venice" at the Theater Royal, Belfast, much annoyance was caused to frequenters of the stalls and circles by ladies who did not remove their hats, with the result that the management at last decided to give the fair ones a gentle hint. Prior to the commencement of the first act a curtain was displayed on which was painted in large letters the following: "Madam, will you kindly take off your hat, as I am sitting immediately behind you and cannot see the stage?" The hint was sufficient, for all hats and bonnets disappeared.—Pall Mall Gazette.

PROGRESS.

Some time ago there was a notable automobile procession in the city of Buffalo, N. Y. It was notable for its size, and also for the fact that it was entirely composed of automobile wagons (like that in the cut above), built to distribute the advertising literature of the World's Dispensary Medical Association, proprietors and manufacturers of Dr. Pierce's medicines. In many a town and village Dr. Pierce's automobile has been the pioneer horseless vehicle. These wagons, sent to every important section of the country, are doing more than merely advertise Dr. Pierce's Remedies—they are pioneers of progress, heralds of the automobile age.

And this is in keeping with the record made by Dr. Pierce and his famous preparations, which have always kept in the front on their merits. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is still the leading medicine for disorders and diseases of the stomach and digestive and nutritive systems, for the purifying of the blood and healing of weak lungs.

Women place Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in the front of all put-up medicines specially designed for women's use. The wide benefits this medicine has brought to women have been well summed up in the words "It makes weak women strong and sick women well."

The reputation of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets as a safe and effective laxative for family use is international.

It may be asserted without fear of contradiction that no other firm or company engaged in the vending of put-up medicines can rank with the World's Dispensary Medical Association, either in the opinion of the medical profession or of the intelligent public. The Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, which is connected with the "World's Dispensary," is alone sufficient to prove this supremacy. Here is a great modern hospital, always filled with patients, where every day successful operations are performed on men and women whose diseases demand the aid of surgery. No hospital in Buffalo is better equipped, with respect to its modern appliances, or the surgical ability of its staff. Dr. R. V. Pierce, the chief consulting physician of this great institution, has associated with himself nearly a score of physicians, each man being a picked man, chosen for his ability in the treatment and cure of some special form of disease.

The offer that Dr. Pierce makes to men and women suffering with chronic diseases of a free consultation by letter, is really without a parallel. It places without cost or charge the entire resources of a great medical institute at the service of the sick. Such an offer is not for one moment to be confounded with those offers of "free medical advice" which are made by people who are not physicians, cannot and do not practice medicine, and are only saved from prosecution by artfully wording their advertisements so that they give the impression that they are physicians without making the claim to be licensed.

Those who write to Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., may do so with the assurance that they will receive not only the advice of a competent physician, but the advice of a physician whose wide experience in the treatment and cure of disease, and whose sympathy with human suffering leads him to take a deep, personal interest in all those who seek his help and that of his associate staff of specialists.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (in paper covers), 1000 pages, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume, to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

BATTLES OF NATURE.

Unceasing Struggles Which End In Survival of Fittest.

We read the tablets of long ago which the geologist has deciphered for us, and we find them an endless story of battles. The successful species which occupy the great geological horizons have come out of great tribulation. The trilobites and stone lilies of the silurian period, the gigantic club moss and fluted sigillarians of the coal age, the enormous ammonites of the jurassic and chalk epochs, the mighty elephants and majestic deer forms of the tertiary era are magnates of the times and masterpieces of the struggle. They have been redeemed at great price, even of a thousand species and tens of thousands of individuals who fell short of the typical fitness and were killed out. These magnates, each in its turn, were pioneers of progress, like the scouts of a great army and were caught in a physiological ambush.

The pedigree of the horse in the most recent past has been made out, traced shall we say, for a hundred thousand years before man came on the scene (for Lord Kelvin asked the geologist to hurry up and not be too lavish with time or we should have said 250,000 years before man). The fleetness, grace and strength of the horse are owing to his ability to walk on one toe, to which have been correlated the wonderful instincts by which he has become the partner of man in his industries and struggles. He has been derived in almost a strict gradation from the two toed, three toed, four toed and five toed ancestors which flourished in the ages which preceded man. Myriads of individuals and all the species and varieties died out to make room for the one toed selection to enable this favorite to occupy the ground unthwarted by crossing or by recurrence to average forms. He was redeemed at a great price and has come through a great tribulation.

The Wit of a Beggar.

There is a class of persons now fast fading in Ireland, and "the more's the pity," viz., the professional mendicant, who made an annual tour of a considerable part of some one province. Such a person had quite an established connection, and went about collecting a sort of rent. He gave good value, it must be confessed, for what he got. He knew all the clergy, gentry and farmers in his own extensive beat, and gave news and witty remarks in exchange for his allowance. He had a wonderful knack of hitting off places and people in a few concise and compact sentences. Thus he described the town where we live as "wan of the natest town in the ring of Ireland, for if ye made a slip in the street of it, be the help of God ye were always sure to fall into a public house." Could there be a more ironical description of the excessive number of licensed liquor shops than this? A well-grown, good-sized youngster he described as "the full-of-a-door of a man"; an untrustworthy person was "wan ye couldn't believe daylight itself out of"; the miser was "wan who wouldn't give God Almighty tuppence to take him out of hell": a person born to great poverty as "wan who niver wanted to watch his pocket"—that is, because there never was anything in it.—London Spectator.

Peel Didn't Know Tennyson.

Peel regarded all light litterateurs as triflers and poets with their unprofitable pursuits as the butterflies of the human species. Carlyle had prompted Milnes to press Tennyson's claims for a pension. The rival claimant was Sheridan Knowles, the popular dramatist.

Peel consulted Milnes as to the course which he ought to take, accompanying the appeal by the statement that for himself he knew absolutely nothing either of Mr. Tennyson or Mr. Knowles.

"What!" said Milnes. "Have you never seen the name of Sheridan Knowles on a playbill?"

"No," replied Peel.

"And have you never read a poem of Tennyson?"

"No," was again the answer, accompanied by a request that Milnes would let him see something which Tennyson had written. Accordingly Milnes sent to Sir Robert Peel the two poems of "Locksley Hall" and "Ulysses."

This is confirmed by the medical profession.

THE OLD ROCKING HORSE

Battered and bruised and worn and old,
Bereft of his mane and tail,
A veteran charger stanch and bold,
He has weathered life's fiercest gale—

The hero of many a gallant raid,
In many a bloodless war,
A soldier of fortune, undismayed
By battle and wound and scar!

'Neath the guiding touch of a little hand
He has traveled many a mile
Through the wonderful realms of Playlike Land,
Where the spirits of fancy smile.

But, strange to say, in his boldest flight,
Though he halted or rested not,
Through all his travels by day and night
He has stood in the veltsame spot!

He was ridden far, he was ridden hard,
He has borne fierce brunts and blows
And oft has felt, as a sweet reward,
A kiss on his wornout nose.

And, though he is rather the worse for wear
And is crippled and scarred and old,
In the eyes of his master he still is fair
And worth his weight in gold.

CARRYING OFF A BRIDE

By M. Quad.

Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis.

The crew of the American brig Nemo had been paid off at Cadiz and as mate I was looking for another berth when a young and good looking man who was strolling about the wharf as if in search of some one accosted me with an inquiry as to my capability as a navigator and later on asked me to accompany him to a cafe for a talk. As the young man was a Brasilian and a landsman my curiosity was naturally aroused. He was rather slow in coming to the point, being evidently desirous of sizing me up, and I had begun to grow a little impatient when he leaned across the table and said:

"Senor, I have decided to trust you and tell you the truth. It is an expedition to carry off a young lady."

"If it is a scheme to abduct a woman, I want nothing to do with it," I replied.

"Do not mistake me, senor. I am a Brazilian. I am from one of the highest families in our country. I am in love with a Spanish lady, a young lady of highest birth, but her people are opposed to our marriage. I am not only in love with her but she returns my passion. She has vowed to the Virgin that she will never give her hand to another. Indeed, she is ready to die if she cannot marry me."

"And why do her people object?" I asked, thinking that if his looks did not belie his character any father in Spain might be proud of him for a son-in-law.

"It was a feud between our fathers, senor, partly political and partly business. There was bad blood, and, though my father died years ago, Don Ramirez still holds his bitterness. He has a son with whom I have fought a duel, and that I wounded and vanquished him has but added to the bitterness of the situation."

"Why, this Don Ramirez is a government official of some sort, isn't he?"

"He is governor of the province of Cadiz, senor."

"If he is rich and powerful and opposed to the marriage, your cake is dough. You seem to run more of a chance of being shot than of becoming his son-in-law."

Senor Da Costa, as he had given me his name, looked troubled for a moment, and then a flash came to his eyes as he quietly asked:

"In your country, senor, what do they do in such cases?"

"The lovers? Well, if the old folks are opposed there is generally a runaway match."

A FAIRER GIRL I NEVER LOOKED UPON.

"I have heard so, and there will be one in this case. We would both have it otherwise, but it is the last resort. I must take the senorita to Brazil to become my wife. It was settled that way last evening."

"But have you counted on the old man?" I asked, a little annoyed by the young man's coolness in disposing of the case. "He'll be after you in two hours, and he has the legal right to take his daughter off the steamer and put you behind the bars. I should say he would be a bad man to fool with."

"Listen, senor," quietly replied the lover. "You will find in this port a craft for sale or charter. She may be small, but she must be fast. It will be better for many reasons that she is a sail vessel. You shall buy her and clear her for some western port, and I will sail away with the senorita, and she will become my wife."

"But we shall be pursued," I said.

He shrugged his shoulders and smiled.

"And if captured it will mean years of imprisonment for me."

"Your pay will be commensurate with the risks, senor. Let us waste no more time. Set forth at once and find a craft."

At the end of another half hour we had the details arranged as far as possible, and I was ready to begin my share of the work. Within 24 hours I had found a schooner yacht from the Mediterranean, an English built craft whose owner had tired of playing sailor and left her in the hands of a broker for sale. It required a week to repaint, repair, find a crew and put provisions aboard, and Da Costa was ready with $2 wherever there was need for $1. It was given out that a yacht had been bought for a resident of the ... and was to be delivered there, ... was no trouble about her ... While knowing, of course, that Da Costa was in Cadiz, it appeared that Don Ramirez had neither imprisoned his daughter nor set an extra watch on her movements. To dodge her duenna and escape from the house and grounds and make her way to an appointed rendezvous must have been a difficult matter, but she accomplished it, and two hours after dark one evening a boat brought the pair of lovers aboard. Ten minutes later we were under way. A fairer girl I never looked upon, and she was as brave as she was fair.

We left port with a fair wind and carried it all night as we headed out into the Atlantic, and the yacht slipped along as if driven by steam. We had got away so quietly that I did not look for pursuit, but daylight had scarcely broken when we found a steamer in our wake. As I afterward ascertained, the girl had been missed early in the night, the sailing of the yacht discovered, and while one steamer was headed for the Canaries a second took the course for Rio and was soon overhauling us.

At noon the steamer came up with us. The brother was aboard of her, while the father had taken the other route. She came slashing alongside, with shouts and yells from her crew, thinking to make an easy capture, but as there were no armed men aboard she quickly sheered off before our rifles. Within the next two hours she made three different attempts to crash into us, but each time our fire, which was not meant to kill, drove the men from the pilothouse and confused all. Then she settled down to pursue us, and, as a matter of fact, she hung to us for 48 hours. She had come out unprepared with fuel or provisions, however, and at last had to turn about and head for Cadiz. By the time she reached port it was too late to think of further pursuit, and we were left to make our voyage in peace and land our passengers in due time at Rio. I learned that Don Ramirez and the Spanish government kicked up a great row over the affair, and there was a lot of correspondence and demands and red fire, but Da Costa won his bride, and the rest of us got safely away with our reward, and the obstinate old father had nothing to do but chew the rag and yell "Caramba!"

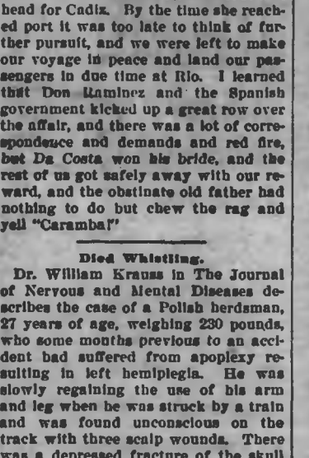
Died Whistling.

Dr. William Krauss in The Journal of Nervous and Mental Diseases describes the case of a Polish herdsman, 27 years of age, weighing 230 pounds, who some months previous to an accident had suffered from apoplexy resulting in left hemiplegia. He was slowly regaining the use of his arm and leg when he was struck by a train and was found unconscious on the track with three scalp wounds. There was a depressed fracture of the skull three inches above and one inch behind the left ear. He was immediately trephined and the depressed bone removed.

About 10 o'clock at night he began to whistle, not, however, the "popular songs of the day," but the whistle calls he was accustomed to use in calling or driving his flocks. He would continue whistling for about one minute, then would cease for five or ten minutes and kept this up at regular intervals until he died. At no time was it possible to distinguish any melody. The sounds were of the same pitch and intensity and of the same character. They were audible throughout the ward and attracted the attention of patients and attendants. To the physicians in attendance it was a strange experience to hear these whistle calls coming from a patient in a state of unconsciousness. It was impossible to rouse the patient at any time before or after the accident, and he died, whistling a few minutes before death.

The News Print Combine.

Ottawa, May 23.—A deputation consisting of Messrs. H. J. Pettypiece, M. P. P., Forest Free Press; Dan. McGillicuddy, Goderich Signal, and John A. Cooper, Canadian Magazine, representing the Canadian Press Association, waited upon the Minister of Finance yesterday in the matter of the proposed inquiry into the alleged paper combine. The delegation endeavored to get from the Government some proposition which would meet the needs of the case. Some of the differences between the association and the Government are said to have been cleared up as a result of the interview, but no definite understanding was arrived at. The commission meets in Montreal on Tuesday, the 28th instant.



How Strong Are You?

The dial of the punching machine won't answer that question. Strength depends on nutrition. When the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased, the body fails to receive its full supply of nourishment and hence grows weak. That is why no man is stronger than his stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and the allied organs of digestion and nutrition. The food eaten is then perfectly digested and assimilated and the body is made strong in the only possible way—by nutrition.

Now I am glad to write this and let you know that I am all right. I can do my work now without pain and I don't have that tired feeling that I used to have. LAKES AND STREAMS

INTERESTING CONTENTS OF THE ONTARIO FISHERIES REPORT.

RESTOCKING WITH GAME FISH.

Deputy Commissioner S. T. Bastedo Gives an Interesting Description of Their Haunts—The River Nepigon—Reports of the District and Local Overseers on the Enforcement of the Law.

The report of the Ontario Fisheries Department is of unusual interest owing to the special attention bestowed on the restocking of lakes and streams with game fish. This important work will be watched with interest by sportsmen and tourists, and will be carried on with careful regard to the needs of various localities. All the conditions essential to success have been thoroughly considered, and the restocking experiment will be made under the most favorable circumstances. The department is not only self-sustaining, but is a source of considerable profit, there being a surplus over and above the expenditure of nearly $8,000, the net revenue amounting to $35,443.85, and the total expenditure to $28,612. The commercial fisheries have given employment to 2,502 men, 91 tugs and 1,187 boats, the capital invested in the industry being estimated at $789,042. The aggregate catch was 25,698,591 pounds, which shows a decrease as compared with last year of 1,789,888 pounds. The estimated value of the catch was $1,333,293.82. Mr. S. T. Bastedo, Deputy Commissioner, gives an interesting description of the haunts of our game fish. Here is a picture of the lower reach of the Nepigon worthy of reproduction:

"The River Nepigon, which connects Lakes Neplgon and Superior some sixty miles east of Port Arthur, and which is said to be the headwaters of the St. Lawrence, is our most noted fishing river, and is admitted by those who have whipped its waters to be the finest trout 'stream' in America, if not in the world. 'Stream,' however, conveys a very erroneous and vague idea of the magnitude of the river, unless one were in the habit of so speaking of the great Niagara, for the Nepigon possesses in but a slightly lesser degree the 'whirling and tumbling ... water, and the eddies ... leaping and ... in eternal ... confusion' of that river. Here is the virgin home of the speckled trout, specimens having been taken weighing five, seven and even ten pounds, and here is the angler's paradise. When they are rising well the fun is fast and furious, for the trout of this region are unequalled for vigor and activity. No more delightful outing could be imagined, desired or experienced than is afforded by a fortnight spent on the glorious Nepigon. The scenery alone would well repay a visit, not to speak of the angling. In its sinuous windings it recalls the famous Saguenay, and it is a matter of constant wonder what splendor the next turn will reveal. In some places the shores are banked with foliage to the water's edge, while in others bold bluffs rear themselves majestically to dizzy heights, and many islands and charm to the view. Immediately one begins the ascent he feels that he has been transported to another world. Dull care is left behind, the anxieties of life cease to oppress, the very atmosphere seems to be intoxicating, and he gladly yields to the fascination of his surroundings. After leaving Lake Helen and passing the little Indian village at the mouth of the river, the prospect is unbroken by settlement or habitation, and is one delightful expanse of nature's most exquisite handiwork. Six miles more and the first camping place—Camp Alexander—is reached, and the initial portage has to be made."

Among the more interesting details are the reports of the district and local overseers, setting forth the means adopted to enforce the law, and the general condition of the game and commercial fisheries of the Province. The commercial value of the fisheries of the Province is by no means expressed in the returns supplied by licensed fishermen. The abundance of game fish in our lakes and streams is one of the chief attractions for tourists and holiday-seekers, who bring an increasing volume of custom to the commercial centres and patronage to the summer resorts of the north.

MILITARY DOINGS.

Work which is to be Done in the Camps this Year.

IMPORTANT OPENING WORK.

Regulations for the Government of Rifle Clubs—Established on the basis of the Reserve Militia.

There is considerable interest among the military men as to the character of the work which it is intended to carry out in the district camps this year. While the announcement is made that the training is to be conducted under conditions which as near as possible conform to service conditions, there is some doubt if such can be employed to any appreciable extent when so short a period comprises the annual training. The preliminary work for officers and non-commissioned officers and men is of a very important character, especially in cases where they are connected with battalions unaccustomed to regular drills at company or battalion headquarters. For officers and non-commissioned officers to undertake to instruct a great body of inexperienced men in operations of which they themselves know little is it is thought, essaying too much. The benefit of practical field operations is recognized, but if the performance of such a program means that the fundamental preliminary instructions in the mere elementary work are to be largely eleminated from the syllabus, it is feared that the work cannot be carried out with the degree of success which is desirable. It is probable therefore, that the routine of the camps, as we have been accustomed to them, will not be varied to any great extent. This seems to be the opinion of those who have been considering the matter at headquarters, and indeed, militia officers throughout the country, who know something about the practical work done in our camps of instruction did not expect anything else.

The following regulations for the government of rifle clubs have recently been promulgated: It is provided that clubs shall be established on the basis of the reserve militia—marine and military.

There shall be two classes of rifle associations:

(a)—Military, formed in regiments or companies of the active militia and managed by the officers of the respective units.

(b)—Civilian, formed by persons liable to serve in the reserve militia and who, while members, of any club or association, shall be enrolled in such reserve.

Rifle associations shall, on the recommendation of the inspector of musketry, be established in such localities as he may deem to be in the interests of the force, subject to the approval of the Minister of Militia and Defence.

Before any association can be formed, not less than 40 men over the age of 16, residents of the locality in which it is desired to form the association, must, if not already members of the active militia, be enrolled and must have taken and subscribed to the oath of allegiance.

Every association must maintain a strength of 40 members, or disbandment may follow. But in special cases, on the recommendation of the General Officer Commanding, the strength to be maintained may be reduced.

In the event of a national emergency any person who is or has been duly enrolled in any rifle association in Canada shall be deemed to be already enrolled in the reserve militia of the Dominion.

Every association shall nominate a captain, who, subject to the approval of the inspector of musketry, shall, with a committee of two members, manage the affairs of the association.

Associations may be supplied with rifles for the use of members on application to the captain, and on furnishing a bond signed by three responsible members, for the safety, preservation and safe return of all rifles issued to them whenever required.

Extra ammunition may be supplied on the captain's requisition at the following prices: Lee Enfield, per 1,000, $15; miniature cartridge, per 1,000 $2.

Ammunition for individual practice will be issued free annually to military associations. 200 rounds for each member, and to civilian associations, 100 rounds to each member.

A return, showing the manner in which the free issue of ammunition has been expended must be made to headquarters by December 31 each year. An unsatisfactory expenditure of this ammunition may result in the free issue being stopped.

No man may belong to more than one rifle association at the same time or draw free ammunition more than once per annum.

PROTECT OUR BIRDS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—When I was going home the other evening I saw a well known and respected citizen in the centre of the town with a Flobert rifle in his hand. Just after I passed he fired and shot a beautiful golden oriole, which fell on the pavement just behind me. I asked him why he did so and he replied that he did so and he replied that he wished to have it mounted. I have taken the trouble to look up the law and find that it is contrary to the Statute to destroy these birds and that the person who did so is liable not only to a fine for killing the bird, but also to an additional penalty for discharging fire arms within the limits of the corporation.

Many people think they have a right to destroy our birds if they intend to use them afterwards for ornament in their house, or some such purpose, but permit me to point out the fact that only ornithologists and others, who, for scientific purposes, have obtained a permit from the Provincial Secretary, are permitted to take either birds or eggs of this description. It may be taken for granted that no such permit will be issued to any person while the birds are nesting, as the death of every parent bird will no doubt mean the loss of the whole brood.

The golden oriole is unusually numerous this spring. I have watched with great pleasure a pair of orioles building their wonderful swinging nest at my house and feel sure that you, Mr. Editor, will join with me in requesting all our citizens to protect these beautiful birds.

Yours truly,
Barrister.

THE COMMONWEAL SOCIETY.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—I shall esteem it a favour if you will permit me to address a few words in explanation of next Monday evening's meeting in the Council Chamber on behalf of the "Common Weal Society," to my fellow citizens of Peterborough and Ashburnham.

What the Executive Committee is most desirous of impressing upon them is that the society is open to all. It is not limited to either professional or business men, but we seek to interest every member of the community in the objects of the society. We therefore extend a cordial invitation to all to attend the forthcoming meeting.

From the remarks made regarding the society, the Committee gather that the rules about the use of alcoholic liquor before six o'clock, and about treating, have most deeply impressed themselves upon the minds of their fellow citizens. But we do not want it to be supposed that the Common Weal Society is simply some new kind of temperance movement. We have no desire to interfere in the slightest degree with any kind of temperance work now engaged in. We do not for a moment suppose that our rule, even if adopted by all and faithfully kept, would solve the Temperance Problem. We simply attack one evil, which we feel is a grave and serious matter, the habit (we fear the growing habit) of drinking during business hours.

But should every individual in the town abandon this habit, even then the Common Weal Society's work not be accomplished. We aim at no merely negative work. Our main object is expressed in the opening words of our manifest,—"The Peterborough Common Weal Society is an organization of citizens of Peterborough and Ashburnham for the purpose of forming and sustaining a high level of public citizenship."

That Mr. Editor is the aim of the society. We believe it is one worthy of the enthusiastic support of every right thinking person, and we earnestly trust there will be a large and thoroughly representative audience at the Council Chamber on Monday evening.

I am Sir,
Yours, etc.,
Herbert Symonds.

13 WENT DOWN TO DEATH.

Disaster to the Steambarge Baltimore in Lake Huron.

Chicago, May 25.—The steam barge Baltimore sank yesterday between Auscable and Fish Point, on Lake Huron, according to telegrams received here, and 13 out of a crew of 15 were drowned. The engineer and fireman, the only survivors, were rescued by the Columbia and taken to East Tewas, Michigan. The Baltimore was owned by P. H. Fleming & Co. of Chicago. The Baltimore was built at Gibraltar, Mich., in 1881, rated A1½, and was valued at $40,000. Her cargo was valued at about $5,000.

A Vessel in Distress.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 25.—An unknown three-masted schooner is in distress three miles south of Port Washington, Wis. Life savers have gone to the scene.

Twenty-eight vessels were unable to leave Milwaukee harbor, owing to the gale on Lake Michigan.

Excursion Steamer Ashore.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., May 25.—The excursion steamer Empire State, the largest of the Folger Line, was beached in the narrows, a mile above Brockville, yesterday. The steamer left here at 8 o'clock with the 40th Separate Company, National Guard, the city band, and about 100 excursionists bound for Victoria Day celebration at Prescott and Brockville, and soon after clearing from Brockville it was found that the firemen had left the port holes open. A heavy northwest gale prevailed, and water washed into the hold, putting out the steamer's fires. Capt. Allen was then obliged to beach his boat, and he did so on the Canadian side. The passengers were taken off in small boats amid great excitement and safely landed.

Two Men Drowned.

Halifax, N. S., May 25.—On May 21 a schooner was sighted off the island flying her flag halfmast, and on the 22nd Capt. Elijah Hill of the Gloucester schooner Josie M. Calderwood, landed at the main station, bringing with him a lad named Gordon McKay. Capt. Hall stated that on the 21st the boy's father and brother, George and Leslie McKay, were drowned while the schooner was running down the western bar. The youth Leslie had been out stowing the flying jib, and while returning to the deck slipped on the bowsprit and fell into the water. His father, who was in the vessel's hold at the time, sprang on deck and jumped overboard to his son's assistance, but before they could be rescued [illegible]

A RELIABLE PILE CURE.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is the safest and surest Pile Cure on the market, because it contains no mineral poisons nor opium nor cocaine, but can be used with absolute safety and certainty of cure.

Many physicians are now using the Pyramid Pile Cure in place of surgical operations, being painless, convenient to use, and the patient can attend to his daily occupation while the cure is being made, as it is used at night, and no additional treatment is necessary.

Dr. Wharton says the Pyramid Pile Cure will prove a blessing to mankind, when it is remembered that heretofore a surgical operation was considered the only cure with all its danger to life, intense pain and an expense of from ten to one hundred dollars, to say nothing of the possible return of the trouble. The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents and $1.00, and does the work quickly and safely.

A book on cause and cure of piles will be mailed free by addressing Pyramid Co., Marshall, Mich.

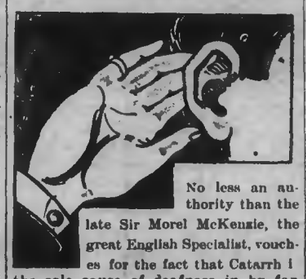
TO CURE THE GRIP IN TWO DAYS

Laxative Bromo Quinine removes the cause.

Hasn't Forgotten Peterborough.

That Mr. J. W. Flavelle of Toronto, still retains a warm corner in his heart for Peterborough, is evidenced by the receipt this morning, by Mayor Denne, of a ten dollar bill from him to be applied in connection with the Victoria Day celebration.



No less an authority than the late Sir Morel McKenzie, the great English Specialist, vouches for the fact that Catarrh is the sole cause of deafness in by far the vast majority of cases. In fact, deafness is simply another symptom of catarrh. The catarrh germs spread from the throat to the tubes connecting with the ears, blocking up those passages with the inflammatory discharge, and hindering the action of the eardrums. Japanese Catarrh Cure, in curing deafness, first kills the catarrh germ wherever it has found lodgment in the nose, throat or ear tubes. Then the soothing, healing properties of the medicine spread over the inflammation, dry up the discharge, open up the Eustachian tube; the buzzing noises cease, and the hearing is restored. The only remedy able to reach this inner tube, the only remedy for catarrhal deafness and for all forms of catarrh whatsoever is

"For years I have been troubled with catarrh, which affected my hearing. For five years I could not hear a watch tick. I spent much money foolishly in search of a cure, but received no permanent benefit until I used Japanese Catarrh Cure. After I had used the second bottle, my hearing gradually got better. I continued until I had used five bottles, which has resulted in completely curing every trace of catarrh and restoring my hearing. I feel very grateful for the wonderful benefit received from Japanese Catarrh Cure, as it has done for me what hundreds of dollars spent with doctors and scores of remedies failed to do."—Mrs. Alex. Brown, Warren, Ont.

ALBANY IN MOURNING

Five People Killed and Forty Others Seriously Injured.

TWO STREET CARS COLLIDE.

The Electrics Were Racing for Switches With Fully 120 Persons on Board—Both Motormen Were Among the Killed-Heartrending Scenes Near Greenbush Where the Accident Occurred.

Albany, N. Y., May 27.—Electric cars racing for a switch while running in opposite directions at the rate of 40 miles an hour cost five lives yesterday afternoon by a terrible collision, while over 40 prominent people, some fatally, others seriously injured, filled the accident wards of the various hospitals with the possibility of other deaths before morning. The lobby of the local postoffice is filled with dead and wounded. Hysterical women and children looking for relatives and friends, surgeons administering temporary relief, and ambulances racing through the city taking the wounded to hospitals, were the early intimations of the most terrible electric line accident ever heard of in this locality.

The scene of the accident was a point about two miles out of East Greenbush, on the line of the Albany and Hudson Railway, a just completed road of the third rail pattern. The point where the cars met on the single track was at a sharp curve, and so fast were both running and so sudden the collision that the motorman never had time to put on the brakes before southbound car No. 22 had gone almost clean through northbound car No. 17, with human flesh for a buffer, and hung on the edge of a high bluff, with its load of shrieking, maimed humanity. One motorman was pinned up against the smashed front of the southbound car with both legs severed, and killed instantly, while the other lived but a few minutes.

Fully 120 men, women and children formed a huge, struggling, shrieking pyramid, mixed with blood, detached portions of human bodies and the wreckage of the cars. Some of the more slightly injured of the men, extricating themselves from the quivering mass, began to take people out of the rear ends of the two cars, and almost everyone extricated in this way was badly injured. The scenes were heartrending. The few women and children who had escaped injury and death were hysterical, and added their cries to the shrieks of the dying and mutilated. Men with broken arms and jaws, dislocated joints and bloody heads and faces, tried to assist others who were more helpless and there were many cases of philosophical bravery.

With both motormen killed it was hard to get at the real cause of the accident, but it is pretty well determined that it was caused by an attempt of the southbound car to reach a second switch instead of waiting for the northbound car at the first siding.

The cars weigh 15 tons each and are the largest electric cars built, but so frightful was the crash that both cars were torn almost to splinters. Both cars were filled with Sunday pleasure-seekers returning from the newly opened recreation grounds that the new railway had just opened. The southbound car left Albany, and the accident occurred at 5 o'clock. The cars on the line were running at switch headways; that is, as a car reached a siding switch it was supposed to wait until another one going in the opposite direction passed. The motorman of the southbound car reached one of the switches, but seeing no northbound car, decided to take chances and go on to the next. It was at a curve between that the two cars met.

British Ambush Fails.

London, May 27.—A despatch from Standerton, Transvaal, dated May 22, says a detachment of the Queen's Mounted Infantry laid an ambush near Amersfort. Commandant Joubert, the magistrate and a party of burghers rode into the town and refused the British demand that they surrender and attempted to escape. The British thereupon fired upon them, wounding Commandant Joubert and the magistrate. Reinforcements came to the aid of the Boers, and the British were compelled to retire, with the loss of three prisoners.

Viljoen's Brother Caught.

London, May 27.—A despatch from Cape Town says: General Rundle has captured Theron's Mill, a strong position near Fouriesberg.

The Boers made an attack on the Cape Mounted Rifles, at a point near Bangor. The British had six wounded.

The Boers derailed a train yesterday, near Middleburg. The engine driver was killed and the fireman injured.

In another skirmish, a brother of Commandant Ben Viljoen was captured.

British Officers Held for Treason.

London, May 27.—The Chronicle says it learns that three British officers and about 100 non-commissioned officers and men, who were sent back from South Africa, for various misdemeanors, are now in Portland prison. A majority of the prisoners are apparently ordinary offenders, but the officers, it is said, were convicted of treasonably siding with the Boers. One of them is sufficiently influential to procure the suppression of the names of all three. Attempts to discover their identity have hitherto failed.

Wreck of Tantallon Castle.

Cape Town, May 25.—The Court of Enquiry which has been investigating the wreck of the Castle Line steamship Tantallon Castle on Robben Island, some weeks ago, made its report yesterday. Capt. Travers was found guilty of a grave error of judgment in not anchoring his vessel when he ran into the dense fog in the strong currents. The captain was censured, but his certificate was returned to him.

Two Men in Watery Graves.

Fort William, Ont., May 27.—Word has been received here of the supposed accidental drowning of two men in Shebandowan Lake, about 100 miles west of here, on the line of construction of the Canadian Northern Railway. On Thursday Fred Malefant and another man whose name is unknown, started across the lake in a canoe accompanied by a dog. Yesterday the dog returned to the camp and acted in a peculiar manner. A search was begun and the canoe was found floating on the lake. No clew of the men has been found and it is supposed both were drowned.

Five People Killed and Forty Others Seriously Injured.

TWO STREET CARS COLLIDE.

The Electrics Were Racing for Switches With Fully 120 Persons on Board—Both Motormen Were Among the Killed-Heartrending Scenes Near Greenbush Where the Accident Occurred.

Albany, N. Y., May 27.—Electric cars racing for a switch while running in opposite directions at the rate of 40 miles an hour cost five lives yesterday afternoon by a terrible collision, while over 40 prominent people, some fatally, others seriously injured, filled the accident wards of the various hospitals with the possibility of other deaths before morning. The lobby of the local postoffice is filled with dead and wounded. Hysterical women and children looking for relatives and friends, surgeons administering temporary relief, and ambulances racing through the city taking the wounded to hospitals, were the early intimations of the most terrible electric line accident ever heard of in this locality.

The scene of the accident was a point about two miles out of East Greenbush, on the line of the Albany and Hudson Railway, a just completed road of the third rail pattern. The point where the cars met on the single track was at a sharp curve, and so fast were both running and so sudden the collision that the motorman never had time to put on the brakes before southbound car No. 22 had gone almost clean through northbound car No. 17, with human flesh for a buffer, and hung on the edge of a high bluff, with its load of shrieking, maimed humanity. One motorman was pinned up against the smashed front of the southbound car with both legs severed, and killed instantly, while the other lived but a few minutes.

Fully 120 men, women and children formed a huge, struggling, shrieking pyramid, mixed with blood, detached portions of human bodies and the wreckage of the cars. Some of the more slightly injured of the men, extricating themselves from the quivering mass, began to take people out of the rear ends of the two cars, and almost everyone extricated in this way was badly injured. The scenes were heartrending. The few women and children who had escaped injury and death were hysterical, and added their cries to the shrieks of the dying and mutilated. Men with broken arms and jaws, dislocated joints and bloody heads and faces, tried to assist others who were more helpless and there were many cases of philosophical bravery.

With both motormen killed it was hard to get at the real cause of the accident, but it is pretty well determined that it was caused by an attempt of the southbound car to reach a second switch instead of waiting for the northbound car at the first siding.

The cars weigh 15 tons each and are the largest electric cars built, but so frightful was the crash that both cars were torn almost to splinters. Both cars were filled with Sunday pleasure-seekers returning from the newly opened recreation grounds that the new railway had just opened. The southbound car left Albany, and the accident occurred at 5 o'clock. The cars on the line were running at switch headways; that is, as a car reached a siding switch it was supposed to wait until another one going in the opposite direction passed. The motorman of the southbound car reached one of the switches, but seeing no northbound car, decided to take chances and go on to the next. It was at a curve between that the two cars met.

A FIVE HOURS' ENGAGEMENT.

Border Scouts Stormed at Farmstead, but They Drove off the Enemy in Five Hours—15 Boers Were Killed and 17 Were Left Wounded on the Field—British Officer Killed.

London, May 27.—The War Office received the following from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, May 26:

Fought Five Hours.

London, May 27.—A despatch from Kenhardt, Cape Colony, dated yesterday, says a commando of Boers, under the Free State Commandant Conroy, were marching to attack Kenhardt when they encountered a patrol of Border Scouts, who were entrenched at Farmstead. The Boers attempted to storm Farmstead, and the engagement lasted five hours. The Boers had 15 killed and left 17 wounded, including Field Cornet Janlouw, on the field. The British had one wounded.

BIG INSURANCE STAKES.

The Unearthing of a Conspiracy to Defraud Fraternal Societies.

Chicago, May 27.—One of the greatest conspiracies to defraud insurance companies ever recorded was disclosed in the Defenbach case on Saturday. Not $12,000, as the indictment charges, but $67,000 were the stakes played for, according to the prosecution. A ruling by Judge Tuley united the hands of the public prosecutors, and the already celebrated trial now takes on added interest and greater importance.

"The order of court, permitting statements of Marie A. Defenbach, charged with being a co-conspirator, and now dead, to be admitted in evidence, gives the State the desired leeway," said Assistant States-Attorney Olsen. "We will show that other companies were to be defrauded. The evidence is in our possession, and the jury and court will hear it all."

The following are the companies and fraternal societies in question and the amounts of policies: Equitable Life Insurance Co., $10,000; Mutual Life Insurance Co., $10,000; Security Life and Trust Co., $10,000; Prudential Life Insurance Co., $10,000 Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., $10,000; New York Life Insurance Co., $10,000; Independent Order of Foresters, Canadian branch, $5,000; Knights and Ladies of Honor, $2,000.

Insurance obtained upon the life of Marie A. Defenbach, deceased, upon which were based the indictments returned charging conspiracy to defraud, named Aust. M. Unger, Francis Wayland Brown, Frank H. Smiley and Marie A. Defenbach as defendants, is as follows: Independent Order of Foresters, Canadian branch, $5,000; Life Insurance Co., $5,000; Knights and Ladies of Honor, $0,000; total, $12,000.

Mysterious Prescriptions.

The mysterious prescriptions, the handiwork of Dr. Unger, which Miss Defenbach had compounded for herself, are now in the laboratory of a well-known chemist, who will, to-day mix the chemicals according to formulas of the prescriptions, so as to ascertain whether the drugs called for certain life-destroying properties in sufficient quantities to cause death. An illustration of the manner in which at least two of the conspirators under indictment handled themselves is shown by the fact that druggists who filled the prescriptions at the direction of Miss Defebach, was induced to return the originals to her. The apothecary merely kept copies.

Weary Brain Workers

Fagged out, ideas come as slowly as molasses. You think of things just a minute or two too late. Snap's gone! The buoyancy that made work a pleasure—that's gone too. The doctor would tell you that you are run down, not eating enough nor digesting enough. Your blood needs aid, your digestion needs a bracer too. Your blood requires Phosphorus and Iron that it may be formed readily. Now Ferrozone is a wonderful nerve bracer and blood maker. It's food for the blood and nerves, it will make you strong quickly and permanently.—Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

THE MANITOBA LINES.

Government Took Over Northern Pacific on Saturday.

ACTION WAS HURRIEDLY DONE.

It Will Be Operated for a Few Days, Perhaps a Few Weeks, by the Roblin Government, Until the Canadian Northern Is Ready to Operate the Lines—Why Haste Was Made.

Winnipeg, May 27.—The Northern Pacific lines were hurriedly taken over by the Manitoba Government on Saturday, and the Province now has a railway of its own. It will be operated for a few days, perhaps two or three weeks, by the Roblin Government, until the Canadian Northern is ready to operate the lines. President Mellen of the Northern Pacific will issue a circular Monday, notifying all employes of the change. It is believed that the haste was due to the recent action taken in the courts, and to escape a probable injunction.

MACHINISTS TO GATHER.

The International Association Meets in Toronto June 3, and President O'Connell Has Already Arrived.

Toronto, May 27.—This week Toronto becomes the headquarters of the Association of Machinists, and, owing to the strike of thousands of machinists in the United States for a shorter day, much interest will naturally centre in the movements of the executive officers of the association the next few weeks.

Mr. James O'Connell of Washington, D. C., President of the International Association of Machinists, arrived in Toronto at 10 o'clock last night, and registered at the Palmer House. He is here to assist the Executive Committee of the association in preparing for the annual convention of the association, which opens in Toronto on June 3.

President O'Connell found a large batch of mail waiting for him when he arrived last night, and, until he gets well established in his new headquarters and has time to open the accumulated correspondence, he will not be thoroughly in touch with the strike situation. In speaking of the prospects of a favorable outcome of the strike, Mr. O'Connell is sanguine of success. The men in various centres are already getting together and conferring with their employers, which is an indication that the cause is progressing. He believes that next week will see the strike in the United States practically wound up. Already employers of 40,000 machinists have conceded the demands of the strikers, and in many centres the men have gone back to work.

One of the important questions which will be decided at the forthcoming convention will be with reference to the shortening of the day of labor for railroad men. A date will be set when the railways will be asked to grant a nine-hour day.

Supposed to Have Been Drowned.

Magnetewan, May 27.—J. H. Nicholson, a very highly respected resident of this village, is supposed to have been drowned by the upsetting of a small canoe while crossing Ahmic Lake in a stiff wind last Wednesday morning. His canoe was found on the shore capsized, and his coat nearby. Parties have been dragging the lake in the vicinity of the accident, but so far without success. Mr. Nicholson leaves a wife and two children.

The body of Richard Stinson, a former employe of William Hardy, pump dealer, Woodstock, was found on the Karn farm near that town on Saturday. A phial of poison was in the man's pocket, and suicide is suspected.

The remains of W. C. Anslow, editor of the Newcastle, N. B., Chronicle, who disappeared four years ago while on a hunting trip, have been found in the thick woods near Southwest Miramichi.

Powel Christian Paulsen, a 16-year-old sailor, brought to Boston, Mass., by the Wilson Line steamer Ohio on Saturday, tells the story that the Norwegian barque Elsie was struck off Cape Sable on Thursday during the fog, and that the other 13 members of the crew went down with the disabled vessel.

Alcoholism Can Be Cured

REV. FATHER QUINLIVAN'S ADVICE.

To whom it may concern: The good points of Mr. Dixon's new discovery for the cure of the liquor habit in my opinion, are the following: First, if taken according to directions it completely removes all craving for liquor in the short space of three days; its use for a longer time is intended only to build up the system. Second, it leaves no bad after effects, but on the contrary aids in every way the health of the patient, whilst freeing him from the desire for drink. Third, the patient may use it without interfering with his business, or leaving his home. All other liquor cures I have yet heard of are very costly, operate slowly, are doubtful as to effects and often impair the health and constitution of the patient. I therefore look upon the remedy as a real boon, recommend it heartily to all concerned, and bespeak for it here in Montreal and elsewhere every success. J. Quinlivan, S. S., Pastor of St. Patrick's, Montreal.

Boy Killed by a Bike.

Stratford, May 23.—A fatal bicycle accident occurred here about 9 o'clock last night, by which George Russell McLean, aged 9 years, son of Thomas McLean, car inspector of the G. T. R., living on Inverness street, lost his life. Ben Sillifant, aged 24, with two cousins, was practising bicycle riding preparing for races on the coming holiday. They were riding at a rapid pace, and, the electric lights not being lit, they came unawares on young McLean, who was crossing the street. He was struck on the head, causing probably hemorrhage or concussion of the brain, which brought on convulsions, and he died about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Sillifant threw himself off his wheel and dislocated his shoulder and broke his little finger.

THE MANITOBA RAILWAY BATTLE.

From Legislative Arena Opponents Have Carried Fight to the Courts.

Winnipeg, May 25.—The legislative fight over the Roblin railway deal is to be followed by a legal fight, and the gauntlet was thrown down on Thursday in the Court of King's Bench by tht entering of an action against the Manitoba Government, the Canadian Northern Railway, the object of which is to get the court to declare the contracts void, and to prohibit the Government of Manitoba from carrying out the transfer of the Northern Pacific lines and restraining Premier Roblin and the Minister of Public Works from taking over or receiving the Northern Pacific lines. The plaintiffs submit that the Province of Manitoba has no power to legislate respecting the said railway and plant, and the agreement of Jan. 15, 1901, cannot be acted upon for various reasons stated at length.

The case was entered by Mr. A. N. McPherson of Winnipeg, the plaintiff's solicitor.

DUKES AND DOCKERS

AND LORDS AND LABOR MEMBERS SIT CHEEK BY JOWL

IN LONDON COUNTY COUNCIL.

A Body in Which the Eloquence Is Wonderful. Not Always Charming, But Sometimes Amusing—Some Sample Phrases Which Will Make the Reader Laugh—Some Mixed Metaphors.

Just now L. C. C. electors are being asked to vote for candidates for a variety of reasons, but no would-be member is seeking election on the ground that he could leaven the debates with a lambent light of humor and eloquence, says The London Daily Mail. But in a body like the London County Council, where duke and docker have taken tea together, and lords and labor members are the very best of friends, there are wonderful kinds of eloquence, all of which are not charming, but some of which are often amusing.

Instances of slips are plentiful. Mr. Cornwall, usually very careful, once told us that "40,000 people in London were living in one room." Dr. Cooper was enlarging upon the dangerous occupation of lunatic attendants when he observed quite seriously: "Some of the asylum attendants have been killed, and not only killed, but injured."

Mr. Steadman averred that he did not believe in visiting the sins of the father upon the parent; and Colonel Rotton, in the same discussion, laid down the principle that "we must have slaughter houses, as we have not arrived at the state when we can eat live meat." May we never get there!

Once, when the Council was discussing the Sunday concert question, a late member said: "You make it obligatory that we ought not to employ these men more than seven days a week;" and Sir John Hutton, who was protesting against any disturbance of present arrangements, followed with this mixture: "The ink is hardly dry before you dig this thing up to see if it is growing." In another discussion Col. Rotton told the Council that the Parks Committee, inspecting Rutty's house, "unlike Baalam—went to bless, but stayed to curse." As the committee numbered a few who "sit under" eminent divines, the Council expressed surprise, "I don't mean to say that they actually swore and cursed—used bad language you know," observed the colonel. "They went to praise, but stayed to blame. The whole place is in the most perfect state of dilapidation. Why, it wants new ceilings, new floors, and a new roof."

Rutty's house was, therefore, pulled down. Once, when the Council was discussing the advisability of offering a reward of £1,000 for the best smoke consumer for private grates, Sir Harry Poland, by way of throwing ridicule upon it, produced the following letter which a friend of his received from a man who advertised that he would, for a shilling, send particulars for the prevention of frozen cisterns: "Dear Sir.—I have had a great experience in these matters. If you remove your cistern from a cold part of the house to a warm part it will not be frozen."

Mr. Parker once quoted Shakespeare to show the wisdom of erecting statues to Chaucer and Milton, concluding by observing: 'Such a statement by such an eminent man as Shakespeare ought to convert the Council."

Mr. John Burns was once guilty of a delightful ornithological mixture of metaphors when he told the Council that a better time was coming, "when Parliament ceases to be the cuckoo nest for monopoly pigeons."

One more example must suffice. Col. Rotton, in his election address six years ago, declared that the taxation of site values was ripe for settlement. "If that was the case six years ago," said Mr. Benn in a speech on the subject, "what is the condition of the fruit now?" "Rotten!" came from all parts of the Council.

The "King Over the Water."

An interesting custom that recalls the old poetic days and the covert way of drinking the health of the King "over the water," is found in use by the English royalties. When a member of the Royal Family comes to dinner it is a point of etiquette to provide none but the illustrious guest with a finger bowl at the end of the banquet. The other diners are obliged to get along without this convenience as best they may. The reason is a curious one. In early Georgian days one never knew who was loyal, says The London News. Every other man might be a Jacobite in his heart. Now it was a piece of Jacobite ritual whenever the toast of "The King" was drunk, secretly to pass the goblet over any water that happened to be near the drinker. This was supposed to convert the toast into that of "The King Over the Water," the exiled Stuart at Rome or St. Germains. On this becoming known the court insisted there should be no water within reach of any guest, and the prohibition still holds.

England Breeds a Record.

Some interesting points are found in the annual report of the Registrar-General of births, deaths and marriages of the United Kingdom, In 1899 the marriages reached the highest number recorded since 1876, aggregating 262,334, or 16.5 per thousand.

The births number 928,646, equal to 29.3 per thousand. There were 37,124 illegitimate children born; the deaths numbered 581,709, equal to 18.3 per thousand, and there were 2,844 suicides.

This is the first year on record that not a single death from hydrophobia has been reported.

Western Australia's Premier.

Sir John Forrest has tendered his resignation as Premier and Colonial Treasurer to the state of Western Australia. His office has been notable in many ways. The only Premier the old colony ever had, beginning his services with the inception of independent responsible government in 1890, he has held on to the last, without a real change in the Ministry, until the colony has become absorbed in the Federal Commonwealth and resigns only to take the Ministry of Defence in the larger government. While there has been no change of the entire Ministry during 11 years, the personnel has changed, in some cases several times over, so that Sir John is the only one who has survived to the end. His policy has been unchanged, however, and he has continued, as he began, the master mind of the colony, retaining an overwhelming majority in and out of Parliament.

Another Negro Lynched.

Wichita, Kan., May 27.—A special to The Eagle says that Bill Campbell, a negro, was lynched at Pond Creek, Oklahoma, at 10 o'clock Saturday night, by a mob of 300 persons, who broke down the jail, for the fatal shooting of Deputy Sheriff George Smith.

Both Legs Were Broken.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., May 27.—A distressing accident occurred yesterday afternoon during the progress of the band concert, given in the Town Park, by the Q. O. R. band, in which Samuel Hindle, a lad about 16 years old, was severely injured. He and another lad were amusing themselves in one of the swings, and, suddenly, when about 18 feet from the ground, Hindle fell. Upon examination, it was found that both legs were broken above the knee.

Freighters Earn $400 a Day.

Victoria, B. C., May 27.—Steamer Amur brings news that navigation has commenced from Lake Lebarge to Dawson, but Lake Lebarge was still solid and likely to remain so for two weeks. Five steamers left Lebarge on May 17 for Dawson, all loaded, and many with scows, eleven being taken by the Ora, Flora and Nora. There were ice jams in Five Fingers and at Selkirk and White Horse, which, it was feared, would delay them. Steamer Clossott has left Dawson, bound up. Four scows, owned by C. J. Dumbleton, have been wrecked in Thirty-Mile Creek, and the cargoes lost. Freighters have been making big money at Lebarge sending freight over ice, some earning $400 per day. The Klondike River and Bonanza Creek were in flood and some dumps were endangered.

The Amendment.

In a bank in Philadelphia is displayed prominently this sign: "Gentlemen Will Please Not Smoke in This Building." To which somebody, evidently a lover of the weed, annoyed by the manners of the clerks, has appended, "It Makes the Clerks Sour and Envious."

He Barred Newcastle.

When Edward VII. as Prince of Wales visited America in 1860, Canada went wild over him, and in Detroit and Chicago the crowds were so dense that the party could scarcely reach their hotel. So many were the receptions, dinners and other social functions, in which the Prince participated that he finally broke down through sheer fatigue and overexcitement. The Duke of Newcastle, who was the Prince's companion, decided, therefore, to stop off on their way to St. Louis at Dwight Station, a quiet village famous for its shooting. The Prince brought down a bag of 14 brace of quail and four rabbits. But the pleasure of the day was marred by the following incident:

As the royal party approached a farmhouse an unmistakably British settler appeared at the door and invited every one except the Duke of Newcastle to enter.

"Not you, Newcastle!" he shouted. "I have been a tenant of yours and have sworn that you shall never set a foot on my land."

Accordingly the party passed on, and the farmer, though revenged on his old landlord, had to forego the honor of entertaining royalty under his roof.

THE SONS OF ENGLAND

At Murray Street Baptist Church Last Evening.

Sermon by Rev. Mr. Bastow—A Large Attendance of Members.

Lansdowne Lodge No. 25, Sons of England, yesterday evening attended divine worship in a body at Murray Street Baptist Church, when Rev. Jonathan Bastow delivered an excellent sermon. The society was largely represented and occupied the body of the church, joining heartily in the worship. Rev. Mr. Bastow cordially welcomed them to the church and asked them to come again after the improvements on the sanctury were completed.

He preached upon the "Blessedness of Trusting in God," Psalm 2-12. He dwelt first upon the patriotic feature in their society, one of their declared objects being to bring together Englishmen and their male decendants for the maintenance of British connection. Mr. Bastow then spoke of the great value of the British Government amongst the nations of the world. He said that it rendered a much larger beneficient service to the world than any other Government. That the Union Jack is the highest symbol of justice, personal liberty and safety of life and property. England always promotes material prosperity, intellectual culture, religious civilization, banishes slavery and cruelty wherever it goes. He then spoke of the beneficient feature of the Sons of England Society, and recommended it very highly as having more helpful features than is common in provident societies. He said that this provident and beneficiant element which is a central feature in their society, is one of the fruits of Christianity. Jesus Christ was the incarnation of charity and benevolence—but we need more than any provident society furnishes. We need to provide for the soul as well as the body, to come into right relation with God as well as men, to provide for eternity as well as time. For these blessings he urged them to put their trust in God. In a very lucid and inspiring manner he went on to show the need of trusting in God for the salvation of the soul, for the supplying of daily temporal needs, for the support of the mind and soul in the crushing experiences of life and finally to secure peaceful and happy death. The sermon was listened to from first to last with close attention and evidently the warmest interest.

TREATMENT OF INEBRIATES.

Efforts to Solve the Problem of Their Curative Treatment.

From time to time deputations of those interested in the reclamation of those habitually addicted to the intemperate use of intoxicants have waited upon the Government of Ontario to urge the adoption of some feasible scheme by which these unfortunates could be brought under conditions that would result in the cure of the terrible craving for strong drink.

Great trouble has been experienced in devising some means, by which the class in question could be brought to voluntarily submit to the treatment that will be found or thought to be, effective to the end sought. During the past year deputations have waited upon the Provincial Secretary, who has charge of all the Provincial Institutions, suggesting and advocating various ways of treatment, and various ways of making subjects amenable to the advantage of the suggested curative treatment, and beginning some course of action that would be provincial in its character. Among other ways it was suggested that certain wards of the various hospitals throughout the Province should be set apart for the purposes in question, but the subject of devising some curative treatment has so far been the crux of the problem.

Dr. Rosebrough, of Toronto, who has perhaps been most prominent and energetic in advancing the work under consideration, recently headed a deputation to wait upon Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary. It was urged that if an appropriation of a sufficient number of experiments could be carried out to afford proof of the efficacy of some specified mode or modes of treatment for the cure of inebriates. Mr. Stratton pointed out that the Government had under consideration, and had at various times considered the question, but had not yet arrived at the best means of accomplishing the results aimed at. He added that if the sum of $1,000 would demonstrate to the people of the Province what could be done, that there might be found a sufficient number of philanthropic gentlemen who would contribute that amount, and with a view of facilitating this desideratum, he would be willing personally to contribute $100 towards such a fund, and the remaining nine-tenths might be easily obtained from gentlemen interested in this philanthropic work. Acting upon this suggestion, Dr. Rosebrugh has published an appeal to the public for the contribution of the required amount. He urges the importance of securing it, for he is strongly of the belief that the practical demonstration he and those associated with him are preparing to make, will be an object lesson, both for the Government and the municipalities, which he thinks are conjointly interested, such as will bring about the desired result. He closes his letter by intimating that donations to the fund may be sent to the treasurer, Mr. John Aitken, 528 Bathurst street, Toronto, or to Dr. Rosebrough's address, Confederation Life Buildings, Toronto.

THE COMMON WEAL SOCIETY.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—I suggest that the Common Weal Society should extend its operations by endeavouring to suppress cigarette smoking by boys. Within a week I saw a boy smoking a cigarette on the street, who seemed much below the age of 16. He told me, on my questioning him, that he was 11 years old, "going on 12. He told me with the air of one justifying himself, that he "hadn't started to inhale yet." And in answer to my further question he said that a good many boys of about his age smoked cigarettes, and some of them inhaled the smoke.

Perhaps some of our medical men can tell us the effect of such habits on boys of the age named, and perhaps the Society can do something to put a stop to such practices amongst young boys.

Yours very truly,
E. B. Edwards.

TOMMY ATKINS ATTENDS CHURCH

The Garrison Parade to St. Paul's Church.

REV. MR. BASTOW'S ADDRESS

The 14th Durham Field Battery, 3rd Dragoons and 57th Regiment—Splendid Parade of the Men.

The first garrison church parade of the season took place yesterday afternoon to St. Paul's Church, where an impressive service was held, the address to the soldiers being given by Rev. J. Bastow, pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church. The event proved to be most attractive and the parade of the garrison from the Drill Shed to the church was witnessed by a thousand or more townspeople. The day was perfect for a parade and the appearance of the men was favourably commented on. The route of march was from the Drill Shed, on Murray street, to George street down George to Brock street, over to Water street, and then north to St. Paul's. The garrison was in command of Lieut.-Col. E. B. Edwards. The two local sections of the 14th Durham Field Battery turned out about 30 strong, under the command of Lieut. E. O. Bradburn and Lieut. W. C. Ackerman. The Dragoons were represented by Surgeon-Major Young and Lieut. W. T. Hall. The parade state of the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, showed that there was a turnout of about 200.

On arriving at the church the soldiers occupied the centre pews, and the civilians occupied the remainder of the pews.

The opening ceremonies were conducted by Rev. Mr. Yule, assistant pastor of St. Paul's.

Mr. Bastow preached from II Tim., ii, 3: "Endure hardness as good soldiers of Jesus Christ." He said in substance as follows:

I consider myself highly honoured in being selected to address the soldiers of the 57th Regiment, and the other military organizations of the town, and our excellent military band. I feel myself oppressed, however, by the weight of responsibility which this position brings me.

I, with the rest of the citizens of the town of Peterborough, am proud of you all, for the excellent character which the officers and men bear, and the valuable services you have rendered the town and country in a variety of ways on different occasions. Especially the last year and a half have you stood as the suitable representatives of the town in the inspiring send-off that you gave to the Canadian soldiers when they went to South Africa, and in the cordial and dignified manner in which you received them them back again after they had rendered exceptionally brave and valuable services to the Empire on the field.

Such military organizations as these, though only acting as militia, are a great boon to the country, as they save us the great expense of a standing army, which would be inevitably needed. They are a perpetual power for means of defence, ready for every emergency, such, for instance, as that which came to the City of Albany, N. Y., about two weeks ago. They also serve to keep quiet and orderly the dangerous and lawless elements, which are found in every country, such as Anarchists and Nihilists. So our military probably renders a more valuable service by the evils which they prevent than the evils they actually remove. It has been often said that the best way to keep the peace of a nation is to always be prepared for war. Then, too, the presence of a militia force in a community is a very important means of keeping the patriotic fires burning warmly in the hearts of the whole people.

These militia organizations are very valuable to the men themselves, when they know how wisely to make the best advantage of

THEIR OPPORTUNITIES.

The body is made strong, erect and symmetrical by the military drill. It gives one quick and full control of his bodily powers; it wards off disease and preserves health. The schools that have adopted the military drill for their students send them out into the world, not only with strong, well trained intellects, richly stored with useful knowledge, but also with vigorous and healthful bodies, by which they can turn their mental powers and treasures, to the largest possible account. A sound mind needs a sound body to do the most efficient work.

Then, too, the military drill teaches obedience. It is very important for every young man to learn to bring his will into harmony with other wills—to think and feel with his associates. Soldiers must do this in the drill and march. We must also learn to bring our wills into subjection to superior wills; this is one of the first and most important lessons. If a soldier does not do this he is not fit for the ranks. If the commanding officer is not deserving of prompt and universal respect, he is not fit for the position.

But it is of another kind of warfare I wish to speak to you to-day. I want to urge you to become good soldiers of Jesus Christ. This is what my text calls for.

For various substantial reasons much of the language of Scripture is military, and you see that my text is clothed in that form. What is necessary to become a good soldier of Jesus Christ? First we must enlist into His service. None of us are born in the military ranks; every man has to enlist for himself. In the same manner we must voluntarily enlist in the army of King Jesus. Christ does not force us to fight for Him. It is reasonable that we should serve him, for He has made and preserved us. He is a good King to serve and we are never asked to do anything that is unreasonable or that will not be to our advantage and bring us honour. No other soldiers are so carefully protected, so wisely led, so richly provided for or so grandly rewarded.

How many there are that are refused a place in the army on account of age, sickness, physical weakness, or other bodily effects, but Christ will accept all of you who offer your selves, no matter what your height, or age, or weight, or health, or circumstances, and however limited your capacity for service. He can make good use of you all, make grand men out of you no matter who you are or what you are.

HOW TO ENLIST.

Do you say "How can I enlist?" In this way and in this way only. Sincerely repent of your sin, confess it to Him frankly, ask Him to pardon you fully. Put your trust in Him as your only Saviour; tell Him you want to serve Him, ask Him to help you to do so, and honestly do your best to serve him. As soon as you honestly have determined to do this you have enlisted in Christ's army and your name is registered in heaven in the Lamb's book of life. Are you willing to do this? You never did and you never will do a more reasonable thing than this, or that will bring you a higher honour or a richer reward. I am an enlisting officer and I want you all to enter the service of King Jesus.

I call you attention in the next place that when you have enlisted you must put on the uniform and drill and camp and mess and march and fight in the regular ranks of the Lord's army. Soldiers are easily recognized in a crowd by their dress and military bearing. If a soldier is ashamed of his uniform, his business, and his associates, he is not deserving of the name and his comrades will soon detect him and freeze him out. So a Christian must acknowledge Christ before the world, by word and deed and conduct and character. Stragglers in the army are not worth anything to fight the battles of their country. They demoralize the regular soldiers, so it is a shame and a curse to any man to try to be a secret disciple of Christ, to skulk about and hide his colours, to skirk the responsibilities of the church and of christian life. We must wear the uniform constantly, that is, we must be as good Christians on the week day as on Sunday, in the shop as in the church, on pleasure trips as at home. If a man is not a good soldier of Jesus Christ everywhere, he is not a good soldier anywhere. Dan Spence was as faithful to his friend King Jesus in the camp in South Africa as he was here in the George Street Church in Peterborough.

We have learned a good deal during the last year and a half by what all have read in the newspapers and what our returned soldiers of the hardships of the soldier's life. We have learned that the actual service does not consist in ribbons and bounty money, in dress parades, in banquettes and reviews, in splendid marches in the public streets of great cities before admiring and applauding multitudes, in pleasant sea voyages and charming views of distant countries. Now for the most part it consists in toil, privations, fierce battles, suffering in the hospital and not a few are required to lay down their lives. So if you want to serve as a soldier of King Jesus, you must be willing to bear burdens, fight battles, endure persecution and carry crosses. There will be plenty of joy but you must expect hardship also.

But if you will follow the great captain of your salvation closely and obey him implicity, you will never lose a battle, you will never be put to shame. He will lead you on and on and up and up until you are crowned with victory in the glory land.

Well, what about the result. The rewards will be rich, lasting and everlasting. Jesus will bounteously provide for all who will enlist in His services. Kings always have to provide for their soldiers—sometimes they do it very poorly. The soldier takes off his own clothes when he enlists, whether it is broad cloth or corderoy, after that he is clothed and fed and armed and provided for wholly by his King—so it will be with our King Jesus. Every want is anticipated and will be fully supplied. Finally great honours will be conferred upon the soldiers of Jesus Christ in heaven. There was nothing our late beloved and greatly lamented Queen enjoyed more than to recognize and reward the distinguished services of her brave soldiers. She delighted to confer medals, titles and distinguished positions, upon those who had rendered eminently valuable service. To receive a medal from her hand immensely added to its worth. I do not believe that there ever was a British soldier that would be willing to part with such a medal simply for the wealth of the metal it contained—Jesus likes to reward His faithful soldiers, He will greet all such immediately after we enter the other life with these words, "Well done, good and faithful servant, thou has't been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things, enter into the joy of the Lord." Then he will put upon our brow the crown of glory that fadeth not away.

On returning to the Drill Shed the men were formally dismissed and subsequently at a meeting of the garrison officers, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to Rev. Dr. Torrance, and the officers and members of St. Paul's Church, for the accommodation afforded them and to the choir for the excellent music rendered.

The Light House Keeper.

No class in the community render more signal service to their fellows than the men who here and there along the chain of our great lakes and rivers keep bright and clear the lights that guide the sailor. Light-house keepers are necessarily exposed a great deal to the weather, and one of them, William Gillespie, of Wolfe Island, Ont., states that in this way he contracted muscular rheumatism. "For two weeks," said Mr. Gillespie, "I suffered untold agony with muscular rheumatism in my shoulders. I was crippled by the disease to such an extent that I could not put my coat on without assistance. I bought a bottle of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure, and two doses cured me completely. I have not had a twinge of pain since. There is nothing like this medicine for rheumatism."

KING AND RELIGION

STRICT OBSERVER OF THE CUSTOMS OF THE ESTABLISHED CHURCH.

'TIS DUE TO LOYALTY TO HIS OWN

Never Attended Any Service on Sunday in His Entire Life Unless It Was Conducted by a Clergyman of the Religion by Law Established—Reads Service Himself.

A member of the royal household is authority for the statement that never in his entire life has King Edward attended divine service on the Sabbath, except when conducted by a clergyman of the Established Church. This may be said of many Englishmen, and is not due to prejudice against other religions, but to loyalty to their own. King Edward as a tourist has visited all the great cathedrals, Mohammedan mosques and Hindu temples in the world, and is familiar with all the famous churches of Europe. He has witnessed weddings, funerals and other religious ceremonies in Catholic and dissenting churches many times, but never on the Sabbath. Not even in Rome, where he once spent Easter Sunday, was he tempted to witness the impressive ceremony conducted by the Pope at St. Peter's, but went quietly to the little English Church, where he was one of a very few worshipers, explaining that he did so because he thought when members of the Church of England were in Rome and other foreign cities they should be more than usually particular to recognize and encourage their own form of faith.

No matter where he happens to be on Sunday—at sea, or at a German watering place or camping on the plains or in the mountains or visiting friends in the country— he has always observed the Sabbath in the strictest manner; and when there is no Church of England convenient or chaplain present he reads prayers himself at the appointed hour to as many of his companions as are willing to join him in the service. Nor does he ever travel on Sunday, except at sea. This has been the rule of his life, as it was that of his mother, the late Queen, and his father, the Prince Consort.

At Marlborough House in London and at Sandringham, his country palace, prayers are read daily in the morning, the members of the household, the servants and the guests being expected to attend, although not required to do so. The attendance is voluntary, but general. The King is not always present in London, but seldom fails to appear at morning prayers while at Sandringham. On Sunday he invariably attends morning services; in London at the Chapel Royal, or at the Church of St. Anne, Soho, and at Sandringham at the beautiful Chapel of St. Mary Magdalene, a quaint and venerable structure said to be more than 400 years old, which was restored at his expense for the benefit of his household and tenants and is filled with beautiful memorial windows and tablets. The humblest laborer on the estate kneels beside the King and gives the responses with him, the only difference being that the Royal family have a separate entrance and a section of pews reserved for themselves and their guests. Pews are also reserved for the servants of the household. The remainder of the sittings belong to tenants of the King's estate and their laborers. The Princesses teach in the Sunday School and Queen Alexandra has charge of the music, drills the choir and on occasions presides at the organ.

Rev. Mr. Onslow has been the curate of St. Mary Magdalene's for many years. He was a classmate of King Edward's at the University, and as boys they were in many a scrape together. He attends to the spiritual wants of the tenantry as well as the Royal household, but when the King is at Sandringham the list of visitors usually includes the name of some noted divine, who is expected to preach on Sunday. The late Dean Stanley, who was the religious preceptor of the King, and the late Charles Kingsley were his favorite preachers and frequent guests, and Rev. John Russell, who is commonly alluded to by unfriendly newspaper writers as "the Sporting Parson," is one of the King's most intimate friends. Mr. Russell, who is a keen sportsman and can ride to the hounds with any gentleman in England, once startled the congregation at St. Mary Magdalene by announcing that he had chosen for his text the words of the Saviour in the first clause of the fifty-eighth verse of the ninth chapter of St. Luke.

Tapestries for Mrs. Langtry.

The Royal School of Art Needlework, in South Kensington, has been visited recently by numbers of fashionable people to see the wonderfully worked hangings for Mrs. Langtry's new theatre. Mrs. Langtry has discovered that the school gives real embroideries for the same price as that at which the upholsterers offer imitations.

The hangings are all of the empire period, with the fleur de lis and eagle of the first empire playing an important part in a scheme of decorations. The royal boxes are hung with mauve, embroidered with fleur de lis. The drop curtain is of rich green velvet, embroidered with dragons, also the work of the school.

COL. HUGHES IN ACTION.

What He Did at the Battle of Faber's Pit —Commended Officially.

Lieut.-General Sir Charles Warren, in his report of the battle of Faber's Pit, Griqualand West, on May 30, 1900, says:

"Section 10, Lieut.-Col. Hughes, who was at the main farmhouse with the scouts, on hearing the firing, and seeing the horses stampede, got together a few of his men and rushed into the kraal, opening a brisk fire on the ridge where the Boers were in the diamond washings, until they were obliged to cease fire by the Yeomanry advancing out in front of them. At the same time, Captain Parkin and a troop of 23rd Yeomanry, took possession of the south end of the same kraal, and acted under the orders of Col. Hughes. By holding this kraal, they prevented the rebels getting hold of it from the direction of the cemetery. At this time the rebels began to run away from the south side of the garden, and were in doing so exposed to our fire, but Col. Hughes, supposing them to be our own men, ordered Capt. Parkin and party to cease fire, and they thus escaped. Col. Hughes then decided to outflank the enemy, and with some of the Yeomanry and some good shots of various corps, he drove the enemy up beyond the direction of the cemetery, thus getting in line with Col. Crowley, and bringing his right shoulder up he took Venter's men on their flank, and drove them away to the south."

In section 23, Lieut.-Col. Hughes, A. A. G. Intelligence Officer, Major Ogilvie, "E" Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, and Capt. Mackie, Warren's Scouts, are named "as being particularly worthy of mention for the excellent services they performed in their respective spheres during the day."

General Warren's report has been strongly supported by Lord Roberts himself, in his despatches to the Secretary of State for War.

TWO YEARS DELAY.

Could not Take the Simplest Food Without Suffering for it—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Have Changed the Tone of His Life.

Many people through prejudice lose many of the good things of life which might be theirs if they left their minds free and open to reasonable conviction.

Many worthless preparations are advertised to cure Dyspepsia, it is true—nostrums which are absolutely useless and sometimes far from harmless.

But the mere fact of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets receiving the endorsement of the people in all parts of the world is enough to convince the most sceptical that all the medicines advertised to cure Dyspepsia are not failures.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are no failure. A certain Quebec lady recognizes this fact now, though, as she herself confesses, she was sceptical at one time.

"I have always," writes Mme. Maria Anne Bujold, "had a very strong objection to patent medicines. But I must confess that my opinion has changed.

"The results in cases within my own knowledge where Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have been used are wonderful. And lastly my own case has completely converted me to the belief that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets is a medicine valuable beyond price.

"For two years my life has been a burden.

"I could not take the simplest food without having a pain across my stomach. A sour gas would rise in my throat and I dreaded the thought of eating.

"I finally consulted doctors about trouble but they did nothing for me that was of any help.

"Then only did I decide to give Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a fair trial. I shall never regret it. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets did what other means had failed to do—they cured me. My digestion is now perfect; all pain and symptoms of Dyspepsia have left me, and I have nothing but Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to thank for it."

FRENCH CANADIANS.

Quaint Easter Customs of Early Settlers Preserved.

WITH POMP AND CIRCUMSTANCE

Why Two Dignitaries of Old Canada Failed to Get an Invitation to the Table to an Easter Sunday Dinner a Long Time Ago—L'Abbe Casgrain's Description of an Early Colonial Dinner.

Many of the quaint, interesting customs and traditions of Easter, which the early settlers in New France brought over from Brittany and Normandy, are still preserved to this day by their descendents in French Canada.

From the earliest days of the colony the feast of Easter was celebrated with great pomp and circumstance by both clergy and laity. The Jesuits always invited the dignitaries of church and state to dine in their refectory after mass. When Argenson was Governor of Canada and he and Bishop Laval clashed as to the question of precedence, the Jesuits found themselves in a dilemma as to who should occupy the highest seat at the table on Easter Sunday—the Governor or the Bishop. The question defied solution, so the fathers invited neither of them.

According to popular tradition, on Easter morning, at an early hour, the sun may be seen to perform three somersaults in honor of the great Christian event, then commemorated; and on Ascension Day three persons free from mortal sin might behold three suns at sunrise.

Easter day is a religious festival of marked importance. After Lent, with its many abjurations, the advent of Easter was hailed with joy. It was the custom for the people to remain up until midnight of Holy Saturday to break the fast with cheer. The Lenten season in Canada was observed with the rigorous fast of the early Christians. No meat was permitted during Holy Week and many other austerities were enjoined for the purpose of mortifying the flesh.

L'Abbe Casgrain, a distinguished antiquarian, described an Easter dinner in the early days of the colony as follows:

"Imagine," says the abbe, "30 or 40 good eaters of those times at table. There was little ceremony, but everything was offered in the heartiest manner, and each took the place he could find. Chairs were not in common use; on each side of the table were blocks of wood, on which boards were placed, and trunks here and there were used as seats, the guests not thus accommodated having to stand. On the table were leaden or common delft dishes, and if there were enough for all it was an indication of wealth on the part of host. The few forks were reserved for the women, and each provided his own knife.

"The clothing of the men consisted of grey homespun trousers of country cloth, and a pair of beef moccasins, the bonnets, blues, generally worn out of doors, were laid aside for the nonce. Their toilet was completed by a dickey. If the latter were omitted by any one, he was not entitled to partake of pie, a favorite dish of the habitants. The costumes of the women consisted of blue skirt with white stripes, and a flowered India shawl and white cap for gala days. The preparations for this festival were something formidable, if one may judge from the following, which recalls the feast of Gargantua:

"In the first place, there was prepared a stew or ragout of pork, beef and mutton, in a 30 or 40-gallon boiler; minced pies, pork chops prepared in a variety of ways, quarters of veal and mutton, fowl and game. Beside the viands there were pastries of different kinds, cooked in lard or porpoise oil, and cakes now known as doughnuts. All these were simultaneously placed on the table, and each helped himself as he pleased.

"Those who had no plate took a piece of pastry from a plate and used it as a dish. While the eatables were being partaken of, the host went round the table and poured out liquor to each in a cup or pewter goblet. The utmost gaiety and cordiality prevailed. Hunting and fishing exploits were recounted, and the feast ended with songs, the whole company joining in the chorus."

GROWING OLD.

Old—we are growing old,
Going on through a beautiful road,
Finding earth a more blessed abode,
Nobler work by our hands to be wrought,
Freer paths for our hope and our thought.
Because of the beauty the years unfold
We are cheerfully growing old!

Old—we are growing old,
Going up where the sunshine is clear,
Watching grander horizons appear
Out of clouds that enveloped our youth,
Standing firm on the mountains of truth.
Because of the glory the years unfold
We are joyfully growing old!

Old—we are growing old,
Going in to the garden of rest
That glows through the gold of the west,
Where the rose and amaranth blend
And each path is the way to a friend.
Because of the peace that the years unfold
We are thankfully growing old!

Old—are we growing old?
Life blooms as we travel on
Up the hills into fresh, lovely dawn;
We are children, who do but begin
The sweetness of living to win.
Because heaven is in us, to bud and unfold,
We are younger for growing old!

A WIDOW'S BID.

By M. QUAD.

Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis.

As a sailorman, holding a certificate as chief mate, though at the time out of a berth, I was in the Maritime Exchange, San Francisco, when the ship Good Intent and cargo were put up at auction for the benefit of the underwriters. I had heard something about the queer voyage of the ship. She was from China and Japan, laden with teas, silks and fancy goods, and, being blown to the south among the islands by a typhoon, she had struck on a reef off one of the Necker islands. The shock dismasted her, and she was breaking up when her crew took to the boats and were picked up after several days of suffering. When this had been properly sworn to by master and crew, it was for the insurance companies to come down, and when they had handed over the cash the programme was to put the wreck up at auction and hope to get a bid large enough to cover the cost of making out the papers.

There was just one bidder, and, to everybody's surprise, it was a woman. I soon heard it said that she was a widow and kept a boarding house for people of the better class. She bid $100 for the wreck as it stood, whether still hanging on the coral reef or at the bottom of the sea, and there was a general laugh as her bid was accepted. She had recognized me as a sailor while waiting to bid and had asked me the distance to the islands and if I had ever been there. When she had bid in the wreck and was ready to go, she gave me her address and asked me to call. Just what she was up to I couldn't figure out, but the fact of a woman bidding in a wreck was sufficient to satisfy a sailor that she was acting upon some information not possessed by the underwriters. I was on hand at the hour named, and I soon discovered that she was a woman of business. When she had made many inquiries about me and was evidently satisfied that I was all right, she told me that she had discovered through one of her boarders that the cargo of the ship was far more valuable than appeared by the manifest. It seemed that some one had a private speculation in opium, the captain and mate standing in, and it was this knowledge that had caused the Widow Jackson to bid for the wreck. The secret had been let out by the mate while ill of fever and out of his head.

What the widow wanted of me was, first, to ask if there was a possible chance that the wreck was still on the reef and if any part of her cargo could be got at; second, the cost of fitting out a craft to visit the scene, and, third, if I would take command on a percentage of what might be recovered and could scare up a crew to do the same. The Widow Jackson was a brisk spoken, decisive woman. She had been left money. The adventure would be a big risk, but if the wreck was found the profit would be enormous. All I had to risk in it was my time, and I soon decided to do that. Acting under her instructions, I looked about for a craft to charter and after a little lighted upon a brig which filled the bill. I also routed out among the sailor crowd a mate, cook and six men who would take all other chances if paid a month's wages in advance. I got figures on the necessary stores, and the widow took a day to look them over. I expected the sum total would frighten her, as the figure was pretty steep in spite of all I could do, but when I called again she said:

"I have got that amount of money and a little over. I am going to sublease this house for six months and go with you on this voyage. I see you have figured on a cook. Strike him off the list. I shall be cook myself. If I can cook and work here, I can do the same aboard of a brig, and we want no idlers. I have fully made up my mind to carry out my ideas, and you will go ahead as fast as possible."

I was pushing things along to get away at the earliest hour, when I heard that the captain of the late Good Intent was secretly seeking a craft for charter. This satisfied me as to the value of the wreck if it was still intact and also made me hustle the harder. When we finally got away, there was no talk about it, and I was the only man aboard who knew our real destination. That we should be followed within a week or ten days was certain, and we were no sooner clear of the "heads" than orders were given to crack on and keep the little hooker traveling for all she was worth. We were in ballast only, having cleared for Japan, and I had picked up a good sailer in chartering the Duchess.

There is a wide stretch of salt water and weeks of sailing between the California coast and the Necker islands, which lie in a southwest direction and number 12, great and small. Only the largest two are inhabited, but I knew that residents of them roved among the whole group and that shell gatherers and traders would be frequently met with. Among our outfit was a 0 pound cannon and 10 muskets, bought of a junk dealer in San Francisco. If we found the wreck, we might have to hold it by force and do some sharp fighting. From the first day of sailing until the morning we sighted Nigger island, one of the Necker group and the one where the Good Intent had left her bones, she appeared to be certain that our adventure would turn out all right.

The wreck lay there on the reef as she had been abandoned, and a yell came from every throat. We had simply to feel our way down to her as near as possible and then take the yawl and board her. She looked a sad wreck, but we found her in fairly good shape when we got aboard, having the widow with us. The reef was half a mile from the beach, and the ship had driven on to it stem first, run about half her length and then made a cradle for herself. At high tide there were two feet of water in her lower hold; at low tide she was drained of every drop.

Now, see how queer are the ways of fortune. We had not been on the wreck an hour before two native catamarans, each carrying 15 islanders, hove in sight and came down to us. The fellows at once demanded a share of the loot, and we had to resort to the big gun to drive them away. They returned under a white flag before night and offered their services for pay, and 20 of them were engaged to assist us.

It would have been a great find without the opium, but the stuff was aboard all right. The value of the tin cases packed in one of the staterooms was not far from $20,000, and of general cargo we took in a load which sank the brig to her plimsoll mark. In a week we were through with the wreck and ready to turn her over to the islanders for what they could get out of her. We up anchor and headed for the Pacific coast at noon one day, and within three hours we rose a bark which was heading straight for the spot we had left. It was the captain of the lost Good Intent, but he had come too late.

We made port after an uneventful voyage, the cargo was landed and disposed of with only a few days' delay, and one morning we were all paid off, said goodby to the widow, and I never saw her again.

Gratitude

Always seeks to find some expression for itself, and womanly gratitude will not keep silence. Cynical people sometimes say Why do women write these testimonials to the value of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription? The answer can be put in one word, Gratitude. When, after years of agony a woman is freed from pain, when the weak woman is made strong and the sick woman well, the natural impulse is to write a word of grateful thanks for the medicine which caused the cure.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures diseases peculiar to women. It establishes regularity, stops weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"Having used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' during the past year," writes Mrs. Mattie Long, of Pfouts Valley, Perry Co., Pa. "I can truthfully recommend the medicines for all female weaknesses. I have used several bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' which I consider a great blessing to weak women. I was so nervous and discouraged that I hardly knew what to do. Your kind advice for home treatment helped me wonderfully. Thanks to Dr. Pierce."

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness, and sick headache. They should be used in connection with "Favorite Prescription," whenever the use of a laxative is indicated.

positive answer can be given in the affirmative. Statistics show that there are 143,000,000 Protestants, 98,000,000 Greek Catholics, 230,000,000 Roman Catholics and 176,000,000 Mohammedans. As it is estimated that there are about 1,500,000,000 persons on the earth and that the numerous sects outside of the four great religions do not contain more than 53,000,000 members, it will be seen that there are 800,000,000 persons who may be classed as heathens. Most of these, it is claimed, are unquestionably believers in some form of religion. Nevertheless, they are idolaters, and to convert them to Christianity has for centuries been the aim of missionaries throughout the world. A faint conception of the greatness of the task which they have undertaken may be obtained from the fact, shown by the statistics, that the so called heathens still outnumber the Christians and Mohammedans combined by 100,000,000.—New York Herald.

Learned a Language in Twenty-four Hours.

Of Cardinal Mezzofanti, who could speak 56 dialects and languages, it is related that while he was at the Vatican a traveler arrived in Rome from Asia to be confessed whose language no one who met him could understand. Cardinal Mezzofanti was sent for and found that even he had never heard it spoken. By means of signs he learned the stranger's errand and that he had with him a dictionary of his native tongue.

This the cardinal took and, informing the pope that he would be prepared in 24 hours to confess the man, retired to his room. When at the end of the time named he appeared and announced that he was ready to proceed, it was found that he had mastered the language sufficiently to converse quite freely with the traveler.

THE LATE J. W. FITZGERALD.

The Irish Canadian pays the following tribute to the late Mr. J. W. Fitgerald:—"It is with very deep regret that we notice the death of Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald, which occurred at Peterborough, where he had resided since 1858. There were few men in this Province better known in connection with Irish National affairs than the subject of these few lines. The lessons which he learned concerning the history of his native land in his earlier years had imprinted themselves on his memory and remained with him during his long and active life. Born in the County of Cork, there he grew up and imbibed that love of Ireland which in later years shone so conspicuously in his character. Like all his countrymen, whose faith in the ultimate triumph of Ireland's cause never weakened, he joined heartily in every movement to prolong the struggle for national regeneration, and, whether as a Repealer under the Liberator or a Home Ruler under Parnell, he was ever ready with pen and voice and means to strengthen the hands of the men who did battle for the rights and privileges of Fatherland. The press and people of Canada know well what Mr. Fitzgerald had done in promotion of this noble object, and the leaders of the phalanx who are now demanding fair play for Ireland from a hostile Government were in close touch with the man whose death we now mourn. His patriotism was pure and unselfish, and his generosity in contributing in aid of the Irish National Fund was neither narrow nor stinted. With millions of others he longed to witness the realization of Ireland's hopes—longed for the day when the people of Ireland, like the Irish people of Canada, would enjoy the blessings of Home Rule, untrameled and free from pressure, either within or without. It has, however, pleased God to call him before the accomplishment of this grand object, but when the day comes as come it will in the providence of God, the share a dead friend had taken in continuing the struggle to that end, will not be forgotten by his country or countrymen, but remembered as the incentive to others who did not forget Ireland in the hour of her trial.

ASTHMA

For Sixteen Years

A Well-known Orangeville Farmer Spent Hundreds of Dollars in Search of a Cure. At Last Cured by Clarke's Kola Compound.

It seems foolish to pay several hundred dollars for something which two dollars will buy, don't it? Yet that is just what thousands of asthmatics are doing every year, besides losing their health. They are trying to get free from the tortures of asthma, but unless they take Clark's Kola Compound they will keep on trying. It is the only permanent cure. Mr. Allan Faulkner, one of the best known farmers in Dufferin County, writes: "For sixteen long years I have been almost a constant martyr to asthma. Only an asthmatic could realize what I suffered. Many days and weeks I could not leave the house, and night after night could not lie down. I spent many hundred dollars in search of a cure, and tried nearly all our local doctors and some in Toronto but became worse each year. My druggist Mr. Stevenson, of Orangeville, recommended Clarke's Kola Compound about two years ago. I took in all eighteen bottles of this grand medicine during nine months each week I gradually improved and am now completely cured. It is now over a year since being cured and I have not had a single attack since, and have gained much of my old time strength and weight. No amount of money nor anything else could estimate its value to me."

(Signed) ALLAN FAULKNER.

I have for years been personally acquainted with Mr. Faulkner and can certify to the absolute truth of above statements. (Signed) THOS. STEVENSON, Druggist, Orangeville. Clarke's Kola Compound is sold by J. D. Tully, Druggist, Peterborough. $2.00 per bottle, three for $5.00, or from the Griffiths & McPherson Co., Limited, Toronto, Canada.

CHEMONG.

(From our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. John Belcher and daughter drove out to Chemong on Thursday morning. Mr. Belcher was engaged looking after some work in connection with the floating bridge, the work of which is going on under his instruction.

Mr. W. J. Hopwood and family, of Toronto, arrived in Peterborough on Thursday and drove out to Chemong in the afternoon. They are at present the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hartshorn at "High and Dry."

Mr. Smyth Kelly of the village, is spending the 24th of May visiting friends in Perth, Ont.

Mr. Ralph Quinn, of Cobourg, who has been spending the past week in the village, has returned home.

Mrs. Capt. W. H. White, of Lakefield, spent Wednesday in the village the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. A. Jobe.

Miss Ruby Taylor, while passing through the village on her way to school one morning this week, was attacked by a vicious dog, the result being a bite though not of a serious nature. It was attended to by Dr. Morgan, who relieved her of her sufferings. She is getting along nicely and no doubt will be able to attend school in a few days.

Mr. Alexander Scott, of the Chemong road, is confined to his room through illness.

The steamer Sunbeam arrived in port on Wednesday night with the centre pier of the bridge in tow. This pier was built by Mr. Trennum at Ball Lake. It is fifty feet square and at present draws over six feet of water. The Sunbeam had considerable difficulty getting it towed out into the lake, as the water was quite shallow in some places. The balance of the timber for the completion of the pier was also in tow, and is at present anchored to the old bridge. As soon as the weather settles the contractors will have the new pier taken out and placed in position, after which it will be filled with stone, and Mud Lake will be its last resting place for some time to come.

Mr. Boyd's steam yacht, the Calumet, also arrived the same evening with a quantity of lumber and also some timber for the floating part of the bridge.

The Lady of the Lakes came in on Thursday evening with a gang of men, who are at present engaged on the drive at Ball Lake. They came down to spend the 24th at their different homes and intend returning on Saturday morning.

Mr. Richard Heard, one of our local livery men, had the misfortune to have one of his rigs badly damaged in a runaway. Three young men of the village were driving down Hunter street when the horse took fright at some fire crackers which were being let off. The buggy tipped over and the seat and top became detached from the box, precipitating the boys on the pavement. They fortunately escaped without any serious injury, with the exception of John Turner, who received a slight scalp wound, which was attended to by one of the town physicians. John says one experience like this is enough for him.

Two suspicious looking characters have been seen in and around the woods adjoining Chemong Park Hotel and residents in that vicinity are warned against giving any assistance or aid of any kind as the village authorities intend giving tramps a wide berth during the coming summer.

CHURCH CHIMES.

At the evening service at St. Luke's Mrs. Parker rendered Mendelssohn's "Hear My Prayer."

Mrs. McGuire and Mr. Walden sang a duet most acceptably at the morning service in George Street Church yesterday.

Yesterday morning in St. Paul's church a male quartette, composed of Messrs. Milne, Dawson, Mein and Crane, rendered a selection very acceptably.

In the evening at St. Paul's, Miss Winters rendered a solo entitled "Oh Happy Day." The anthem in St. Paul's was "Seek Ye the Lord," Miss Winters taking the solo.

Miss Hendren, of Lakefield, who is leading soloist in Charlotte Street Church, again delighted the congregation yesterday, singing in her usual excellent manner.

On Saturday evening Rev. Dr. Symonds was the recipient of a Trinity University hood from the ladies of the congregation. At yesterday morning's service Rev. Dr. Symonds made a suitable acknowledgment of the handsome gift.

Rev. Mr. Bistow preached three powerful sermons yesterday. In the morning he occupied the pulpit of the George street Methodist church; in the afternoon he preached to the garrison in St. Paul's, and in the evening he preached to theSons of England in his own church.

The male portion of the George street church choir, augmented by a number of young men of the congregation, in all numbering thirty-five, gave a very delightful service of song last evening. "The Holy City," Adams, was admirably sung by Mr. Mulligan. An unusually large congregation was present.

At the George street Methodist church Rev. Mr. Wilson, in reminding his congregation that the next payment on the Century Fund would be due on June 1st, went on to speak of the liberal manner in which the church had responded to appeals for financial assistance. The church had during the past year raised over $8,000 in general ways. The sermon was a special one to young men and was preached from the text, "Show thyself a man."

HARD ON THE COMMITTEE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir, — Now that Empire Day has come and gone, with its abortive show, let us take a retrospect to see if the disappointment could not have been mitigated under proper management. There is a law against obtaining money or goods under false pretences. Morally speaking, is it not as bad to induce hundreds, if not thousands, of outsiders to visit our town on that day at considerable expense under the representations we made, only to be disappointed, due, in part, to mismanagement? It is true that Jupiter Pluvius was unpropitious, but we should have fulfilled our promises as far as possible. Did we do so? The two principal events could have been easily run off, when everybody would have been satisfied. From 11 o'clock until 1 o'clock it did not rain, just the very time for the phantasmogoric procession, and yet it did not start, and as for the cloudy weather at night, what better conditions could have prevailed for the fireworks? The people were out in thousands, ready for both occasions, and as many more would have turned out had these events materialized. The best evidence that the conditions were not too unfavourable was the presence of the crowds on the streets waiting for the events to come off. Surely if it was fit for them to be out, the promoters of the fun should not have set up the "tenderfoot" plea. Nor was the baseball match postponed on account of the weather, and citizens elsewhere carried out their scheduled entertainments, although the weather was more inclement in most places than here. Besides those who were out for a cheap advertisement were not restrained by the unfavourable conditions, which together with the impromptu fireworks set off by the spectators themselves enabled them to observe the day, notwithstanding the delinquency of the sport promoters. As for the afternoon sports, they could have been relagated to another day, or half day.

Yours, etc.,
One of the Crowd.

His home was in Kingston.

Captain Nelson Holmes and crew of the Cape Henry Life Station boarded the vessel with the lifeboat. The Robinia lies just inside Cape Henry, head on and about 330 yards off shore. She is apparently uninjured. The captain and crew of the steamship remain aboard.

MINERS ALL SUFFOCATED.

Strenuous Exertions For Their Rescue Were Without Avail.

London, May 27.—All hope of saving the 78 entombed miners at the Universal Colliery has been abandoned, although the work of rescue continues.

As cabled Saturday an explosion occurred the morning of May 24 at the Universal Colliery at Senghenydd in the Rhoudde Valley. About 100 men were in the pit at the time of the disaster. Lack of air rendered rescue work most difficult. The explosion completely wrecked the pit, and only five bodies were recovered.

The melancholy work of searching for victims of the terrible colliery explosion in Wales has been continued during the last 24 hours under exceptional difficulties. The quest was apparently hopeless, as no sounds were heard from the passages underground, but strenuous and heroic exertions were made to reach the chamber of the entombed miners, and put an end to the terrible suspense of those enduring the agony of waiting for the recovery of the bodies. This is the most severe disaster which has occurred since the law rendering employers liable for accidents was enacted, and the expense to the pit owners will be heavy.

Thirty-two bodies, some of them terribly mutilated, have been recovered at the Universal Colliery in Senghenydd, in the Rhondda Valley, where an explosion occurred last Friday.

King Edward has sent a message of deep sympathy with the families of the victims, and of admiration of the gallantry of the rescuers.

A despatch from Valdenburg, Prussia, says as a result of a fire which broke out yesterday in the Hermann mine, 21 miners perished.

THE BOER BACKBONE.

Peculiar Explanation Given For Their Resistance.

BRITISH DESERTERS' NEW ROLE.

Kritzinger's Command Capture 41 Men and Their Post Near Maraisburg—British Made a Stout but Unnecessful Resistance—Sir Percy Girouard, Canadian Engineer, Coming Home.

London, May 28.—In a despatch from Pretoria reviewing recent operations The Times' correspondent says the main difficulty has been that the enemy have refused battle on every occasion. But for some reason, hitherto unexplained, the burghers of the Southern Middleburg district, Ermelo and Carolina, have throughout the campaign shown a martial spirit as distinct from that of the other Boers as that of the Pathans from that of the Madrasees. The reason why the burghers from these districts have shown such a stubborn front has never been satisfactorily explained. They were the backbone of Botha's army in the Tugela, and they are now still the backbone of the Transvaal resistance. The following reason has been put forward, and I give it for what it is worth: It is suggested that, in the late seventies and eighties, when desertion from British regiments in South Africa was so common, the majority of these deserters found employment in these districts, where they eventually married and settled, and that it is the presence of these old soldiers in the ranks of the Middleburg and Carolina commandoes which has infused into them such a stiffening and example that it raised them superior to the more purely Dutch fighting units.

He adds that the figures of the Intelligence Bureau show that there are still between eighteen and nineteen thousand burghers available for service against us if pressure should be brought upon them, though no report shows a larger commando in any one vicinity than 700 to 800 men.

BRITISH POST CAPTURED.

Kritzinger's Command Capture Forty-One Men Near Maraisbury.

London, May 28.—The Times publishes the following from Cradock, dated May 27:

"Kritzingers' invaders of Cape Colony captured a British post of 41 men near Maraisburg after a stout resistance."

1,000 British Officers Resign.

New York, May 28.—The Herald prints the following from London: "I learn to-day, from talk in the military clubs, that there are no less than one thousand officers who have sent in their papers to the War Office. This is a very serious matter. In military circles it is the only topic of conversation. Dissatisfaction is expressed with Mr. Brodrick on all sides."

Macdonald a Knight.

London, May 28.—King Edward received Col. Hector Macdonald, A. D. C., on his return from active service in South Africa, and conferred upon him the honor of knighthood, and invested him with the insignia of a Knight Commander of the Bath, Military Division.

WELCOME TO ROYAL PARTY.

Russian Cruiser Fired a Royal Salute and Duke of York's Vessel Hoisted the Czar's Flag.

Sydney, N. S. W., May 28.—The British steamer Ophir, having on board the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, arrived here at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. She was joined outside the harbor by a squadron of seven Government vessels conveying the Premier, Sir William Lyne, the Ministers and the Federal officials.

As the squadron entered the Roadstead, the Ophir leading, the Russian cruiser Cromoboy, from the Athol-bight anchorage, fired a royal salute. The British cruisers responded, hoisting the Russian flag. The harbor was crowded with shipping and excursion craft, and the shores were lined with thousands of spectators.

The sun shone intermittently. When the Ophir came to anchor she was boarded by the Governor-General, the Earl of Hopetoun, Sir Frederick Darley, Lieutenant-Governor of New South Wales, and the Russian Admiral.

The Duke and the Duchess landed at 2 o'clock, and were greeted by enthusiastic crowds. The decorations were magnificent and a brilliant military escort awaited the landing of the Duke and the Duchess.

PRESBYTERIAN CREED

The Committee's Report For Its Revision Adopted.

TEXT OF THE AMENDED REPORT

Facts Elicited From the Presbyteries—Plurality Desired That Changes Be Made by Some New Statement of Present Doctrines—Text of Recommendations Adopted by the General Assembly.

Philadelphia, May 28.—It was decided at yesterday morning's session of the Presbyterian General Assembly to hold the Assembly next year in the Fifth Avenue Church, New York.

When the order of the day—the revision of the Confession of Faith—was reached, the moderator made a few remarks, advising against any hasty action.

James D. Moffatt, D.D., President of Washington and Jefferson University, who, on Saturday, gave notice that he would offer an amendment to the majority report, was then recognized by the moderator.

Dr. Moffatt said—"I hoped to amend recommendation B, to meet all objections, and to give it a new wording. Many good men who opposed the original form were alarmed by the word 'Summary.' I have made a simple change, striking out the word 'Summary,' and substituting 'Statement,' which expresses just what we have in view. Again, there is nothing in the original report to show what shall be done with the summary. I wish to remove all ambiguity and have it stated plainly, that the committee to be appointed will be required to report to the next Assembly, and that a recommendation be made to the next Assembly to submit the entire subject to the Presbyteries.

The Majority Report.

"Your committee finds on examination of the returns from the Presbyteries the following facts:

"First. That the returns indicate that the church desires some change in its credal statement.

"Second. That the returns indicate that no change is desired which would in any way impair the integrity of the system of doctrine contained in the Confession of Faith.

"Third. These returns indicate that it is the mind of the church that the Confession shall be interpreted throughout in harmony with the teaching of Scripture that God is not willing that anyone shall perish, nor is it the decree of God, but the wickedness of their own hearts, which shuts men out from the salvation freely and lovingly offered in Christ Jesus to all sinners.

"Fourth. These returns indicate that a plurality of the Presbyteries desired that changes would be made by some new statement of present doctrines.

"Fifth. The returns also indicate a desire on the part of many Presbyteries for some revision of the present Confession, especially in chapter iii., chapter x., section 3; chapter xvi., section 7; chapter xxii., section 3; chapter xxv., section 6, with additional statements concerning the love of God for all men, missions and the Holy Spirit."

The Amended Recommendations.

"A—We recommend that a committee as provided for by the form of government, chapter 33, section 3, be appointed by this assembly.

"B—(Amendment of Dr. Moffat)—We recommend that this committee be instructed to prepare and to submit to the next General Assembly, for such disposition as may be judged to be wise, a brief statement of the reformed faith, expressed as far as possible in untechnical terms. The said statement is to be prepared with a view to its being employed to give information and a better understanding of our doctrinal beliefs, and not with a view to its becoming a substitute for or an alternative of our confession of faith.

"C—We further recommend that this committee be instructed to prepare amendments of chapter 3, chapter 10, section 3; chapter 16, section 7; Ihapter 22, section 3; and chapter 25, section 6, of our confession of faith, either by modification of the text, or by declaratory statement, but so far as possible by declaratory statement, so as more clearly to express the mind of the church, with additional statements concerning the love of God for all men, missions and the Holy Spirit, it being understood that the revision shall in no way impair the integrity of the system of doctrine set forth in our confession and taught in the Holy Scriptures."

Letters Received by President O'Connell at Toronto.

Toronto, May 28.—There was little change yesterday in the situation of the machinists' strike, although President O'Connell received a large number of letters from various places stating that the men were confident of victory, and in some cases that the employers had acceded to the demands of the men.

Women Are Like Flowers.

Poets have been fond of likening woman to a flower. Her fairness is flowerlike. Her sweetness suggests the flower fragrance. Her very fragility finds its type again in the frail flower, which languishes when neglected, and is so easily destroyed. It is a pretty simile and almost as perfect as pretty.

All women love flowers, and every woman who grows them knows that their health depends on daily care. Not alone are water and sunshine necessary to the health of the plant. Their leaves and roots must be guarded from the parasites which soon destroy the flower's beauty and undermine its life.

If a woman would care for herself as she does for her plants she would preserve her beauty and retain her strength far beyond the period when the average woman looks old and feels older than she looks.

THE GREAT SECRET

Of woman's preservation of her beauty lies in the intelligent care of the womanly health. So close is the relation between the health of the delicate womanly organs and the health of the whole body, that whenever the feminine functions are deranged or disturbed the consequences are felt by every nerve in the body. Severe headache, backache, pain in the side, and bearing-down pains are borne with by so many thousands of women that one who is in sound health is a rare exception. Most women would give anything to know how to be cured. The way is very plain. Follow the path made by more than a half a million women who have been perfectly cured of womanly ills and weakness.

"I believe I owe my life to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Pleasant Pellets,'" says Mrs. Maria G. Hayzel, writing from Brookland, D. C. "Six years ago, after the birth of one of my children, I was left in a weak, run-down condition. My health seemed utterly gone. I suffered from nervousness, female weakness and rheumatism, and I suffered everything one could suffer from these complaints. Life was a burden. I doctored with three different physicians and got no relief. I tried several patent medicines, all with the same result. I began to get worse, and to add to the complications I suffered terribly from constipation. I chanced to see one of your advertisements and concluded to try the above remedies. I commenced to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Pleasant Pellets' and began to improve right away, and continued improving and gaining in strength. I cannot express the relief it was so great. Seven months later my little daughter was born without much trouble. I feel that I would never have been able to endure my confinement had it not been for the help I received from Dr. Pierce's medicines. My baby was a fine, healthy child, and the only one I have ever been able to nurse. She is now two years old and I have never had to take any medicine since, so I feel that your medicine has made a lasting cure with me. I owe so much in thanks, it would be impossible for me to express by word or pen how thankful I am to God and Dr. Pierce."

NOTHING IS SURER

Than the effect of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong, sick women well. It regulates the periods, stops disagreeable drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It prepares the wife for motherhood, gives her vigor and physical strength, so that the birth hour is practically painless. It is the best of tonics because it contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic. For working women in the home, store or schoolroom it is an invaluable medicine. It quiets the nerves, increases the appetite, and causes restful and refreshing sleep. Nursing mothers will find no tonic so beneficial to mother and child as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

WHAT SHALL I DO?

That question is often on a woman's lips, for of her it is expected that she shall be ready to do something in any emergency in the home. When that question refers to health, sickness or disease, the answer will be found in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This great work contains 1008 large pages, and is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book bound in paper or 50 stamps for the volume in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A MINING DISASTER.

Explosion of Dust in the New Richland Mine at Dayton, Tennessee—Said to Have Killed at Least 17.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 28.—A special from Dayton says that an explosion of mine dust occurred in the new Richland coal mine of the Dayton Coal and Iron Company at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and that the dead bodies of twelve white miners have already been taken out of the other drift, and that five more are known to be dead. It is stated that 45 men, all white, were at work in the mine, and it is feared all have perished. Relief gangs are at work, but on account of the immense amount of debris in the shaft, the work has been slow and tedious. The mine is a new one and extends about 2,000 feet.

IT WAS AN ACCIDENT.

Verdict of the Corner's Jury in the Ryan Shooting Case.

Toronto, May 28.—An inquest was held here last night touching the death of Olive Ryan, who was shot by her brother on Sunday. The jury returned this verdict:

"We believe that Olive Victoria Ryan met her death at 26 Leonard avenue, Toronto, at 3.40 p. m. on May 26, 1901, as the result of a wound from a bullet discharged from a revolver in the hands of her brother, Thomas Ryan. We believe there was carelessness in loading and handling the weapon, but we also believe there was no intention on the part of Thomas Ryan, either to wound or to kill.

"We desire to call attention to the careless way in which the revolver and cartridges were left lying around where children could get access to them."

Two Lives Lost by Fire.

Havelock, Ont., May 28.—A fire, resulting in the loss of two lives, and, possibly, a third, occurred at Oak Lake, north of here, Saturday night. James Post, his mother and his nephew, who lived in a log house, retired early. Between 11 and 12 o'clock the mother, an elderly woman, discovered the fire, and endeavored to extinguish the flames and to alarm the others. The man and boy appear to have been suffocated. Their charred bodies were recovered from the ruins. The mother is terribly burned, and may not recover. The origin of the fire is unknown.

What Premier Roblin Says.

Winnipeg, Man., May 28.—When asked yesterday afternoon if the N. P. lines were now transferred to the C. N., Premier Roblin said they were not. "The Government," said he, "will try its hand at operating the road for a few days, just to see how it goes. Of course, it will ultimately be turned over to the C. BORDEN AND MONK.

Conservative Leaders Address a Meeting in Massey Hall, Toronto—Little New Matter in Their Speeches.

Toronto, May 28.—The Conservative meeting in Massey Hall last night was not as largely attended as had been expected, but it was certainly not wanting in enthusiasm, and the leader of the party, Mr. R. L. Borden, and his lieutenant, Mr. F. D. Monk, were received with great cordiality. There was little new matter in their speeches, and Mr. Borden excused himself for making a definite statement of policy on the ground of lack of time. The audience, however, thoroughly enjoyed their speeches and were not slow in expressing their approval. Mr. Borden spoke with his usual pleasant manner and absence of oratorical display. Mr. Monk, on the other hand, spoke with that vigorous eloquence that is so general among the public speakers of Quebec. Mr. Whitney, who dealt with Ontario politics at some length, declared his fealty to Mr. Borden with great emphasis. The only decorations were a couple of Union Jacks and a large motto, "We Welcome Our Leaders." The ground floor of Massey Hall was fairly well filled, the first gallery was nearly full of ladies and their escorts, but the top gallery was empty. The Cadet Battalion Band played a selection of music between 7 and 8 o'clock. Upon the platform were a large number of the old and tried members of the Conservative party in Toronto, together with many Conservatives from different parts of the Province, including the members of the Executive Committee of the Ontario Conservative Association, which meets in the city to-day.

LORD KITCHENER'S PLANS.

A Second Combined Movement of Six Columns is in Progress.

New York, May 27.— The Tribune's London correspondent, wiring this morning, says: Lord Kitchener's bulletins are now infrequent, and few sidelights are thrown by press despatches upon the guerilla warfare which is still flickering in South Africa. A second combined movement of six columns is in progress for the clearance of the Eastern Transvaal and South Delagoa Railway, but the results are not yet known, apart from large captures of horses and cattle. Two Boer forces are reported in this district—one under Botha, near Carolina, and the other in the mountains, near Majuba. The western and northern districts of the Transvaal are quieter, but remnants of Delarey's and Meyer's commandos are still lurking among the hills. The Orange River Colony is tolerably free from raiders, but there is a fresh concentration of guerillas in the Zuurberg district of Cape Colony. Eight or more small commandoes, under as many Boer chiefs, are operating in Cape Colony, and are successful chiefly in eluding pursuit by mounted British columns. A British patrol is snapped up once in a while, but otherwise the Boers accomplish little. While the warfare is tedious, it is conducted without signs of exasperation on the British side. Endurance matches endurance.

WANT NO NEW CREED.

Minority Report to Presbyterian General Assembly Was Rejected.

Philadelphia, May 27.—The Presbyterian General Assembly yesterday took another step toward revising the Confession of Faith by rejecting the minority report which had been offered as a substitute for the majority report. The vote was 271 to 234.

The recommendation is as follows:

"B.—We recommend that a committee be instructed to prepare a brief summary of the reformed faith, bearing the same relation to the confession which the shorter catechism bears to the larger catechism, and formed on the general model of the consensus creed prepared for the General Assembly of 1892, or the articles of faith of the Presbyterian Church of England, both of which documents are appended to the committee's report and submitted to the Assembly to be referred to the committee appointed."

With the consent of the Assembly, the motion was changed so that the vote was taken on the question of striking out the recommendation from the majority report instead of accepting the minority report as a substitute.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

QUICKLY RESTORES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO OVER-WORKED AND WEAK WOMEN.

Wearied, tired and overworked women are quickly restored to health and robustness when they use Paine's Celery Compound. It is the one great and reliable medicine that meets the wants and necessities of our ailing and sickly mothers and wives. Now is the time for the nervous, despondent, sleepless, dyspeptic, neuralgic and rheumatic to use the world's great health-giver if they would be well and strong for the summer months. Mrs. Mossop, Mimico, Ont., says:

"I have much pleasure in giving my testimony in favour of Paine's Celery Compound. I was entirely broken down by hard work, anxiety and sleeplessness, and had pains all through my body. Doctors' remedies had no effect, and nothing met my case until I used Paine's Celery Compound. This medicine has done wonders for me and I would strongly urge all suffering women to use it, as it is the best in the world."

Canadian Team in the Race.

Montreal, Que., May 28.—Another competitor in the big all-round-the-world race has come to the front. The Canadian newspaper La Presse last night sent out from Montreal two of its keenest reporters, Auguste Marion and Lorenzo Prince, to make the circuit of the globe. They left last night for New York, where they take the fast steamship, Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse to cross the Atlantic. So far there are five competitors outside of Canada, including Le Matin of Paris, The Journal and The World of New York, Chicago American, San Francisco Examiner, one London and one Berlin paper. La Presse is holding up the Canadian flag in this interesting race, and expects that their missionaries will carry the Maple Leaf to victory.

TRAGEDY IN TORONTO.

A 16-Year Old Lad Arrested For Shooting His Sister Dead.

Toronto, May 27.—One of the saddest tragedies recorded in Toronto for a long time was enacted yesterday afternoon, at the home of Thomas Ryan, shoemaker, 26 Leonard avenue, when Olive Ryan, aged 11, was shot and almost instantly killed by her 16-year-old brother, Thomas, who is now under arrest at the St. Andrew's Market Station, charged with the terrible crime of murder, and will be held until a thorough investigation takes place, to learn if the shooting was accidental, as claimed by the prisoner. The victim of the accident died in fifteen minutes after the shot was fired without making a statement. The whole family believe the shooting was accidental, and the lad's story is that he pointed the revolver at his sister for fun four times without accident, but the fifth time she was shot through the head.

Two Section Men Killed.

Galt, May 27.—Watson and Haddon, sectionmen on the G. W. division of the G. T. R. here, were fatally injured Friday afternoon about three miles south of Galt, their handcar being run into by the 3.25 p. m. train south. Both are unmarried.

Watson died last night about 5 o'clock, never having regained consciousness.

NOW FOR THE FIRST OF JULY.

Public Meeting in the Market Hall Last Night.

The Owners of the Floats are Willing to Take the Matter in Hand Again—Thanks for the Committee.

At a large and representative meeting which was held in the Market Hall last night, it was decided to hold the celebration which was to have taken place on Victoria Day, on July 1st.

The meeting was attended by a great number of those who had floats for the 24th, and by many who had subscribed money for the carrying out of the undertaking.

The chair was occupied by Mr. W. B. Bamford, Chairman of the Celebration Committee, and amongst those also in attendance were: His Worship Mayor Denne, and Messrs. H. C. Winch, F. H. Dobbin, William A. Kindred, J. S. Knapman, T. E. Bradburn, Major Miller, Myles Henry, D. H. Burrett, F. D. Kerr, C. Stapleton and many others.

His Worship Mayor Denne, Myles Henry, T. E. Bradburn, and others spoke in favour of holding the celebration on July first. No one spoke against it, and finally on motion of Mr. R. Shepphard, seconded by Mr. J. Mongraw, a motion to this effect was carried.

Suggestions were then in order for the further prosecution of the work. A number of new ideas were brought out and the owners of the floats who were present assured the meeting that they would stand loyally by the management in endeavouring to make the day a success. A suggestion to have the merchants open their stores for an hour or so on the day of the celebration for the convenience of the farmers was not very favourably received as it was pointed out that the clerks would then be unable to take part in the proceedings. Another suggestion was that the regiment furnish a guard to walk on either side of the procession in order to prevent the extravagant use of cannon crackers, which some of the float owners said had been used very freely and without good purpose on Friday last, causing much annoyance to those in charge of the floats.

Mayor Denne spoke in complimentary terms of the assistance the press had rendered the committee and he hoped that they would continue to do so.

Mr. Charles Stapleton eulogized the work the committee had done, and moved, seconded by Mr. W. A. Kindred, that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered them. This was enthusiastically carried.

It was decided to hold another meeting two weeks from last night, when the re-organigation of the work will be vigorously undertaken.

STRUCK BY A BICYCLE

While Walking on the Pavement on Rubidge Street.

Mrs. Hough, of No. 289 Rubidge street, met with an accident this morning through which she was so badly shaken up as to be stunned for some time. It appears that she was walking up the pavement in front of Mr. Aaron Cox's residence, when she met a boy on a bicycle, riding at so high a rate of speed that she had no time to get out of the way before she was struck and thrown violently to the ground. The boy disappeared and Mrs. Hough lay where she had fallen until a lady who was passing in a phaeton kindly drove her to her home.

Diligent inquiry is being made as to the identity of the boy who was riding on the pavement. His action goes to show the wisdom in the town authorities forbidding the pavements to be used by wheelmen.

ABBOTT WAS COMMITTED.

The Alleged Forger of a Certain Note.

The Case Came up Before County Magistrate Edmison This Morning—Prisoner Elects.

The trial of W. T. Abbott, who was brought back from British Columbia last week to stand his trial on a charge of forgery, took place before County Magistrate Edmison this morning. Abbott was charged with having in the Township of Smith, on Nov. 25, 1900, unlawfully and knowing it to be false, forged the name of Jane Brummell to a certain promissory note, in his own favour, at three months, for $80, payable at the Ontario Bank.

County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood conducted the case for the Crown, Mr. A. P. Poussette appeared on behalf of the Ontario Bank and Mr. F. D. Kerr defended the prisoner Abbott.

County Magistrate Edmison explained to the prisoner the three different modes of trial he could select whether by His Worship summarily, by the County Judge's Criminal Court or by a jury. Through his counsel, Mr. Kerr, he elected to be tried by a jury.

The magistrate then proceeded to take the preliminary evidence.

The first witness was Mr. W. D. Parker, acting manager of the Ontario Bank, who produced a note that came into his possession in the ordinary course of business. He explained that the note was one of a number of notes that had been floated with the name Jane Brummell thereto. The first note was brought to the bank on the 22nd of Feb., 1899, for $166, and was renewed from time to time by the prisoner Abbott. The last note was gave in payment on the original $166 note. When the note fell due the bank endeavoured to notify Abbott, but received no reply from him. They then notified Mrs. Brummell, who came in.

Mrs. Brummel was the next witness. She lives in South Smith, about one mile or more out of town. She told of Abbott having been a tenant on her farm, of his having a sale last fall and subsequently leaving the neighbourhood. She did not sign the note, she said, as she cannot write, having had her arm broken some years ago, which prevented her from signing the note.

To Mr. Kerr, witness said she had on previous occasions got Abbott to sign notes for her. Abbott would then get the money and give it to her. Witness, however, insisted that she always made her mark thereto. She had had dealings with a Mr. Warde regarding a number of notes which she was the maker of, though he signed them for her and witness put her mark thereon. She had not signed a note for Mr. Abbot for over three years.

This was all the evidence taken and the Magistrate committed prisoner for trial.

Abbott was subsequently admitted to bail.

LAST NIGHT'S SOCIAL.

An Enjoyable Entertainment in George Street Sunday School Last Night.

A most enjoyable social was held in the Sunday school room of the George street Methodist church last night, the affair being given under the auspices of the Epworth League.

The entertainment was quite largely attended and a delightfully rendered programme was attentively listened to. The chair was occupied by Mr. J. Jeffries, who introduced the various numbers, in his usual happy manner.

The following programme was run off: Piano Solo, Mr. Thewlis; recitation, Miss Geraldine Billington; vocal solo, Miss Clara Helleghem; trombone solo, Mr. Harry Clarke; vocal solo, Miss Gertrude Kendry; recitation, Miss L. Russell; vocal solo, Mr. Jas. Browne; piano solo, Miss Ida Sanderson.

At the close of the programme refreshments were served and a very pleasant social time was spent.

The accompanists of the evening were Messrs. F. W. Walden and V. P. Thewlis.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY.

Annual Meeting of Peterborough Sunday School Workers.

The annual Sunday school rally for Peterborough, Auburn and Ashburnham, will be held next Friday in the Y.M.C.A. Hall. All the schools are asked to do what they can to make this rally a success.

The sessions will be held afternoon and evening. It is especially desirable that as many as can possibly arrange it, will be present at the afternoon session.

Mr. Thomas Yellowlees, of Toronto, will address a mass meeting of the children at 4.15 on "Ships' Signals," and will also give an address in the evening.

It is expected that Rev. Dr. Symonds and Rev. O. C. Elliott, who have been so energetic in Sabbath school work in town, and who leave during the following week, will give sound advice in their parting words.

MEETING FOR THE COMMON WEAL.

INTERESTING DISCUSSIONS.

Addresses by Rev. Dr. Symonds, E. M Dennistoun, J. H. Burnham, Lt.-Col. Edwards and J. H. Roper Last Evening.

The public meeting called last evening under the auspices of the Common Weal Association for the purpose of explaining and discussing the aims and objects of the organization, was well attended, and the various clauses of the manifesto received the fullest consideration.

The chair was occupied by the president, Rev. Dr. Symonds.

Letters of apology were received as follows:

St. Peter's Cathedral,
May 25, 1901.

My Dear Mr. Symonds, — I am very thankful for your kind invitation to speak before the Common Weal Society on Monday evening, and I would gladly accept if I were not already engaged in the interests of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society.

However, I hail with joy the formation of any association which will further the cause of Temperance, and I will therefore watch with lively interest the development of the Peterborough Common Weal Society.

Believe me,
Yours very faithfully,
M. J. O'BRIEN.

The Hon. Secretary,
Common Weal Society.

My Dear Sir, — I wish to express my sincere regret that an important parochial engagement prevents me attending the meeting of the Common Weal Society this evening.

I feel more and more convinced of the public good which is bound to result from the work of our new society, if only actively and steadily pressed forward, which, I take it, we are resolved shall be done.

Not only do we need stimulating in regard to our individual contributions to the moral standard of the community, but we also need 'toning up" in respect to the general duties and responsibilities of citizenship. There are many public interests which can be effectively dealt with by a society of this kind to our great advantage, individually and collectively.

Trusting that the meeting this evening may disseminate a knowledge of the society's aims and increase its membership.

Yours faithfully,
J. C. DAVIDSON.

Murray street Baptist Church.
May 24th, 1901.

My Dear Mr. Symonds, — Your request for me to speak on Monday evening has just come to hand. I would like exceedingly for your sake, and for the sake of the society, to do as you desire; but I know I ought not to.

I have an unusually heavy day on Sunday. I have three sermons, two special ones—one at St. Paul's at four o'clock, to the 57th Regiment, and one to the Sons of England at my own church at seven o'clock. I have to take greater care of myself on Monday evening, especially if I have had hard work on Sunday, than any other time in the entire week, or else I spend a sleepless night. So I must be excused from speaking. I feel also that I ought not to be at the meeting but to spend the evening quietly at home.

The Common Weal Society has my heartiest good wishes. Its aims are praiseworthy. Sobriety and reverence are noble virtues, and to promote them is worthy of earnest and united effort. Many can begin there together and then help one another to a still higher plane of noble living.

Yours fraternally,
JONATHAN BASTOW.

Rev. Dr. Symonds in his opening address explained the objects of the society. He drew attention to the fact that the society was not intended as a new temperance movement, as explained in the opening clause of the circular, but rather that the society existed for the formation and support of a high level of public citizenship. It was further pointed out that the society was purely voluntarily, and that therefore no legitimate criticism could be urged against it on the ground that it infringed upon private rights. It was an undeniable fact that certain evils connected with the consumption of alcoholic liquors existed, and that fact constituted sufficient ground for the existence of a society of this kind. With reference to the treating system, the speaker said that what was intended was not to prevent a man from occasionally taking a glass of ale, for example, with a friend, but to frown down upon the pernicious and destructive habit of "standing drinks all round." He believed that many men thoroughly detested this habit, but through fear of being considered mean, they sometimes yielded to it. A man enters a hotel for instance, intending only to take one glass, but before he leaves he finds he has four or five. This evil can only be broken through the medium of an enlightened public opinion, such as this society seeks to promote. The speaker concluded by stating that two classes of objections had been raised against the association; 1st, that it was an interference with personal liberty; 2nd, the objection of the total abstainer, that the society did not go far enough. In reply to the latter the society had nothing but the best wishes for all temperance organizations. This society however, is a civic organization, dealing only with man in his civic relations and therefore does not interfere with his private habits. He believed that a great future was before the society, provided its members had firm faith in its possibilities and patience in their development.

Mr. R. M. Denniatoun delivered a very forcible and telling speech on the subject of the third rule of the society, which calls upon members to discourage the use of profane and course language in the streets of our town. He said that in bygone days through the influence of the Court of Charles II., swearing and profanity were fashionable. He had recently travelled in the Old Country and had been struck with the fact that there, through the splendid influence of the late Prince Consort and the Queen, such language was almost a thing of the past. Even in the streets it was a very rare thing to hear the sacred name of God used in an oath. He regretted that the same thing could not be said of Canada. When a certain representative of the Canadian troops asked Mr. Rudyard Kipling, at Cape Town, what he though of the Canadians, the only remark that acute observer made was a "Well, you curse considerable." Unfortunately this habit had extended itself to the smallest children, who might be heard using the vilest kind of language before they really knew what it meant. He pointed out how injurious this was to the moral character, and further, that it was certainly a bar to anyone's temporal success. It was true that some men who had used very bad language, had succeeded, but everyone knew that they would have been even more successful without it. He earnestly hoped that the result of the society's labours might be to rouse parents to a sense of this evil.

Mr. Hampden Burnham said that he hoped the Society would be able to touch another evil which he held in some respects was worse than even drunkeness or cursing—namely the habit of disseminating vulgar scandal. The injury done was two fold. First, it might permanently damage the character of an entirely innocent person. Secondly, it depraved the retailer of the scandal. This habit was far too common. It was the duty of a gentleman to delight to protect the fair name of his friends and especially of our women. Mr. Burnham's remarks on this point were received with loud applause. He proceeded to say that he hoped through the medium of lectures by the most distinguished men, the society might educate the public to a higher idea of its civic responsibilities.

Lt.-Col. Edwards referred to the question of cigarette smoking by lads. He had investigated the subject and found that it was alarmingly widespread. There was a bylaw of the town against selling cigarettes to minors, and he was glad to say that he knew the police sought to enforce it.

Mr. J. H. Roper gave an instance in his experience which illustrated the need of some movement for the repression of profane language.

The president suggested that as the season was now far advanced it would be better not to take action on these points at present, but to leave them over until the fall.

The meeting then adjourned and a considerable number of those present became members of the society.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Mr. E. B. Edwards has announced to the world over his own signature, in your to-days issue, that he saw a boy smoking a cigarette and actually had a conversation with him and calls upon the Common Weal Society to suppress the evil, but how he does not say. I believe Mr. Edwards when he says he saw all this, but I do not agree with him in singling out this evil while the greater ones of smoking cigars and pipes, to say nothing of the beastly habit of chewing tobacco, are to be passed over in silence. That cigars and pipes are more injurious than cigarettes, we have no less an authority than the London Lancet. An authority that Mr. Edwards dare not question. It says that the injury is not from the nicotine, but the pyoidine, which is the result of combustion. In other words it is not the smoke, but the fire that is injurious. That authority states that the degree of toxicity of the smoke depends upon the completeness of the combustion, which of a cigarette is more complete than that of the pipe or the cigar.

Yours, etc.,

A SEALING SCHOONER

DR. MACWILLIE DESCRIBES HIS TRIP WTH ST. JOHN'S FLEET.

ABOUT THE SLAUGHTER OF SEALS

Vivid and Interesting Account of a Day's Hunt—The Start From the Ship—A Great Slaughter—Picking Up the Men at Close of the Day—A Perilous Job.

Dr. John MacWillie, one of the Toronto medical men who accompanied the St. John sealing fleet this spring, has returned with some interesting spoils of the chase. In addition to the two young hood seals which he sent alive to the Zoo, but one of which has unfortunately since died, Dr. MacWillie has a young white harp seal stuffed, the skin of a small hood and also the hide of one of the largest hoods killed this year, an animal which weighed about 900 pounds, and measured nine and one-half feet in length.

The hoods, or as they are sometimes called, sea-lions, are the largest species of seal, and the doctor says that although he has seen a good many seals with circuses and other collections of live animals, those which he sent to Riverdale Park, Toronto, are the first of this variety he has ever seen in captivity. They derive their name from the hood of the male, a great bag on the top of his head, which he blows up when attacked, and all the pounding you can give him will not have the slightest effect. The male weighs upward of 700 pounds, and the female a hundred or so less. Their color is bluish or dirty grey, with many black spots, and their commercial value is the least of all seals.

The fur of the seals caught in the Atlantic is, of course, useless, and though the hide is used as leather, the fat from which the famous seal oil is made, is the most valuable part of the animal.

A Day's Hunt.

Dr. MacWillie gives a most vivid and interesting account of the way in which the hunt was carried on by the crew of the Algerine, to which he belonged.

"We were on deck at dawn. Here and there, from one-half to two miles away, were six or seven other vessels. We had all struck the herd together, and were in the midst of them. We could hear the bawling of hundreds of young white harps—the babies about two weeks old. The hair of the young harps, or common seals, is pure white, until it is old enough to take to the water. Dozens were seen within fifty yards of the ship, as many as five on a 'pan,' many of them accompanied by the mother seal, a great grey and black, ungainly object, small, snakelike head, with big sack-like body, wabbling along the ice, assisted by its two flippers, or gliding gracefully off the 'pan,' or block, of ice into the water—only to poke its serpentine head above the ocean as its baby bawled more plaintively for it. The whole ocean is covered with ice in pans or sections from a foot to 40 feet square.

The Start From the Ship.

"Tom Green's watch, consisting of about 60 men, is called first, and these all clamber over the side of the vessel, and stand upon logs tied up, about two feet from the water, waiting for the word of command. At last, as a good piece of ice slides by, they jump, scramble, or fall onto it, headed by the master of the watch, who leads the way, selecting the path. They walk, run, jump from pan to pan, while the ship speeds on as fast as the ice will permit. Very soon we see them separating into groups of eight to twelve, and then again into twos. They keep in pairs, however, so that if either fall in, which most of them do, once to six times a day, they will then have assistance.

"Our watch to-day makes a circle, ever widening, because it's a good field, and another company from a rival vessel is also trying to preempt as large an area as possible. It's all 'fair field and no favor,' but if one vessel circles in an area of limited size, another very seldom encroaches.

A Great Slaughter.

"And then commences the slaughter. A blow on the head with the end of the gaff is all that is required. Then out comes the razor-like knife. A slit down its front, from end to end, through the skin and two or three inches of fat—the skin and fat is cut from the skeleton and lean meat adhering to it; and the seal, or what is left of him, is ready to be hoisted aboard. The mother and father have by this time waddled into the water, comparatively safe from the destroyer. All the seals within a couple of hundred yards are piled together, and the ship's flag—ours is red and yellow—set up. And by this time the ship is a mile or two off, sending more men 'ashore.' The first party then goes on to further slaughter—until the whole ice for miles around looks like a huge slaughter house.

Picking Up the Men.

"The ship may stay away from the men, three, six or even twelve hours; may have gone miles out of sight, but back she comes, picking up her 'pans' of seals and her men, most of whom will have killed and skinned from 75 to 300 seals in the day.

"The rapidity of these men in jumping off or on board the vessel can neither be kodaked or described. You will have to imagine how you would move if on floating ice, and an edge of it touched the ship's side for less than one minute, and you the last man of twenty or thirty.

"It is now 11 p.m., and most thankful we are that all our men are aboard. Some men were sent away about noon, provided with torches and a bag of biscuits slung over their shoulders. About 5 o'clock it got foggy. No ships were to be seen, and ten men were missing. After steaming here and there, zig-zagging in the path they had taken, we at length descried three torches, all far apart, and about 9.30 we came up to them. They were preparing to spend the night, were drying their clothes by a fire, made of seal-fat, gaff poles, etc., and it was no small relief to them to see the ship again."

BABY'S BUSINESS

A healthy baby is comfortable; and that is enough for a baby. His business in life is to grow.

Aside from acute diseases, his food is the cause of most of his troubles. But Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil delivers him from it.

He isn't sick; only a little hitch, somewhere, in his machine for turning food into growth.

It is a great thing to do, for a baby, to help him over a hitch with mere food—the emulsion is food that has the tact to get there.

The tact to get there is medicine.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

TWO YEARS DELAY.

Could not Take the Simplest Food Without Suffering for it—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Have Changed the Tone of His Life.

Many people through prejudice lose many of the good things of life which might be theirs if they left their minds free and open to reasonable conviction.

Many worthless preparations are advertised to cure Dyspepsia, it is true—nostrums which are absolutely useless and sometimes far from harmless.

But the mere fact of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets receiving the endorsement of the people in all parts of the world is enough to convince the most sceptical that all the medicines advertised to cure Dyspepsia are not failures.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are no failure. A certain Quebec lady recognizes this fact now, though, as she herself confesses, she was sceptical at one time.

"I have always," writes Mme. Maria Anna Bujold, "had a very strong objection to patent medicines. But I must confess that my opinion has changed.

"The results in cases within my own knowledge where Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have been used are wonderful. And lastly my own case has completely converted me to the belief that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets is a medicine valuable beyond price.

"For two years my life has been a burden.

"I could not take the simplest food without having a pain across my stomach. A sour gas would rise in my throat and I dreaded the thought of eating.

"I finally consulted doctors about trouble but they did nothing for me that was of any help.

"Then only did I decide to give Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a fair trial. I shall never regret it. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets did what other means had failed to do—they cured me. My digestion is now perfect; all pain and symptoms of Dyspepsia have left me, and I have nothing but Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to thank for it."

CANADIAN NICKLE IN DEMAND.

They Are the Standard Weight Used by Tea Brokers in Sampling Tea.

Canadian five-cent silver pieces are in great demand in the tea trade, and people who have some of these coins can, if they want to, easily dispose of them at any tea broker's office.

A Sun reporter who visited the office of a tea merchant recently, was surprised to see one of these coins lying in one of the scales in which tea is weighed when a sample is to be tasted. He picked the coin up and examined it. The manager quietly remarked:

"I hope you won't take that for a pocket piece. We have quite a lot of difficulty in getting those coins and keeping them."

"What are they used for?" asked the reporter.

"A Canadian five-cent piece is the standard weight in the tea trade in this country for weighing tea sufficient to make one cup. Where the custom originated I don't know, but when we make a sample cup of tea we just take enough to balance this coin in the scales.

"We have lots of trouble in keeping them. Every one who comes in looks at the coins, and, probably not realizing what we use them for, takes one away.

"Some of the brokers use a piece of lead of just that weight instead, but the weight of a piece of lead may be questioned when the tea is weighed. Others stick a piece of paper on each side of the coin to disguise it.

"It is one of the old trade customs and I suppose will last as long as tea is bought and sold."—New York Sun.

A FOOD THAT PROMOTES HEALTH IS WORTHY OF A TRIAL.

MALT BREAKFAST FOOD

Is A True Health Food.

Bodily and mental vigor and general good health depend largely upon the food used at the opening meal of the day—breakfast.

Thousands of people, young and old, use some form of grain food each morning. The large majority of these grain foods or cereals are positively injurious to digestion, and therefore, cannot promote health and strength.

Food experts and all who desire to see the masses supplied with pure and wholesome foods, very strongly recommend Malt Breakfast Food for the first meal of the day. All practical food analysists who have analyzed Malt Breakfast Food, hold it up as the world's ideal health food.

Malt Breakfast Food is predigested; it is concentrated, therefore the most economical to use; it is a true flesh, bone and muscle builder. One 15 cent package will make a dish for twenty-five people. Your Grocer sells it.

THE LAST ELECTION.

Return Presented in the Commons—Fewer Ballots Were Rejected.

The return of the clerk of the Crown in Chancery on the general election of last November has been presented to Parliament. The number of rejected ballots in the election was 7,718, as against 13,871 in 1896, which would tend to show the superiority of the existing ballot form over the disc ballot of 1896.

The total vote by provinces was as follows:

Ontario	426,083
Quebec	237,259
Nova Scotia	107,836
New Brunswick	68,340
Prince Edward Island	21,129
Manitoba	41,780
British Columbia	26,451
Northwest Territories	23,618
Total	952,496

In the general election of 1896 the total vote cast was 835,600.

The largest majority, 2,772, was secured by the Prime Minister in Quebec East, and the smallest majority, 1, in North Bruce.

Sunspots and Rainfall.

At the last meeting of the Toronto Astronomical Society, Mr. R. F. Stupart, Director of the Observatory, read a paper on the relation of sunspot periods and variations in rainfall. The result of Mr. Stupart's observations tended to show that there was an increase of local rainfall about the time of sunspot minimum, and also two or three years after maximum. Mr. Stupart is still carrying on his investigations, and it is hoped that further light will be thrown on the interesting subject of the effect on meteorological conditions of the present unknown causes of sunspots.

Canada's Unique Hansard.

Speaking of the Canadain "Hansard," The Montreal Witness says: "We have the most efficient and probably the only correct and promptly issued report of public debates published in the world." Canada's system is certainly unique. Every day Parliament gets an exact reproduction of its discussions of the day before. For historical purposes and for the necessities of the future, in so far as explaining the purpose of legislation and the policy of public men, Hansard is invaluable. It supplies a want that the newspapers cannot possibly cover.

THE DEPARTURE.

Oft when a train moves by we feel regret
To see the faces pass, although unknown;
While who may tell the heart's unuttered moan
O'er one dear face that, when we e'en forget
The others all, stays with us, vivid yet
By features, smiles and words, which, having flown
About us like pet birds, their each sweet tone
And look are ever in our pathway met;
So when of two one leaves the House of Time,
The other, waiting, cannot help but grieve
For the lost friend, to whom in sorrow's clime
Each memory in its loneliness must cleave,
While the sad soul tries through its requiem rhyme
A few tear glistening strains of hope to weave.

How Joe Lost His Arm.

BY PAUL GRANT.

On the Tombigbee river so bright I was born,
In a hut made of husks of the bright yellow corn,
And 'twas there that I met my Julia so true,
And I rowed her about in my gumtree canoe,
Singing, Roe away, row o'er the waters so blue;
Like a feather we'll float in my gumtree canoe.

The clerk of the Pretty Jane had a mellow voice, and blended sweetly with it was little Jennie's childish treble.

He sat upon the deck of the little steamboat, gazing around on the bright waters of the Tombigbee as the sun danced on them, gazing intently and smiling absently to himself.

He was a man of about 30, and his right coat sleeve was empty and pinned upon his heart.

Little Jennie leaned upon his knee, staring him intently in the face in a way that children have. She pushed her broad brimmed hat back from her eyes so that she might stare the better. The hat was a queerly shaped palmetto structure, for this was in 1863, and clothes were at a premium. She was the child of one of the passengers, and between her and the clerk quite a friendship had sprung up.

"And did you suse enough meet your Julia here on the Tombigbee?" asked the child, stroking the empty sleeve with a pitying touch.

"Yes," said the clerk, roused from his reverie and smiling down on the eager little face; "I have often taken her rowing on the Tombigbee before the war, when I had my other arm."

"How nice!" said Jennie. "How nice! And in a gumtree canoe?"

"Well, I wasn't particular as to the kind of canoe, so it was a canoe," said he, smiling.

"And your Julia ain't named Julia, but Mary Jane, after all," said the child.

"Yes," said he, "but she's just as sweet as if her name was Julia, though 'twouldn't fit in the song so well."

"No, you couldn't say, 'I rowed my Mary Jane so true.' 'Twould make the song too long legged."

"True," said he, laughing, "but that makes no difference. I think of her while I sing it, so that it seems as if it was her name."

"Well, Mr. Perkins," said Jennie, "tell me why haven't you married your Julia, if you've been rowing her around in your gumtree canoe these ever so many years?"

"You see," said the mate, smiling, "my Julia couldn't make up her mind that she loved me till the war broke out and I volunteered; then she said directly she'd marry me, but 'twas too late then; I had to go off to fight."

"You had both of your arms then!" interrupted Jennie; "you was born with 'em?"

"Of course, child. Did you ever hear of any one born with one arm? Nature don't ever make no such cobbled, lop-sided work as that."

"Well, if you had both of your arms then, I don't see why she wouldn't have you."

"Bless you, child, everybody had plenty of arms then; that was no inducement to take a fellow. But, as I was saying, when she found I was going off to the war and might get killed then she found that she loved me."

"She'd rather marry you than that you should get killed," said Jennie. "Yes, I think she ought, after you rowed her around in the canoe."

"You are right," said Perkins, laughing; "but 'twas too late to marry her then. We agreed that if ever I got back safely, when the war was over, we'd marry."

"Tell me, now, how you came to lose your arm," said Jennie.

"'Twas in one of the great battles around Richmond that year. I had been in many fights before, but this was about the hottest. The enemy was bound to get the hill on which we stood, and we were holding on desperately. But at last the boys began to waver and give way. Then our colonel came out to the front, and the rest of our officers followed him, and they ran up and down the lines cheering up the men.

"'Steady, my boys,' said the old colonel; 'keep pouring it into them. Steady! Re-enforcements will soon be here! Never let it be said that the line broke where the Alabamians stood!'

"The whole air seemed black with shot and shell. A piece of one grazed the colonel's cheek, and the blood kept trickling down his face, but he didn't seem to feel it. The firing grew so hot that the men seemed fairly mowed down, and the line began to waver and break. Suddenly, clear on our right, there arose a tremendous yell. It grew louder and louder and ran down the line toward us. Then, at last, we saw a courier galloping down the line. I shall never forget how he looked. His black horse was all white with foam, and its flanks were bloody from his spur. He rode bareheaded down the line as if he bore a charmed life, and he kept waving his cap around his head and shouting something to the men, and as they heard him the wavering line rallied and sent up deafening cheers. Then he galloped by where we were and yelled:

"Then we cheered, too, until we were hoarse. The courier galloped on, and presently our officer shouted:

"'Forward, men! Charge!'

"And away we went, down the hill and across a field, right toward the Yankee lines, yelling like Indians.

"I held the colors in my hand, and I ran a little ahead. I didn't seem to have any feet; I seemed to fly, and the men followed me. Right toward the blazing line we ran.

"All at once I saw the colonel, who was riding by me, grasp the colors, for they were falling. I looked and saw that my hand, my whole arm, was gone, and I hadn't felt it! I grabbed the flag in my left hand.

"'I can carry the colors yet, colonel,' I said. 'I don't feel any pain.'

"I ran on some 50 steps, when the blood began spouting from my shoulder. I dropped. Joe Ashe, one of the color guards, snatched the flag, and they all rushed on.

"I fell senseless. I never knew another thing till weeks after, when I woke up one day in Chimborazo hospital and found some funny looking ladies in black bonnets that the boys called the 'sisters' bending over me. If it hadn't been for their good nursing, I should have died."

Perkins ceased. He had been so carried away by the interest he felt in his own narrative that he had gone quite beyond his auditor.

"But tell me, Joe," Jennie eagerly asked—she had been impatiently waiting for an opportunity for some minutes—"tell me, did you ever find your arm that you dropped?"

"No; to be sure not. I never went to look for it."

"You couldn't fasten it on again, then?"

"Of course not, child. I am not a jointed doll."

"What a pity you couldn't!" said the child. "What a pity! And how do you manage to dress yourself and tie your cravat and shoes?" she asked, for she had been burning to make these inquiries ever since she had seen the one armed Confederate.

"'Twas awkward at first, but I learned at last to do it with the help of my teeth."

"But how when you get old and lose 'em?" said Jennie, who was of an investigating mind.

"Providence will raise me up some other way," he said, with a pathetic smile. "I'll have my wife to wait on me."

"To be sure, I forgot; Miss Mary Jane will. What did she say?"

"I got one of the sisters to write her for me, and I set her free. I said I wouldn't bind her to a poor cripple like me."

"And she said no, sir-ree! I s'pose," cried Jennie, full of fiery zeal for her new friend.

"Something to that effect," said Joe, smiling.

"She wrote me that she loved me more with one arm than she ever had done with two; that whenever I could get home she was ready." Here Joe's eyes filled, and he gazed steadily in the water.

"Well, now, Joe," said Jennie, who was suddenly struck with a bright idea, "maybe if you would lose both arms she'd love you betterer and betterer."

"I believe I'm satisfied with what she feels now," said Joe, laughing.

"But why hain't you married?" continued Jennie, pursuing her investigations.

"Because I first had to get well, and then I had to get something to do. I had been a mechanic, and I couldn't work at my trade with my left hand. So Captain Ramsey gave me a place on his boat, and I've been trying to learn how to write, so that I can keep his books. I think I'm doing pretty well. See?"

He drew from his pocket a little blank book in which were scrawled divers hieroglyphics, at which he gazed complacently.

"Why, yes," said Jennie approvingly. "There's a 't' with the cross mark, and there is 'k' with his broken back, and that's an 'l.' I know him by his eyebrow. You see, I can read a little," she said proudly.

"So I see," said he, laughing and putting up his book. "Now, I must go. The sun has set. It is time for me to see after things for the night."

He stroked Jennie's curly head with his left hand and walked away, softly singing in his mellow voice, "My Own Mary Ann."

He Knew the Fact.

A small boy had a dog that was rough, as most small boys' dogs are, and a young girl who lived next door had a kitten, sly as all cats are. One day the small boy came nonchalantly into the girl's presence, and after some desultory conversation he said:

"You know my dog Barca and your cat Darling?"

"Yes."

"Well, my dog had a piece of meat, and he thought your cat was going to take it away from him."

"Thought!" exclaimed the wise little girl. "What makes you say that the dog thought? You know dogs don't think; they instinct."

"Well," said the boy, "I don't care whether he thought it or whether he instincted it; but, anyhow, he killed your cat."—London Fun.

A Lady's Lunch

Has been rudely defined by some cynic as "slops and sweets." And after all there's more truth than poetry in the definition. Ice cream and cake may satisfy the palate, but they are far from satisfying to the stomach, which requires that food be nutritious first and nice afterward. By careless eating women pave the way for stomach "trouble," and its kindred miseries.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is confidently commended as a cure for diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. By curing diseases which prevent the assimilation of food it enables the body to be built up and strengthened in the only way known to nature—by food digested and assimilated.

"For twelve long months I suffered untold misery," writes Mrs. Mollie Colgate, of Randolph, Charlotte Co., Va. "No tongue could express the pain that I endured before I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicine. I was not able to do anything at all. Could not eat anything except bread and tea—or if I did the top of my head hurt so it seemed it would kill me; with all that I could do it would burn like fire. But now, since using your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription,' I can eat a little of almost anything I want, and can do a good day's work as well as anybody can. Am better than I have been for years."

THE MACCABEES.

Dr. Mallory was Present at Last Night's Meeting of the Local Tent.

A largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the Ladies and Knights of the Maccabees of Peterborough, was held last evening in the Foresters' Hall, on George street.

Dr. Mallory, of Colborne, District Medical Examiner, was present, and delivered an eloquent and rousing address on the principles, prosperity and progress of the Order. He pointed out that the Order is now the second in numerical and financial strength on the continent, numbering at the present time 500,000 members. Brief eloquent and stirring addresses were also given by Sir Knights Hardwicke, Titterson, McClelland, McGregor, Morrison, John McIntyre, Past Commander of Sarnia Tent and Deputy Supreme Commander Brown.

Letters of regret were read from Sir Knight S. W. Teussler, Supreme Chaplain, and Sir Knight G. E. Townsend, Supreme Representative for Ontario.

The Maccabees in Peterborough were never in such a flourishing position as at the present time, and with the assistance of Deputy Brown will endeavour to further increase their membership during the next two weeks.

At the conclusion of the meeting a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Dr. Mallory, and after singing God Save the King, the meeting adjourned.

FROM TOM MILLER.

Mrs. F. W. Miller Hears Once More From Her Soldier Boy.

Mrs. F. W. Miller, town, has received the following letter from her son, Tom, in South Africa:

Belfast, 23, 4, '01.

Dear Mother, — I now sit down to write you a few lines to let you know how I am getting on. The battalion is on the march again, but my colonel left me behind here to look after the stores; so you can guess I am having a good time, plenty to eat and lots of good clothes, and nothing to do. You can see I am getting along finely since I have been made sergeant, and I hope I will always be able to get along as well as I am now. Dear mother, we do not get any news here. I have not seen a paper for weeks now, so we do not know what is going on in any place. I expect to see my brother-in-law out here. He came out in the Yeomanry from London. I suppose Kitty has told you that by now. I don't know of any more to say this time, so hoping to hear from you soon, I remain your loving son, Tom. Sergt. T. Miller, 1st Scots Guards, South Africa.

A CHARACTER STUDY.

At the Meeting of the Charlotte Street League Last Night.

An analysis of the life and character of the prophet Elijah occupied the attention of the members of the Charlotte Street League last evening.

Miss L. Thomas gave a concise, but complete delineation of the strenuous life of the fearless prophet. Israel was shown to have wandered from God, and was in sore straits for a strong leader to conduct them back to the paths of national virtue, hence the timely appearance of Elijah. His miraculous preservation at Cherith, his eventful residence at the home of the widow of Zarephath, and his meeting with Ahab, were lucidly portrayed. The scene on Mount Carmel and his flight to Mount Horeb were fully described and the lessons from this energetic life carefully deducted.

Miss S. Lee read a brilliant paper on Elijah as a prophet, embracing his personal appearances, love of solitude and unbounded enthusiasm for God. In general, the prophets were preachers to the people, and their office was to act as a check upon the despotism and worldliness of the king. Miss Lee dealt fully with the closing scenes of the life of this characteristic man and made a practical application of the example which his life presents.

Next Monday Mr. I. Richardson will discuss "Youthful Consecration."

MOUNT PLEASANT.

The many friends of Mrs. Geo. Jamison will be glad to hear that she has so far recovered her sight as to be able to attend church.

Mrs. Sutcliffe is able to be out again and is gaining strength after her illness during the winter.

Those who have had business to do at the G.T.R. Station in Millbrook, will regret to hear of the death of Mrs. Cochrane, who was so attentive and obliging to the travelling public. We express our sympathy with Mr. Cochrane in this sad bereavement. Let us hear the voice of Jesus saying to us "Be ye also ready."

John Sadler was in town attending to business.

The discourse on the 26th inst. by the Rev. Mr. Coon was on the observance of the Sabbath day. He referred to the fact of the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo having decided to keep open on the Sabbath day, which is a violation of the command "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," and that we are returning to barbarism.

The city of Toronto, called the City of Churches, when called on to prevent the street cars running on the Sabbath day, gave a majority in favour of running them, thus disturbing the sacred rest of the Sabbath day.

We are called on to send missionaries to the heathens, why not begin at home. Christianity should be able to suppress the evils of the day.

The subject of discourse by the Rev. W. Kennawin, on the 26th inst., was on the liberty of the Christian. His text was taken from Samuel, V Chap., and 1st verse.

Times have not been better in our village for years; every house is filled and everyone who wishes to work can get employment.

There was quite a crowd went from here to Peterborough. The sports were declared off here, giving away to Peterborough. Many were disappointed at not seeing the drawing card in town—the Kalithumpians.

All the musical loving people are looking forward to the concert by St. Paul's choir on Tuesday, June 4, having such pleasant recollections of their singing a year ago. The programme will be secular on this occasion.

There is an effort being made to get the Stricklaud alligator boat to come up Pigeon River. The water is high now, and there is considerable towing to be done. Cowan's bridge is completed to admit steamers.

Dr. J. N. Thompson is very much missed since moving to Hawkeston, County Simcoe. He was not only a good loyal citizen, but a remarkably good worker in all societies, as well as church and Sunday school work.

APPEAL TO THE HAGUE

Arbitration Court Asked to Decide the Transvaal Case.

KRITZINGER'S INVADERS TURNED

Boer General Schoeman and His Daughter Killed by the Explosion of a Lyddite Shell, Kept in the House as a Curiosity—His Wife and Two Others Were Also Badly Injured.

Berlin, May 29.—Special despatches from St. Petersburg assert that Dr. Hendrik Muller and Dr. Leyds, representing the Boer republics, have appealed formally to The Hague Arbitration Court, promising to abide by the decision of the tribunal regarding the issues involved in the South African war, and pointing out that several of the paragraphs of the constitution of the Arbitration Court, signed by the powers represented at the Peace Conference, bear directly upon the South African case.

Kritzinger's Invaders Turned.

Cape Town, May 29.—The dash of Kritzinger's invaders of Cape Colony to the south, was checked at Vandoesberg by the swift movement of Gorringer's and other columns. The invaders, finding their way barred, swerved to the northeast towards Cloethe. The continued capture of horses by the British is appreciably impairing the Boers' mobility.

BOER GENERAL KILLED.

His Daughter Also a Victim of a Lyddite Shell Explosion.

Pretoria, May 28.—The Boer General Schoeman and his daughter have been killed and his wife and two others have been badly injured by the explosion of a shell.

Gen. Schoeman, his family, and some friends were examining a 4.7 inch lyddite shell, which they kept in the house as a curiosity, when the shell exploded, killing the general on the spot and mortally wounding his daughter and severely injuring his wife and two other persons.

Gen. Schoeman was a great Krugerite. He led the commando of Colesberg, and surrendered on the occupation of Pretoria. He was afterwards captured by the Boers and released when the British occupied Barberton. The general then went on a peace mission, was retaken by the Boers and was again released when the British took Pietersburg. Since that time Gen. Schoeman has resided in Pretoria.

Ontario Man Died in Africa.

Ottawa, May 29.—The Department of Militia received a cable yesterday from Johannesburg, stating that Trooper W. J. C. Brown died of dysentry at Bloemfontein, May 21. Next of kin, Samuel Brown, Kirkton, Ont., father.

Reduction in Freight Rates.

Winnipeg, May 29.—Premier Roblin and Hon. Robert Rogers were again in conference with Mr. D. D. Mann yesterday, settling the terms of the special agreement under which the Canadian Northern will operate the N. P. lines until their contract can be completed. As a result of this transfer of the N. P. lines to the province, Premier Roblin has officially announced that the freight rates would be reduced on the N. P. line by seven and a half per cent. on existing tariffs, commencing June 1. "The reduction of seven and a half per cent. on freight rates applies only between points inside the province on the N. P. lines," said the Premier in reply to a question on the subject.

Henry McGregor Killed.

New Glasgow, N. S., May 27.—Henry McGregor of this town, was killed in the railway yard on Saturday night. He was struck by a locomotive. He was 45 years of age, and a shipping clerk in the employ of the Nova Scotia Company's works at Trenton. A widow and two children survive.

Fire at Port Arthur.

Port Arthur, Ont., May 27.—At 6 o'clock Saturday morning fire was discovered in the convent at Port Arthur. It was started in some manner in the basement, and ran up the chimney to the top flat, where the most of the damage was done. The Sisters turned their attention to the pupils who live in the building, and these were all got out in order, and without the slightest confusion. The loss will be about $3,000.

A Threefold Killing.

Pawtucket, R. I., May 28.—Adam Martineau, of Lincoln, R. I., murdered his wife by shooting this afternoon. A farm hand who interfered was shot and before Martineau could be caught he killed himself. He was about 35 years of age.

Marquis of Headfort Resigns.

London, May 29.—The resignation is gazetted of the Marquis of Headfort as a lieutenant in the First Life Guards, presumably because he married Rosie Boote, the actress.

DEMAND 8-HOUR DAY.

International Miners' Conference at London So Resolved.

THE MACHINISTS ARE WINNING.

How the Great Strike Is Progressing—Many of the Firms Have Come to Terms and Have Signed the Agreement—President O'Connell Says the Situation Is Generally Satisfactory.

London, May 29.—The International Miners' Conference now in session in London and which is attended by many continental delegates, passed a resolution yesterday in favor of a universal eight-hour day. The chairman, Mr. William Abraham, M. P., expressed the belief that Parliament would pass an eight-hour law in 1902.

Mr. Cotte, delegate of the French miners, said that if the eight-hour bill now before the Chamber of Deputies did not progress rapidly enough, the French miners were prepared to declare a general strike.

Prior to the adjournment, standing orders were suspended and a resolution was introduced and carried unanimously inviting the American miners to send delegates to future international congresses. It was pointed out that, in view of threatened competition of American coal in the markets of the world, and the possibility that American miners would be used against the miners of Europe for the purpose of lowering the latter's wages, the miners of the United States ought to be represented at future conferences.

THE STRIKING MACHINISTS.

Reports Received Show They Are Winning All Along the Line.

Toronto, May 29.—Reports from various strike centres received by President O'Connell of the International Machinists' Association, at his headquarters at the Palmer House, shows that the strikers are winning all along the line. Many of the firms have come to terms and signed the agreement. The Dunkirk Locomotive Works, where 1,500 men are employed, grant increased wages, shorter hours and recognition of the union. In Boston 75 firms have signed the agreement so far, leaving only 8 out. In Toledo 19 out of 33 firms have signed, and others are expected to come to terms. In addition to these, 68 other firms scattered all over the United States have concluded a satisfactory agreement with their employes. The list includes 8 in Jersey City, 2 each in Louisville, Ky., Great Falls, Mont., Lockport, N. Y., and Williamsport, Pa.; 12 in Newark, 4 in Elizabeth, 5 in Springfield, Mass., 3 in Belleville, Ill., 6 in Milwaukee, 11 in Syracuse, 1 in Bay City and 5 in Dayton.

President O'Connell and the other members of the Executive were elated yesterday over the prospects of an early termination of the strike, and estimated that 3,000 strikers returned to work that day. The situation is generally satisfactory.

Despatches received last night state that 22 shops in San Francisco have signed, and the marine painters who struck have been given $3 a day. Ninety-nine per cent. of the machinists of the Southern Rkilway at Washington only await President O'Connell's order to strike. The machinists on the Wabash at Fort Wayne and Springfield will resume work on Friday.

Strike Notes.

The Marine Engineers' Association at Ogdensburg, N. Y., is out on strike against the Rutland Transit Steamboat Line.

ALIEN LABOR LAW.

Alleged Infractions Investigated—Several Industrial Differences Settled by Arbitration and Conciliation.

Ottawa, May 29.—During the month of April seven complaints were received at the Department of Labor, alleging infractions of the alien law. Two complaints received during March were found to be without foundation. Three of the April cases, fully investigated, resulted similarly. The four remaining complaints are not yet fully looked into. Four of the cases were from Ontario, and one from Quebec, as follows: Two in Brantford, one each in Windsor, St. Thomas and Sherbrooke.

During April several industrial differences were settled by arbitration and conciliation. One was the demand of employes of the Dominion Coal Company of Nova Scotia for an increase in wages; another was the shoe lasters' strike in Quebec, which the Archbishop settled; and another was the bringing about of a settlement of the trouble at the Laurentide Pulp Mills at Grand Mere, Que. The dispute at the Van Anda Mines in British Columbia was another labor trouble settled through the assistance of an officer of the Department in that Province.

The Creed Revision Commission

Philadelphia, May 29.—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church had a warm discussion yesterday morning over the adoption of the minutes covering the resolution in regard to the Revision Committee. On Dr. Moffatt's initiative, the the resolution was altered so as to read that the old committee had been dissolved and a new committee appointed, the old members, however, being eligible. Dr. Minton, the moderator, was made chairman of the new Committee on Revision.

At the afternoon session Rev. S.A. Freeman of Buffalo, read the report of the Committee on Temperance, which recommended legislation against the drink traffic, and for the "suppression and exclusion of the traffic in intoxicants from our new possessions and dependencies."

The Moderator made a few happy remarks as to the harmony which had characterized the meeting of the General Assembly, the commissioners sang "Blest be the tie that binds," and Dr. Minton pronounced the benediction, the final act of the Assembly.

The victim, a woman named Annie Austin, 28 years old, was found dying in a bedroom on Sunday morning and was removed to a hospital, where she expired. The murderer escaped. The wounds on the lower part of the victim's body are too revolting for description.

THE PAPER COMBINE.

Investigation Opened by Judge Taschereau at Montreal.

EVIDENCE GIVEN ON TUESDAY.

Mr. P. D. Ross and Mr. L. J. Tarte Give Experiences—Prices of Paper Were Raised—Members of the Combination Would Forfeit If They Broke the Rules or Cut Prices.

Montreal, May 29.—The investigation instituted by the Government into the complaints of newspaper publishers that there exists a combine of paper manufacturers to unduly enhance the price of paper began yesterday morning before Judge Taschereau. The officers of the Canadian Press Association, at whose initiative the commission was appointed, were represented by the President, Capt. A. G. F. Macdonald of The News, Alexandria, Ont., and the Vice-President, Mr. H. J. Pettypiece of the The Forest Free Press. Their legal adviser was Mr. John King, K. C., of Toronto. None of the members of the Canadian Papermakers' Association were present, but they were represented by their counsel, Mr. W. J. White, K. C., and Mr. R. N. McGibbon, K. C. If they claim there is no combine it is rather curious that their lawyers were prompted and assisted by Mr. C. J. Hardy of the firm of Jenkins & Hardy, Toronto, who were the organizers of over a score of similar associations in all branches of trade, all chiefly for the regulation and maintenance of prices.

After the usual routine of reading the commission and the order in Council and the resolution of the Canadian Press Association, upon which the inquiry is based, the Vice-President of that association made a request that the inquiry be shortened by doing away with the presence of counsel on either side, and that the witnesses be examined by the learned Judge in person.

Mr. W. J. White, K. C., opposed the request. He held that his clients were virtually on trial, and hence had a right to legal advice and assistance.

Government Pays the Witnesses.

Mr. Justice Taschereau said that he had correspondence with the Minister of Finance on the subject of the cost. He himself held that as the inquiry was in the interest o the public the Government should assume the charges. To this the Minister of Finance had at first demurred, holding that the Canadian Press Association should pay the expenses of their own witnesses, but on Saturday last he had received a communication saying that the Government would pay all reasonable expenses for witnesses certified to by himself. Thus the inquiry was at Government expense. But this fact did not debar anyone from being represented by counsel, although those who did not choose to employ legal advisers could examine witnesses themselves. Counsel would have the right to cross-examine witnesses and to address the court as in ordinary judicial procedure.

Complainants' Statements

The inquiry then commenced with the examination of Mr. P. D. Ross of The Ottawa Journal and Mr. L. J. Tarte of La Patrie. The salient points in evidence given by these gentlemen were that an organization among the papermakers existed by which prices were fixed and to whom all contracts had to be exhibited; that each member of this organization had to deposit a sum of money, ranging from $300 to $500, to be confiscated if they broke any of the rules it laid down; that this organization had fixed prices, acknowledged to be much ahead of the actual price of manufacture, thus unduly increasing the cost of news and printing paper, contrary to the provisions of section 18 of the customs tariff of 1897; that there existed an agreement between American papermakers and the Canadian Paper Association whereby the former were not to invade the Dominion or interfere with their prices, and that since the commission had been formed the mills had reduced their prices and recommenced the allowance of discounts.

Mr. P. D. Ross.

Mr. P. D. Ross of The Ottawa Journal was the first witness. He stated that he had a contract with the Eddy Manufacturing Company for printing paper at $2.04 per hundred pounds, which expired in February, 1900. He negotiated for a continuance, but was informed that the price must be advanced. In February this offer was cancelled, and he was informed that the Eddy Co. had joined the Papermakers' Association, that the price had been increased by them to $2.50, that were the Eddy Co. to cut the association's prices their deposit would be confiscated, and that all contracts and letters had to be submitted to and examined by the association. Mr. Ross drew the conclusion from this that, since the Eddy Co. had first offered to furnish the paper at $2.25, they could clearly manufacture at a profit for this figure, and thus that the arbitrary decision of the association to advance it to $2.50 was clearly an undue enhancing of the price, coming under section 18. The Eddy Co. were willing to accept $2.25. They were forced to charge $2.50 by the association.

Mr. L. J. Tarte.

Mr. L. Joseph Tarte of La Patrie was the next witness. He said that previous to the formation of the Canadian Papermakers' Association he had been able to contract for paper at a price under $2, less five per cent. for cash in thirty days. When the Eddy mills were burned he telegraphed in every direction for paper, and the mills replied that they would willingly send the paper, but could not tell him the price until it had been fixed by the association. The association fixed the price at $2.50, with no discount for cash, and no allowance for wrappings or waste. He then telegraphed to the United States, where he was informed that an agreement existed whereby the International Paper Association bound itself not to invade the Canadian market on condition that the Canadian Papermakers' Association did not interfere with the export market. One American paper firm offered him better paper than the Canadian association sold at $2.50 for $1.70 f.o.b. in New York, which with 17 cents for freight and 45 cents for duty made the cost delivered here $2.32. The American firm offered to establish a storehouse in this city and deliver the paper as required.

Mr. White, in cross-examination, tried to show that the low price quoted by this United States manufacturer was a slaughter price for Canada, and not the regular United States market price. Mr. Tarte was not prepared to say that $1.70 was the regular market price. "But I do know," said he, "that I got badly soaked last year, and my contract with the Canadian association cost me $14,000 more than it should have." Mr. Tarte added that when he asked the International Paper Company of New York last year for prices he got an answer, not from New York, but from the Laurentide Company of Grand Mere, Que. He had told Mr. Rowley, Secretary of the Eddy Company, that he would find it hard to keep up the combine, and Mr. Rowley had replied that there was no combine, but only an association. He was not well enough up in English to distinguish the difference. He had also been told that, as he was able to pay the high price, he should do so, and crowd the small papers out of business. Mr. Tarte was asked to produce contracts and correspondence in support of his statements, and the commission adjourned until Tuesday next, June 4, when it will meet in Toronto.

WASP STINGS.

People Who Have Died From the Effects of Them.

In an article on the stings of wasps a British medical journal cites the two following cases which have come under its notice: A strong, healthy girl of 27 was stung on the neck by a wasp and fainted. On regaining consciousness she complained of a general feeling of numbness and partial blindness and vomited. She suffered severe abdominal pain. She recovered in the course of a few hours. Two months later she was stung again, this time on the hand. Her face became flushed, she again complained of numbness and blindness, suddenly became very pale, fainted and died 25 minutes after she was stung.

Another case was that of a girl of 22 years, who was stung by a wasp behind the angle of the jaw. The sting was at once extracted and ammonia applied. In a few minutes she complained of faintness and would have fallen if she had not been supported. Her face assumed an expression of great anxiety, and a few minutes later she was tossing on the bed, complaining of a horrible feeling of choking and of agonizing pain in the chest and abdomen. Brandy gave no relief. There was nausea, but no vomiting. She rapidly became insensible and died 15 minutes after receiving the sting. The most probable explanation of such cases seems to lie in what is known as idiosyncrasy—that is, abnormal sensitiveness in particular individuals to certain toxic agents. It is well known that drugs vary much in action on different people. What is a safe dose for one is dangerously large for another. The inability of some people to eat strawberries or shellfish is another instance of the same phenomenon. The active agent of bee stings is generally believed to be formic acid. It therefore seems very desirable that we should have more accurate information regarding the action of this drug on different species of the lower animals and through them on man himself.

KNEW THE NOON HOUR.

A Pair of Horses That Stopped When the Whistles Blew.

A pair of intelligent horses attracted the attention of a large crowd on Nassau street at noon one day last week. They were attached to a heavily loaded ice wagon coming down the steep grade between Cedar street and Maiden lane and were holding back the wagon with a noticeable effort. When they were half way down, the whistles blew for 12 o'clock. Suddenly the horses drew in toward the curb and began to plant their hind feet well forward to stop the wagon.

The driver made no effort to check them, and their hard work at once attracted notice. Pedestrians looked at the horses and then at the driver, who had a broad grin on his face. By hard work the wagon was stopped. The driver sat still and watched his animals. One of them immediately began rubbing his head against the neck of the other and with nods and pushes succeeded in rubbing his bridle off. Then the other horse took his turn at rubbing, and his bridle came off.

Fully 200 persons had watched this, and when it was completed the driver got down from his seat and swung a bag of oats over the nose of each animal. They stood there and ate their midday meal. The driver was patient and proud of his team. He petted them and talked to them and when they were through drove off whistling.

"Talk about the laboring man dropping his shovel at the sound of the noon whistle," said one man—"that beats anything I ever saw. No one hereafter need try to convince me of the intelligence of the horse. That ice wagon team settles it."

WHO ARE THE BOYS?

The Chief Received a Communication From Lindsay This Morning.

Chief Roszel this morning received the following communication from the Chief of Police, Lindsay:

Lindsay, May 28, 1901.

Dear Sir, — Three small boys arrived here from Peterborough on the 9.15 train this morning. One is named Menzies, and one McHugh, but the other boy's name I do not know. I thought the parents of the children might be enquiring after them to-night, if they do not return, and no doubt it will be to you they will come.

Yours truly,
J. NEVISON, C. C.

Nothing is known here concerning boys of the above name, and if they are from Peterborough they must be assuming an alias.

TWO MONTHS IN JAIL.

Was What Patrick Murphy got at the Police Station This Morning.

At the police court this morning, Patrick Murphy was sentenced to two months in jail for assaulting Robert Irwin on the evening of May 24th.

Irwin was the victim of a most seemingly uncalled for assault on the part of the prisoner, and a great patch of blood on the pavement at the Bank of Commerce corner, where the affair took place, testified to the savage nature of the attack.

THE LATE MR. FERGUSON.

One of Millbrook's Most Widely Known Citizens Passed Away.

One of the oldest and most widely known citizens of Millbrook, in the person of Alexander Ferguson, passed away last night after an illness extending over a month or more.

Not only was the late Mr. Ferguson prominently known to the people of Millbrook, but throughout the united counties of Northumberland and Durham, where, for many years, he figured in municipal matters and his name was a familiar one. He was 69 years of age and was by occupation a carriage manufacturer and carried on a successful business in Millbrook a great many years. For about 15 years he was reeve of the village, being for a greater of the time elected to the position by acclamation. He sat at the County Council for a long time and attained the office of Warden of the counties. When in the County Council he occupied the position of chairman of roads and bridges, the duties of which he performed most satisfactorily. In religion he was an ardent member of the Methodist Church. Interment will take place tomorrw at two p.m. at Gardiner's Burying Ground.

A PRESENTATION

To Mr. Sorsoleil by the Reading Circle of Charlotte Street Church Last Night.

One of the most flourishing societies in connection with Charlotte Street Methodist Church, is the Reading Circle in which the members have of late shown so much enthusiasm. The circle has been meeting regularly since November last, under the leadership of Principal Sorsoliel, of the South Central School. Under his guidance the members of the society have enjoyed a very profitable literary season, and a special feature of the course was the talks on the eminent statesmen of Queen Victoria's reign.

Last night was the last meeting of the series and it was made especially interesting by the presentation to Mr. Sorsoleil of an address and a beautiful chair. The meetings have invariably been held in the church parlour, but last night the school room, a more commodious apartment, was handsomely decorated for the occasion. The address of the evening was by Mr, Sorsoleil, on the "School System of Ontario," and it proved to be deeply interesting. Rev. Mr. Wagg then took the platform and in eulogistic terms spoke of the service that Mr. Sorsoleil had rendered the Circle. He was presented with a chair and the following address:

Mr. Sorsoleil:

We, as members of the Reading Circle, have no desire to attend your funeral, or place flowers upon your coffin, or listen to an oration eulogizing your virtues after your life's work is done. Therefore, we take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of the able manner in which you have conducted the reading circle during the past six months.

Every address was not only full of interest and profit, but was treated in a most scholarly manner and showed a thorough knowledge of the subject under discussion, and was delivered in a very attractive form.

We desire you to accept this—(chair), not in payment for your efforts on our behalf, for we will always be indebted to you, but simply to remind you that we shall ever owe you a debt of gratitude and that we do not forget to pray that He who rewardeth all may grant to you that favour and blessing which is not in our power to bestow.

Trusting that your useful life may be spared many years to serve the church and Master, whose life you imitate. We are your best wishers,

Peterborough, May 29, 1901.

Mr. Sorsoliel acknowledged the gift in suitable terms, after which refreshments were served by the ladies of the Circle and an enjoyable hour or two was brought to a close.

57TH REGIMENT.

The Rain Prevented a March-out of the Regiment Last Night.

It was intended that the 57th Regiment would have a march out last night, and that some interesting regimental manoeuvring would take place across the river. However, the rain prevented such a programme being carried out. The band was on hand and played a selection or two in the drill shed, and then returned to the band hall.

The regiment spent the evening in the drill shed, and were put through company and regimental movements. They were watched by quite a number of townspeople.

THE CANADIAN EXHIBIT.

Mr. J. B. Oke Sends the Examiner Papers From Glasgow.

The Examiner has to thank Mr. J. B. Oke, formerly of town, but now of Glasgow, Scotland, for several copies of the Glasgow Herald, and the Evening Citizen, which contain considerable matter relating to the Canadian exhibit at the Glasgow Exhition, and also among other things, a review of the Canadian budget.

Concerning the Canadian exhibit the citizen says:

"The Canadian Pavilion was among the first to be completed and opened. Situated north-east of the Grand Hall it gives 11,000 feet of floor space and 7,000 feet of wall space. This accommodation has been used to the best possible advantage. Although all the exhibits in this section of the Exposition have an interest for Britishers, it is naturally the product of the soil which claim first attention, for is not Canada the paradise of the agriculturist—the land in which he has but to sow at night to reap the harvest in the morning! Conspicuous in the middle of the hall stands a huge grain trophy, in the erection of which some thousands of samples of grain, cereals, fodder plants, grass, hay, etc., etc., have been utilized for decorative and exhibition purposes with most imposing effect. Here can be seen the wonderful results achieved by the Canadian Government in the experiments carried out with the view of utilizing the soil in the best possible advantage. The climate and the soil, indeed, combine to exert so kindly an influence even on foreign grain, that in two or three years by crossing they produce a grain better than the imported article in quality and weight as well as colour. A striking illustration is afforded of what can be done in this way by a sample of a cross between the famous Manitoba Red Fyfe wheat and the Russian Ladoga. The Government have succeeded in producing a wheat which ripens six to ten days earlier, and, although it is not so good a wheat, the difference in price is nothing to what a farmer who did not use this kind of wheat might lose should an early frost set in.

"There are many other interesting samples, such as oats, Indian corn, flax, hops, not to speak of tobacco."

DIOCESAN BUSINESS.

Synod to Meet on June 25th—Some Reports Considered by the Committees.

The Synod of the Diocese of Ontario has been called by Bishop Mills for June 25th, with Holy Communion preceding the business session, synod service with enthroning in the evening, reception by Bishop and Mrs. Mills on Wednesday evening, corporate communion each morning at St. George's Cathedral.

The various committees met last week to consider the reports. Among these reports were the following:

Edw. J. Pense presented a report of the committee upon bishop's stipend, in view of altered circumstances. The committee recommend that $17,000 be appropriated from the augmentation fund which would supply the deficiency on a basis of four per cent., as it is not possible to keep more than two-thirds of the money of large trusts invested constantly in mortgages. Reasons were given for future increase of the fund from this $55,000 to $60,000 or $70,000 out of the incoming subscriptions for augumentation. The committee reported lists of parishes paying towards co-adjutor's salary; two which had collected in 1890 had not paid in; three had paid part; and ten had not met pledges. The balance of $233 must be paid to keep good faith as promised with those who have acted.

Dr. Smythe presented a report on diocesan canvass, showing $37,382 subscribed; $22,533 paid in; expense, $4,-931. The canvass has lasted three years and two years will be needed to complete it. The parishes visited have been thirty-five out of sixty, and several have only been partially canvassed by Rev. C. J. H. Hutton. He has been delayed for six weeks by nervous prostration. The funds so far received have been appropriated—$17,000 to episcopal support, $2,000 to widows' and orphans' trust.

Dr. Smythe presented the See House report, showing $3,394 expended in renovation in addition to $800 paid by the Bishop, and expressing great satisfaction with results and the comfort afforded the Bishop and Mrs. Mills. The debt of $6,000 would be reduced by $2,800 coming from Ottawa diocese, refund of episcopal share. The Bishop desired that confirmation offerings hereafter be given to the mission fund instead of See House.

Rev. J. J. Serson presented report of the clergy trust, which from a capital of $135,000 paid to beneficiaries last year $5,345. Rural Dean Bogert, Belleville, will be added in the Archbishop's stead next January.

BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS.

As will be noticed in the advertising columns of the Examiner, the local agency of the Rathbun Co. has been sold to Messrs. R. Hicks & Co., who will continue the business at the old stand, corner of Murray and Bethune streets. The Rathbun agency is one of the oldest and most reliable businesses of the kind in town, and the public may feel assured that under the new management it will continue as heretofore.

Mr. Hicks brings with him into the business a thorough practical knowledge of the coal, wood, lumber and other allied lines of business. He carried on a successful coal and wood business in the town of St. Mary's, and has held the responsible position of travelling buyer and salesman for the Orillia Lumber Co. for several years.

THE TOWNSHIP RALLIES.

Second of the Series Held at Warsaw.

Mr. Matthew Payne, President Occupied the Chair—Rev. Dr. Symonds and Others Speak.

The second of the series of Township Rallies took place yesterday afternoon and evening at Warsaw, When a large number representing the various schools throughout Dummer Township, assembled, and was an unqualified success.

The chair was taken by Mr. Nathan Payne, President, and with him were the Rev. Messrs. Fusee and Hyde. After devotional exercises the election of officers took place, when the Rev. R. Hyde was elected President and Mr. S. M. Payne, Secretary-Treasurer.

Very interesting reports were presented from the different schools in the association and revealed a healthy and progressive work. A desire was expressed that the schools not reported, might be brought into fellowship.

Mr. Thos. Yellowlees, Association Secretary of the Ontario Sabbath School Association, conducted the Round Table Conference, which proved intensely interesting, and elicited from otherwise quiet people enthusiastic responses and comments.

Miss White, primary teacher in Lakefield, read an excellent paper on primary work. Miss White's paper was most thoughtful, timely and merited the hearty applause of the convention.

After the presentation of the work of the Ontario Association for the financial sympathy of the people by the Rev. J. G. Potter, Mr. Yellowlees gave what proved to be a most unique and profitable address to a mass meeting of children on "Ship Signals." It was listened to with rapt attention.

The address was interspersed with appropriate solos sung by Mr. Yellowlees, which being well known, made the "talk" all the more effective.

Notwithstanding the threatening weather, a very large congregation assembled at night.

Mr. Yellowlees gave a highly practical address on "Responsibilities, 1.—In the parents. 2.—In the teachers." The lesson will not soon be forgotten.

The Rev. J. G. Potter followed with a suitable address on "The Model Home" and made special reference to the great need of Bible reading and study with the children.

Rev. Dr. Symonds in his usual pleasing style treated the audience to a most profitable spiritual and intellectual treat on the "Importance and Place of Normal Wor."

In closing the Rev. Mr. Fusee moved a cordial vote of thanks to all who had contributed in making the convention the best he had ever attended in his ministry.

The Dummer Township has also made a big stride in their financial sympathy and will double what has been contributed in former years. May this be so all along the line.

OBITUARY.

Death of a Galway Pioneer on Tuesday Last.

One of the oldest and most respected residents of Galway passed peacefully away on Tuesday, 21st day of May in the person of Mr. David Hickey. Deceased was born in the County of Tipperary, Ireland, on the twentieth day of May, 1827, and resided with his parents until the year 1855, when he came to America and and remained in the state of Connecticut about one year. Not being satisfied with his surroundings he removed to Canada and became a resident of Peterborough. It was there he met with Miss Ellen Murry whom he chose as his partner for better and for worse and removed to the Township of Galway in the year 1858, and resided on Lot 11, Con. 13, until the time of his death. Mrs. Hickey passed over to the majority about twenty six years ago and after remaining a widower for about four years, Mr. Hickey married Mrs. Driscoll, of Emily, who still survives him.

Mr. Hickey was not long in this township when he proved himself to be a very successful farmer, notwithstanding the fact that he had to face many difficulties in clearing and converting the unbroken forest and swamp into productive fields and a comfortable home. It has frequently been said of Mr. Hickey that his word was as good as his note. Deceased was a reformer in politics and has made many friends since he became a resident of this township, which was evidenced by the number of vehicles that followed the remains to the R. C. Cemetery in Galway. It was one of the largest funerals that ever was seen in the vicinity. The friends have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

The surviving members of the family are Mrs. Connealy, of Minnesota, Cornelius, of Galway, John of Minnesota, Maurice, of Minnesota, Mrs. French, of Minnesota, and Maurice, who resides upon the homestead, all being the issue of the first marriage.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

BOWLING.

At a meeting of the Lawn Bowling Club, which was held last evening, with the President, Dr. Boucher, in the chair, the Secretary-Treasurer gave a detailed statement of the expenditure incurred, amounting to about $180, and reported that the membership roll now contained eighty-seven names, with prospects of the limit of one hundred being reached before the end of the week. It was decided that the formal opening of the grounds should take place on Friday afternoon, June 7th, at four o'clock, when the President and Vice-President will select skips from the players present at that hour and a match will be played, the skips choosing the personnel of their own rinks.

The matter of the selection of permanent skips for the year will be determined by individual competition amongst the entire membership, the first draw for which will be made by Vice-President McHarrie and the Secretary. The competition will be played off during the week following June 7th.

The Secretary was authorized to make arrangements for the construction of a dressing room immediately.

Notice was given that the fees are now payable.

A UNIQUE SENTENCE.

THE NOVEL PENALTY A JUDGE IMPOSED UPON TWO MEN.

Both Prisoners Were Condemned to Jail Until One of Them, a College Graduate, Taught the Other How to Read and Write.

Along in the seventies the late Judge Arnold Krekel was holding court at Jefferson City, relates an old timer, when there appeared before him two men charged and indicted for a violation of the United States laws, one of whom will be called Brown. He was charged with cutting timber on the public domain. Brown was about 40 years old and had been reared on the border in Arkansas and never had any opportunities for schooling, hence was unable to read or write. In his endeavors to get a living he had cut timber suitable for making ax handles on United States lands, which led to his arrest and imprisonment. The other man will be called Jones, for the real name of both men are not known in the memory of any one who witnessed the incident.

Jones was charged with and indicted for having sold liquor to the Indians. Mr. Jones was a native of New York, a graduate of Union college and was educated for a lawyer. He possessed a highly cultured mind, a good Latinist and thoroughly scholarly in all sorts of books. Not succeeding in his profession in his native state, more from lack of application than otherwise, he left that country and plunged into the great west and located nobody knew where, but he drifted into the lower strata of society, and to obtain the necessaries of life he resorted to "bootlegging" among the red men of the Indian Territory border. His arrest and imprisonment followed.

The two men were arraigned before Judge Krekel and the indictments read. They both pleaded guilty and threw themselves upon the mercy of the court. The court questioned both prisoners at length and drew from each his history. He recounted the wrongs they had been guilty of against society. He did this in a kindly tone and manner, suggesting in a mild form that both might have been useful members of some community had they sought honorable means and methods to secure a livelihood.

The court seemed puzzled how to assess a punishment that would meet the ends of justice and protect the government, its lands, its wards and society. Finally, sitting upright in his chair, looking over his glasses as both men stood before him, in a voice little louder and more positive than usual he said:

"Mr. Brown, it is the sentence of the court that you be confined in the Cole county jail until you are educated to read and write." The judge then turned his eyes upon the other prisoner at the bar and, possibly in a louder voice, said, "Mr. Jones, it is the sentence of the court that you be confined in the Cole county jail until you have taught Mr. Brown to read and write, and I enjoin upon the keeper of the jail to afford you every facility possible with the safe keeping of his prisoners."

The lawyers and spectators in court looked with astonishment at each other as the sentence was concluded, and the marshal led the prisoners out of the courtroom.

It was the second term of the court after this incident when the marshal conducted Brown and Jones into court, and it was announced by the court that Brown had completed his education—ready to graduate—able to read and write. Judge Krekel looked over his glasses and asked that the prisoner give him an evidence of his being able to read. Brown stood up and read a few paragraphs from a newspaper to the satisfaction of the court, when he said, "Mr. Clerk, will you let him sit at a table and write me a letter?"

Paper, pen, ink and a seat were furnished Brown, who went to work to write a letter to the court. For some time the poor fellow struggled with the task, and in the meantime Jones was very nervous, fearing he would be compelled to go back to jail and "take up school" again. Finally the clerk said, "May it please your honor, the prisoner can write, but cannot form sentences to make it intelligible."

"Mr. Clerk," said the court, not taking his eyes from the court docket he was looking at, "you will dictate a letter for him and see what headway he makes with that." The clerk dictated a letter that the prisoner wrote quite readily, which subsequently was passed up to the court, who read the same, and after giving the prisoners a short lecture both were discharged and walked from the courtroom free men.

BABY'S BUSINESS

A healthy baby is comfortable; and that is enough for a baby. His business in life is to grow.

Aside from acute diseases, his food is the cause of most of his troubles. But Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil delivers him from it.

He isn't sick; only a little hitch, somewhere, in his machine for turning food into growth.

It is a great thing to do, for a baby, to help him over a hitch with mere food—the emulsion is food that has the tact to get there.

The tact to get there is medicine.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

THE NEXT EDWARD

Will Probably Come to Canada to Meet His Royal Father and Mother.

Little Prince Edward of Cornwall promises to begin his travels earlier than his father or grandfather did. If reports be true, he may accompany his aunt, the Princess Victoria, to Canada, to meet his parents returning from their world trip.

The King's personal popularity appears to have descended to the heir presumptive, who is already familiarly dubbed "King David." Stories of his childish prattle are eagerly read, while the doings of his parents, even while they are visiting distant parts of the Empire, only excite a perfunctory interest.

It will be next to impossible for the present generation to speak of the Duchess of Cornwall as Princess of Wales. The globe-circling tour may eradicate this feeling, but it is impossible to deny its existence. The King's wisdom in insisting on the Australian trip in face of the opposition of the Queen and the Duke and Duchess becomes daily more apparent.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company is building a train of luxuriously-equipped cars for the purpose of conveying the Duke and Duchess of York and party.

TWO YEARS DELAY.

Could not Take the Simplest Food Without Suffering for it—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Have Changed the Tone of His Life.

Many people through prejudice lose many of the good things of life which might be theirs if they left their minds free and open to reasonable conviction.

Many worthless preparations are advertised to cure Dyspepsia, it is true—nostrums which are absolutely useless and sometimes far from harmless.

But the mere fact of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets receiving the endorsement of the people in all parts of the world is enough to convince the most sceptical that all the medicines advertised to cure Dyspepsia are not failures.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are no failure. A certain Quebec lady recognizes this fact now, though, as she herself confesses, she was sceptical at one time.

"I have always," writes Mme. Marin Anne Bujold, "had a very strong objection to patent medicines. But I must confess that my opinion has changed.

"The results in cases within my own knowledge where Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have been used are wonderful. And lastly my own case has completely converted me to the belief that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets is a medicine valuable beyond price.

"For two years my life has been a burden.

"I could not take the simplest food without having a pain across my stomach. A sour gas would rise in my throat and I dreaded the thought of eating.

"I finally consulted doctors about trouble but they did nothing for me that was of any help.

"Then only did I decide to give Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a fair trial. I shall never regret it. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets did what other means had failed to do—they cured me. My digestion is now perfect; all pain and symptoms of Dyspepsia have left me, and I have nothing but Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to thank for it."

Before 50 the most healthful occupation is that of the clergyman. The doctors and the lawyers are close together. After 50 years, according to the figures, it is more healthful to practice medicine or the law than it is to preach.

PROF. HUTTON.

Sketch of the Man Appointed Principal at University College.

Prof. Maurice Hutton, M. A., has just been appointed Principal of University College, a position created by the University Act of last session. Prof. Hutton is a graduate of the University of Oxford, where in 1874 he gained an open scholarship at Worcester College. In 1877 he secured his first-class in classical moderations, and in 1879 an open fellowship in Merton College. He came to Toronto as Professor of Classics in University College in 1880, and on a rearrangement in 1887 was assigned the chair of comparative philology in the University of Toronto, still remaining professor of Greek in University College. Professor Hutton has been a member of the Council of University College, and in 1895 was elected to the Senate of the University. The successful productions of the Greek play, "Antigone," in 1882, and again in 1894, was largely due to his efforts, as was also the success of the production last autumn of another Greek play. Professor Hutton married in 1885 a daughter of the late Rev. John McCaul, for many years President of University College. Delving in Greek roots, in the case of Professor Hutton at least, has not tended to dullness. Readers of "Varsity" in days gone by have been greatly entertained by contributions from him.

TWO BROTHERS.

One the Most Conspicuous in Parliament, the Other Among the Silent, Unnoticed Back Benchers.

Charlemagne Laurier, the representative of L'Assomption, is the half-brother of the Premier—the same father, but child of a first wife of Carolus Laurier, the Premier being the only son by the second wife.

Charlemagne Laurier is 10 years older than his distinguished half-brother, and he looks it, says The Toronto Star. He is one of the silent ones; a regular attendant at the sittings, but an uncommunicative one. There he sits in his seat, day after day, his iron-gray hair barely discernible behind the heads of the other occupants of the Opposition benches, taking no part in the discussions and going and coming so quietly as ordinarily to attract little, if any, notice. It is interesting to wonder sometimes what Charlemagne Laurier thinks about it all. What fancies pass through the busy brain beneath that iron-gray thatch? Does he ever meditate on the tricks fate plays upon her mortal puppets? Does he ever envy the distinguished brother so near to him by blood ties, so far above him in the political world? Does he ever wonder at the partiality of the fickle goddess who makes one brother the first Commoner in all the land and of the other an obscure, silent, back bencher? Does he ever wish to exchange places with his distinguished half-brother, to barter the peaceful quiet of his semi-obscurity for the trials and tribulations, the rewards and worries, of those who sit in the fierce white light of publicity? Doubtless strange thoughts sometimes chase themselves through the brain of this quiet little man on the back benches, but it is doubtful if the older brother begrudges the younger his greatness. If he does he gives no sign.

And the Premier? To his brother he is as genial as to the other members, probably more so, but the Premier of Canada makes no display of his emotions. The other day, wearying possibly of the seemingly endless budget debate, the Premier crossed over to the Opposition side and wandered up through the labyrinth of seats to where his half-brother was sitting. One hand he placed with a caressing motion on the older man's shoulder, while with the other he shook hands. Just a few words were exchanged, and then the first Commoner in Canada came back to his place. What did the Premier say in that brief interview? Probably nothing very much, but he made for the moment the obscure little man with the iron-gray hair the cynosure of all eyes. Doubtless, if Charlemagne Laurier is a sensible man—and the chances are that he is, else he would not be where he is—he feels proud of the man who throws a shining lustre on the family and the name of Laurier, and is content with the modest measure of reflected glory that has hitherto been his portion.

It Saved His Leg.

P. A. Danforth, of LaGrange, Ga., suffered for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg; but writes that Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in five days. For Ulcers, Wounds, Piles, it's the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Only 25 cents. Sold by Jas. Lynch.

Advertising in the Examiner pays.

Fish That Change Color.

It has been found that certain prawns, common along the coasts of England, change their color at least twice every 24 hours in order to harmonise with the stronger or weaker light prevailing near the surface or in the deeper water. As evening approaches these fish lose their distinctive day colors, and all assume a transparent azure hue. The change begins with a reddish glow, followed by a green tinge which gradually melts into blue. The day and night change has become so habitual that specimens kept in perpetual light or perpetual darkness nevertheless undergo the periodic alteration of color.

Dietary Reparteo.

"I think," said A. Bronson Alcott in one of his conversations, "when a man lives on beef, he becomes something like an ox. If he eats mutton, he becomes sheepish, and if he feeds upon pork may he not become swinish?"

"That may be," said Dr. Walker "but when a man lives on nothing but vegetables I think he is apt to be pretty small potatoes."

Starving Children.

Thousands of well fed children are starving, simply because their food is not of the right kind. They are thin, pale and delicate. Scott's Emulsion will change all this. It gives vim and vigour, flesh and force.

Another Triumph for Science....

RHEUMATISM and its kindred diseases have always been classed by physicians among the ailments for which their science afforded no sure and complete cure.

DR. L. R. HALL

DR. L. R. HALL, New York, originator and proprietor of DR. HALL'S RHEUMATIC CURE, has changed all that and has earned the sincerest thanks of thousands of sufferers.

People are slow to believe that rheumatism can be cured. They have tried many things, and all have failed, and the announcement of a new cure is received by many with sceptical indifference, and yet it may be stated very confidently that DR. HALL'S RHEUMATIC CURE NEVER FAILS, and there are innumerable BONA FIDE testimonials to back the statement. From one to six bottles will cure any form of rheumatism.

Sufferers from rheumatic complaints should read Dr. Hall's pamphlet on rheumatism, wherein their symptoms are described, and should lose no time in making a trial of the only sure remedy—DR. HALL'S RHEUMATIC CURE.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

NEW ZEALAND BIRDS

ONE WAS AS TALL AS A GIRAFFE AND LAID EGGS LIKE A PUMPKIN.

SKETCH OF EXTINCT GREAT MOA

It Was a Giant Edition of Some of the Curious Wingless Birds That Exist in That Part of the Empire at the Present Day — Some Freaks of Nature.

How would you like to meet a bird as tall as a giraffe, which lays eggs as big as a pumpkin? You can see the image of one at Christchurch, New Zealand. You can see a baker's dozen of skeletons showing the gigantic monster in the different stages of its growth, and behind glass you can see some of the real eggs laid by it a century or more ago, when it trod the soil of this country. I refer to the great moa, supposed to be the biggest bird ever created, writes the famous correspondent, Frank G. Carpenter, now on a visit to that distant British colony. I sat down before the model of it in Christchurch, New Zealand, and made some notes describing it. Its tail, as the bird stands on the floor, is just as high as my head and its ankle is as big around as my calf. Its gigantic body, covered with gray feathers, might have been modeled out of a small haystack, and its tall, thin neck is stretched so high above its breast that the whole could not possibly be squeezed into the average parlor. It has no wings, but its legs are as strong as those of a camel, and it looks quite as big. Its feet have claws much like those of a turkey save that they are enormous in size and each a foot long.

I doubt not the original could have stamped out the life of a man at one blow. Beside one of the moa skeletons was placed the skeleton of an ordinary man, the head of the bird rising at least eight feet above the skull of the man. The bones were real bones found in this part of New Zealand; they are joined together by wires.

The first bones of the moa were discovered about sixty years ago. The bird existed in New Zealand within a very recent period, and there are Maoris who will tell you that their forefathers hunted it. The probability, however, is that it antedates the advent of the Maoris, but there is no doubt that it was once eaten in great numbers, for in the old ovens which have been excavated quantities of cooked moa bones have been found. But as to when that time was and who the moa hunters were no one knows.

The moa eggs were each about a foot long. One was found some years ago by a man when digging the foundation of a house. He had gone down several feet when he came upon the skeleton of a man in a sitting posture. The egg was held in the man's bony fingers in such a manner as to bring it immediately opposite his mouth, and it is supposed that it was placed there with the idea that the ghost of the dead would have something to eat during the intervals of his long sleep. There were a stone spear and an ax by the side of the man, showing that he was probably a warrior, and his skull bore evidence of having received several hard knocks, probably on the battle field. The egg was ten inches long and seven inches in diameter, and its shell was about as thick as a silver 25-cent piece. Its inside was perfectly empty, but whether time or the dead native had sucked out the contents the records do not say.

The moa was wingless. It seems to have been a giant edition of some of the strange birds New Zealand has now. There are wingless birds in New Zealand not larger than good-sized chickens, which are moas in miniature. I refer to the kiwis, some of which I have seen here at Christchurch. The kiwis have hair-like feathers of somewhat the color of a quail. They have long bills, sharp at the point, with which they can bore into the mud for worms, and their legs are much like those of the moa.

I have had several of them in my hands, and by feeling carefully I can discover what seems like a little lump on each side where the wing ought to be. Otherwise than this no wings are perceptible.

The kiwis are a night bird. At the college here, where I saw them, the birds were penned up like chickens, and had to be brought out of the coop for me to examine them. They seemed almost blinded by the light and ran about in this way and that in apparent terror. The birds are now growing very scarce in New Zealand. The Maoris are very fond of them for food, and their skins are highly prized as dresses for the chiefs. They are now only to be found in the dense beds of ferns which cover parts of New Zealand. It is very difficult to catch them, for they look much like the dead fern leaves, and they take refuge in crevices in the rocks and in deep holes which they excavate in the ground for their nests.

One of the most curious things about the kiwis is the size of its egg. It is almost as big as the bird itself, being of a creamy white color, as smooth and as glossy as ivory. The kiwis is rapidly being exterminated. The dogs hunt it in the thicket and it is now rare that you find it outside the museums.

There is another bird in New Zealand which is quite as curious as the kiwis. This is the kea parrot, which eats sheep, fastening its claws into the wool of the back, and digging out the choice bits of flesh. Thousands of sheep have been destroyed by this bird, the loss from them being so great that the Government once offered a reward of 75 cents a head, when as many as 15,000 keas were killed in a year. The kea has aristocratic tastes. It does not care for any part of the sheep except the kidneys and the fat which surrounds them. Through several generations of birds it has learned by instinct or tradition—whether birds talk or not I cannot say—just where the kidneys lie in the sheep's anatomy. I am told that it strikes the right spot every time, and that it bores a hole in with its bill as smooth as though the flesh was cut round with a knife. The kea tears out the kidneys and the fat, and then leaves the sheep, which, of course, dies.

There are different theories as to how the keas acquired this taste for the finest of mutton. They had had nothing but berries and insects until sheep were introduced. Then they began to pick the meat from the sheep skins hung out to dry. Later on they attacked the live sheep, and after a time, having discovered just where the kidneys were, devoted their labors to no other part. There is no doubt of the fact that they take only the kidneys, and that every kea knows just where to strike a sheep the first time. Whether the birds talk to one another or not I do not know, but they certainly seem to work quite as intelligently as though they had language.

There are, however, but a few of the freaks which Dame Nature has created in the out-of-the-way part of the world. There are others so strange that I hesitate to mention them. This is, you know, the land of the marsupials, or pouch-bearing animals. You have all heard of the kangaroos who have a bag attached to the outside of their bellies in which they carry their young. There are not many such in New Zealand. They are rather to be found in Australia. New Zealand, however, has marsupial rats, and I saw at the college here in Christchurch a mouse not much larger than a good-sized cricket which had a pouch on its belly in which it carried its young. This mouse is perhaps the smallest marsupial known. It is a part of the biological collection of the college museum at Christchurch, and was shown me by Prof. Marriner, the chief biologist. Another thing he showed me was a live lizard which he says is a descendant of a family of three-eyed lizards. This lizard is especially puzzling to the scientists just now. In the centre of the head is a third eye, which is clearly visible through the skin of the young animal, but which becomes thickly covered when it reaches maturity. Prof. Marriner says there is little doubt but that this eye was once used. The lizard he showed me is about a foot long, and, I should say, two inches in diameter about the waist.

I like the black swans of New Zealand. They are to be seen in all parts of the island, and you can shoot them anywhere along the lakes. They are even more beautiful than the white swans, their feathers looking like black velvet plush as they sail along the waters.

Good Health

Is doubtless the highest human good. It is especially so to women, to whom it means the preservation of beauty, happiness in the home, and the enjoyment of social duties. There can be no good health for any woman who suffers from womanly diseases. Her complexion fails. Her eyes are dull. She has no home happiness, no social enjoyment.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the diseases which destroy the health. It establishes regularity, dries disagreeable drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It gives good health to women, which means tranquil nerves, a good appetite and sound sleep.

"I was a great sufferer two years ago with female trouble and I wrote to you for advice," says Mrs. Mattie Hays, of Tribulation, McDonald Co., Missouri. "You outlined a course of treatment for me. I followed your directions, and now feel like a different person. I never expected to hear from you when I wrote to you. In three days after I commenced taking your medicines I began to feel better. I took twenty dollars' worth of the 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I bought it five dollars' worth at a time, and also four vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets. I would not take one thousand dollars for the good the medicine has done me. I can't praise it enough. I wish all who suffer with such troubles would give Dr. Pierce's medicines a fair trial. I can work all day—doing anything, walk where I please, and feel good. Many thanks to you for your kind advice."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Commandant Kritzinger.

A trooper of Colonel Gorringe's, who was taken prisoner by the Boers and has since succeeded in making his escape, gives the following description of Commandant Kritzinger He is a short, thick-set man, standing about five feet eight inches. He wears a moustache and habitually speaks in an extraordinarily loud voice. Taking him all round, he is rather a nice fellow, with a most gentlemanly appearance, and is not at all bad looking. His age will be about 35 or 36. He speaks English fluently, and seems to be well educated. He is a wealthy farmer in private life and has a large circle of friends and acquaintances. The Boers under his command seem to like him very well and have the utmost confidence in him. He is much more popular with his men than Dewet. Notwithstanding this, he is greatly respected, and his lightest order is obeyed with the most prompt alacrity and thoroughness. His second in command is a man named Scheepers, who is a "kaptein." He has a secretary, whose name is Smit. The Commandant, by the way, wears no distinguishing mark of his rank. He is dressed in a bluish grey suit, with a double-breast coat, and wears top boots. He goes about unarmed, the only weapon upon him being a powerful field-glass resting on his breast, while a small leather satchel hangs at his side.

A Chiropodist's Advice.

A chiropodist advises that foot comfort is much enhanced if all callous places on the feet are made perfectly smooth. This can be done easily and the feet kept in excellent condition by using a fine pumice stone every morning after the bath. The pumice stone should, of course, be wet, and if rubbed daily over the points on the feet that have hardened or shown a tendency to harden the places can be made and kept smooth. After a corn has been removed, too, a light rubbing daily of the place where it has been will often prevent its return.

Not Satisfactory.

"No," said the doctor, "I haven't voted yet, and I am not going to vote. I am not feeling well today. Isn't that a valid excuse?"

"Not at all," responded the professor severely; "that's an invalid excuse."—Chicago Tribune.

Some Interesting Items About Our Fishing Grounds.

FISH VALUED AT $10,478.

Few Infringements of the Law and Strict Punishment Meted out to Offenders.

Fish to the value of $10,478.00 ware taken from the Peterborough County waters during the season of 1900. Department of Fisheries, the follow-

In the second annual report of the ing items of interest are found :

Overseer Skeen, Harwood :—Reports that the close season was fairly well observed, and that there was but one conviction obtained in his division for illegal fishing. A fine of $15 was imposed, which had a good effect in deterring others from a like practice. The summer visitors made good catches of maskinonge and bass. He would favour the issue of hoop net licenses in order to clear the lake of catfish and other coarse fish, so as to give the spawn of the higher grades a chance to hatch out.

Overseer Johnston, Harwood :—States that it is difficult to get an accurate account of the fish taken, owing to the sale of bass and maskinonge being prohibited. The catch was, however, very large, and shows no sign of a decrease. There was one conviction for illegal fishing during the season, which proved a warning to others, and he is satisfied that the close seasons were well observed. He would favour the granting of licenses for hoop nets, in order to get rid of the coarse fish.

Overseer Nichols, Hall's Bridge—States that his district was visited by a large number of tourists during the summer who were very successful in angling for bass and trolling for maskinonge. They adhered strictly to the restrictions limiting the number to be taken.

A careful estimate of the fish taken by tourists at Hall's Bridge, shows about 6,000 lbs. of bass and 8,000 lbs. of maskinonge, and at Chemong, about the same quantity of maskinonge, and half the quantity of bass.

Some spearing was attempted and though the parties were not caught, several spears were captured and destroyed.

The close seasons were strictly observed.

The several saw mills were inspected at different times during the season and were found to be taking every precaution to prevent the sawdust and mill refuse from going into the water.

There are no fishways in the division but he would recommend the erection of one at Hall's Bridge.

He would recommend also the placing of some bass and maskinonge in Buckhorn Lake and Deer Bay in order to improve the fishing. A large revenue is derived by this section of the country from tourists and it is very desirable that it should be retained.

Overseer Moore, Lakefield :—Reports that a large number of tourists visited his district during the season with good success in catching bass and maskinonge with spoon and phantom minnow, also with rod and line. The fishing was much better than in 1899 and each fisherman usually captured the maximum number permitted by the regulations.

He recommended that a fee of $5 be charged each foreigner for angling in our waters during each season.

He also recommends that net fishing for salmon trout and whitefish be permitted under the supervision of the Fishery Overseer in Stony Lake.

The fishery laws and regulations as well as the close seasons were well observed.

District Overseer Thwaite reports as follows :

"I hereby submit my annual report for 1900, as District Overseer for the Districts of Ontario, Victoria, Peterborough and Haliburton Counties. Several times I visited the principal lakes frequented by American tourists, and made careful enquiry into the complaints of visitors, residents and other parties interested in Stony Lake, that the salmon trout were destroying the young lunge and bass, as these fish were becoming scarcer every year. I caught several salmon trout and opened them to see as to the food they were living on, and from enquiries from residents on the lake I concluded that the salmon trout were not the cause to any great extent, of causing the scarcity of bass and lunge, but that over-fishing was the principal cause; and another cause of complaint was that whitefish destroyed the spawn of the lunge and the bass. This may be the case, as in December I caught a quantity of whitefish, the largest weighing about five pounds. The food I found in them was entirely the spawn of the salmon trout; as these whitefish are very numerous in Stony and other adjoining lakes, no doubt they do consume a large quantity of lunge and bass spawn, but this can be ascertained in the spring if the Department wishes.

"I would recommend that Stony Lake be restocked with bass and lunge fry; also that five fishways be put in dams on Indian River, so that fish from below can have free access to Stony Lake, and that the stoplogs be either taken out or left in at Hastings, Young's Point and Lakefield, until June 1st. If this was done water would be kept at a uniform level on the River Otonabee and Rice Lake, and would preserve millions of lunge and bass spawn.

"I was asked to allow experiments to be made with hoop nets in Scugog and Rice Lakes to catch catfish, but up to the present time these experiments have not induced anyone to take out licenses to net these fish.

"In regard to the Act prohibiting the sale of lunge and bass, I may say the new law is approved by all parties, except a few dealers, as it is a step in the right direction to allow these fish to increase.

"I would also recommend that a small license fee, say $3 for thirty days and $5 for the season, be charged Americans for the privilege of fishing in the lakes in the districts under my supervision, as I feel sure this small fee would not debar these tourists from visiting our lakes.

"I would also recommend the issuing of licenses, fee, say, say $3 for thirty days, or $5 for the season, to net salmon trout with proper size nets, said applicants for licenses to be approved by the local overseers, and the nets to be set only where they may direct. As you are well aware, this territory brings in very little revenue to assist in the protection of fish, except a few fines, etc.

"I have no complaint from anyone that mill owners have polluted the waters with sawdust or refuse.

"The following is a short description of the different lakes visited, as per list of questions below: Stony Lake is in the county of Peterborough, townships of Dummer, Burleigh and Smith; is about twelve miles long and from one-half to two and one-half miles wide; depth from ten to one hundred and fifty feet; formation, Dummer shore, clay land, limestone and granite, and bluffy. CONSUMPTION.

You don't have to take our word as to the ability of Powley's Liquified Ozone to cure consumption. The statement of Wm. McKay, of Sutton, who had lung trouble, was corroborated by solemn declarations.

We have other cases—some of them have suffered for two years and over and had hemorrhages—all cured by this preparation.

The condensed oxygen is accountable. It is nature's method of curing disease, and it can hardly fail. Splendid for the lungs and a good flesh former. Try a bottle.

50c and $1.00 a bottle, at all drug stores. Write the Ozone Co., of Toronto, Limited, 46 Colborne St., Toronto.
